The Bethlehem Manger.—The second innovation this year was the erection of a creche. A beautiful stable, 3½ ft. long and 2 ft. high and 2 ft. deep, was made and presented by Mr. Botwright, with back and roof and sides, a manger within and window at each end and rustic posts supporting the overhanging eaves in front. Fifteen figures, representing the Christ-child in the manger, Blessed Virgin and St. Joseph, wise men, shepherds, and also various animals were grouped on the stable floor, which was covered with straw. The interior was brightly lighted with concealed candles, a star was suspended in full view and the whole structure was surrounded by and resting upon a mass of evergreen and sprigs of holly. The procession of children entering the guild room singing "Once in Royal David's City," and grouped about the stable, sang the praises of the Christ-child.

The children presented the toys which they had brought and they were placed about the Cradle.

The Christmas Tree.—Upstairs the free distribution of gifts, an interesting exhibition of lightning drawing by a student at the Art School, songs on the graphophone, etc., filled up the balance of the evening.

A treat was given to the members of the choir and of St. Agnes' Guild, through the kindness of one of our vestrymen, of seeing the rehearsal of the Mask and Wig Club performance at their rooms on Quince street. Some seventy-two tickets were provided for two evenings. It was much appreciated.

Gifts.—The church has received a beautiful ecclesiastical calendar for 1910, published in England. It will be hung in the vestibule of the church. Also, from the same donor, a handsome framed head of the Christ, which has been hung in the choir room and one of King Charles the Martyr, the late Bishop of Milwaukee, the Rev. John Mason Neal, the great hymn writer, and a representation of the consecration of Archbishop Parker, which are hung in the sacristy.

Both the Rector and the Curate received some substantial remembrances and Christmas cards. Among the gifts to the latter was a number of boxes, one inside of another. In one was a ten-dollar gold piece, in the next five dollars, in the next two dollars and a half. And the sexton was presented with a ten-dollar gold piece by the young men of the parish, for whom he does a good deal in the course of the year. Various gifts were also interchanged between some of the teachers and scholars in the Sunday school.

Special Sermons.—Those preached by the Rev. Curate on Sunday evenings during Advent, having been so well attended, some of them quite filling the church, he will continue as Sunday evening preacher for the present. His subjects will be announced from week to week and published in the daily papers.

On the morning of the ninth of January the Rev. Mr. Blasey, rector of St. Timothy's Church, Roxborough, will preach on behalf of the principles of the Christian Social Union, and on Sunday morning, the thirteenth of January, the Rev. Thos. J. Garland, secretary of the Third Missionary Department, will preach on behalf of General Missions.

Our Rector is to preach this month in Christ Church, Germantown, and in the Church of the Holy Trinity, West Chester, in the course of sermons arranged by the Christian Social Union.

Photographs of the Church.—One of our vestrymen has had a very fine photograph of the interior of the church taken and also one of St. Saviour's altar. A cut of the former has been kindly made for us by another of our members and appears on the first page of this issue.

The Men's Club.—The second meeting of the club took place on the evening of Friday, Dec. 10th, and was like the preceding one, a great success. Seventy-two men were present and, in addition to pipes and coffee, there was given an exhibition of wrestling, exercises on the parallel bars, etc., by members of the University and Y. M. C. A. athletic teams. One of our choir men and a friend from the Industrial Art School gave illustrations in lightning drawing. This, together with some singing by our male quartette, made a very enjoyable evening.

The next meeting of the club will be on Thursday, January 13th. Invitations will be sent out as before, but all men connected with the parish—over eighteen years of age—are welcome to attend, whether they receive an invitation or not. The committee who will have the entertainment in charge, will be Mr. John S. Newbold, Mr Richard Gilpin and Dr. George M. Coates.

Clothes Wanted. — Partly worn clothes and shoes for adults and children are much needed at the church for our poor people, now that the cold weather is come. If persons in the congregation have anything of the kind to give away and will make up bundles and notify our sexton he will call for them and take them to the church.

How to keep Lent.

Lent is one of the oldest institutions connected with the Christian religion, and if it is observed properly it may be of great practical benefit. How should it be kept? We answer first as a time for self-discipline. All moral character requires discipline for its development. It is based on self-control. It is the result of one's ability to choose what is good and reject what is evil, on one's power to resist temptation and to follow what the mind and conscience dictate as right. To acquire this power one must exercise one's self, in self direction. It does not come naturally, and unless one deliberately tries to do this, practices it in lesser things and for a time at least, he will not gain the power which will enable him to do it under all circumstances and at all times.

Every one, therefore, should set himself some special discipline for Lent as a spiritual exercise, either by abstaining from certain kinds of food or amusements, or indulgence of some kind, which may be innocent in themselves, but from which it is well to abstain for a time, for the purpose of acquiring the power and habit of self-control. The church does not lay down a uniform and rigid law in regard to things one should abstain from. She leavs her children to do this for themselves as each may think best. And every Christian should be careful and exact in doing it.

Then Lent is a time for repentance, for self-examination and looking into one's life, seeing how one has been living, noting that in which one has come short or actually sinned and in resolving to change, to seek forgiveness for the past and to begin again and try to live a new life. All have need of repentance and amendment, to make new efforts to lead better and higher lives.

So it is a time for special prayer. Prayer is a mighty force. It means the communing of the soul with God, seeking his grace and help for ourselves and others. If true and fervent it will be the means of blessing our own souls and bringing down blessings on the world. No one can say just what the effect of prayer is or measure its influence, but Christ and His Apostles and all saints have used it, and the Scriptures tell us it "availeth much." If we look upon it, not as dictation to God, but as it rightly is, petition, which implies submission, we will feel strengthened and comforted ourselves by it and also be sure it will be a means of help to others.

So with Communion, our highest and most perfect act of worship and means of grace. Though the Christian should receive regularly the Holy Communion from time to time, if he will make a rule to receive or at least attend celebrations of it more frequently in Lent, and, if possible, with greater care and deeper devotion, he will find that, too, a means of great spiritual blessing.

Then Lent is a time for special almsgiving. Let one's self denial take this form of abstaining from indulgences and unnecessary gratifications and devoting the money thus saved to useful and beneficial purposes. There is a vast amount of need and suffering in the world, splendid beneficial purposes that might be served if the means for them were at hand. And it certainly is not consistent with the Christian ideal of life that there should be so much luxury and self-indulgence on the part of some and others, often innocent children, suffering for lack of the necessities of life, and that there should not be funds to provide even for our own people the essentials of religious or secular education, or the Christian means of grace. Let every one ask whether he is devoting a proper and sufficient proportion of his income to unselfish purposes, to meeting the wants or providing the blessing of religion for those who cannot do it for themselves.

Then Lent should be a time, if possible, for special acts of mercy, the engaging in some specific good work, or at least the resolve to make the effort and the sacrifice of living in the future more for others than for ourselves. There are a multitude of agencies and societies and instrumentalities of one kind and another for doing this and none of them have all the agents they need. There is probably no better way of touching the heart and affecting the sensibilities of people than that of coming in personal contact with those who are suffering or in need. A great deal more real benevolence would be manifested if this could be done more than it is. Many who have the means and would be glad to be of service to their fellow simply do not know or appreciate how much need there is.

If one cannot do any actual personal service, let them do it by an agent. See that you do some specific good works in Lent.

Let all resolve at the beginning of this holy season to use it for these different ends, and they will certainly find that it will be of the greatest practical value to them, and a means of blessing to others.

Parish Notes.

Lenten Services.—In addition to the daily Communion at 7 a. m. (Thursdays, 9 a. m.), morning prayer at 10 a. m., and evening prayer at 5 p. m., the Rector proposes to lecture on Tuesdays after evening prayer on the "Call of Lent to Repentance, Faith, Charity, Prayer, Obedience, Good Works." On Wednesday, at the 8 p. m. service, the Litany will be sung and the Curate will preach on Confirmation; Fridays, 5 p. m. there will be visiting preachers. On February 11, the Rev. Joseph L. Miller, formerly Curate at St. Stephen's; February 18, the Rev. George W. Lincoln, Rector of St. John the Baptist Church, Germantown; February 25, the Rev. Harrison B. Wright, Rector of St. Asaph's Church, Bala, and March 4, the Rev. G. La Pla Smith, Rector of St. George's Church, West Philadelphia. The boys of the choir will sing at the daily 5 p. m. evensong.

Special Sermons—The Rector has begun a course of special sermons on Sunday evenings on church unity. He will take up the large religious bodies in turn to consider the original cause of the separations and how these may be overcome and Christians brought together into communion and fellowship, as they should be.

In addition to his duties in his own parish the Rector has undertaken during Lent to preach in the following churches: St. Paul's, Camden, N. J.; St. Andrew's, Wilmington, Del.; Christ Church, Media; St. John the Baptist, Germantown; St. Martin's-in-the-Field and Trinity Church, Southwark.

The Curate will preach in St. Michael's, Germantown; St. Alban's, Olney; St. George's and St. Philip's, West Philadelphia; St. David's Manayunk; Christ Church, Media; St. Andrew's, Mount Holly, N. J.; Christ Church, Palmyra, N. J; St. Paul's, Chester. He will also give the three hours' service on Good Friday in Christ Church, Germantown.

Confirmation will be administered in this parish on Friday, March 11, at 8 p. m., by the Right Rev. Thomas A. Jagger, D.D., who is acting for the Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese during his absence abroad. The clergy call affectionately upon all adults in the parish who have not yet received this blessing to avail themselves of this opportunity for doing so. Confirmation should be received at that period of life when one is beginning to act for one's self in the conscious discharge of the duties of life. But if for any reason it was not received then it should be received on the first opportunity that offers. Confirmation is not only a means of grace itself, but it admits to the Holy Communion, the greatest of all channels of grace to the soul, and no Christian should live without it.

Confirmation Instructions will be given by the Rector on Sundays at 4 p. m., beginning February 6, and by the Curate after the service on Wednesday evenings.

A new piano being absolutely needed for the practicing of the choir and for the many entertainments we have in the parish building, the Vestry authorized the Music Committee to try and secure special subscriptions for the purpose, some $250 being needed. As it would be difficult to secure this sum at once, it was determined to buy it on the installment plan, a number of the members of the parish being asked to subscribe $1 a month each for the purpose until it is paid. We trust a generous response will be made to this appeal.

The Men's Club.—In spite of a stormy night, some sixty men attended the monthly smoker on the evening of January 13. The usual entertainment was provided, and Mr. John Cooper kindly gave some reminiscences of his experiences during the Civil War in addition to which there was some music from a Victor phonograph and on a French horn, by Mr. Aquette.

The meeting this month will be on Thursday, February 10, at which there will be an illustrated lecture on Alaska. The committee in charge will be Dr. Thomas R. Neilson, Albert E. Hurst and Joseph L. Phillips.

A Gift for Basket Ball.—Mr. Thomas B. Shelton has kindly given for use at basket ball games a strong screen net, which will be very useful.

Basket Ball Matches.—The Senior St. John's Guild has played this winter nearly a dozen match games of ball with visiting teams, and has won its full share of victories. From forty to sixty people have attended each game.

Dramatic Entertainment.—On March 31, 8 p. m., an entertainment will be given by St. John's Senior Guild, to which they invite their friends.

Sociables.—Before Christmas the Girls' Friendly Society gave a sociable to which they invited the young men. On January 25 the St. John's Senior Guild gave one in return, to which they invited the Girls' Friendly Society. Refreshments and dancing have made the evenings bright and pleasant.

St. Agnes' Day.—January 21 was the feast of the young saint in whose honor the little girls' guild is named. At 7 a. m. thirty of us met for a choral celebration of the Blessed Sacrament, Mrs. Harris kindly acting as organist for us. At 5.30 p. m. thirty again gathered for supper in the parish building, at which we welcomed as guests Mr. Alburger and Mr. Botwright. At 7.45 p. m. we repaired to the Colonial Theater and spent a delightful evening with moving pictures and vaudeville. Worship first and then a banquet and fun, we thought, was an ideal way of keeping our feast.

Sunday School Party.—Through the generosity of a friend the Sunday school had a "party" on Monday, January 31. Refreshments, games and dancing filled the evening and a fine time we did have.

Miss Anna Elizabeth Willis.—On January 17 there passed to the Church Expectant the soul of one who had fought a good fight and had won her crown. Rarely did a day pass that she was not on her knees before the Blessed Sacrament at 7 a. m. Absolutely regular in the receiving of her Sacraments, faithful to her employer in her daily duty, devout and earnest in her private devotions and life, patient in the midst of pain, affectionate to her friends, including many little children, beloved by the St. Agnes' Guild, of which she was a Superior, a good and dear child of God, she has now gone to receive her reward.

Her burial took place from the church with a choral celebration of the Holy Communion, at which were present many of St. Agnes' Guild and her friends. May she rest in peace.

A series of Missionary Meetings will be held during Lent on Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock at the Church of S. Luke and the Epiphany. They will take the form of a general discussion between two speakers, one of whom will ask questions in regard to the Missionary work of the Church, the other will answer them.

On Saturday Feb. 19th. at 8 P. M. Bishop Rowe of Alaska will give an illustrated lecture on his work in that country in the Witherspoon Building Walnut and Juniper Sts. Admission will be by tickets. The Rector has some for distribution.

The Holy Communion as an Act of Worship.

There are two great purposes of the Holy Communion. It was intended to be the great central act of Christian worship and the chief means of grace.

Let us consider the first of these purposes: It was instituted as St. Paul says, to "set forth the Lord's death till He come." That is, that just as the Passover among the Jews had been ordained to keep ever in mind the great deliverance wrought for them in their being brought forth from Egyptian slavery, so our Lord instituted the Holy Communion to be His "memorial," to keep ever in mind the greater deliverance He wrought for the whole human race by the voluntary sacrifice of Himself in His death upon the cross.

By it that sacrifice is "set forth" (1) to men; it is the preaching of "Christ crucified." This service, by sign and token and action, which all, even the most untutored, can understand, teaches and keeps in mind what Christ did and suffered. It is a great object lesson, making men realize, better than words or a picture would, the meaning of the central fact on which the Christian religion is founded, that God so loved the world that He sent His only begotten Son to live a human life and suffer death on the cross, to prove that love to men and set in motion those agencies which alone could be sufficient to redeem them from sin and death.

It is of this we should think when we attend a Celebration, and it should be kept before the minds of men just as constantly as possible.

(2) By this means the sacrifice of the

it. We have had one or two unusually large donations during the past year which have put us in better shape than we usually are at this time, and liberal gifts from all our parishioners on Easter day ought to enable us to come out without any deficit at the end of the financial year, April 30th. If that happens it will be almost the first time on record. It would be an immense thing. Nothing should give more satisfaction to individuals or to a corporation than the feeling that they are living within their income.

In this parish we have never done that. There has invariably been a deficit at the end of each year which has been a burden until it was worked off by some special means, by entertainments or something of that sort, which is certainly not the ideal way of supporting a church. If all our people will really give liberally according to their ability we may be able to escape that this year.

Diocesan Missions and the Episcopal Fund—The two envelopes for extra parochial purposes sent out this quarter are for these objects. For Diocesan Missions we are taxed $134.86 and for the support of the Bishop and the Convention expenses, $152.66. As yet very few of these envelopes have been returned and these amounts must be paid by Easter. Will not each member of the congregation feel that he must give something towards them?

Easter Flowers.—Every one will expect the church to be made beautiful with flowers on Easter day. But they cannot be gathered in the streets or even in the country as early in the spring as Easter comes, so they have to be bought. One of the Alms boxes in the vestibule of the Church will be set aside for contributions for flowers from Passion Sunday to Easter. If a number of persons would give regularly every month a small sum for flowers to the Treasurer of the Altar Guild we should have enough to supply them as well as two bouquets we have on the Altar every Sunday throughout the year. The Treasurer is Miss Parmelee, her address is 1906 Chestnut Street.

Special Sermons.—The Friday afternoon preachers during the remainder of Lent will be on March 4th, the Rev. G. L. Smith, Rector of S. George's Church, West Philadelphia; March 11th, the Rev. Harry Ransome, Rector of Christ Church, Media; 18th, the Rev. Charles H. Arndt, Rector of Christ Church, Germantown.

The concluding sermons in the course on church unity on Sunday evenings will be preached by the Rector on the evening of March 6th, on "Inter-Communion between the Greek and Episcopal Churches," and on March 13th, "The Ideal Church of the United States."

The Men's Club meeting on Feb. 10th was attended by some seventy men, some being present who had not been present before. The program was an unusually full one including a most interesting lecture on Alaska beautifully illustrated, by Dr. Kelsie, for whose kindness in deliveringit we are much indebted. The next meeting of the Club will be on the evening of March 10th. The Committee having it in charge will be:

Mr. Millard F. Roberts
Mr. Charles L. Borie, Jr.
Mr. Byron Huntington.

The New Piano of which we spoke has been bought and is now in use, much to the satisfaction of the Choir Master, as well as of those who attended the last meeting of the Men's Club. Ten persons have contributed $10 each, and six others have promised $1 a month for ten or twelve a months. We still need $100 to make up the required amount, and shall be glad to receive any contributions either in one amount or in instalments towards it. Mr. M. F. Roberts, Secretary of the Music Committee of the Vestry, whose address is 4031 Locust Street, is acting as Treasurer of the Fund.

Confirmation will be administered in the Church on Friday, March 11th, at 8 p. m. Rt. Rev. Henry D. Robinson, D. D., Missionary Bishop of Nevada, acting, as he did last year, for the Bishop of the Diocese.

The Ladies' Aid meet on Wednesdays during Lent at 3 p. m. in the parish building to sew for the house of the Holy Child for which simple garments are very much needed. Any ladies of the parish will be welcome to join them, and donations of money or material will be very acceptable. Work may be taken away and done at home if preferred.

Sunday School.

MITE BOXES FOR BONTOC.

This season the Lenten offering of the children will be given to the Rev. W. C. Clapp, who is in the Philippine Islands. A difficult and effective work is being accomplished among heathen people, at the sacrifice of comfort and even the risk of life. His work is being done on deeply spiritual lines.

Theatrical Entertainment.

S. John's Guild Dramatic Club will give a grand entertainment in the parish building on Thursday, March 31th, at 8 p. m.

It is hoped that all the Congregation will be interested enough to take tickets which are twenty-five cents each, and encourage this effort to help the Guild and the piano fund.

Our New Printer.

Owing to the failure of our former printer, the printing of the NEWS, beginning with the February issue, was placed in the hands of S. Martin's Press, the printing department of S. Martin's College. We anticipate more satisfactory work than we have had for some time past, and commend S. Martin's to all needing printed matter. By patronizing them you will help a worthy cause in a practical way.

"Giving."

"Give as you would if an angel
Awaited your gift at the door!
Give as you would if to-morrow
Found you when waiting was o'er.
Give as you would to the Master,
If you meet His searching look!
Give as you would of your substance
If His hand your offering took."

as was asked for and is needed, and not as much as we received last Easter. But that is counter-balanced by the fact that our total offerings for the year are about $500 more than for the same period last year.

Special Offerings. Where we are most behind is in our special offerings for Diocesan Missions and for the Episcopal and Convention Fund. For the former we have to pay $134, and have received only $28.67 towards it, and for the latter $152, and we have received only $15.49. Yet these are things the Church must pay. Will not every one in the parish put in the plate sometime during this month an offering for each of these objects in the special envelopes.

At the Easter election for the Vestry the following were duly elected :

To serve until Easter, 1913

HARRY B. FRENCH
WALTER M. NEWNAM
JOHN S. NEWBOLD
GEORGE M. COATES, M.D.

Dr. Thomas R. Neilson and Mr. William C. Lloyd were subsequently made Wardens.

The Sunday School had its afternoon service on Easter Day. They sang their carols, listened to addresses and received a potted plant apiece, the money for which had been collected by their friend Mr. Witmer. After that they all went into the School Room and received an Easter Egg.

Children's Stations. At 9 a. m. on Good Friday the children made the Stations. They marched from Station to Station, the cross bearer and two acolytes leading, followed by the vested choir, the Rev. Curate who made the Meditation at each Station and then the School. The Devotion was quite devoutly made by those taking part, including the little people. It was evident that the children were impressed by what they saw or heard and no one could have asked for more reverent and seemly behavior.

St. Agnes' Guild, after a winter of faithful attendance, both at the Guild meeting and Saturday nights and the Blessed Sacrament on Sundays, kept their Easter by making their Communion together at 7.30 a. m. and having a party on Easter Monday. To this they invited the boys of the choir and some friends. A company of forty-nine spent a joyous evening with games, songs and dancing followed by refreshments.

The Guild Room, where the table was set, was draped and decorated quite elaborately and everything was designed and executed by the girls themselves.

The young men and women (17 in number) who were rehearsing for their play, were invited by a committee of the Guild, who provided them as their guests, with ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Harris kindly played dance music for the children, quite elaborate refreshments were provided by the Superiors, the tables being decorated with flowers.

A joyous evening was spent.

Lent and Holy Week. The attendance at the different services this Lent was not all that could be desired though the total number at all the services was not so small.

Those present during the three hours on Good Friday were much edified by the addresses given by the Rev. John M. Page of Lebanon, Pa.

Donations. A small Hymnal to take the place of a very much worn one was presented to the Rector. Some gifts of money, were made to the Curate, Amounting to $15; for which he returns his thanks. One of our Vestrymen has presented the Church with a quartered oak notice board for the vestibule, also had made a type-written list of the contributors through the envelopes. Some donations of Easter flowers were received, and one of our members who was not able to give an Easter offering in money scrubbed the tiles of the chancel herself instead.

St. Agnes' Guild followed its custom of making an Easter offering to the Church. This year it took the form of fine linen with which a lady will make three corporals, and the Guild will have a cross embroidered upon each.

Gift to Bontoc. The Sunday School has given to the Rev. W. C. Clapp, stationed at Bontoc, Philippines, over $50.00, as their Lenten offering. This is more than twice the amount of last year and the largest during the past seven years.

The Men's Club meeting in March was as successful as the others have been, nearly seventy men being present. There was the usual smoking and refreshments together with music and recitations, and part of the evening was made interesting by a lecture entitled "How Drawings are reproduced." The talk was given by Mr. Barton K. Huntington who has had some years experience in newspaper work, and at present is studying art in this city. The meeting of the Club this month will take place on the evening of Thursday the 14th. At this time measures will be discussed looking towards making it a permanent organization.

A Cut of S. Saviour Altar has been made by one of our Vestrymen from a photograph lately taken and we print it on the first page of this issue. Copies of this photograph and of the general interior of the Church may be obtained from the Phila. Camera Exchange, 129 S. 11th St. They are fifty cents each.

Home Study of the Holy Scripture.

A great opportunity is given to Churchwomen in the Course of Reading and Study offered by the Society for the Home Study of Holy Scripture and Church History (S. H. S. H. S.), whose headquarters is in the Church Missions House, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York.

For women who cannot find leisure for systematic study, the Reading Classes provide guidance in the wise choice of books, and the books themselves can be procured from the library of the Society with little cost and trouble. A list is furnished to members of over three hundred of the best books.

To those who are able and willing to give more time to gaining intelligent knowledge of religous truth—both historic and dogmatic—are recommended the Students' Course on the Holy Scriptures and Church History, each deeply interesting and requiring less than an hour's daily study from October to June. There is also a shorter course of Mission Study and Post-graduate Courses on the Psalms, Prophecy and the Prayer Book.

A Philadelphia Branch of the Society has just been formed, and any one interested is requested to communicate with the officers, who will gladly furnish additional information.

Fasting on Fridays and Other Days.

The Prayer Book, in the Table of Feasts and Fasts, gives Ash-Wednesday and Good Friday as the two great Fasts in the year, and the following as "days of fasting, on which the Church requires such a measure of abstinence as is more especially suited to extraordinary acts and exercises of devotion," viz.: The Forty Days of Lent, the three Ember Days at the beginning of the four seasons of the year, the three Rogation Days before Ascension Day, and all the Fridays in the year except Christmas Day.

Now there are a great many Church people who observe the first of these times---the Forty Days of Lent, more or less strictly as a time of fasting, but who pay no attention to other days which the Church appoints to be observed in the same way, and doing so lose the advantage which the observance of them might bring to them. The use of fasting is plainly prescribed by the New Testament. In the Sermon on the Mount our Lord taught His disciples how they should fast, not ostentatiously, "to be seen of men," as the Pharisees, but so as to be seen and rewarded by God. And while He did not require them to fast while He was with them, and His presence could supply them with all grace, He foretold them that a time would come when they "should fast." He said such works as He did could only result from "prayer and fasting." We find in the book of Acts that the Apostles practiced fasting, and in their Epistles to the several Churches they inculcated it. So, from Church history we learn that multitudes of Christians from the earliest times fasted, some with the utmost rigor, and that all, everywhere, regarded it as an essential discipline for the perfection of the Christian character. Even the Puritans, who abolished so much that had always belonged to the Christian system, did not give up fasting; they had a regular fast both in the spring and in autumn, and before their communion seasons and at other special occasions.

The object and use of fasting are manifest:

(1) It is most valuable as a discipline, a means by which the soul may learn, and gain the strength to rule and restrain the bodily appetites. The tendency of all our bodily appetites is to over-indulgence and excess, which weakens our power for enjoyment and renders us their slaves. This is seen most strikingly in the victims of intemperance. Now, if a person had been in the habit at certain regular times, of abstaining from what is perfectly lawful and innocent, as an exercise for the purpose of gaining the power of self-control in all things, this could never happen.

(2) It is useful as a means of keeping us in mind of spiritual things, and of their superiority and importance above bodily gratification.

(3) It is a means of afflicting the soul, punishing it as it were, for its sins and shortcomings, exciting in us contrition and desire for better things.

(4) It is necessary to prevent our absorption in earthly and worldy interests. It is impossible for us to fix our attention on or profit by spiritual exercises if we are surfeited with self-indulgences. Who could profit by Lent if all his time and attention was taken up by a round of gaieties and amusements? So, the person who never puts any restraint upon his pleasures and appetites will gradually become hardened and indifferent to spiritual things.

For these and other reasons, fasting as a regular exercise and part of one's life is most valuable. So the Church appoints the special seasons mentioned to be observed for this purpose. Unless there are particular set times for it, prescribed by authority, it will not be generally practiced. And the times prescribed by the Church are very natural ones, the Season of Lent, the Ember Days which remind us of the flight of the seasons and teach us to seek God's blessing on each in turn, and especially to pray for those who are to be ordained to the Sacred Ministry, the regular times for ordination being the Sundays succeeding those days; the Rogation Days as a preparation for the great Feast of the Ascension, and for supplicating especially God's blessing on the fruits of the coming summer; and all Fridays in the year, a weekly remembrance of the day on which our Lord was crucified, as Sunday is of His resurrection.

How we should fast the Church does not prescribe, leaving every one to decide for himself what would be the most advisable but general custom—as a rule most likely to be adapted for all—has prescribed the disuse of meat on Fridays, a custom doubtless which is advantageous as promotive of health as well as a discipline. But whether this rule is followed, or some other which may in instances become advisible, every Christian should be careful to observe these times in some way. The Church, which from her long experience knows what her children need, "requires it." Never choose these times for festivities, parties, etc. Attend Church if possible upon them and in some way always fast. If devoutly used it will be an exercise which is of great spiritual benefit.

PARISH NOTES.

The Ascension. This Feast, which, being the name day of our Church we always observed as our Parish Festival, occurs very early this year. And we shall hope to have, therefore, a larger attendance at its various services than we frequently do when it does not come until the very end of the month. On the day itself there will be Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 7 a. m. and after Morning Prayer at 10.30 a. m. The music at this service will be "Garrett in F," a new Mass. At 8 p. m. there will be the shortened form of Choral Evening Prayer with the Anniversary Sermon by the Rector. It is hoped that all our people will be present at this service as well as at one of the Celebrations in the morning. And as the regular meeting of the Vestry will be held after this service, we trust that will secure their presence.

On the Sunday morning following, May 8th, there will be the Annual Guild Service, in which we hope all the members of the Guilds will take part. They will assemble in the Parish Building a little before the service and enter the church in the following order: members of S. Agnes' Guild, Girls' Friendly Society, members of the Woman's Guild, Junior S. John's Guild, Senior S. John's Guild, members of the Brotherhood of S. Andrew and of the Men's Club. As the Men's Club at their last meeting resolved to attend this service in a body, we trust this will secure a large turnout of the men of the Parish.

On Monday evening, May 9th, the Annual Parish Tea will take place in the Parish Building. The object of this Tea is to bring together all the people of the Parish socially. Twenty-five cents is charged to defray the expenses of the Tea, while tickets are freely given to all the members of the young people's Guilds and of the Mother's Meeting. It is intended only for adults, not for the children of the Parish. A supper will be provided for the choir boys on Tuesday evening. One of the plays rendered at the S. John's Guild entertainment last month will be repeated at the Tea.

The Endowment Fund. As of late, by order of the Vestry, all the offerings on Ascension day will be for the endowment fund of the Parish. It is much to be desired that this fund should be largely increased. It is really wonderful that this church has been able to be carried on so many years as it has, having the services of two clergymen and with much really good music as we have, on so small an income as it receives. It has been suggested that as this year will complete the seventy-fifth year of the life of the Parish and the thirtieth of the present Rectorship, this occasion should be signalized by a large augmentation of the Endowment Fund, say $10,000 We wish very much it could be done. The Church in its present position on this prominent thoroughfare will always be useful and ought to be maintained especially in view of the removal of so many other Churches from its neighborhood, but how can that be secured if it is to be dependent only on the precarious revenue of the offerings of those who are attracted to its services? We have been pleading for this endowment for many years and still hope for gifts and legacies towards it

The Men's Club met as usual on the evening of April 14. A goodly number were present and an enjoyable entertainment was given by the members of a Mandolin Club which consisted of some ten pieces, and whose services were volunteered. This was followed by an interesting lecture by Mr. W. T. Warner giving his experiences in voyages he made years ago in a Clipper around Cape Horn. There was also some excellent playing by Mr. Roe, a member of the Club, and singing by Mr. Robert G. Neil, After the usual refreshments the Committee on permanent organization reported. Nine suggested Articles and By-laws were read one by one and with some slight modifications adopted. After which the Club proceeded to the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Mr. Richard Gilpin, Vice-President, Mr, Chas. L. Borie, Jr., Secretary, Mr. Walter M. Newnam, Treasurer, Mr. F. C. Botwright. Board of Governors, in addition to the above named officers and the Chaplain who is one of the Clergy of the Parish, Mr. John S. Newbold, Dr. George M. Coates.

The Envelopes sent out this month are for six months as it would be difficult to distribute them in August, the beginning of the second quarter, when so many are away. We trust that all who can do so will fill them up and return them before they leave for the summer, so as to give the church an income to meet its expenses during those months. The special envelopes are for the Poor and for the support of the Sunday and Industrial Schools. There is also a special one for the Endowment Fund; if this is not returned on Ascension Day, it can be put in the plate at any service during the year.

We wish that everyone connected with the Parish would apply for a set of envelopes in which to make these offerings, whether they are large or small. That would secure regularity on the part of the giver and enable the Vestry to know on what income they can rely. Forms of application are always found in the rack at the door of the church, and if sent to the Warden or dropped in an in an alms box, the envelopes will be sent in return.

Gifts. S. John's Guild received a very substantial addition to its gymnastic appliance from Mr. P. A. B. Weidner; when new they must have cost some $300, and they are in very good condition. One of our members, Mr. F. C. Botwright, Builder, designed and made and has placed in the vestibule of the church a very large quartered oak notice board It is a great addition to the appearance of the vestibule and will be very useful. Another of our members has had re-written the list of contributors through the envelopes, which is also an improvement over the old list, which had been written by different hands on different size cards.

St. John's Guild Dramatic Club assisted by some members of The Girls Friendly Society gave a most delightful entertainment on March 31st.

Mrs. Arthington Gilpin and Messrs. Myers and Messerschmidt rendered delightful music and songs accompanied by Mrs. Harris. All did well and special mention should be given to Messrs Parke, Wilson, Huntington, Martz and Hughes. Mr. Morgan always excells as Stage Manager being the best friend of the boys. They netted a goodly sum and thanks are due to those members of the Church who so kindly helped and obtained tickets and were interested enough to be present to see such a delightful performance.

ST. AGNES' GUILD.

Basket Ball. The little girls have succumbed to the epidemic of basket-ball and now at their weekly meetings, after their office of Devotion and Instruction, a part of their evening is spent in this exciting game. Anna Schott and Emma Burns have been chosen as leaders of opposing forces and strenuous contests are witnessed. The more sedate Superiors act as judges and they enjoy the battle as much, apparently, as the children.

Gymnastic Exercises. The girls, now that they have entered the field of physicial culture, are very anxious to undertake gymnastic exercises, but their one difficulty is the lack of a Trainer. Is there not some one of the young ladies or some other person in the congregation who would once a week or once every two weeks volunteer to lead the little people in these invigorating and interesting exercises? The children are planning for their gymnastic suits and everything is ready except the Trainer. Who will help us in this?

land. While the Church is connected with the state in England it is supposed to be represented by Parliament, and in Ireland there is a general body of the whole Church, thus called the representative body.

In this country, when the national Church was first formed, there were, of course, only a few dioceses along the Atlantic seaboard, so that the General Convention, composed of delegates from each of these, formed only a very small body; but now that there are nearly a hundred dioceses and missionary jurisdictions, it is a very large body.

It has become indeed very unwieldy and expensive, and for some time the question has been discussed of cutting the Church up into provinces, leaving to them all local legislation, and having a smaller National Council, composed of delegates from the provinces and meeting only at long intervals. This undoubtedly will be done eventually, as the obtaining legislation by so large a body, meeting for three weeks once in three years, is becoming more and more difficult and unsatisfactory.

But at present the Church in the United States is comprised in one province, which is represented in this General Convention, as it is called, which is composed of two houses, the House of Bishops, in which every Bishop of the Church has a seat, and the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies, which is composed of four clergymen and four laymen from each diocese, and the two houses must agree upon any legislation which is enacted. This is the supreme legislative body of the Church in this country, though, of course, it could not legislate in any way in regard to the essential principles or practice of the faith. That belongs to the whole Church throughout the world, acting through General or Ecumenical Councils, as they are called. But all domestic matters pertaining to the Constitution of the dioceses and the extension of the Church, and of discipline and modes of worship, etc., these are represented by this National Council.

A number of very important matters are coming up before this present Convention, such as the question of adopting a preamble to the written Constitution of the Church, setting forth its principles, of having Suffragan Bishops, that is, Bishops having jurisdiction in a portion of a diocese or over certain classes or races, of the mode of appointment and time of office of the Presiding Bishop or Primates of the whole Church, of the setting forth of an office for the anointing of the sick, of the revision of the Lectionary or Table of Lessons. These and other important matters will be discussed and acted on, and all Church people should follow with interest all the proceedings of the Convention, which will be reported in full in our Church newspapers. And, above all, they should use constantly the Collect in the Prayer Book appointed to be said while any Church Council is in session, that all its proceedings may be directed, sanctified and governed by the mighty power of the Holy Ghost.

PARISH NOTES

Gifts and repairs. The Rector was much pleased on returning home September the first to find that the vestry room had been recarpeted by a new and substantial Brussels carpet, the gift of the ladies of the congregation. It was much needed, as the old one was very much worn.

The church organ has been thoroughly overhauled and put in good condition during the summer, at the cost of $50.

Sunday School. The school usually resumes its sessions on the first Sunday of October, but this year it was thought best the opening of it should be the middle of September. All but one of the teachers will retain their classes this winter, which is a rather unusual fact in schools.

St. Agnes Guild. It has continued its sessions without intermission during the summer, and at times the attendance has been larger than the winter average. They have had their usual amusements, including an excursion to Burlington Island Park and an evening at Keith's. Their meetings continued in September, during the absence of their reverend Director.

The Wednesday Night Services. The midweek night services and brief instruction continued through the summer, until September, followed by class in Bible study, which considered together various chapters in the Book of Genesis. These Bible studies were based on an interesting and clever book called "Bible Miniatures."

Sunday Night Services. These services have continued during the summer, followed by an After-Meeting; these latter have been most interesting. Questions sent in anonymously by people in the congregation have been discussed by a considerable number in the parish building. A large proportion of them were men. Every week some of these persons have made and kept appointments with the reverend Curate for private conference and instruction. During the month of August there were never less than fifty at these After-Meeting; the services closing on the last Sunday with an attendance of 205 in the church and 76 at the After-Meeting. The reverend Curate is indebted to the Rev. John Cook for his assistance at some of these night services, and we are all greatly obliged to Mrs. Harris for her efficient work on several Sunday nights during the indisposition of the Organist.

A number of young ladies and little girls have acted as an auxiliary choir at these services during the summer, some of whom have been very faithful. They have materially aided in the remarkably hearty congregational singing which has marked these meetings.

Piano Fund. The Accounting Warden, who has acted as Treasurer for the fund of a new piano, which was so greatly needed in the parish building, reports that he still needs $68.00 to make up the $250.00 it cost. Will not some of those in the congregation who have not contributed to this fund give something towards making up the amount?

Our church grounds, which were at last put in order in the spring, have been kept green all summer, with a good lawn interspersed with some plants and flowers. It has made a great improvement in the appearance of the church.

Our finances are very low at the present moment. We have had to borrow money to take us through the summer. Will not all who owe anything on account of their envelopes pay it up as soon as possible? And will not everyone connected with or attending the church, who is not already doing so, take envelopes, or agree to pay a regular sum for the support of the Church? There are a number of people in the parish who are neglectful of their duty in this respect, and do not contribute what in another church they would be obliged to give as a pew rent. The beginning of another winter is a good time to take this matter up. Forms of subscription for envelopes are always found in the rack at the bottom of the church.

Rector's Thirtieth Anniversary. On the last Sunday in November the Rector will complete the thirtieth year of his rectorship. He will preach a sermon on the morning of that day giving a history of the Church during that period. And the Vestry at the meeting in the beginning of the month will probably take action in regard to it.

The Men's Club. At a meeting of the Governors of the club held in June, Mr. Richard Gilpin presented his resignation as President, his many absences from the city making it impossible for him to serve in that capacity. Our Accounting Warden, Mr. Millard F. Roberts, to whom a great deal of the success of the club is already due, was elected in his stead. The first meeting of the club will be on the second Thursday in November.

Special Sermons. The Rector has been preaching on Sunday evenings since the first Sunday in September, a course of special sermons on "Present Day Evils." The special subjects have been "Social Inequalities," "Bad Politics and Graft," "The Decay of Family Life," "Facility of Divorce." Those during this month will be on "Increase of Suicide," "Prostitution," "The Drink Habit," "Gambling," "Luxurious ~~Homes~~ living."

The annual meeting of the Women's Guild takes place on SS. Simon and Jude's day, October 28th, immediately after the 10 A. M. service in the church. The Rector begs all the women in the parish, who can possibly do so, to be present. The annual reports of the past year will be read and the work arranged for the coming season. There are a number of vacancies in our different departments of work calling loudly for volunteers. It is an occasion, too, on which the Rector likes to consult with the ladies in respect to plans for the general welfare of the parish.

The death of Mr. Thomas Neilson occurred in June. Although belonging nominally to a country parish, he had been an attendant of this Church during the winter months for over twenty-five years. Though his health had been declining for some years he came to church as regularly as he possibly could, and we shall all miss the sight of his venerable figure. He had been a devoted churchman all his life. For many years he was Accounting Warden of St. Stephen's Church, and was a member of the governing boards of several religious societies. He was the father of our former Organist and Choirmaster, Mr. Frederick B. Neilson. The funeral took place from the church June 1, the Bishop of Bethlehem and six other clergymen and the full choir being present. May he rest in peace.

What the General Convention Did

Last month we spoke of the important meeting of our great National Council which was then in session at Cincinnati. As it has now adjourned, and as many of our people do not read the Church papers, and reports in the daily papers were very imperfect, it may be well for us to state briefly the chief results of the meeting.

First, the provision for the Consecration of Suffragan Bishops was adopted. That will enable any large Diocese to have one or more Bishops to have charge of a part of the Diocese under the direction of the Diocesan Bishop, and otherwise assist him, or to have the special care of those of a particular race. Such Bishops will probably very soon be elected in New York, in this Diocese and probably in Connecticut.

Then the Constitution of the Board of Missions was changed so as to make it consist of representatives from each of the Missionary Districts, as well as from the General Church, and instead of a Secretary as heretofore, there is to be a President elected by the General Convention, and Bishop Lloyd, the former Secretary, has been elected to that position. The Bishops passed a resolution regarding the famous Canon 19, saying that it never was intended to alter in any way the teaching of the Church in regard to the qualification of those who should minister in our congregations. This seemed to have been so satisfactory to all that no word of discussion of the subject was heard in the Convention.

Very important action was taken in regard to the social work of the Church, a Civil Service Commission being appointed to prosecute it.

Another Commission was appointed to forward the cause of Church unity by inviting representatives of the various Denominations to discuss their differences in regard to Faith and Order; and a layman, Mr. Pierpont Morgan, has given $100,000 to defray its expenses.

Two new dioceses and five new missionary jurisdiction were created.

Certain alterations in the Lectionary, including new lessons for Lent, the Eves of Holy Days and certain special occasions were licensed for tentative use until the meeting of the next Convention, and a New Mission Hymnal was set forth.

The proposal to drop the term Protestant from the title page of the Prayer Book, though carried by large majority of clergy, was lost by the lay vote of one diocese.

The proposed Preamble to the Constitution adopted by the last Convention was not approved, nor was a proposed substitute for it.

The proposal to set forth a Special Service for the administration of Unction was not carried.

The effort to secure the appointment of a Bishop or Bishops for the Colored people was also lost.

These are the chief points on which action was taken, some of which may prove of great importance. It was a very harmonious and effective Convention. The opening service and many Missionary and other meetings connected with it were largely attended and most enthsiastic. And we can be very thankful for the good spirit that prevailed and the work accomplished, and that nothing was done that need cause any disquietude in the Church, even if some things were not done which we could have wished and which we believe would have added to the efficiency and accelerated the progress of the Church.

PARISH NOTES

The Rector's Thirtieth Anniversary will be observed on Sunday, November 27th, when he will preach at the morning service a sermon reviewing the history of the parish since he took charge of it on the last Sunday in November, 1880. Special offerings will be asked from each member of the congregation on that day for the purpose of meeting a deficit in the current expenses of the Church and for the increase of the Endowment Fund. This is very desirable owing to the losses the Parish has sustained by the death of some who were generous contributors and to the fact that there has been for some years no improvement in the neighborhood. Such improvement must eventuately come and it is very essential that the Church should be maintained efficiently at such a central and prominent locality. Our present endowment is only $13,000, a sum utterly insufficient to secure the permanent support of the Church. All the present and former members of the congregation and those who have have been good enough to help us in the past by their contributions are asked to contribute something towards this object, as a thank offering for the good work accomplished by the parish during the last thirty years, and to secure its future.

The Women's Guild anniversary was held as usual on SS. Simon and Jude's Day. The reports of the work of the various chapters for the past year were read, and arrangements made for the coming season. Some changes have been necessarily made in the heads of some of the departments. Mrs. Hare who was head of the Mother's Meeting last winter feels obliged to give up the charge of it, though she and her daughter, Miss Charlotte Hare, will still assist in the work. Miss Alice Young will take the general direction of it with the aid of Miss Henrietta Walsh. The meetings re-commence with this month.

As Miss Mildred Hodge will be married this month she has resigned her charge of the Industrial School. But the school will be carried on by some of the other teachers that were in it last winter.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gilpin has taken the place of Miss Wharton as Secretary for the Girls' Friendly Society, though Miss Wharton will still continue to act as one of the associates.

Men's Club. The first meeting of the Club for this season will be held on the evening of Thursday Nov. 10th. The entertainment this time will be entirely musical the Armonia Mandolin Club have volunteered their services for the occasion. The President of the Club, Mr. M. F. Roberts, Mr. Albert Challman, and Mr. Barton R. Huntington are the hosts of the evening. All the men of the Parish and any of their male friends they care to bring with them are invited to be present. There will be, as usual, refreshments and smoking.

St. Andrew's Brotherhood held its first meeting for the winter in October; seven of the members were present and Mr. Albert Challman was received as a new member.

St. John's Guild has resumed their basket ball on their regular night, and they are also arranging for a sociable in the near future. There is, too, a prospect of getting up a dramatic club composed of the members of St. John's Guild and of the Girls' Friendly Society.

Special Sermons. The Rector will continue his course of sermons on Sunday evenings on "Present Day Evils" until advent. The subjects for the Sundays in this mouth will be "Demoralizing Amusements," "The Misuse of Sunday," and "Neglect of Religion".

Subscriptions to the News. We call attention of our subscribers to the fact that many of them have not yet paid for this year and we are out of funds. Prompt payment of what is due would enable us to meet our obligations.

ENTERTAINMENTS

St. Agnes' Guild will give its Annual Entertainment on Monday, Nov. 21, 1910, in the Parish Building, at 8 p. m.

And this time, the affair will be of a far more elaborate and interesting character than ever before.

Miss Elizabeth Fisher, who has given most delightful evenings at the Bellevue-Stratford and elsewhere, has most kindly consented to present a series of tableaux and other attractions here, making use of our children as far as practicable.

No such ambitious affair has ever in recent years been undertaken in our Parish Building, and we trust the congregation will show their appreciation of Miss Fisher's generosity and kindness; and also that the fund needed for the conduct of the St. Agnes' Guild during the coming saseon may be provided.

Tickets will be sent through the mail (as is an annual custom) and we ask a kind response.

The Sunday School Children gave a presentation of Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works on Oct. 25th, the proceeds being for the benefit of the Sunday School. A large audience was present and it all passed off pleasantly. To Mr. Botwright, Miss Maria Gilpin and Mrs. Harris, especially are our thanks given, and the children are to be commended for their good work both in posing and in selling tickets.

All Souls' Day. On Nov. 2, commonly known as All Souls' Day, those of the faithful departed, whose names are sent to the clergy, will be remembered at the Offering of the Holy Sacrifice at 7 o'clock in the morning; as is the custom in this parish.

Last year over 100 names were sent in for this purpose.

THE RECTOR'S THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

We print the following letter, issued last month by the Vestry, as many may not otherwise see it:

To the Members, Former Members and Friends of the Church of the Ascension:

As on the last Sunday of this month the Rev. G. Woolsey Hodge, M. A., will complete the thirtieth year of his Rectorship of this Parish, the Vestry desire to make a brief statement of what has been accomplished in that period, and concerning the present condition of the Parish.

In November, 1880, the property of the Parish consisted of an old-fashioned, square, two-story building on Lombard Street above Eleventh. For some years after its erection, in 1836, a flourishing work was conducted there, but afterward, owing to changes in the neighborhood and the erection of other churches which were more attractive, the Parish declined until, in the year above mentioned, only thirty-two persons were reported as communicants: there was only a handful of people attending the services, and it was $700 in debt. Since then, the property on Lombard Street was sold and the present lot on Broad Street, below South purchased, and the Church and Parish building erected, all of which has been paid for, and an endowment fund of some $13,000 accumulated, making the total value of the property of the Parish, real and personal, about $80,000. Since 1880 there have been 916 baptisms, 215 marriages, 530 burials, 773 have been confirmed and 1690 added to the communicant list, of whom about 500 are still actively connected with the Parish. During all this period the Church has had the services of two clergymen and from four to five services have been maintained every Sunday, winter and summer, and three to four every week-day; and some agency connected with the Parish work is conducted every evening in the week in the Parish building, and the Church has always been left open throughout the day for private prayer. The total receipts during these thirty years from free-will offerings, for the Church has been conducted on the voluntary principle, no pews or seats having ever been sold or rented, have been $219,339.55, and from legacies, $27,485.64. The spiritual results of this work cannot be estimated in figures, but from the unvarying adherence to certain principles on which it has been conducted, and from the interest and attachment manifested toward it by many of its parishioners, we may be sure that they are widespreading and lasting.

As to the present condition and needs of the Parish the Vestry begs to submit the fact that during the whole of the time since the present Church was erected there has been no improvement whatever in the neighborhood, but, on the contrary, a steady deterioration of the district south of the Church, owing to the migration of persons once living there to the newer and more attractive sections of the city and adjacent country, their places being taken by negroes and foreigners, the work and support of the Church has become increasingly difficult. Few persons of means have, of late years, connected themselves with the Parish, while it has lost, by death and removal, many who were formerly attached to it. Yet we believe that, owing to its central and prominent position and to the fact that the character of the population in the different sections of our city is constantly changing, the site of the Church should not be abandoned, as has been done in so many other instances. What we need is the substantial increase of our endowment. All the other churches in the old section of the city: Christ Church, St. Peter's, St. Andrew's, St. Stephen's, St. Luke's and the Epiphany, St. Mark's, the Holy Trinity, Holy Trinity Chapel and St. James' have each endowments running from the neighborhood of $100,000 to $500,000, and all but one of them charge pew rents in addition. It is manifest, therefore, that our small endowment of $13,000 and our free-will offerings, mostly from people in very moderate circumstances, is utterly inadequate to carry on the Church effectively or to provide against contingencies in the future.

Could these thirty years of unbroken service in this Parish, the completion of which occurs, too, about the seventy-fifth anniversary of its formation, be better commemorated than by the raising of our endowment fund to an amount sufficient to provide for meeting the present expenses of the Church and to secure its future? For some years we have been falling some five or six hundred dollars short in meeting our current expenses; we are owing over that amount now. Will not each one to whom this letter is sent place in the enclosed envelope a special contribution for these purposes? Will not all who have, at any time, been connected with the Parish, or have contributed toward its erection, and all those who believe in the principle for which it stands—that all the seats in God's House should be free to all, be glad to aid in this effort to put it upon a permanently safe foundation?

On the last Sunday morning of this month the Rector will preach a sermon, giving a detailed history of the Parish for the last thirty years, and we are anxious that the returns from this appeal may be in hand by that time.

Signed by order of the Vestry:

THOMAS R. NEILSON, M. D.,
Rector's Warden.
MILLARD F. ROBERTS,
Accounting Warden.
JOHN D. HENDERSON,
Secretary.

November 3, 1910.

PARISH NOTES.

The Rector's thirtieth anniversary was celebrated, as arranged, on the last Sunday in November. Though it was the first Sunday in Advent, the mid-day service was kept as a festival with white vestments, the singing of the Te Deum, Gloria in Excelsis, etc. The Church was beautifully decorated with palms by Mr. A. T. Moore, florist, of 1639 North Broad Street, who had formerly been a choir boy in our Parish. Many of the old members of the Parish, as well as an unusual number of our own members, were present on the occasion. The Rector preached a sermon, giving a brief history of the Parish since its inception in 1836, and especially for the last thirty years. He pointed out the advance that had been made and the good work accomplished in spite of the very discouraging conditions of the immediate neighborhood of the Church. In conclusion, he dwelt upon his anxiety in regard to the future of the Church, and pointed out that the only way to secure it from possible disaster was largely to increase the small endowment of $13,000 we now have. By direction of the Vestry, the appeal we print was issued to effect this end. The returns so far received, including the offering last Sunday, are $652.28.

It is hoped that those who have not yet responded to this appeal will still do so. The envelopes inclosed with the appeal may be sent, filled, to the Church by mail, or placed on the plate at any service.

New Processional Cross.

The Rector's anniversary was marked by the presentation to the Church of another very massive and elaborate processional cross. It was given originally to St. Jude's Church, on North Franklin Street. When that Parish was amalgamated with the Church of the Nativity, at Eleventh and Mt. Vernon Streets, the cross was returned to the donor, who now presents it to our Parish. It was carried for the first time at the morning service last Sunday. It will be a great ornament to the Church, and will be used on Festival occasions.

Special Sermons.

Beginning with this month, the Rev. Curate of the Parish will preach on Sunday evenings a special course of sermons. The subject of his sermon on December 4th will be "A South African and Foreign Missions"; on December 11th, "Which is the Unpardonable Sin?"; on December 18th, "The Way God Answers Prayers"; on December 25th, "The Blessed Virgin Mary."

Christmas Day,

which occurs this year on Sunday, will be celebrated as other Sundays, except that there will be additional celebrations of the Holy Communion at 6.30 and 8.30 A. M., as well as at 7.30 and 11.30; and there will be a special Children's Christmas Service at 3.30 P. M.

The children will also meet in the Church on the evening of Wednesday, December 28th, being Holy Innocents' Day, when they will sing their Christmas carols, and afterward have a Christmas tree and other entertainment in the Parish Building.

The Christmas Offering will be, as usual, for the purpose of enabling the Church to meet the current expenses of the Church for the year. So many do not attend the Church regularly, or are absent for so large a part of the year, that it is only by special gifts at Christmas and Easter that they make up the sum they should give through the year, and the Church be put in a position to meet its regular expenses. We trust every one will give as largely as they can. And we also need special contributions for the Children's Christmas Festival, and to provide Christmas dinners for those in the Parish who cannot get them for themselves.

At this season of joy and good-will to all let us do what we can to give as much pleasure as possible to those who have but little of it in their lives.

The music will be: Te Deum—Field, in D; Jubilate—Williams, in C; Mass—Stainer, in F; Magnificat—Field, in D; Anthem—"Now When Jesus Was Born," Stephenson.

Sociable.

A very pleasant sociable was given on Tuesday evening, November 28th, by St. John's Guild to the Girls' Friendly Society. Two musicians furnished the music for the dancing, which was kept up until 10 o'clock, when a grand march was struck up, and all present proceeded to the Guild room, where a sumptuous repast of fried oysters and salad, rolls, coffee, ice cream and cake, was served. Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Shelton and Mrs. Linton assisted Miss Maria Gilpin in preparand serving the entertainment.

The Men's Club.

The first meeting of the club—which meets ordinarily on the second Thursday of each month during the winter—was held November 10th.

There were some sixty-six men present, most of them enrolling as members, and it was very gratifying to see so many young men that are new to our Parish.

The "Armonia Mandolin Club" gave some fine music, and we are indebted to Mr. Roe, Mr. Manderson and others for their part in the entertainment.

Refreshments were served, after which the Rector gave a short talk on the necessity of all men leading the right kind of healthy lives.

On leaving, all voted the affair a most enjoyable one, and are looking forward to the next, when an entertainment will be provided.

The next meeting will be Thursday, December 8th, at which time will be given a very humorous lecture-entertainment, with beautiful lantern views, abounding with quaint old-world stories, legends, jokes and folklore, by Prof. Sutton Fletcher.

St. Agnes' Guild Entertainment.

What was said to have been the most attractive entertainment given in the Parish Building for many years took place on the evening of November 21, 1910.

It consisted of tableaux arranged by Miss Elizabeth Fisher, those posing being the children and superiors of St. Agnes' Guild, together with a few friends of the Guild in the Parish.

A large gilded molding covered with netting provided the framing of the tableaux, and the posing and draping were artistically done by Miss Fisher. Twenty-one electric lights brilliantly illuminated each tableau.

The children of the Guild sang several choruses, interspersed with vocal and instrumental solos.

We are greatly indebted to John W. Maginnis and his brother for arranging the electric lighting, and to Mr. Metcalf, of the Woods Electric Auto Company, for the gratuitous use of current from an automobile.

Thanksgiving Entertainment.

On the evening of the Wednesday after Thanksgiving a bountiful feast of turkey, cranberries, peas, beats, cold slaw, potatoes, cake and fruit was provided for the members of the mothers meeting by the ladies in charge.

Sunday-School Parties.

On November 22d Mrs. McGinnis gave a party to her large class of boys. They were authorized to invite some of their girl friends, also. This a number of them did, and a merry evening was spent, ending with refreshments and a dance.

Miss Mary Stretch's class of young ladies have formed themselves into a sociable, and meet every week, with their teacher, at the home of one or other of the class. This is a new idea in our Sunday School, and is one to be commended to other classes.

The teachers of the Primary School also gave a party to the little ones under their care. Games and refreshments filled the evening.

Junior St. John's Guild.

On Monday, December 5th, at 8 P. M., will be resumed the meetings for the winter of the Junior Branch of St. John's Guild. With our gymnasium enriched with additional apparatus, and with Clarence Martz to train the boys, we should have good attendance and results this season.

The Death of Edward McCann, which occurred last month, is regretted by the members of St. John's Guild, Young Men's Bible Class and the Men's Club, to all of which he belonged. His funeral took place from the Church, a large number of firemen, of which organization he was a member, being present.

THE USE OF RITUAL.

There is a great difference of opinion as to the way in which the worship of God should be conducted. All Christians agree upon propriety of the stated, public worship of Almighty God. But some think that that worship should be made as solemn and dignified as possible in beautiful buildings, with the use of a prescribed liturgy and with such adjuncts as the use of music, vestments, lights, etc. Others think it should be in a plain, unadorned house, with extemporaneous forms and without any ritual accessories. They think that this conduces to more real, spiritual worship. The most extreme carrying out of this principle is by the Quakers, in their severe plain Meeting Houses, and exclusion of all forms or premeditation, even the use of music. But all Protestant Denominations, more or less, conduct their worship on these lines, whereas every branch of the Catholic Church, including our own, has always used ritual. Why is this?

Because, first, it secures order. The worship of God is too important and serious a matter to be left to chance and haphazzard. It should be performed regularly and systematically so as to insure its due and proper celebration and the ends for which it is instituted. If we observe order and rule in our legislative and judicial assemblies, still more should we when we meet together to pay our homage to God. So its effect is greatly enhanced by decency and order.

Secondly, it solemnizes and inspires. The beautiful Church, filled with sacred symbols and hallowed with holy associations, the appropriateness of the vestments and other ritual adjuncts, and the solemn beautiful words of the carefully compiled liturgy, with its accompanying music, impresses the soul with a sense of the importance and sacredness of the act in which it is engaged, and elevates it above the thoughts and feelings which are natural to it. We are none of us, or at least the general run of men are not, spiritual enough to dispense with these things, or fail to be affected by them. We are impressed and solemnized by them and feel their appropriateness and influence.

Thirdly, it teaches. It has the force of an object lesson. It appeals to the eye as well as to the ear. And that is often the most forcible mode of appeal. We venture to say that most persons learn more and are more impressed by what they see than by the words which are addressed them.

Of course, the use of ritual can be carried to extremes. It can be made so elaborate and complicated that only a few experts can understand it, and its performance requires so much attention that its spiritual significance is lost sight of. It was its use in this extravagant way that caused the revulsion against any ritual at all and conveyed the impression that it was inconsistent with true spiritual worship. The wisest position in regard to it seems to us is that taken by our Book of Common Prayer which is a compilation of the oldest and most universally used services of the Christian Church, and retains all the great essentials of music, vestments, lights, etc., which have been so generally employed, and yet which is in the vulgar tongue, and is so simple and easy to follow that all can understand and take part in it, and see and feel its beauty and effectiveness. Of course, the Prayer Book itself can be rendered in various ways, and this is wise, so that different tastes can be consulted and gratified so long as its great essential principles of order and reasonableness and beauty are conserved.

The distinguishing characteristic of the services of the Episcopal Church is that they are liturgical and are accompanied by a dignified and beautiful ritual which is reasonable and easily understood and followed without being over elaborate and intricate, and so in danger of becoming a mere mechanical performance. And on the other hand it preserves the services of the Church from degenerating into what is vulgar, unedifying, devoid of solemnity or decency.

Any one who has become familiar with the attractive and elevating ritual of the Episcopal Church will never be satisfied with an extemporaneous and free and easy method of conducting divine worship.

PARISH NOTES

Christmas. We were favored with good weather, and the congregation being reinforced by the boys of St. Martin's College, the numbers at the services were somewhat larger than last year. The total number of communions made was 241 against 195 a year ago.

The music was well rendered by the choir and our new Processional Cross was carried.

The Offertory amounted to $414.78.

On the day before Christmas some fourteen dinners, consisting of chicken, celery, cranberries and potatoes, or pies, cake and candy were sent out to the members of the Mothers' Meeting and some others.

Our thanks are due to the members of the congregation who responded to the appeal for this purpose.

The Sunday School Christmas Festival

The festival took place on the night of Holy Innocents' Day, Wednesday, December 28th. As usual, the children attended in good numbers and were as happy as children are on the festive occasions of Christmas-tide.

The children met in the parish building and marched into the Church singing a carol. After a brief office, addresses were made by the Rev. Rector and Curate and Mr. Botwright. At the close of the service the procession marched before the beautiful little Creche in the parish building.

The Creche

Perhaps the most beautiful feature of the festival was the Creche. Last year Mr. Botwright made it for us and this year superintended its erection and adornment. It was placed in the choir room and illuminated with concealed electric lights and candles. The fifteen figures of Our Lord, His Mother and St. Joseph, the Three Wise Men and the Shepherds, sheep and cattle, were arranged in the Stable with care and taste by the teachers.

Toys for the Poor

Around the Creche, the children placed a large collection of toys brought by them as gifts to children who are poorer than they. This is a good lesson to teach them and they seemed to enjoy giving them.

Christmas Tree

They then marched upstairs and found a large Tree bright with electric lights and gay toys and draperies. For this decoration we are indebted to Mr. Carrol Hodge, and Mr. Richard Gilpin, Mr. Andrew Lindsay and Mr. Morgan.

Entertainment

There followed an entertainment provided by Mr. Andrew Lindsay and Mr. James Atkinson, which was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Each child was presented with a gift and a box of candy.

St. John's Junior Guild

This organization of boys has again begun its meetings, which have been well attended; the office said and instruction given at each meeting have been participated in with heartiness and reverent behavior.

The evening always closes with Basket Ball or Gymnastic exercises. Miss Maria Gilpin still visits us and helps us by her presence and interest.

The Men's Club

had a successful meeting in December, nearly sixty men being present. In addition to the usual entertainment an instructive and humorous lecture, illustrated by lantern slides, was delivered by a professional lecturer. The next meeting will be on Thursday evening, January 12th, when a vaudeville will be given by some of the members of the club. All the men connected with the parish are invited to come and bring any of their male friends with them. There is no charge whatever, the club being carried on by the dues of the members and some special subscriptions for the purpose.

The Boys of St. Martin's College have been attending our Church for the last few Sundays, owing to the closing of the Church of the Evangelists with which the college was connected. We are very glad to welcome them and shall continue to do so until arrangements can be made for the reopening of their own Church.

This college is a most admirable charity and ought not on any account to be allowed to fall through. It supplies a great want of providing for a class of destitute boys, for whom there is no other home except the Roman Catholic institutions. The college has an excellent plant and all it needs for its success is an efficient head and an endowment, which we are sure can be secured when the public comes to recognize its usefulness. The boys, by their admirable behavior in Church, show under what excellent discipline they have been.

Special Sermons

The Rector will begin on the second Sunday morning of this month a course of sermons on the Sacramental System of the Church, showing its purpose and importance, and treating of the number and characteristics of the sacraments.

The Curate will preach on Sunday evenings of this month on the following subjects: January 1st, "Five Lifeless Things in the Bethlehem Cave;" January 8, "Oriental Stargazers." The other subjects will be announced later.

Confirmation

The Bishop of the Diocese has appointed the evening of March 31st for the annual administration of Confirmation in this parish. We trust that all persons in any way connected with the Church, young and old, who have not yet been confirmed, will give their name to the clergy for presentation to the Bishop at that time. Special instructions preparatory to it will be given beginning next month.

The Bishop of Wyoming, the Rt. Rev. Dr. Thomas, formerly Rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, in this city, will probably officiate in place of the Bishop of the Diocese, who is incapacitated by sickness.

Piano Fund

All that was subscribed for the new piano has been paid and there remains $58 due to complete the purchase. Will not those who have not yet contributed to this most necessary object give something to make up this amount? The piano has been in use for a year and MUST be paid for.

Our Method of Church Support

We rent no pews or sittings in this Church. The seats are open to all. You are at liberty to sit anywhere you like; if you want the same place every Sunday, you can almost always have it by coming to Church rather early.

Our only revenue is derived from the Sunday offerings of the people, collected morning and evening. The regular parishioners are expected to make systematic offerings through the envelopes provided for that purpose. The worshipper signs a promise like that appended to this notice, puts it in the alms basin or in the poor box, envelopes will then be sent to him and at the stated times he puts his money into an envelope and offers it when the collection is made.

By this plan rich and poor fare alike in the Church; he who can give five dollars a week has no more privileges than one who can give but five cents.

Each one determines for himself what he ought to give, and no one knows what the amount is, except the Rector and accounting warden.

No one is bound for any longer period than he chooses, because the pledges can be discontinued at any time by notifying the warden to that effect.

Every envelope-giver is sent a statement of his account once in three months.

This envelope-system has worked well in the parish during the past. We believe it can be made still more effective, however, and would respectfully urge all regular Church attendants to help in the matter, by making pledges if they do not already give in that way, or by increasing the amount of their present pledges if they are able to do so.

POSTURES IN CHURCH

There are a great many people who do not understand the different postures which we assume in our Church worship, what they call the "getting up and down." Generally, in the Protestant Churches, people go in the Church just as they would into a place of entertainment and sit down and look on and listen to what is said or sung without even changing their posture once, and it bewilders them when in an Episcopal Church they see the people all standing up at one time, or kneeling down or sitting down at another. But the reasons for doing so are very simple, and when once understood they must seem to all most appropriate and useful.

The rules governing these changes of posture are very simple. When we are singing praises to God, or professing our faith in Him, or being solemnly addressed by the officiating minister we stand, that is the most natural and reverent attitude. When we are worshiping, praying to God or confessing our sins, we kneel, that is the attitude most expressive and appropriate to such an action and calculated to impress us with a sense of its solemnity. And when the people have something read or spoken to them, especially if it is to continue for some time, they sit and listen to it. If these simple rules are kept in mind, they will explain every change that is made in our service, and no one need hesitate as to what is the right thing to do.

They are simply a part of good manners and necessary for the cultivation of that sense of reverence and devotion which we should have when we engage in the worship of God. Just as there are certain things which we expect and exact in our intercourse with our fellow men, as bowing when we meet, taking off the hat, shaking hands, rising when spoken to offering a seat, etc., so these attitudes in our worship of God are appropriate to the various acts in which we are engaged and are necessary to make us realize their character and importance.

When, therefore, these things are neglected, and we see people either bolt up right in their seats or talking at ease all through the service, athletic young men who would go through any physical exertion to win a game, who will not take the trouble to stand up during a hymn or to get down on their knees in prayer, only lazily leaning forward a little, what are we to conclude? Surely either that such people have never been taught what are good manners in a church or that they are utterly inappreciative or indifferent to the act in which they are engaged. If one realized the greatness and holiness of God, and man's lowliness, he certainly would feel that kneeling was the most proper and expressive way to worship and pray to Him, and standing to sing His praises. Of course, it is possible to pray to and praise God in any attitude, but it is most becoming, proper and helpful to assume an appropriate one. If people have any physical infirmity which prevents them standing or kneeling, they can be excused from doing so, as you would excuse them in private intercourse from acts which you would otherwise expect. If a person could not kneel without great pain, even at the altar, they can receive the sacrament standing, or if they could not even stand, then sitting. But for healthful, ordinary people not to observe the proper posture of worship in their approach to Almighty God, stamps them either as very uninstructed or as very indifferent to so a just and important an action.

And the observance of these postures is very essential to preserving in the minds of people a sense of the importance and solemnity of divine worship. While they may be performed carelessly and thoughtlessly, to neglect them certainly will not aid to cultivating reverence.

PARISH NOTES

Gifts to the Church. Three dozen pairs of fine gymnasium shoes were donated by Mr. Rodman Wanamaker for the use of our Guilds. This is one of several donations Mr. Wanamaker has made, all in memory of his friend Mr. Spencer Ervin, who was once so much interested in our boys. The Church has also received a number of coal orders and some bundles of clothing and provisions for entertainment of the Mother's Meeting and the Girls' Friendly Society and for some of the classes in the Sunday School.

Need. Linen for new cottas for the choir.

Men's Club. The usual monthly meeting of this Club was held in the Parish building, Thursday evening, January 12th.

There were about 70 men there, and they had a fine entertainment, consisting of a monologue and impromptu songs and piano solos by members of the Club, followed by coffee and refreshments. It was very gratifying to see a number of new men join the club.

The next meeting will be Thursday evening, February 9th, when all men of the parish are cordially invited to attend.

The hosts will be Philip F. Alburger, James McCarrick, Andrew Chalman.

Quarter's Envelopes. With this month a new set of envelopes is sent out for the coming quarter. So it is the time for any in the parish who are not using them to begin to do so. Every one should contribute towards the Church according to his ability, and this is the way to do it. It secures system and regularity, and enables the vestry to know what it can depend upon. See that your name is in the list of contributors to the Church which is hanging in the vestibule.

Forms of subscriptions can be found in the rack in the Church near the door. There is a special envelope for the Easter offering and one for Diocesan Missions and for the Episcopal Fund in this quarter's set.

New way of raising the Episcopal and Convention Fund. At the suggestion of one of the members of the Vestry we have adopted this year a new way of obtaining the means of paying the Episcopal and Convention fund tax on this parish. Few of our people realize that in addition to paying the expenses of the parish and salaries of the Clergy, Choirmaster, and Sexton, heating and lighting the Church, keeping it in repair, etc., each parish is also taxed a certain proportion on its income to pay the necessary expenses of the Diocese, the salaries of the Bishop and his Coadjutor, the Secretaries and other expenses of the Diocesan Convention. These things have to be provided for just as much as the support of the parish, and so every one should contribute his share. Hitherto we have enclosed an envelope with each set sent out the beginning of this quarter with the total amount of the tax printed on it, leaving it to each one to give what he chose. But the amount received in this way has each year been inadequate, and the remainder had to be taken out of the general offerings for the support of the Church, which is one of the reasons we have always had a deficit at the end of the year. So this year a bill is enclosed with this special envelope stating what amount of the total each one is expected to give, that amount being proportioned according to the sum he gives yearly for the support of the parish. And if every one will put in his or her envelope that amount, which, in most cases is very small, the total sum required will be received.

Diocesan Missions and the Sustentation Fund. These are practical taxes which this parish is expected to pay every year for Diocesan puposes, one for the establishment and carrying on of Missions in the new or weaker portions of the Diocese and the other to help sustain feeble Churches. These taxes amount for our parish to about the same sum as for the Episcopal and Convention Fund. If therefore every one will put in the envelope marked "Diocesan Missions" the same sum that he is asked to contribute to the Episcopal Fund these taxes will be paid. This can be put on the plate at any service during the quarter beginning this month.

Special Sermons. The Rector will preach on the morning of Feb. 5th, continuing his course on the Sacraments on the Holy Communion; Feb. 12th on Marriage; Feb. 19th on Holy Orders; Feb. 26th on Unction.

The Curate will preach on the Sunday evenings during February.

Missionary Box. The following acknowledgements have been received from the missionary and his wife of the very nice box our ladies sent off before Christmas.

Mrs. L. T. Smith

MY DEAR MADAM—

The pleasure of giving must be great since that of receiving is pleasant.

This our first box is such a delight, that we shall eat and drink and wash and sleep and, perchance, dream, in blessful recollections of the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Ascension, Philadelphia, during 1911. You have touched us very tenderly and imparted a new sense of the nearness of kin and the friendly things which Missions mean.

For work here is being much owned and blessed. We have just completed an addition to the Church, for the use of the young people who attend Indian Institute. The white congregation has become greatly interested in the welfare of these young men and young women.

Will you not accept and convey my grateful blessing on your Church, your guilds, your homes and yourselves and believe me to be your friend always.

Flandrean. S. D.
New Year's, 1911.

Dec. 31, 1910.

MY DEAR MRS. SMITH.

The box of linen arrived safely to-day and I assure you it is greatly appreciated. The quality of the things is so good it is a pleasure to handle them. The patterns of the table cloths and napkins are beautiful and I shall take great pleasure in using that dainty work basket. I can make use of everything the ladies so kindly sent, and will you please convey to them my thanks, and say that the box contributed largely to our Xmas pleasure. The name of "Wanamaker" brought up many pleasant memories, as I used to pass through Philadelphia so often on my way to St. Mary's at Burlington, my Alma Mater. I hope some time in the future I may meet some of the ladies of the Auxiliary and then be able to thank them in person.

Confirmation Instructions are being given every Wednesday evening after the 8 p. m. service by the Rev. Curate, and the Rector will meet any one wishing to speak to him on the subject after any service or by appointment.

The Confirmation will be on the evening of Friday, March 31st.

St. Agnes' Day. Saturday, Jan. 21, was the Feast Day of St. Agnes' Guild of little girls.

At 7 a. m. there was a choral Celebration of the Holy Communion, at which Mrs. Haris kindly played the organ and a congregation of twenty-eight gathered to do honor to our Divine Lord.

At 6 p. m. the children gathered for their Guild Tea; twenty-one guests being present.

After their feast, they repaired to the Theatre for an evening of amusement.

The Choir. The honor boys of the choir for the month of January are Samuel Bailey and William Irwin, both having been present at every service and rehearsal.

WHAT IS WORLDLINESS

One of the vows which every Christian makes when he is baptized is, that he will renounce "the world."

What is meant by that? Certainly not that he will go out of the world, or that he is to give up all earthly possessions and enjoyments.

What does it mean then? It means first that living in a world or society of men, none of whom are perfect and many of whom are bad, we will not follow nor be led by their teachings or example. We will not be governed by mere worldly maxims or policy, doing only that which is easiest, or pleasantest or which will pay best, apart from the moral quality or result of actions We are all terribly tempted to do this. It is so natural and plausible to say to ourselves, everybody does so and so, or men of position and learning do so, why should I set for myself a higher standard? If all the world does so why should I do otherwise? But the profession of the Christian is just this, to do what he knows to be right no matter who or what authority may teach otherwise. Yet many "follow the multitude to do evil," and it requires a great effort to resist the temptation to do the same.

Then another temptation to worldliness is to love too much what the Prayer Book calls "the pomps and vanities of this wicked world," that is things which are empty and worthless in themselves compared with higher things. Thus if a man has no thought of anything but of making money or of succeeding in business, or is so absorbed in pleasure seeking, or a woman in her personal appearance and attractiveness or gaiety or dress, that is worldliness.

It is not that it is wrong to have possessions or to work for them or to enjoy the good things of life, but that we should make these the one and only pursuit and interest of our lives.

And many do this. It is hard to do otherwise and, things which are present and material are so attractive and seductive it is very difficult to resist their allurements and seek, and sacrifice one's ease and pleasure for, what is higher and better. This is probably the strongest temptation to which most persons are subjected.

A man may not deny or blaspheme God, or give way to his animal passions, who is yet easily captivated by seductions of the world. Especially in this age and land of ease and luxury and wealth there are doubtless more who sin in this way than in any other.

How, then, can we be guarded against it? We answer by trying always to observe the due proportion of things, by systematically and conscientiously giving a due portion of our time and means to high and proper purposes.

Let every man be careful and inflexible in performing his religious duties, going to Church every Sunday, saying his prayers every day, receiving communion regularly. This will keep him in mind of higher things and prevent his becoming absorbed entirely in wordly things. And let him give a due part of his possessions and of his time as well, to religious and charitable works.

God has created us with capacity for enjoyment and given us richly all things to enjoy, but He does not mean that we should become the slaves of these things or care only for them. Man has a spiritual being as well as a natural life, and he should seek and cultivate the things of the spirit as well as those of the world, and the only way to ensure this is to follow carefully and faithfully the teachings and practices of religion.

Lent is especially the time for us to make the effort to do this.

LENT

The solemn season of Lent is again upon us with its call to repentance, to the beginning again of a new and better life, to self-denial, to devotion, to acts of charity and mercy.

It is one of the oldest institutions of our religion, a season which if rightly used may be of the greatest spiritual benefit.

Let us all try to use it as it should be used, give up amusements and self-indulgence, really fast, be more frequent at Church and sacrament, take up holy readingand meditation, make greater sacrifices for the sake of others, and we shall find it a source of real spiritual blessing and benefit.

Let all in the parish try to keep a good Lent, and they will be better and happier men and women if they do.

PARISH NOTES

Lenten Services. Our services during Lent will be daily Communion at 7 a. m. except on Thursday when it is at 9 a. m., daily Morning Prayer at 10 a. m. and Evening Prayer at 5 p. m.

The boys of the choir will be present, and sing at the daily Evening Prayer.

The Rector will deliver a short lecture every Tuesday afternoon, and a visiting clergyman an address every Friday.

On Wednesday evening there is a second service at 8 o'clock with a lecture by the Rev Curate, followed by a Confirmation instruction.

As these services are at such different hours, it gives every one in the Parish the opportunity to attend at some time.

Gifts. St. Saviour's altar has been enriched by the addition of two more statues, those of St. Peter and St. Paul. Two more will be put in place later, which will add very much to its appearance.

We were much gratified to receive from a member of this congregation a cheque for $50 to complete the payment for the new piano, $240 in all, a discount having been given for its payment before the stipulated time.

The Altar Society also received a donation towards the purchase of linen needed for cottas for the choir.

The Ladies' Aid will work during Lent for the Maternity Hospital at Tenth and Fitzwater Sts., a most worthy and needy charity. The Aid meets every Wednesday at 3 p. m. Any ladies attending the church are invited to join with them.

Confirmation will be administered on the evening of Friday, March 31.

The Rector will meet by appointment any who cannot attend the regular instructions on Wednesday evenings.

Special Sermons. The Rector will preach on Sunday evenings this month a special course of sermons on "Sin." What it is, its causes, its effects and how to get rid of it. He has therefore refused all invitations to preach elsewhere on Sundays. But on week-days he will preach at the Holy Comforter, St. Simon the Cyrenian, and Calvary Churches, and two days each at the noon-day services at St. Andrew's Church, Wilmington, and St. Paul's Church, Camden.

The three hours service in the church on Good Friday this year will be conducted by our former Curate the Rev. William Bernard Gilpin, now Rector of Trinity Church, Hoboken, N. J.

The Rev. Curate will preach this Lent at St. Philips; Good Shepherd; St. Lukes, Kensington; St. George's, St. Stephen's Norwood; St. John's, Lancaster; St. Paul's, Chester; Ascension, Gloucester; Christ Church, Palmyra; St. James, the Less, Falls of Schuykill; The Good Shepherd, Rosemont; St. John's Norristown; St. Mark's, Hammonton, N J.,. Trinity, Collingdale; St Mary's, Baltimore Md.; St. Luke's, Germantown; St. Barnabas' Guild, St. Alban's, Olney; and he will also conduct the Three Hour Devotions at Trinity Church, Hoboken, N. J., exchanging with Mr. Gilpin.

Men's Club.. The usual monthly meeting of this Club was held Thursday evening, February 9th, and by many it was thought to be a record breaker. We think this was on account of our entertainment being by our own members (except the pianist.) It is very gratifying the way all the fellows are taking hold and taking so much interest.

After coffee and refreshments, we had college and popular songs.

The next "Club-Night" will be Thursday, March 9th, when all men of the parish are cordially invited to come and bring a friend.

St. John's Guild at its regular annual meeting in January elected Mr. B. K. Huntington as President, Mr. George Morgan Secretary, and Mr. Raymond Reeves, Treasurer. The Guild is in a flourishing condition and plans a number of things of interest for all the young men of the Church, and their friends. It extends a call for recruits, all are welcome.

The Girls' Friendly Society has received a number of new members from that formally held at the Chapel of the Messiah at Broad and Federal Streets, which has been given up, and we shall be glad to welcome here all who belonged there. It meets every Tuesday evening. There is a regular teacher in gymnastics employed, and on the last Tuesday of each month there is a dance in which the members of St. John's Guild take part.

The Mothers' Meeting has been very successful this winter under Miss Young and Miss Walsh. Other ladies have visited the members of the Guild at their homes. In addition to the work given out every Wednesday, a supper has been provided for the members, many of whom bring their children with them.

Death of the Bishop.—Out of respect for the Bishop and at the request of his successor, the Bishop's seat in the chancel will continue draped for thirty days, and Chopin's Funeral March was played after the morning service on two successive Sundays.

The honor boys of the choir for the month are, Frederich Blitzford, Warren Medde, Willian Irvin, John Owens, who have been present at every service and rehearsal. Two medals are to be presented at Easter; one to the boy best behaved in Church and one to the boy who has shown the most improvement in singing.

SHOULD THERE BE DIFFERENT DENOMINATIONS OF CHRISTIANS?

Everywhere among English speaking people, and the same is true of other nations as well, we find Christians divided into different "Denominations." That is, there are many separate bodies, each having its own special doctrines, or government, or forms of worship, designated by a term describing its peculiar characteristics. Thus there is a large body of Christians called Presbyterians, because their peculiarity is that they are governed by Presbyterys or Elders. They have no Bishops. Another is called Baptist, because that describes their idea as to the proper form of Baptism. Another called Methodists, because, originally, they were very methodical in their religious observances. Another, Congregational, because they hold that each congregation is an independent body, and so on. Now, is this right? Is it right and wise that Christians should be so divided into these comparatively small bodies, each trying to keep up its own establishments and to teach and propagate its own special doctrines and ideas? Is it not manifest from a practical point of view that these divisions entail a great waste of force and money, weaken the Church and its influence in the eyes of the world and tend to make men disregard and neglect it altogether?

And is it not manifestly contrary to the will and intention of the Author of our religion who prayed that all His disciples should "be one," and of the teaching of all of the New Testament in which divisions among Christians are again and again condemned?

And is it right that those who profess the same religion in its essence, worship the same God, believe in the same Saviour, seek the influences of the same Holy Spirit, regard the same Bible as the ultimate standard of their belief and practice, is it right that they should be divided up and separated from one another in more or less antagonistic bodies having different names?

And when we look into the origin of these various bodies we find that it was due to dissention and disputes, and the pride of self-opinion, or personal preference of individuals. The cause of many of the divisions has now been forgotten, or the issues then involved are now absolutely dead. Why, then, should the divisions be kept up?

It is true that those who now belong to them are not personally responsible for their origin, yet do they not become responsible for keeping them up, when there is no justification for them doing so?

If it is asked which should be given up and which retained, we answer, all separate organizations should be abolished and all special designations, that there should be no longer Denominations of Christians, but that all should come together in our body, described, as the Church is always spoken of in the New Testament, as the Church in a certain locality, viz: the Church in Corinth or the Church in Rome.

To effect this, representatives of all the Denominations should come together, determine upon what they could agree and require nothing but that as necessary to membership in the one body. Unity does not mean uniformity. There might still be great differences in modes of worship and other characteristics of the Church. But, just as in the family, or in a nation, there should be real, substantial unity, so there should be in the Body of Christ. Only so can that body present to the world the ideal, and accomplish the ends for which Christ intended it.

For this end let us not cease to labor and to pray.

PARISH NOTES

Holy Week. The services during Holy Week will be daily Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 7 A. M., and after Morning Prayer at 10 A. M., except on Good Friday. Daily Evening Prayer at 5 P. M., with lecture on Tuesday afternoon, and at 8 P. M. the Stations of the Cross will be observed.

On Good Friday they will also be observed at 9 A. M., for the Children of the Parish. The Mid-Day Services will begin at 11 A. M., with Morning Prayer and the Litany, followed by the singing of the Reproaches and the Preaching of the Cross from 12 to 3 P. M. The Preacher will be the Rev. Wm. Bernard Gilpin, one of our former Curates, now Rector of Trinity Church, Hoboken, N. J.

On Palm Sunday there will be the usual procession of palms before the Mid-Day Celebration at 11.30 A. M.

Easter-day. There will be Celebrations at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30, and 11.30 A. M.

Financial statement. In order that our people may know what amount is required for our Easter offering, we give the following statement of what is now owing by the Parish and must be paid before May 1.

Amount borrowed during summer,	$500
Amount due the Rector for salary	500
Coal bill	225
Total	$1225

In addition to this there is whatever amount remains unpaid on account of the assessment for the Episcopal and Convention Fund and for Diocesan Missions.

The only way in which these obligations can be met will be by all members of the the congregation, or attendants at the services of the Church, making as large an offering as they possibly can.

Special offerings for the Easter Flowers may be placed in the Alms Box in the Vestibule marked for that purpose.

New Memorial Window, Our Chancel has been enriched by the addition of a new painted window, erected to the memory of the late Mr. William Platt Pepper so long a devoted member and Vestryman of our parish. Its subject is Christ before Pilate, one of the series adopted for all the windows in the Church.

There remain two more to be placed in the Chancel, which we wish very much could be put in. The Rector has the designs for them which he will be happy to show to any one contemplating putting up a memorial.

The Church Club meeting last month was the most largely attended we have had, seventy-six men being present. Some of the members gave a Minstrel show. Mr. Andrew Lindsay and Mr. James Atkinson being the end men. W.

were particularly glad to welcome back our old friends Messrs Myers and Messrs Schindt whose singing added much to the entertainment.

The next Club Night will not be until April 27th, as the regular meeting night would occur in Holy Week. A special effort will be made to render this very attractive.

St. John's Guild held a "Fellowship Dinner" in the parish building on Thursday evening, March 23, and it was voted one of the most successful events of the Guild in years. Twenty-five members were present and after dinner, speeches made by the old and new members of the Guild were quite interesting. A colored pastel drawing entitled, "The Acolyte," was presented to the Guild by the President, Mr. B. K. Huntington, who painted the picture. A speech of acceptance was made by the Rector on behalf of Miss Gilpin for the society. One of our choir boys, Wm. Irvin, posed for and is the original of the drawing. The general inclination is to have more of these "dinners" to bring together our own members in good fellowship and to increase membership!

Entertainment; all are invited to come to a little play in two acts entitled "The Nigger Night School" and "Aunt Jerusha's Quilting Party," to be given on Monday evening, April 17, at 8. P.M., in the parish building by some of the junior boys and girls of the Sunday-school. Tickets, which are 10 and 15 cents, can be purchased from any of the children or from Mr. F.C. Botwright and Mrs. J. H. McGinnis who have charge of the play.

Special Sermons. The Rector will continue as preacher at the Sunday Evening services during this month. His subject on the evening of Passion Sunday will be "The Mystery of Pain;" on Palm Sunday, "The Power of Sacrifice;" on Easter evening, "The Resurrection of the Body." He will then begin a series of sermons on "What the Episcopal Church Stands For." The first sermon being on "Authority," and the second on "Unity."

Easter Music. Christ Our Passover, Wiegand; Te Deum, Sullivan in D; Jubilate, William in C; Mass, Tours in F; Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, Roberts in E.

Sunday School Mite Boxes. This Lent, as last, the proceeds of the Sunday School Mite Boxes will be sent to the Rev. W. C. Clapp, Boutoc, Phillipine Islands. Dr. Clapp is doing a noble work there, having to contend with the difficulties inherent in labour among the uncivilized heathen, and now that his work has become large and successful the Roman Catholics have sent a staff of Clergy and Sisters, who are doing what they can to obstruct his work.

It is to be hoped that the collection will be large enough to be of real help to him.

The Honor Boys of the choir are Wm. Irvin, Wm. Graham and John Owens, who have been present at every rehearsal and service. The Rector will present the medals to the boys at the evening service on Easter-day.

THE CITY CHURCH.

The condition of the Churches in the central part of the city has altered very much in the last few years. Formerly wealthy people lived in the city the greater part of the year, going away only for two or three months in the summer, and working people lived in the center of the city near their places of work. Now, the wealthier classes are living for the most part in the country altogether and coming to the city only for three or four months in the winter. And since the introduction of the Trolleys, working people have removed to the suburbs, coming and going to their work in the city.

And the houses they formely lived in are now occupied by negroes and foreigners. This affects our Churches most seriously, the wealthy people cannot take much interest or do much work in a Church they attend only for a few months in the year. And the foreign population is a most difficult field for the church to work in. What should be done then? Should our churches all be moved away from the centre of the city as has been done to so large an extent? Some thirty churches have been torn down and removed from the district south of Market Street and east of Broad during the last twenty-five years. We think this would be a great mistake, as there are still multitudes of people living in that part of the city and many of them the class of people who need the offices of the Church most, the poor, the degraded, the vicious. The Churches should be maintained among such people just as a witness to better things, and to work for their improvement. Moreover the foreigners will not always be foreigners, their children are learning the language and are becoming rapidly Americanised. And as they become such, their native Churches will no longer be able to minister to them nor attract them, and they will actually drift, as the Irish and the Germans have before them, into the Episcopal Church. Moreover one wave of population succeeds another. A district which has been filled with colored people may in a few years be occupied by the white.

But how can the Church be maintained under such circumstances? We answer by endownments. Just as in the old Country, Churches are universally supported by endowments in some form or other, so have if our Churches are to be permanent institutions they must be endowed. And they must be endowed sufficiently to carry on an institutional work. There should be in each Church not only a staff of clergy but of lay workers as well, especially of religious women whose whole lives can be devoted to going into the homes of the inhabitants and being mothers and sisters to those who really need friendly ministrations.

And parish buildings should be erected and furnished with every appliance, open every day and evening in the week to be literal homes to those who have no home, worthy of the name, of their own and so are apt to drift into the haunts of vice.

Do not let us lose the vantage ground we possess in any Church we have in the centre of the city, but let us see that it is properly and sufficiently equipped to do the hardest work that perhaps any Church is called upou to do.

Parish Notes

Easter was a bright day in the Parish. Though we did not have the crowd at at the Mid-day Service, necessitating chairs down the aisles, as we used to have before the fashionable exodus to Atlantic City, to spend this great day on the Boardwalk, we had what is better, a large attendance at the early services. Over three hundred in all making their Communions.

The Church looked beautiful and the music was good.

The Offerings amounted to some $600. This, though equal to the average of other years, is only half of the amount needed to meet our current expenses up May 1st, which means that we add to the deficit we had last year, another deficit for this year, about $1000 in all. This will have to be met in some way. And at the meeting of the Vestry, held after Easter, it seemed to be the general opinion that the only way to do so was by having a Bazaar or Entertainment of some kind in the Autumn.

We trust therefore our ladies will keep this in view and think over during the Summer what would be the best thing to do and make what preparations they can. It is some years since we have had to do anything of the kind, but the time seems to have come round again when it is a necessity.

Gifts to the Church. Two more statues have been placed on the Reredos of St. Saviour's Atar, one is the figure of S. Lawrence who is represented in ancient Deaconal Vestments with the girdiron in his hand by which he suffered martyrdom. The other is St. Catharine who wears a crown and carries in one hand a sword, and in the other the wheel on which she was broken. S. Agnes Guild presented the Church with two large handsome Prayer Books for the Priests desks, which were very much needed, the old ones have been in daily use since 1893 and were very ragged

A friend of the Parish presented a very useful oak tray with brass handles to carry in and out of the Church the various vessels which stand on the Credence.

On the evening af Easter day, the Rector presented on behalf of the Choirmaster a silver medal to the boy who had proved the most efficient in singing during the past year—Master Alexander Boggs, and also on behalf of one of the Vestrymen, Mr. Walter M. Newman; a similar medal to the boy who had been best behaved and reverent in Church—Master Edward Irwin.

Acknowledgment. The Rector takes this method of acknowledging an "Easter Offering" of $25, which he received anonymously by mail "from one who was not present on Easter day."

Ascension Day comes very late this year, on the 25th of this month, but we trust, as it is our Special Parish Festival it will be observed as such by all attending the Church. The services will be the same as on Sunday, at 7 and 10.30 A. M.

There being a Special Choral Service in the evening at 8 o'clock, when the Rector will preach the Anniversary Sermon which all interested in the Parish should hear.

On the following Sunday evening will be the Annual Guild Service, when all the members of the Guilds will enter the Church in procession and have a Special Sermon preached to them.

And on the following Monday will be the Annual Parish Tea to which all the adults of the Parish are invited, tickets 25 cents. We trust there will be a large turn out.

The Assension-day offerings will be as usual for this endowment fund. This is to keep before the congregation, the need to increase this fund to an amount to enable the Church to meet its annual expenses and protect it from the danger of vicisitudes in the future.

Special Sermons. The Rector will continue ths course of sermons on Sunday evening on "What the Episcopal Church Stands For," on May 7, "Order," May 14, "Beauty," May 21, "Devotion."

Periodical Club

Are there any persons in the Parish who would join the Church Periodical Club by sending a magazine regularly to someone? Miss S. E. Gilpin, 904 Clinton Street, Librarian for this Parish, will be very glad to hear from anyone and will give addresses to all who will help in this good work, which gives reading matter to those who are not able to subscribe to any paper, and who live in isolated places and have no Library advantages.

Sunday School Easter Service

On Easter Day in the afternoon the School had its Service. The children sang their Carols, addresses were made, the contents of the Lenten Mite Boxes were presented, a pot of flowers was given to everyone present, the attendance was quite equal to, if not larger than last year, prizes were awarded by Mr. Botwright to those who had earned them, everything passed off well and all seemed happy.

Sunday School Party

A Party was provided for the school on Monday, April 24. In the neighborhood of a hundred and fifty children and teachers were present and nothing occurred to mear the enjoyment of all.

Games, dancing, brief addresses and refreshments filled the time.

Two gifts were made to Mr. Botwright as expressive of the appreciation and affection of the school for him, one of them being particulary from the class of Mrs. John M. McGinnis.

We welcomed most heartily several young ladies who have recently connected themselves with the school and who proved themselves very successful and efficient in helping to amuse and care for the young folks.

Sunday School Mite Boxes

On Easter Day the scholars returned a little over fifty dollars in their Boxes and still the receipts continue. It looks as if we might have something like sixty dollars to send to Dr. Clapp in the Phillipine Island as our contribution towards his work. This is the largest collection for several years; at Easter 1908, the amount sent being $24.14, in 1909, $28.98 in 1910, $47.11.

Entertainment by S. S. Class

On Monday, April 17, Mrs. McGinnis' class assisted by the older girls of the school, gave an excellent show, "The Nigger Night School" and "Aunt Jennimas Quilting Party." The audience filled the room and greatly appreciated it. Much credit is due to Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis and others who assisted them. Mr. George Morgan added to the pleasure of the evening by his musical selections on the piano.

Men's Club

This club had its last meeting for this season—Thursday night April 27, about seventy men attended and a pleasing feature was the number of new young men.

The entertainment was unusally good, thanks to Mr. Barton Huntington and some of his friends, who gave a one act play, also Messrs. Myers, Messerschmidt, Alstetter, McNeill and Fairchild, Master Clark, son of one of our old choir boys, did some fine singing and dancing.

Refreshments and college songs wound up a most successful winter for the club.

The Parish Year

The Rector as usual on the evening of Ascension day, preached his Anniversary Sermon, of which we here give an extract for the benefit of those who were not present. He began by saying that it was the thirty-first occassion on which he had been permitted to keep this Festival in this Parish, a period of unbroken service and of unbroken progress. If the Parish has not attained the proportions we had hoped it would, at least it has never gone back, but an even level of success has been maintained. He is thankful for the continuance of his own health and strength and that he has still the assistance of the same Curate, Vestrymen, Choir Master, Verger and workers generally that he has had for some years, with several additions.

In comparing the statistics with last year it appears that there were 13 more baptisms, 10 more confirmed and 10 more new names added to the communicant list, though there were 30 more taken off owing to deaths and removals. Those who died during the year were Mr. William Moore Wharton, for some years a Vestryman and the Accounting Warden; Mrs. Elmira Mintzer, Miss Isabella Gibson, Mrs. Mary Ann Hall, Dr. Joseph W. Crowley, Mrs. Annie McClay, Mrs. Annie Spottiswood Allen, Edward McCann, who had been a Sunday School boy, Choir boy and member of St. John's Guild, Mrs. Fanny Brooks Eayre, Mrs. Clara Louise Conger, Franklin Garnet Marer, and Miss Marian Graham, a member of St. Mary's Guild. May they rest in peace and may light perpetual shine upon them.

There were four more marriages and the same number of burials as last year.

The attendance at the Church Services has been larger owing to the accession of some of the former members of the Churches of the Evangelist and Messiah, which have been closed, and the boys of St. Martin's College. The Sunday School and the Young Peoples' Guilds have also been well kept up, The Girls' Friendly Society and the Men's Club being particularly well attended. The Mothers' Meeting was made especially attractive by a Supper being provided for the members each Wednesday evening.

The ladies of the Embroidery Class have completed the entire set of Altar Cloths for St. Saviour's Altar and the Missionary Chapter of the Women's Guild sent off a large missionary box to the West, and the Ladies' Aid one to the Maternity Hospital in this city.

The financial statistics show that the total receipts are some $800 more than last year. This being about the amount expended for improvements, make the other receipts about the same. Those for the poor and the schools and Diocesan Missions were larger, the latter including $73.50 for the Bishop Whitaker Memorial.

The improvements consisted of the embelishing of St. Saviour's altar with six beautifully-carved Statues, the putting in the chancel a stained-glass window in memory of Mr. William Platt Pepper, the overhauling of the organ and sodding and fencing the ground south of the Church.

The review of the year is distinctly encouraging in spite of the continued degenerating of the district south of the Church and numerous removals to the country.

Our most serious trouble is a deficit of about $1000 in our current expense account, the result of deficits last year and this year.

The fact is we are conducting the Church on too expensive a footing, more than our regular income justifies. But we have been going on so long on this basis, that it would seem a pity to cut things down for the sake of a few hundred dollars a year. Cannot our people combine to make up that amount? In the meantime something must be done in the Autumn to wipe out our indebtedness.

Parish Notes

Gifts. A framed Card setting forth the obligation of observing Ascension Day to be hung in the Church Vestibule. Also a hand-made notice of the Parish Tea.

Ascension Day was observed as usual as our special Parish Festival. The attendance is never what it ought to be, and as it occurred so late this year it was less than usual. We had, however, a meeting of a good number of the ladies after the Mid-day service on Ascension to arrange for the Parish Tea and talk over what could be done to meet our indebtedness. Some plans were suggested which we trust can be successfully carried out. The attendance at the Parish Tea, as always, was very good and there was a very bountiful supply of Ice Cream, Strawberries, Cake and Coffee. An amusing play was given by some of the young people under the direction of Mrs. McGinnes.

Supper was given on the evening of May 4th, by the Superintendent of the Sunday School, to which he invited the Choir, members of the Vestry, the Teachers of the Sunday School and some others. Nearly forty sat down to a very sumptuous and delicious repast.

An Entertainment will be given in the Parish Building on the evening of June 20th for the work of the Girls' Friendly Society. It will consist of two plays. The actors will be chiefly some former members of the Church of the Messiah, whom we are glad to welcome here.

The Girls' Friendly has had a very successful Winter, eight new members were received into it on the evening of the Sunday after the Ascension.

Special Preacher. The Rev. Curate will be the preacher at the Sunday evening services, beginning with this month and continuing until September.

Sunday School Prizes

On Trinity Sunday, June 11th, at 3.30 P. M. the Prizes for the year will be given. 36 First Prizes will be given to those who have not missed more than one session during the year and 12 Second Prizes to those who have not missed more than three times.

There are Prizes for those who recited the entire contents of a Book of Instructions and also one for the scholar who has attended most regularly the Celebrations of the Holy Communion.

A personal gift of an umbrella will be made to Mr. Botwright by the Teachers and Scholars of the School.

Sunday School Excursion

Burlington Island Park has been engaged for the School for Saturday, June 17th, for their Annual Excursion.

The scholars and teachers will meet for a Choral Celebration of Holy Communion at 6.30 A. M., Mrs. Harris kindly playing the organ for us.

At the close of the Celebration, tickets will be distributed and we will board our steamer, looking forward to a happy day.

Any friends of the School are invited to join. The tickets will be free for the School, to others the cost will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Sports with prizes will be held in the afternoon.

The Sacraments

The Sacraments constitute a very large and important part of the Christian system. But they are not as well understood, appreciated and used as they should be.

The Church Catechism teaches that a Sacrament is "an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given unto us; ordained by Christ Himself, as a means whereby we receive the same and a pledge to assure us thereof."

There are therefore two parts in a Sacrament; the material part, that which is "outward and visible," as water in Baptism, laying on of hands in Confirmation or Ordination, Bread and Wine in the Holy Communion, etc.; and an "inward and spiritual grace." These two distinct parts correspond, and are related, to man's nature which is both material and spiritual. And just as in man we do not know how the spirit is related to or uses the body, so we do not know how in a Sacrament the outward and visible part is related to the inward and spiritual grace. We can see to a certain extent how the outward is valuable as a sign, how it appeals to the physical senses, as an object lesson, one of the most powerful ways in which human beings can be influenced. But the Church teaches, and it is a matter of experience, that beyond that, the Spirit of God, whose agency is always involved in the celebration of a Sacrament, uses the material part, as the spirit of man uses his body, so that it becomes the agent or vehicle through which the grace and help of God is conveyed to the devout recipient. They are therefore "means of grace" as the Catechism says.

This is what many fail to appreciate. They look upon them only as signs, declarations or representations of goodness and virtue, a man has already acquired without them. But rightly understood and that which makes them so valuable and their use so necessary, is that they are the means by which we obtain God's help to do what we cannot do in our own strength.

Of course they are not mere mechanical means, and magic working instrumentalities, by which a man is made good by the simple reception of them irrespective of his spiritual intention. They are like seeds which have the mysterious principle of life within them, but that life is only developed if it falls into proper ground and under favorable conditions. There is always grace in the Sacraments, but they must be received with the right disposition in order to produce their effects. Hence there must always be a due preparation of heart and life for the proper and beneficial reception of a Sacrament. This explains what is pointed out as a reason why they are not efficacious, that many receive them who are manifestly no better than those who do not. But the fault is not in the Sacrament. There was grace in it which would have produced spiritual results, had it not been received carelessly or hypocritically.

Those who "faithfully and devoutly" receive them, find them most helpful, most "divine and comfortable."

For a valid Sacrament there must be always the proper matter, form and minister, those which Christ has Himself ordained, nothing else could be substituted. And there must always be the intention of doing what Christ intended. They would have no effect if celebrated in jest or mockery.

As to their number, it was a long time before the exact number of seven was settled upon in the Catholic Church, but that finally came to be agreed upon in both in the East and West. But in the Anglican Communion a distinction is made between the two great Sacraments of "Baptism and the Supper of the Lord" which are "generally necessary to salvation," and the others "commonly called Sacraments," Confirmation, Penance, Orders, Matrimony and Unction, all of which have the same nature of Sacraments, but are of less importance, or not binding upon all, as are the two greater ones.

As these all however have this Sacramental character, they ought to be understood and used by those who have the opportunity, or call, to use them. So we propose each month this winter to speak of one of them in turn showing what is its value and purpose, that our people may learn to appreciate and use them as they should.

Parrish Notes

Summer Services. As usual during July and August, the Rector was away on his holiday; the services being maintained during his absence by the Rev. Curate, who (as in former summers) was successful in accomplishing the hard task of securing good congregations on Sunday nights These services were followed by After Meetings in the Parish building at which there was frequently as many as eighty persons present, a majority of whom sometimes were men. At these meetings questions were asked and answered and a great deal of instruction was thus conveyed.

During September the Rector preached a course of four sermons on "The Mistakes of Protestantism," showing the extremes to which the Reformation had been carried in some places, and how advisable it was that those mistakes should be rectified.

An Entertainment was given in the Parish Building on the evening of June 20th for the benefit of the Girls' Friendly and the Choir Outing Fund. It consisted of two plays. Those taking part were Messrs. Albert Challman, John F. Whittich, Dr. J. Warren Manning, Jr., J. Edward Wallace, S. Kirder Kent, Frank Horscroff, Paul Watson, Henry Lippincott and Charles Zahn and the Misses Mary Moore, Gertrude Monahan, Irene and Greta Kent, Ida and Amelia Klofach, Lucie Hays, Frances Whitehouse, Elizabeth Searle, Elizabeth Brady, Anna Carpenter, Ethel Wiley, Martha and Anna Airey, May Chambers, Anna Anderson and Ida Trice. Mrs. Harris and Mr. George Morgan acted as Pianists.

A large audience was present and about $35 was cleared over the expenses.

Sunday School Picnic. The annual excursion of the Sunday School was held at Burlington Island Park, Saturday, June 17th.

The day was started by the attendance of the members of the school at a Choral Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament at which Mrs. Harris had charge of the music.

The Rev. Curate and the Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Botwright, did everything in their power to make everybody have a good time, and tickets were distributed to the children for rides on the merry-go-round and other amusements.

There were present, as guests of the school, the boys of the choir and when the boat reached Philadelphia on the return trip everybody felt that the picnic was one of the best the school has had.

Death of a Vestryman. Mr. John Gibson McCall who had been a Vestryman of this Parish since 1900, died at his country home at Wawa, Pa., Sept. 21st. He had been in declining health for some years. Last year he was obliged to be away from the city all winter and the year before he was so feeble that he was seldom able to get to Church. Our deepest sympathy is extended to his widow in her great loss. His funeral took place at St. Mary's Church, West Philadelphia, as he had been Confirmed and married in that Church and it was adjacent to his brother-in-law's house from which he was buried. May he rest in peace.

Other deaths. No less than seven deaths have occured among our members during the last three months. Among them was that of Mr. Benjamin F. Holbrook, who has long been a very regular attendant of the Church service and whose venerable figure we shall much miss. He was in his eighty-third year.

St. Martin's College Boys are again attending the Church. A place was rented for them in the country for two months during the summer, which they enjoyed very much; but they are back again in the city and will continue to attend service here until the affairs of the College and the Church of the Evangelists are finally straightened out and a permanent head of the College is selected.

Winter Services. Beginning with this month the full complement of services for the winter is resumed, as well as the sessions of the Sunday School.

Annual Meeting of the Women's Guild. As the day selected for the Consecration of the new Bishop Coadjutor and Bishop Suffragan is that of S. S. Simon and Jude the anniversary day of the Guild, it will have to be postponed to the following Monday, October 30th, immediately after Morning Prayers. And we hope that every female Communicant of the Parish who can possibly do so will be present, not only to arrange the work for the ensuing season, but also to consult as to what can be done to meet the deficit in our current expenses. A meeting for this purpose was held in May at which some twenty-five ladies were present, but nothing definite was decided on. So something else must now be done.

Obligatory Offerings

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE INDIVIDUAL

An obligation rests upon every member of the Church to contribute to the needs and objects of the Church. This obligation is twofold: (a) To pay a share of the cost of what he receives. This is a matter of common honesty. A man who uses and enjoys in any parish the fabric, furniture, warming, lighting, cleaning of the church, and the services of the clergy, without paying his share, obtains these advantages, so far as their cost is not covered by endowments, at the expense of other people. (b) To give, that others may receive. The extension of Christ's kingdom at home and abroad and works of mercy, are illustrations of the activities under this head which are essential to any living Church. A man who fails to take his share in such works forgets that he is a member of the Divine Society, to the obligations of which he is pledged by his Baptism.

BAPTISM.

Baptism is the initial Sacrament. It is the mode ordained by Christ for initiation into that corporate body which He formed to carry on His work in the world. A man is not a Christian until he is baptized, any more than a foreigner could be a citizen of the United States until he is naturalized. A man might live in this country and say that in heart he was a citizen but that would not make him one or entitle him to its privileges until he took out his naturalization papers. So a man may say that he believes in the Christian religion, but he is not a member of the Church nor entitled to its privileges until he is baptized.

Christ chose this method of admission into His Church doubtless because it was a very simple one and which could be administered everywhere, for man can only live where there is water, and because it was a rite familiar to those of His day, being used by the Jews in the admission of proselytes, and even by heathen nations for the same purpose. It seems ever to have been an instinctive idea that for one to approach, or be united in any sense, to God he must be washed, made clean and outward washing signifies the necessary spiritual cleansing.

So that necessity of clealiness is the first thing it teaches. And then from the primitive mode of its administration of dipping the whole body under the water, a new birth is represented, a death and burial unto sin, and a rising again to live a righteous life. As St. Paul says, "we who are baptized die to sin and rise again to righteousness."

It is most impressive and important therefore as the sign and pledge—on God's part—of these things.

But it is more than that, it is the instrument by which this change is effective. Just as the signing of a deed transfers property, or secures the pardon of a prisoner or the adoption of a child, those legal rights being thus obtained, so, as the Catechism says, "in baptism we are made members of Christ, children of God, and inheritors of the kingdom of Heaven."

It is therefore a very real and essential transaction. It brings the recipient into a new relation to God. It is God's official declaration of pardon of sin. In the case of a child it is the condoning of the fact that it has a sinful nature, and in that of an adult the remission of any actual transgressions he may have committed,—provided it is accompanied with repentence and faith. So baptism imparts a new nature. As we are told of those whose baptism is recorded in the Scriptures that the Holy Spirit descended upon them, so we must believe that at every baptism—unless a bar is deliberately erected in the heart against its influence,—the same Holy Spirit must come, spreading abroad its heavenly regenerating influences.

So it fixes a character upon the recipient. It can never be repeated. A person once baptized is always a Christian with all the duties and responsibilities, as well as the privileges of a Christian, just as a naturalized citizen of a country is always a citizen. He may be a very disloyal one, but he is still a citizen. So a Christian may be a very indifferent or bad Christian, but he is still a Christian, and must be judged as such though the benefits he receives in baptism will be in proportion to the way in which he improves the blessings it bestows. It should be a continual reminder to us of "our profession which is to follow our Saviour, Christ, and to be made like unto Him."

The essentials in Baptism are water, in which the person may be either dipped or it may be poured upon some portion of the body, with the use of the words "in the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost." Baptism should be administered by one in Holy Order to secure its being properly done and duly registered, but in case of necessity a lay man or woman may administer it, so great is its importance, "where it may be had."

PARISH NOTES.

The Annual Meeting of the Women's Guild was held October 30th. After reading the reports of the different branches of work for the past year, and a statement by the Rector of the special needs for the coming winter, a general discussion took place as to the best method of assisting the Vestry of the parish in raising the amount needed to meet the deficit in our Current expenses. After considering various means of obtaining money through a fair or entertainment of some sort, it was unanimously resolved that it would be far better to try and raise the sum needed by subscription, and that for this purpose a meeting of the whole congregation should be called, and the necessity for meeting our obligations put forcibly before them. And it was thought that the best time to do this would be on a Sunday morning after the morning service, which might be shortened on this occasion to give time for that purpose. These recommendations the Rector was requested to convey to the Vestry.

The Rector heartily approved of this action, as he does not consider that fairs and entertainments are the proper methods of supporting churches. Anyone who appreciates the value of the church to himself and to the community should be willing and glad to contribute to its support and thus avoid the necessity of resorting to these questionable and incongruous ways of raising money for religious purposes.

CLERESTORY WINDOWS.

The Rector has received from the firm furnishing the stained glass for the church, designs for three more of the upper windows in the Nave. One of these has been already taken as a memorial of a member of the parish lately deceased. Are there not others who would like to put in the remaining two and thus complete the group of three? The subjects are the Apostles, St. Matthew, St. Thomas, and St. James the Less.

MARRIAGE OF THE CHOIR MASTER.

Our Choir Master is receiving congratulations on his marriage which took place in Grace Church, Haddington, N. J., on October 18th. He and his wife will continue to reside in Haddington.

ST. ANDREW'S BROTHERHOOD.

The Corporate Communion of the Brotherhood will take place on the morning of the first Sunday in Advent, December 3rd. We mention it now as the next issue of this paper will not be until the week after that date.

GIFT.

Two Welsbach lights have been placed in the Church on the top of the first column near St. Saviour's Altar. They throw a much stronger light on the Altar, and are also useful for the daily offices which are said at there giving more light than the gas bracket and at less cost. They were put in by the St. Agnes Guild as their Easter offering.

GIRLS FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

If there are any women who would like to help with the work amongst the girls of the Parish, will they not communicate with the Secretary of the Girls' Friendly Society, who is very anxious to build up this splendid work and needs much help to carry it on as it should be done.

RUMMAGE SALE.

A Rummage Sale will be held by the Girls' Friendly Society on Saturday evening, Nov. 18th, in the Parish House.

Will every member of the congregation see if there are not some things they would like to get rid of, and all contributions of cast-off clothing, and household and personal effects will be gratefully received.

ST. AGNES' GUILD.

Their annual entertainment will take place this year on Monday, Nov. 27, at 8.00 P. M.

The proceeds of this affair is their only source of revenue each year, save their dues of one cent a week.

Out of their little fund they not only pay all of their own expenses but also supply all of the small wafers used during the year at the Holy Communion, in addition to an Easter Gift to the Church. Last year this took the form of two new Prayer Books for the Clergy Stalls for the daily morning and evening prayer.

MASQUERADE PARTY.

On Monday, Oct. 30th, such a party was held and greatly enjoyed. All the participants were in masks and we never had such strikingly beautiful guests before. Two had faces both before and behind, so it was difficult to tell whether your friend had her face or back to you as you talked with her.

About thirty-five were present. Dancing, refreshments and games filled the evening.

MISSIONARY MEETING.

The Annual Missionary Service of the Pennsylvania Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held in the Church of the Holy Trinity, Walnut and 19th Streets, on Friday, Nov. 10, from 10 A. M. until 4.30 P. M.

The speakers will be the Rt. Rev. S. M. Griswold, D. D., the Rt. Rev. F. F. Johnson, D. D., the Rev. H. St. George Tucker of Tokyo, and the Rev. W. A. R. Goodwin. The Bishop of the Diocese will preside.

A CONGREGATIONAL MEETING.

The above action of the ladies was approved at a subsequent meeting of the Vestry, and it was resolved that such a meeting be held. The Vestry also resolved to adopt what is known as "the Duplex Envelope System," by which it is believed the income of the Parish can be largely increased, thus preventing the Church from getting into debt in the future.

Arrangements have been made for this meeting on Sunday, Nov. 26th, immediately after the morning service, when an address will be made by Mr. George Wharton Pepper explaining the system.

Mr. Edward F. Pugh, one of our own Vestrymen, will then make a statement of our present financial needs. It is hoped that every member of the Parish will be present.

Should it be a rainy day, the meeting will be postponed to the following Sunday.

CONFIRMATION.

Confirmation, though not reckoned in the Anglican Church as on the same level as Baptism and the Lord's Supper, because not as essential, and because possibly it was not ordained by Christ Himself, was certainly practised by the Apostles and has been used in the Universal church ever since. It has all the elements of a Sacrament, an outward and visible sign,—the laying on of hands, and an inward and spiritual grace, the preserving and strengthening influences of God's Holy Spirit which are specially promised in it. It is the compliment of Baptism. In Baptism we are enrolled in the Army of Christ, in Confirmation we are equipped for His service. It is the solemn invocation of the Spirit of God upon those who are consciously entering on the practice of the Christian life. And that grace is surely given, if the heart is open to receive it, as we read in the Scriptures that "the Holy Ghost came upon" those who had been baptized, upon whom the Apostles laid their hands. As seven distinct colors form the perfect light, so the Scriptures tell us there are seven gifts of the Holy Spirit. These are given in germ or at least to those who are Confirmed. They are thus strengthened to live Christian lives. That is the meaning of the word "Confirmation." It is not, as some have thought, for the purpose of confirming the vows of one's baptism. Children are "brought to the Bishop to be Confirmed by him. That is, the laying of his hands with the invocation of the Spirit of God will confirm or strengthen them in their determination and endeavor to lead a Christian life. That he may be assured of their intention and sincerity, the Bishop asks the candidates before he Confirms them whether they renew and ratify the vows of their baptism and on their professing that they do, he proceeds to Confirm them.

So it is not simply a profession of one's faith, or a declaration that one is good or better than others, but it is like the other sacraments, "a means of grace," an instrumentality by which one can receive special grace and help from God to resist the temptations to sin and gain strength to lead a godly life. So everyone should be glad and anxious to receive it.

In the Anglican Communion the proper age for its administration is considered to be "when children have reached years of discretion and have learned what was promised for them in Baptism." That is the age when one consciously begins to act for one's self and is capable of understanding what his duties and privileges are. This will differ with different persons, some children are more precocious than others, so the church does not prescribe an exact time, but leaves the Priest presenting candidates to judge in each individual case of their fitness.

The Spiritual form in Confirmation was undoubtedly the laying on of hands as used in the Anglican church today. But in the Roman church anointing with oil has been added, and in the Greek church, the anointing is considered the essential thing. It is always administered by a Bishop or at least by a Priest acting as the delegate of a Bishop, as in the Eastern Church. As a Bishop only has the power of ordination of the clergy, so he alone has the power of Confirming, which is often called the ordination of the laity. Everyone who has been Confirmed is to a certain extent as St. Paul says, "a Priest unto God." He should look upon himself as solemnly consecrated and set apart to be God's servant, to do the works of God, to live a holy and devout life and "do all such good works as God has prepared for us to walk in."

It is a great responsibility for one to neglect to receive so great a gift as Confirmation, if he has the opportunity of doing so.

WILLIAM BERNARD GILPIN.

It is with the deepest sorrow that every member of this congregation heard of the most unexpected death of the Rev. William Bernard Gilpin, formerly Curate of this parish. Not only have he and his family been long and prominently identified with this parish, but his official connection with it for three years endeared him to everyone in it. So attractive was his personality and so great was his zeal and ardor in his work that no one could come to know him without loving him. He never spared himself in his labor for others. The passion of his life was to be of service to God and to His church. And so manifestly pure and blameless was his life that all looked upon him as a veritable saint.

After leaving this parish he became Rector of Christ Church in Franklinville, in the northern part of the city, having charge also of St. Ambrose and another chapel, the extent of his work only adding to his interest in it.

Three years later he became one of the Curates in St. Agnes Chapel, the largest chapel of Trinity Church, New York City. Then three years after he was called to the Rectorship of Trinity Church, Hoboken, N. J., the principal parish in that large suburb of New York, which he held until his death. This occurred on Nov. 25th, at the home of his mother, in this city, after a trying and, at times, very suffering illness of six weeks, throughout the whole of which he displayed the utmost patience and resignation and wonderful hopefulness in regard to his condition until nearly the end.

His burial took place from the church on Nov. 29th. The Bishops of Newark and Pennsylvania, Dr. Manning, Rector of Trinity Church, New York, Mr. Page Rector of St. Luke's Church, Lebanon, Pa., and a number of other clergymen being present. The music was rendered by the organist and choir of his own parish who came on from Hoboken for the purpose.

While bowing in submission to this mysterious dispensation which has called away this valued, zealous worker, in the midst of his usefulness, we can yet give God thanks for his life and good example and pray that he may rest in peace and that light perpetual may shine upon him.

PARISH NOTES.

Congregational Meeting. In accordance with arrangements announced in our last issue this meeting was held on Sunday, Nov. 26th. There was a very good attendance of our parishioners, though a number were not present whom we should have liked to have seen there. Mr. George Wharton Pepper presented, very forcibly, the purpose and advantages of the duplex envelope system which the Vestry has resolved to adopt beginning with February next, insisting on the duty and privilege of systematic proportionate giving on the part of every member of the congregation. Mr. Edward F. Pugh followed with a strong statement in regard to the present and future needs of the church. He stated that the Vestry had been obliged to contract a debt of some $2,100 to meet our current expenses. This has to be paid, and asked for contributions from each member of the congregation according to his ability, for the purpose. He also stated the determination of the Vestry to cut down the expenses of the church in the future, as modest as they now are, unless the income of the parish is substantially increased, as it is hoped it will be by the introduction of the new envelope system. Cards containing a blank form of pledge of contributions towards the debt fund were given to those present as they left the church.

Responses to the appeal for our indebtedness have come in very quickly and handsomely. And it gives us the greatest pleasure to announce that the whole of the amount asked for has been provided for by gifts or promises to be redeemed in the near future. This is extremely gratifying, as it relieves the parish at once from its embarrassment, and that without having had to resort to fairs or entertainments to raise the money for the purpose, which are most objectionable means for supporting a church. Our hearty thanks are due to all who have contributed. And we must make strenuous efforts to keep out of debt in the future. This can only be done by larger and more regular contributions by the congregation. If such increase does not take place the Vestry will be obliged to curtail in some way our expenses.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

A blue mark opposite this notice is a reminder that your subscription to the NEWS is now due and a renewal will be greatly appreciated.

The following were received since our last issue:

Miss Young, Miss Anable, Mrs. Love (2), Miss Lloyd (2), Miss Whitehouse, Miss Epprecht, Mrs. Busch, Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Barrett.

DEATH OF MRS. MORGAN.

The heartfelt sympathy of the congregation is extended to our faithful and efficient Verger, Mr. Morgan, on the death of his wife, which occurred Nov. 27th. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were married in the church shortly after he became Sexton, and she has been a most faithful and good wife and mother, and she made herself most useful in the church. All who knew her will regret her early death and grieve for the great affliction it brings to her family.

May she rest in peace.

MISSION.

The Rev. Curate of the Parish will conduct a mission in the Church of the Beloved Disciple on Columbia Ave., below 21st St., from Dec. 10 to Dec. 17th. He asks the prayers of the congregation for its success.

for the benefit of the Girls' Friendly Society was most successful, realizing nearly $60. Many persons in the congregation sent very valuable contributions, and several ladies not connected with the Society took part in the sale. Some of the young men of the parish also rendered valuable assistance.

MEN'S CLUB.

It was impossible to make arrangements for the meeting of the Men's Club last month. But it is proposed that this month it shall take the form of a men's supper, at which Mr. Newbold one of our Vestrymen, and one of the Governors of the Club will give an explanation of the new envelope system we are about to adopt, as there were not very many of the men of the parish present at the meeting in the church on Nov. 26th. Due notice of it will be sent to all the members of the Club.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

As in former years, there will be celebrations of the Holy Communion on Christmas Day at 6.30, 7.30 and 8.30 A. M., in addition to that in the middle of the day, in order to give everyone opportunity to make his Communion. The special Christmas offerings will be as usual for the support of the church. Offerings for the Christmas Festival for the children and for the Mother's Meeting may be placed in the Alms box in the Vestibule of the church which will be marked for the purpose.

THE NEWS.

The delay in getting out our last issue and the number of errors in it was due to sickness and death in the establishment of the printer. We trust we shall not have any such trouble in the future.

for 1910-11 has been printed and those members of the congregation who have not receive one will find copies in the rack near the door of the church. We trust all will take and read them that they may familiarize themselves with the conditions and work of the parish.

THE MOTHERS' MEETING.

Mrs. Young, who so efficiently carried on the Mothers' Meeting last winter, finds it impossible to do so this year on account of the state of her health. Her place has been taken by Mrs. G. E. Knubel, a lady who has lately come to the parish and volunteered her services for this work. She will be assisted by Miss Packett, Mrs. Harris, Miss Moitz, and by Miss Clara Williamson, Miss Young and Mrs. Coates in the visiting.

GIFTS.

Miss Carpenter, the sister of our late Rector's Warden, has presented to the church a beautifully illuminated card containing the Canon of the Mass in an oak frame, which has been placed on the main Altar of the church. It is all hand-painted, the work of her father. It will be prized both for itself and for its associations.

We thankfully also acknowledge the receipt of orders for three tons of coal for our poorer members.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

We are asked by a circular letter signed by Theodore Roosevelt, Jacob A. Riis, Edward Bok and others to urge all our people to do their Christmas shopping early. This will be an immense relief to tired employees who otherwise will be obliged to endure lengthened hours and great fatigue.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS.

Et Homo Factus Est.

There's a song in the air!
There's a star in the sky!
There's a mother's deep prayer
And a baby's low cry:
And the star rains its fire while the beautiful sing,
For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King!

There's a tumult of joy
O'er the wonderful birth,
For the Virgin's sweet boy
Is the Lord of the earth.
Ay, the star rains its fire and the beautiful sing,
For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King!

In the light of that star
Lie the ages impearled;
And that song from afar
Has swept o'er the world:
Every hearth is aflame, and the beautiful sing
In the homes of the nations that JESUS IS KING!

PENANCE

Baptism and Confirmation are the means by which the soul is united to Christ and strengthened to do His will, if they are rightly received. But suppose they are not so received, suppose one is false to his Baptismal vows, and fails to "stir up the gift given to him by the laying on of hands," is his case then hopeless? Is there then no possibility of his being restored to the state of grace from which he has fallen?

It is to meet that condition and to efect that restoration that there is in the Sacramental system of the Church, this act which has been called Penitence or Penance. It has been called by some of the Fathers of the Church, "the second plank after shipwreck," the means by which one who has made shipwreck of his spiritual life after Baptism may yet float safely to the eternal shore.

This teaching is founded on our Lord's forgiving sins when He was on the earth, and the authority He gave to His disciples to do the same. It is an article of the Christian Creed, that we believe in "the forgiveness of sins". But that does not mean that sin is always forgiven, that sin is unimportant, or an easy thing to obtain forgiveness of. Scripture is most explicit in its statements of God's hatred of sins and anger with sinners, and of the certainty and severity of its punishment. How then can it be forgiven? Only on certain conditions. There must first be a sincere repentance, that involves a real sorrow for having committed it and determination to forsake it in the future. Secondly we must confess our sins. Not brazen it out that we have not sinned, or excuse or extenuate it, but humbly acknowledge our wrong doing, and that not only to God but to our fellow man, as S. James says "Confess your faults one to another"; this involves self accusation and self abasement," Thirdly, we must make satisfaction for our sins, that is if we have wronged or injured one we must do our best to make up for the harm we have done. It is not enough for a thief to say he is sorry he has stolen and will not do so again, he must return what he stole. Or if the sin is such that we cannot make an actual restitution, we must do something to make up as far as possible for the wrong done, to punish ourselves, and to attest the sincerity of our repentence. All these elements are essential to the obtaining of forgiveness, and involve a difficult and painful act.

The Church has always administered this discipline. In the early Church those who had been baptised and then fellen into sin were required to make a public confession, and preform a public penance before the congregation, and only after some years exclusion were readmitted to Communion. In time however this was not found to be edifying, though public confession and penance was continued in places in the Church of England come down to Post Reformation times. Later in the history of the Church a Special Officer, called the Penetentiary, was appointed to hear Confessions and inflict penances. Finally all Priests were allowed to do so, though those specially trained for the purpose were preferred. It was not until the 13th century that the rule was adopted requiring all Christians to make a private Confession to a Priest before receiving Communion, this rule was abolished in the Church of England at the Reformation. But Confession was not done away with. It was provided for in the daily services of the Church as well as in the Holy Communion, in the exhortations to which, the Priest is directed to urge those who have any "scruple or doubtfulness" as to their being prepared to receive it, to make a private Confession, and he was to "move" sick persons and prisoners to do the same. This is the teaching of the Church today. She insists upon the necessity of Confession for the remission of sin, but she does not compel any one to make a private Confession to a Priest. But she provides it for all who feel that it would be a relief or benefit to them, and urges it upon all who have any grave sin on their conscience or are in any doubt or spiritual difficulty. And for certain persons, especially the young and ignorant, or those incapable or unskilled in deciding spiritual questions it is most useful and advisable.

There is no special form or words ordained of Christ for this Sacrament. Any words conveying its meaning will suffice. Only a Bishop or Priest can administer it.

NEW ENVELOPE SYSTEM

Beginning with February the new envelope system adopted by the Vestry will go into effect.

The new envelope differs from the old ones we have been using in that it has two pockets instead of one. On one is marked in red ink "For ourselves" and is intended for all offerings for the current expenses of tho parish, salaries, heat, light, music &c., and the amount required for these purposes $7,000, is put on each envelope, that the members of the congregation may give in the necessary proportion. The other pocket is marked in black ink "For others" and is for offerings for missionary and charitable purposes. Each quarter will be devoted to a different purpose from Feb. to May, for Diocesan Missions, and the amount asked from the parish will be printed on each envelope; from May to Aug. for the Poor; from Aug. to Nov. for Parochial activities, including the Sunday and Industrial Schools, Men's Club and the other Guilds and Societies of the parish; from Nov. to Feb. for General Missions with the amount asked from us printed on it.

These envelopes will be sent not only to those who have been using envelopes, but to every one in the parish who it is thought can contribute anything to these objects, with the request that they will use them.

It is hoped that this system, which is now being largely adopted throughout the country, will be useful in securing more and more regular and systematic offerings for the support of the Church and for charitable purposes. Here-to-fore we have been sending out to those using the envelopes, one envelope each quarter for a benevolent object. By this system a separate envelope for that object will be provided for EACH Sunday in the quarter, and will be put in the hands of all our people. This ought to result in much larger receipts.

It is earnestly hoped that every one who receives these envelopes will regularly and concientiously use them, putting into each pocket of the envelope as large an amount as he or she can afford. If this is done, we believe we shall be able to meet all our obligations without any more deficits and the necessity for special appeals.

PARISH NOTES

Christmas was an ideal day and though it was the very next day after a Sunday we had good congregations. The Church looked beautiful in its greens and white vestments and banners. The music was excellent both on the Christmas Eve service the night before and on the day itself. The number of Communicants was up to the average of previous years and the offerings were but little, if at all, diminished by the gifts made in response to the recent appeal. All seem relieved and rejoiceing in the knowledge that the Church is free from debt.

Gifts. Orders for ten tons of coal for Poor, some six yards of valuable old lace for the Altar, presented as a memorial, and also two sums of money in gold from two organizations in the Parish.

The Curate received a handsome umbrella from the members of his Bible Class, and the Choir Master a handsome cut glass bowl with a growing plant in it from the members of the Choir. The Rector also received some substantial gifts.

Each member of the Mothers' Meeting, in addition to an order for a half ton of coal, received a basket containing a fowl, 3 vegetables, sugar, candy and cake.

Sunday School Festival

The Christmas Festival took place on the evening of the Holy Innocents Day. After service in the Church gifts were distributed, refreshments provided, a Christmas Tree and Santa Claus brightened the evening and an entertainment was given by members of the School. Each child was authorized to bring a friend, and a goodly number were present. All the children received candies and a present.

Basket Ball Instruction for St. Agnes' Guild

A kind friend has undertaken to engage a professional Instructor in Basket Ball for the girls of St. Agnes' Guild. After they have attained sufficient skill, they propose to undertake some match games with others. They already have on hand one challenge from one team of girls and are going to try hard to prepare to win.

St. Agnes' Guild's Thanks

The Guild desires to express its gratitude to the many kind friends who purchased tickets for their entertainment.

Their generosity has supplied the Guild with the funds needed for their winter's work.

A crowded audience was present at the Entertainment itself.

S. John's Guild has been having some fine basket ball matches. A sociable which was planned for the Guild with the Girl's Friendly Society was put off on account of the death of the Rev. Mr. Gilpin.

The Junior S. John's Guild which has not been organized as yet this winter will re-commence its meetings with this month.

Men's Supper. It was last month found impossible to make arrangements for it as announced before Christmas. It is now fixed for the evening of Monday, Jan. 15th. It is hoped that every one, who has received an invitation to it will be prompt in answering it, that the Committee may know how many to provide for.

Special Sermons. On the Sunday mornings during January, the Rector proposes to preach a course of sermons on "What it meant to be a Christian in the first century after Christ, in the Middle Ages, during the Reformation, in the eighteenth century, and what it should mean to be a Christian now."

He will also continue to preach on the Sunday evenings of this month. The night service throughout the Epiphany season will be Choral.

Confirmation. The Bishop of the Diocese has appointed the evening of Friday, March 29th, for the administration of Confirmation in this parish. Due notice will be given of the preparatory instructions.

Girls Friendly Society Although the Secretary has been absent from the meetings, the Associates and members have been very faithful in their attendance and work.

The Rummage Sale in November was a great success. Out of its proceeds $10 was given to the Choir Outing Fund, and $10 to the Ascension Room at the Holiday House, Cape May, N. J. Two dozen dolls were made for the Children's Christmas Festival, and forty-two large picture cards for the work amongst th children of the Probationers Court.

THE HOLY COMMUNION

This is the greatest of the Sacraments. It is often spoken of as "the Sacrament". It is so because it is not only a sign and seal and means by which grace is conveyed to us, but because in it Christ gives Himself to us in all the plenitude of His Divine nature, so, as our Prayer Book says, by means of it "He dwells in us and we in Him"

To understand it we must consider it in its historical connection. The great universal act by which men have worshipped God has been by sacrifice. They have felt instinctively that sin has so separated men from God that in some way it must be atoned for, he must do or give in return that which costs him something. In ancient times the most universal rite of sacrifice was that of slaying an animal and offering it on an Altar. Then part of the flesh was roasted and eaten by the offerer, to signify that he thus partook of God's table and entered into an act of amity with him. But as S. Paul says "such sacrifices could not in themselves take away sin." They were only types of that perfect sacrifice which God Himself prepared when He gave His only begotten Son to suffer death upon the Cross for the sins of the whole world. But as that could only be offered once, there was needed some means by which it could be perpetually presented to men and pleaded before God, and by which its benefits could be conveyed to men. For these purposes Christ instituted this sacrament. By it we do "shew forth the Lord's death," teaching men the infinite love of God, and beseeching Him by It to hear and bless us, and by receiving the consecrated Elements we become partakers of His Body and Blood which are given to us as He says, under the forms of bread and wine. So we thus receive the benefits of Christ's Sacrifice on the Cross, as the Jew received those of the sacrifices he offered by eating their flesh. How Christ is really present and gives us His Body and Blood is a mystery. The Prayer calls it "these Holy Mysteries". Various attempts have been made to explain it by such theories as "Transbustalation" or "Consubstanliation," which have been taught by different Christian Communions. Others have denied that our Lord's words had any other meaning than that pretaining to a sign or symbol. But the Anglican Communion, is common with all the great Branches of the Catholic Church, simply teaches the doctrine of the Real Presence, as it is called, without attempting to explain it. Christ said that when two or three were gathered in His Name there He would be in the midst of them. And where are Christians so assembled as when they celebrate this Rite of His appointment? He took bread and wine and blest them and said "This is my Body, This is my Blood". We believe it literally, that it is a real Gift, not only a symbol, not something dependent on the faith of the recipient, though only faith can descern Christ's Presence, and the benefits that we receive from It will be in proportion to the care and devotion with which we come to It. The soul needs food as well as the body, and in this Sacrament the most perfect and sufficient spiritual sustinence is provided for us, "with all other benefits of Christ's passion."

In the Sacrament are two distinct purposes, one is the offering a Memorial of Christ's Sacrifice and the other is the seeking to have the benefits of this Sacrifice conveyed to us in the act of Communion. We may not always be prepared for the reception, but any one can use it as an act of worship, so some Celebrations are more for one than the other purpose. The early quiet Celebration, when one can come fasting, is the best for Communion, and the mid-day Celebration with music and other accessories is the best for worship. With it every Sunday and Holiday at the least should be sanctified.

For its Celebration there must always be the elements Christ commanded, bread, either leavened or unleavened, the later perferably, because it was that which He used, and real wine, not unfermented grape juice or any other liquor The use of the Words of Institution with the Invocation of the Holy Ghost effect the Consecration, and the Celebrant must be a Priest who has received the Apostolic Commission, for as the Apostle says "no man taketh this office upon himself but he that was called of God as was Haron."

February 21st is Ash Wednesday, one of the two great fast days of the Church year. This is followed by the season of Lent, forty days in all, excluding the Sundays occurring during that time, which are always feasts. During this season "the Church requires such a measure of abstinence as is more especially suited to extraordinary acts and exercises of devotion.,'

"The Church requires" that is, the keeping of Lent is an obligation. It is part of the regular regimen of the Church. That which is just as much a duty, as is the saying of our Prayers, or being Confirmed or receiving Holy Communion. Every one should keep Lent. Its observance will be beneficial to all. Especially in this age of hurry and bustle, we all need to pause awhile, to keep as far as we can this season of forty days, in which we shall spiritualy exercise ourselves, think more than ordinarily of spiritual things and perform more religious and charitable acts. First, we should fast. Ash Wednesday and Good Friday should be kept as strick fasts, one should go to no amusements or entertainments on those days and should eat only the simplest, most necessary food. On the other days of Lent we should use "abstinance". Our English Church does not, like the modern Roman Church, prescribe the exact kind of food, or the number of ounces one may eat. People's constitutions and state of health and conditions vary so. It is better to leave each one to determine for himself just the particular things from which he should abstain. But the requirement is that each one should fast in some way during Lent as an exercise, to train oneself in self control. If all practised fasting, there would not be as much drunkenness and self indulgence as there is, and we should not go to large entertainments or places of amusements.

Secondly. All should practice "extraordinary acts of devotion." We should go to Church more frequently, receive the Holy Communion oftener, hear more sermons, read some spiritual or devotional book during Lent. We have so many services in this parish throughout the year that few more are added during Lent. Our people should attend these regular services more than they ordinarily do. And there will be special lectures during Lent on Tuesdays after the 5 P. M., Prayers by the Rector, and on Friday afternoons by a special preacher.

Thirdly. We should do special acts of charity, in person if possible, if not, by proxy, by giving to charitable objects. Take the money you save by abstaining from luxuries or amusements to give it to religious and charitable purposes.

If all will faithfully and presistently keep Lent in this way, it will be a season of great spiritual blessing and benefit to them, and of help to those to whom charity is extended.

PARISH NOTES

Gifts. Two silk stoles embroidered formerly the property of the Rev. Wm. Bernare Gilpin.

Orders for five tons of coal for the poor, and a quanity of children's clothing.

Men's Club. The winter's session of the Club was opened on Jan. 15th, with a sit down supper at which about forty men were present, all—with the exception of one,—connected with the parish. The supper, consisting of some six courses, was excellent. Between the courses, songs, which had been specially printed for the occasion, were sung, Mr. Edward H. Offley acting as pianist. This was followed by coffee and cigars, during which, speaches were made by the Rector, Mr. John S. Newbold the Accounting Warden Mr. M. F. Roberts, who is President of the Club, and by Mr. Offley. The Rector welcomed the guests and explained the objects of the supper. Mr. Newbold explained the Duplex Envelope System which is to be introduced into the parish the coming quarter. Mr. Roberts told of the financial needs of the Parish, and Mr. Offley related instances of the working of St. Andrew's Brotherhood in different places he had visited.

It was a very enjoyable occasion, and we trust it will do good in attaching those present more to the Church, making them feel that it is their spiritual home, and realize their responsibility in supporting it.

The next meeting of the Club will be on the third Thursday of this month, the 15th, and take the usual form of a smoker. There will be also an address and some music and dancing.

Musical. Mr. Harvey Hindermeyer, formerly a member of our choir, and who is now living in New York, where he has gained a reputation for his singing, having offered to sing for the benefit of our Church, it has been arranged that he shall do so in the house of the Rector, 334 So. 13th St., on Saturday, Feb. 10th, at 4 P. M. There will also be recitations by Mrs. M. M. Smith who is a professional, and who also gives her services. The tickets are one dollar each and can be obtained from the Verger. The proceeds will be for the charity fund of the Parish.

Confirmation Instructions are given Sundays, at 4 p. m. by the Rector and every Wednesday after the 8 o'clock evening service, by the Curate. It is hoped that all in the parish not yet Confirmed who are of sufficient age will attend these instructions. If there are any who cannot do so, the clergy will arrange to meet them at some other time.

Music during Lent. For many years the boys of the choir have attended and sung at the 5 P. M. prayers each day during Lent. But of late years the attendance at this service has fallen off so that it seems hardly worth while any longer to go to this expense. It is proposed therefore to have music only on Tuesday and Friday afternoons when there is a lecture, in the hope that by thus concentrating on these two says the attendance on them at least may be better.

The New Duplex Envelopes are sent out this quarter to all persons attending the Church who it is thought will use them, and it is hoped they will be faithfully and regularly returned.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF MISSIONARY BOX

Red Cloud, Neb.,
Dec. 27, 1911.

My Dear Mrs. Smith,

You will be wondering what has become of your Missionary Box. It came just as I was leaving on a 12 day Missionary trip, and didn't even have time to look up your address. I have gone through it today and am very much pleased. I have probably received 25 boxes during my 35 years in the Ministry, but I never had one that showed more thoughtful consideration for the recipient, and a strong desire to please. I can make good use of the second hand things, they are in such nice condition. Please convey to the ladies of your Auxiliary my hearty thanks.

Yours sincerely.

ST. AGNES' GUILD FESTIVAL

The Guild kept the Feast of its Patron Saint on Saturday, Jan. 27th. At 6.30 a. m., they had a Choral Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament, Mrs. Harris kindly playing the organ. After this, they had breakfast together in the Parish Building.

At 8 p. m. there was a Guild Party, to which were invited by the girls of the Guild some boys and others. After dancing and games, refreshments were served.

ST. JOHN'S Jr. GUILD

On Monday, Jan. 22nd., the Guild resumed its meetings. The Director and Miss Maria Gilpin met seven boys; of course this number will at once increase. Last winter we had at times as many as twenty-five boys present. After an Office of Devotion and an Instruction in Church Doctrine and Practice, they spent an hour in gymnastic sports and games.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MISSIONARY SERVICE

On Sunday, Jan. 7, in common with many hundreds of schools throughout the country, our Sunday School held a Missionary Service using a form provided by the Missionary Society in New York.

The Superintendent gave an Instruction on Missions in general and Rev. W. C. Lapp's work in the Phillipine Islands in particular. After the close of the session upstairs, the School entered the Church singing a missionary hymn and their service and collection followed.

One result of the affair is that one class will give an entertainment, as mentioned below.

A SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS ENTERTAINMENT.

Mrs. Harris' Class, moved by the Missionary Instruction of Jan. 7, propose giving an entertainment; the proceeds of which will be added to the Lenten Collection of the School.

Several persons, adults and children, have agreed to assist and an attractive affair may be expected

The tickets will cost 25c., and the date will be Monday, Feb. 19th, at 8 p. m.

HOLY MATRIMONY

The Church has regarded Christian marriage as having a sacramental character that is, grace conferring. It is not only a natural relationship, but one ordained by God, its purpose is the formation of the family, in which each member is bound to the others in the closest and holiest ties, which produces the greatest happiness and affords the conditions best calculated for the bringing up of children "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." It is therefore an "holy estate" which will be the means of spiritual blessing to those who enter into it and discharge its obligations according to God's laws.

As ordained by Christ and regulated by His Church, it involves the union of a man and a woman, who profess the Christian Faith, are of sufficient age, and competent mentally and physically, of their own free will and consent, in a bond so intimate and perfect as to be described by Scripture as "one flesh," so that they should have the same equal rights over each other and it implies absolute and exclusive fidelity to one another until death.

It belongs to the second class of Sacraments which are not necessary to salvation, because all are not called to it, and because no outward form or sign for its administration was ordained by Christ. Any form, such as the giving and receiving a ring and joining hands, and any words signifying mutual consent, will suffice, the Ministers of the Sacrament are the parties themselves. If preformed by a Priest, as of course, owing to its sacred character it should be, he only attests the fact of its performance and bestows the benediction of the Church. So that a merely civil marriage is not only valid, but has the same sacramental character, if it is entered into and observed according to God's laws. Those laws are carefully laid down by the Church as in regard to degrees of relationship, freedom of consent &c. There are a number of things called "impediments" which would render a marriage null and void.

Then there are other things, which though not making marriage in-valid, prevent the fulfilment of its ends becoming the source of joy and blessing they should be, such as, persons entering it without any desire or intention of fulfilling its high purposes but simply from affection or fancy or from commercial or other sordid motives, or by shirking its responsibilities and looking upon it simply as a convenience or pleasure. Secondly "Mixed Marriages," that is one in which a Christian marrys one of another faith, or of no faith at all. How can there be harmony and happiness and the duties of marriage be properly discharged, if there is no agreement between the principals in regard to the most fundamental things that should govern their life. And yet this is often not thought of in entering upon a marriage. A Christian man or woman will often marry without ever knowing what is the religion of the proposed partner. There are also hasty and improvident marriages or those in which there is great discrepancy of age or taste or temperament. Therefore marriage should never be entered upon unadvisedly or lightly, but reverently, discreetly, advisedly, soberly and in the fear of God."

The possibility of divorce, which is the legal disruption of the marriage bond, which the State allows because it regards marriage ouly as a civil contract—should never be contemplated by a Christian. To break that bond is in the eyes of God and of His Church a crime proportionate to that of murder. And there is nothing which does more to threaten the social and domestic happiness and welfare of our Country than the growing frequency of divorce. All Christians should set their faces against it and do all they can to restrict and if possible put a stop to it.

Marriage once entered into should be regarded as permanent and as binding as a natural relationship and its obligations should be fulfilled in the same way. If it is so regarded and so used it is the highest possible source of human happiness and welfare.

The Confirmation will be administered by the Rt. Rev. the Bishop of the Diocese on the evening of Friday, March 29th.

Lenten preachers On Tuesday, at 5 p. m. the Rector will give a course of lectures on the Prayer Book, on Fridays there will be special preachers. March 1st the Rev. B. S. Sanderson, Rector of All Hallows, Wyncote; March 8th the Rev. A. C. Knowles, Rector of S. Albons, Olney; March 15th, the Rev. H. A. Bryan, formerly Archdeacon of the Panama Canal Zone; March 22nd, the Rev. W. B. P. Harrison, of S. Elizabeths Church; ~~March 28th~~,

The Rector preaches during Lent in S. Mark's, S. James', S. Simon the Cyrenian, S. Alban's, Olney and S. Paul's, Camden. The Rev. Curate preaches at Emanuel, Holmesburg; St. Luke's, Germantown; St. Alban's, Olney; St. John's, Norristown; St. James', Downington; Calvary Monumental; St. Elizabeth's; St. Philip's; Christ Church, Palmyra, N. J.; St. Mary's Church and Holy Cross, Baltimore, Md., and St. Michael's, Wilmington, Del. He will also conduct a "Quiet Day" at Norristown, N.J., and preach the Three Hours Service, at All Saints, Orange, N. J.

St. Agnes' Guild. The Dancing School had a good meeting this month with their professional trainer. A number of its members have made a Rule to be present at the Blessed Sacrament at least one Week Day each week.

St. John's Jr., Guild. This Guild have been having a good attendance during the month and enjoy their gymnastic work under Mr. Clarence Martz.

The Song Recital at the residence of the Rector, last month was a great success. It was a first class entertainment in every way. Both Mr. Hindermeyer and Mrs. Minnie Marshall Smith are professionals and all who heard them were charmed with the performance. About eighty persons were present, and as some took more tickets than they used, over $100 was realized above the small expenses. This will be sufficient to carry on the Mother's Meeting for the remainder of the winter and answer some very urgent calls for help.

The Men's Club meeting in February was attended by some forty-four men all of whom belonged to our own parish. Mr. Spencer Erwin one of our members who has been away from the city for years, gave a very interesting account of his travels in India and Japan, and Mr. Abbot McClure executed some very graceful Hungarian dances, dressed in the gala national costume. This, with some music and a few words from the Rector with the usual refreshments filled up the evening.

The meeting of the Club this month will be on the evening of Thursday, March 21st.

Lenten sewing The Ladies Aid which meets on Wednesday afternoons will sew this Lent for the Poor of our own parish. We find there are a number of families connected with the Church who have not any proper underclothing, and the ladies think tdey ought to supply them before working for others outside of the parish.

Girls Friendly Society. The gymnastic lessons were continued through Feb. with a good attendance of girls and Associates, ending with a very successful party at which about 50 were present. Through Lent there will be the usual sewing, this year infants clothing for the Episcopal Hospital and a Southern Mission will be made. On March 5th there will be a "neighborhood meeting" when 13 Branches meet with ours for the reading of papers and discussion and enjoying a very interesting evening.

After Easter there will be a Rummage Sale, and it is hoped every one in the Parish will be collecting things for it. Any personal or household things that are not needed or wanted will be acceptable.

The Duplex Envelopes. We are very much gratified at the way in which our new envelope system is working. Twenty-seven more persons are using the envelopes than formerly, and the contributions for Diocesan Missions are coming in very well $44.68 having come in during the month of February as against $18.39 for the same month last year. If the same rate keeps up the whole amount required $134 will have been received before May 1st.

The Organ. We are sorry to say that the organ after constant use for over twenty years, requires considerable repair. A special meeting of the Vestry was call last month to take action in regard to it and authorised an expenditure of $150 for the purpose. This will have to be covered by the Easter Offering, as we have no funds in hands for this purpose.

Musicale in the Parish Building. On Monday evening, February 19th, a musical was given by members of Mrs. Harris's class for the benefit of the Lenten Missionary Fund. Everyone, who took part, did so, with such good will and earnestness that the affair was quite a success. Miss Louise Carman helped with some humorous sketches which delighted the audience immensely. The choirmen also did their part; Mr. Albert Challmann, Mr. Chester Myers and Mr. Robert McNeil's vocal selections were very much enjoyed and appreciated. There were, also, piano and violin solos played from some of the old Masters, by friends who wished to help the good cause and those who attended thought the evening profitably and well spent.

Memorials A brass tablet commemorative of the late Rev. William Bernard Gilpin, who was for three years the Curate of this Parish, will be placed in the Chancel of the Church by members of his family.

And instead of the Clerestory window of which we spoke in our November issue, a window representing Christ's entry into Jerusalem will be placed in the Chancel, in memory of the late Benjamin F. Holbrook, who was long a member of the parish, and some members of his family.

This will leave only one window in the Chancel not filled with painted glass, which will be a great contrast to the others. Is there not some one in the congregation who would to give the order for it at the same time as a memorial or otherwise?

Holy Week The services during Holy Week will be daily Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 7 A. M., and after Morning Paayer at 10 A. M., except on Good Friday. Daily Evening Prayer at 5 P. M., with lecture on Tuesday afternoon, and at 8 P. M. the Stations of the Cross will be observed.

On Good Friday they will also be observed at 9 A. M., for the Children of the Parish. The Mid-Day Services will begin at 11 A. M., with Morning Prayer and the Litany, followed by the singing of the Reproaches and the Preaching of the Cross from 12 to 3 P. M.

On Palm Sunday there will be the usual procession of palms before the Mid-Day Celebration at 11.30 A. M.

Easter Day. There will be Celebrations at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 and 11.30 A. M.

A PAROCHIAL MISSION

The Rev. Curate preached an Eight Day Mission at the Church of St. John Baptist, Brooklyn, N. Y., from Sunday, Feb. 11th to Sunday, Feb. 18th.

He ask the prayers of this congregation, that souls might be won to God.

The parish at which the Mission was preached is a large one, as is indicated by the fact that at the laying of the corner stone of a new church they are about to build, 1,500 people were present Large results should, therefore, come from this effort, if aided by many prayers. Over 1,000 requests for prayers have been sent out by the Rector and the Mission Priest.

A brief printed form of prayer will be given to any one indicating a willingness to use it.

HOLY ORDERS

This term is applied to the Orders of Ministers Christ ordained in that organization which He founded to be His agent in carrying on His work on earth, after He ascended into Heaven.

We are told in Scripture that He first, selected certain men whom He called "Apostles," that means those sent, and whom He commissioned in the most solemn manner, "breathing on them" and saying "as My Father hath sent me even so send I you." And after His Ascension we find these men taking the absolute government of the church into their hands and choosing and ordaining others to take their places as vacancies occurred, or there was need of expansion.

Then we find our Lord chose "other seventy also" whom He commissioned to preach His Gospel, to baptize and minister to the needs of men. This order came afterwards to be called Presbyters, that is Elders, or Priests. And later on the Apostles, acting doubtless on instrnctions Christ had given them, instituted another order which they called Deacons, who were to be assistants to the Apostles and Presbyters and attend to the more mechanical duties of the Ministry.

"These three Orders," says the Preface to our Ordinal or form for making Bishops, Priests and Deacons "it is evident unto all men diligently reading Holy Scripture and ancient Authors have been in Christ's Church from the Apostles time." The highest order, the Apostles, or Bishops as they came to be called, have the government of the church and the power of ordination, they themselves receiving these commissions in regular succession from those who have been Bishops before them. This is what is known as the "Apostolical succession" and is necessary to the validity of the Ministry, as no man could take such an office upon himself unless he were duly commissioned by those who had themselves received it.

These offices are such that they impart a character. They are not offices that can be assumed and laid aside. A man once ordained is always ordained. Even if he is deposed it does not destroy his official character, it only suspends its exercise. It is sacramental because the Holy Spirit operates in and through it, giving it all its efficacy.

The outward part is the laying on of hands with the words "Receive ye the Holy Ghost"—which Christ used,—or some equivalent designating the particular office bestowed.

These offices should only be sought by those who feel that they have an inward call from God and none should be ordained until they have been taught and tried and examined to ascertain if they are fitted for the exercise of them.

Their purpose is the spiritual care and oversight and ministering to those committed to their charge, and for the bringing of men into the company of Christ's professed disciples. It is a fatherly relationship, the clergy are the Pastors of the flock, through whose agency its members may receive those spiritual blessings for which Christ formed His Church. Every person should be a member of some particular flock, stand in a personal relationship with one whom he regards as his Pastor, whom he should reverence on account of his holy office, and use and value his ministrations. and contribute to his support that his time may be given to his sacred duties.

The Church like the family is a Divine institution essential to the welfare and happiness of men, not to belong to it or use its ministrations is a fatal mistake for any one. And the Ministry, or Holy Orders is the means by which the Church and its blessings are maintained and propagated.

THE DUPLEX ENVELOPES

We are much pleased with the working of the Duplex envelope system so far. Almost every one using the envelopes puts an offering in each pocket, so that the benevolent and missionary offerings of the parish will undoubtly be largely increased.

But we are disappointed that more envelopes are not used. On February 1st we sent out 127 sets of envelopes to persons belonging to the congregation who had not taken them before, in the hope that they would use them. Of these only 32 have been returned, and not all of these regularly. And probably most of the thirty two persons were contributing more or less regularly before.

What we need to give the parish a permanent income, on which it can rely, is that every one connected with it, should feel his or her obligation to contribute regularly towards its support in proportion to their means. We are persuaded that if every one in the congregation would give regularly every week, even if it were only a small amount, we should have sufficient means to meet our expenses.

The contributions to pay off our deficit of over $2,000 were very liberal. Can we not by regular and systematic offerings avoid having any deficits in the future?

If this is not done, then we must either resort again to entertainments, which is certainly not the proper or edifying way of supporting the Church, or we must cut down our expenses.

Let each one do his duty in giving systematically according to his means and we shall not have to resort to do either of these objectionable alternatives.

Gifts. Framed photographs of the late Rev. Wm. Bernard Gilpin, the late Rt. Rev. Alexander Mackay Smith, and the present Bishop of Pennsylvania, also 27 copies of the Bishop's photograph for presentation to the Confirmation Class. Also 20 New Prayer Books and 20 new Hymnals for the Church to replace those worn out.

Confirmation was administered by the Bishop on the evening of March 29th on his first visitation of the parish. The Bishop was vested in a very handsome white brocade silk cope which was made by the embroidery class expressly for the occasion, except the hood which was presented by a friend of the parish. The Bishop administered Confirmation sitting in a chair placed at the entrance of the choir. The whole service was most orderly and impressive. At its conclusion each of those Confirmed was presented with a photograph of the Bishop which were provided by a member of the Vestry for the purpose. The Bishop also gave to each certificates of their Confirmation which he had himself signed. After the Confirmation the members of the Vestry and many of the congregation were presented to the Bishop, as he is anxious to become personally acquainted with as many in the several parishes of the Diocese as possible.

Holy Week and Easter. On Palm Sunday in the Procession of Palms the Rector wore the cope which had been made for the Bishop. There will be also a similar procession on the evening of Easter Day. During Holy Week there will be Celebrations of the Holy Communion each day at 7 a. m., and after Morning Prayer at 10 a. m., except on Good Friday, when the Mid-day service will begin at 11 a.m., it will consist of Morning Prayer and the Litany, followed by the singing of the Reproaches and the preaching of the Cross by the Rector from 12 to 3 p. m. There will be daily Evening Prayer at 5 p. m., and the Stations of the Cross each evening at 8 p. m., except on Good Friday and Easter Even. The Stations will be observed on Good Friday at 9.30 a. m., for the children of the Parish.

On Easter Day there will be Celebrations at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 and after Morning Prayer at 10.30 a. m.

Easter Offering. As usual we depend on the Easter offering to make up the average of the amount necessary to pay the current expenses of the Church for the year. We shall require at least $800 for this purpose.

As the congregation made up before Christmas the deficit of the previous year, will they not by a generous offering at Easter see that we do not have any deficit this year? The weekly offerings are not sufficient to pay all our expenses and unless the needed amount is made up now we shall again carry a deficit into another financial year. This can be avoided if all will give in proportion as they have given before. Offerings for the Easter flowers may be placed in the box in the vestibule of the Church marked for that purpose.

The Repair of the Organ. A lady of the congregation contributed last month ten dollars for this purpose, in hope that others might join her in an effort to raise the $150 needed without taking it out of the Easter offering. Are there not those who will do so?

Men's Club. The meeting in March was not as largely attended as usual owing to its being a stormy night, only about thirty members were present. These listened attentively to a very instructive address from Dr. Burton Chance in regard to some facts which every man and boy ought to know. He was followed by the Rector who spoke of the moral character of the facts referred to. These addresses with some singing and refreshments filled up a profitable evening.

The members of S. John's Guild will provide the entertainment for the April meeting which will be on Thursday the 18th.

St. John's Guild. At the March meeting a committee was appointed to make an investigation regarding a camp for the Guild this summer; and one to look over the base-ball candidates and see if a fairly good team could be gotten together to represent us on the diamond; another committee was appointed to provide an entertainment for the April Smoker of the Men's Club.

Our Basketball team wound up its season in great style defeating consecutively—Holy Trinity Chapel, Avilla (of St. Teresa's) and Greystock (of Holy Apostles'.) These games were marked by the large attendance of the fair sex; whose frantic cheering seemed to inspire the boys and drive them on.

It is more than likely that a "dinner" will be given in honor of the team in appreciation of their great work this year. The men who will rsceive their basket ball "A" are Mgr. Glaser, A. Boggs, J. Boggs, Neill, Ritsert, Delaney, Carr and Reeves (Capt.)

On Sat. Eve. March 9 we were the guests of Mr. Joseph Glaser at his summer home in Haddonfield, N. J. Everyone had a "dandy" time.

A "Minstrel Show" will be given on Thursday Eve., April 11, 1912, which, from the present outlook will surpass any that have ever been given by the Guild. It will be followed by a dance.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew. A sectional conference of delegates from the chapters of neighboring parishes will be held in connection with the regular meeting of our Chapter on Tuesday, April 16th. It is hoped there will be a full attendance of our members.

The annnal election for Vestrymen will be held on Easter Monday from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., in the Parish Building.

The Easter Festival of the Industrial School will be held on Saturday, April 13th, after the 10 a. m. Prayers.

This Guild will have a Guild Party on Monday evening within the Easter Octave, to which they expect to invite a number of their friends among the boys. Dancing, games and refreshments may be expected.

PRAYERS ASKED

The Rev. Curate, before this issue is printed, will have conducted two Quiet Days, one at St. John's Church, Norristown (March 29,) and one at Downington (April 2.) He asks the prayers of the congregation that those who may have been helped by these Devotions, may persevere in bringing forth fruits worthy of repentance.

He also asks for intercessions, that some souls may be won to God and that others may be deepened in their spiritual life, through the Three Hours meditations on the Passion to be conducted by him on Good Fridey at All Saint's Church, Orange, N. J.

UNCTION.

Of all the seven rites to which the term sacrament has been applied, there is none for which there is greater Scriptural authority or which has been longer in use, than the rite of Unction. We read in Genesis of Jacob pouring oil on the stone, which he had had for a pillow, when he would consecrate the place of his vision as a "House of God." Aaron and the priests under the old dispensation were anointed for their offices, as were Saul and David and the kings. The very name of Christ as applied to the Redeemer of the world means "the anointed one." When our Lord sent forth His disciples in His name they "anointed with oil many that were sick and healed them." The Epistles of the Apostles constantly speak of "the anointing" which all Christ's disciples have received, which has made them both "kings and priests unto God." And S. James directs that if any "is sick among you, let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord."

It was doubtless in obedience to this command or because the custom had already obtained among Christians, that the practice of anointing the sick with oil arose in the early church and has been continued ever since both in the East and in the West. The first English Prayer Book provided an office for its administration, which unfortunately on its revision was left out. In our General Convention of 1907, a committee was appointed to consider the advisability of introducing such an office. And at the last Convention the committee reported in favor of it, which report was adopted by the House of Bishop, and by the clergy by a vote of two to one, but was unfortunately rejected by the laity.

But though no such office has been authoritatively put forth, there is nothing to prevent individual clergymen from using it. Many of our Bishops now consecrate oil for the purpose and it is kept in many of our churches for the use of those who desire it. The outward part of the Sacrament is the anointing with oil, and the inward part is the healing and strengthening influences which accompany it, with the laying on of hands and with prayer.

There has been a wonderful revival among us of late years of belief in the power of faith and prayer to assist at least in the recovery from sickness. Whole sects have sprung up, and spread with wonderful rapidity, which are founded solely on that idea. They are grounded on the truth that the mind has an enormous power over the body, and that one mind can influence another mind, It was doubtless in this way that our Lord and His disciples wrought their wonderful cures. And there have always been those who have claimed and exercised a like power. It is certainly promised in Scripture to those who have "faith." If this sacrament had always been used, as it was originally intended, it might have been a most beneficent influence and would have prevented the rise of these modern sects, such as Christion Scientists, which now try to practice it in a distorted way.

The fact that it is intended to be for the healing of serious illness, and the idea that its administration involved the consecration of the recipient to a special holiness of life, led to its being deferred to the last moment. Hence it came to be called "extreme unction." But the proper use for it would be in any case of grave illness, and its primary purpose is the obtaining of the spiritual grace and strength to bear one's suffering, together with the healing of the body, if it is the will of God.

We do not really know what matter is or what spirit is, or how the one is related to or may be affected by the other. Let us humbly and reverently use those "means of grace" provided for us in God's Church, and we shall surely find them efficacious for healing the ills both soul and body.

PARISH NOTES

Easter Though there were showers later in the cay, the morning was beautiful, and brought out large congregations. There were seventy three Communicants at the 6.30 A. M. Celebration, and a large number at 7.30 A. M. Some three hundred Communions in all being made during the day. The Church was beautiful and the Choir rendered very effective festival services both in the morning and evening. At the later service and again on the evening of Low Sunday there was a solemn Procession with banners.

The offerings on Easter Day amounted to $600, falling short $200 of the amount required to meet our current expenses up to May 1st.

Gifts. A richly embroidered hood for white silk cope. The original donor of the jeweled brass Altar Cross on our Main Altar had it relacquered and a "Corpus" added to it so as to make it correspond to the Cross on S. Saviour's Altar. This greatly improves its appearance. The same person presented twenty-one small crucifixes to members of the Confirmation Class. Bibles and Prayer Books were presented also to some.

The Memorial Tablet to the late Rev. Wm. Bernard Gilpin was put in place on the wall of the Chancel during Holy Week. It consists of a brass plate on a black marble slab, with a Chalice and Host on one end and a Cross on the other, in relief. The inscription is

"In loving memory of William Bernard Gilpin
Priest
Curate of this Church
1899 ✠ 1902."

This will keep his name always in mind in the parish. We have also memorials of him in the beautiful center panel of the reredos of the main altar which he painted, and in the water fount on the exterior of the Church, which he had erected and for which he secured the funds, when he was Curate.

Vestry Election. At the annual election for Vestrymen held on Easter Monday the following gentlemen were duly elected to serve for the ensuing three years. John D. Henderson, Spencer Ervin, Richard Gilpin, Edward F. Pugh.

At the subsequent meeting of the Vestry, Mr. M. F. Roberts was re-elected Accounting Warden, and Mr. J. D. Henderson, Secretary. Messrs. Neilson, Newbold and Newman were elected delegates to the Diocesan Convention.

The financial condition of the Church was considered, and it was resolved to carry out if possible an every member canvass of the parish to secure each person attending the Church as a regular contributor.

Extra Expenses. In addition to being some $200 behind in our current expense account, we shall have to pay $150 for repairs to tne organ, for which we have received so far only $15. Also we have had to make very considerable repairs to the roof of the Church, which will be quite expensive.

Thus we are rolling up another deficit, and will continue to do so, until we can get a regular income sufficient to meet our expenses. This can only be done by more and larger contributions, or by increasing our endowment fund. A Church cannot be carried on without funds any more than other institutions.

The Men's Club entertainment last month was furnished by the members of S. John's Guild. It consisted of a minstrel show. Mr. Albert Challman presided. The end men were Messrs Samuel Neill and James Boggs. Mr. Harry Ritsert acted as accompanist. This was followed by a humorous sketch in which Messrs Mill, Reeves and Cox took the principal parts.

This will be the last meeting of the Club for the winter, as this month we have the annual Parish Tea, which takes its place.

S. Martin's Boys. The boys of S. Martin's College who have been regularly attending the Church for the last year and four months, and fourteen of whom were Confirmed here, will hereafter attend the services in the Church of the Evangelists which adjoins the College and which was reopened for Divine Service on Low Sunday, a new President in Priests orders, the Rev. A. W. Shick, having been appointed and entered on his duties on that date. We shall quite miss the boys, as they filled up almost one aisle of the Church, and were always present at the principal service on Sunday mornings. They behaved most reverently. We never heard any complaint in regard to their conduct.

Ascension Day comes on the 15th of this month, and we trust, as it is our Special Parish Festival it will be observed as such by all attending the Church. The services will be the same as on Sunday, at 7 and 10.30 A. M.

There will also be a Special Choral Sesvice with Procession in the evening at 8 o'clock, when the Rector will preach the Anniversary Sermon, which all interested in the Parish should hear.

On the following Sunday evening will be the Annual Guild Service, when there will be a Procession of all the members of the Guilds and there will be a Special Sermon preached to them by the Rev. C. S. Hutchinson, Rector of S. Clement's Church.

And on the following Monday will be the Annual Parish Tea to which all the adnlts of the Parish are invited, tickets 25 cents. We trust there will be a large turn out,

The Ascension-day offerings will be as usual for this endowment fund. This is to keep before the congregation, the need to increase this fund to an amount to enable the Church to meet its annual expenses and protect it from the danger of vicissitudes in the future.

Absence of the Curate. The Rev. H. Page Dyer, Curate of the Parish, has been granted a leave of absence during this month. He has been asked to hold a series of missions in the Panama Canal Zone. On April 27th, he sailed from New York for Colon. He has been invited by the Convocation of Panama to preach a series of Eight Days' Missions at various places on the Isthmus, beginning at Colon at the Atlantic end of the Canal and ending at Panama City at the Pacific end. He will be assisted by the Rev. Fr. Cooper, Rector of Christ Church, Cristobal, C. Z. The prayers of this congregation are asked that some souls may be won to penitence and many others helped by these weeks of daily prayers, and preaching and instruction.

His place will be supplied by the Rev. John W. Cook, who will take all his usual services except the 10.30 A. M. Sunday service, when he is engaged in S. Michael's Church, Wilmington. The daily 7 A. M. Celebrations will be discontinued except on the mornings of Holy days, until Mr. Dyer's return.

At the evening service on Easter day the Rector presented a prize, consisting of a bronze medal, for proficiency in music, which had been offered by the Choirmaster, to George Wilson, also one for reverent behaviour in church offered by Mr. Walter M. OUR ANNUAL REPORT.

In the annual report of the parish of the Convention year, May 1st, 1911 to May 1st, 1912, which we print this month, we note that the number of Baptisms and Confirmations were the same exactly as last year, 32 and 25. There have been 15 more added to the communicant list, and 7 less removed, making the gain for the year 12, the present total registered being 516.

The number added, 59, was a good addition, but there having been 47 lost, keeps us in about the same position. Those lost by death were Mrs. Julia Irene Hemphill, Benjamin Franklin Holbrook, George Wharton, Mame Boggs, John Gibson McCall, a member of the Vestry, Mrs. Matilda Morgan, the wife of our Verger, Mrs. Mary Emma Bonnet, widow of a former Warden, Alexander Henry McIlvaine, William Clymer Rowe, Mrs. Carrie Virginia Redmond, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Charles Forman Marter, and Mrs. Margaret Rogers.

May they rest in peace.

There was one Marriage less and six more funerals than last year. The number of services and the attendance at them has been about the same. There have been not as many teachers in the Sunday and in the Saturday Industrial Schools, the number of scholars has been about the same. There is nothing more important than the moral training of the young, and we wish very much that there more men and women who would be willing to devote themselves to this work.

The Guilds have been well maintained, especially those among the young people, though we find it increasingly difficult year by year to get older people to engage in Church work. Why is this? Are they too busy to find any time to try and do some good? The Men's Guild and Junior S. John's Guild were later in beginning this season, but were kept up regularly when started. The Girls' Friendly Society has been well maintained, and several sociables were given by it and by St. John's Guild. The Chapter of the Brotherhood of S. Andrew has kept together, conducted the Men's Club and done some personal work. The Mother's Meeting has met regularly under the care of Mrs. Kinubel, who took charge of it in the Fall, and has been of great service to its members and their families.

The Financial statistics for the year show a total increase of receipts of nearly $700, for parochial expenses, really of more, for those of last year included some $800 for improvements. This was due to the special appeal made last November to make up the deficit we then had. The prompt answer to that enabled us to pay off all our debt and to meet our current expenses up to May 1st, except some $250, which has since been made up by the generosity of an individual, so that we stand now free of debt of any kind. For this we are devoutly thankful and trust we shall avoid deficits in the future.

The receipts for purposes outside of the parish were some $500 more than last year due to a single gift of that amount. The total expenditures were $931 more.

Improvements have been made in the Church by the erection of a brass tablet in memory of the Rev. Wm. Bernard Gilpin, and a painted window in the Chancel in memory of Mr. B. F. Holbrook his wife and four children. Other gifts will be reported in the next year book.

The most notable event in the parish during the last year has been the introduction of the duplex envelope system. Its main purpose was to secure sufficient funds to meet the missionary assessments on the Church and provide for its benevolent work. Formerly only one envelope each quarter was issued for these purposes and the amount received was very small. Now by having a separate pocket for one of these purposes each week much more is received. For the first quarter this year $164 were received for Diocesan Missions, whereas not more than $50 had ever been received before in the similar period.

But to make the system successful in increasing the income of the Church for general purposes. It is essential that every one in the parish should use them. Only about 200 persons are doing so now. If 200 more would take them, even if they each gave only 5 cents a week it would increase our income over $500. If any one has not had a set of envelopes sent to him, if he will ask the Rector for one, he will gladly supply him with a set.

The general review of the past year is most encouraging. We have not only held our own but made progress. This time last year we were over $1,000 behind in our current expense account. Now we have no debt of any kind.

Let us see to it that we keep so, and we can keep so, if each person attending the church will do his or her full share in contributing towards our very modest rate of expenditure.

PARISH NOTES.

Our parochial festival passed off very well this year. Ascension day came earlier and the weather was not as hot as it often is. The day itself was stormy in the morning, still we had fair congregations and very good music, almost the whole choir was present. The anthem, Gounod's "Unfold your portals" sung morning and evening was particularly beautiful and well rendered. In the evening the Rector preached the anniversary sermon and there was a solemn procession and Te Deum. The attendance compared favorably with other years but the congregation as a whole never manifests the interest in this service that it should.

The Guild service on the following Sunday evening was very beautiful. There was a very good turning out of the young girls' Guild and the Girls' Friendly Society, but the men and boys' Guilds were poorly represented except by those in the choir and who acted as Cross and banner bearers and acolytes. The Rev. C. H. Hutchinson preached a most appropriate sermon.

The Parish tea was unusually successful. About two hundred persons were present and in addition to our usual ample supply of ice cream, strawberries and cake and coffee, a quite elaborate entertainment was provided under the direction of Miss Helen C. Wharton who deserves our sincere thanks for her hard work in getting it up. Those performing were members of the Girls' Friendly, S. Agnes, and S. John's Guilds, and a quartette provided by Mr. Myers, our bass soloist.

There were also speeches by the Rector and Mrs. John Mason, who urged everyone connected with the parish to be faithful in using the envelopes provided for the support of the church.

On Tuesday evening a supper was provided for the members of the choir.

The Curate. Letters from the Rev. Curate tells of his safe arrival at Panama and busy at work with his missions. He is expected back the first week in this month.

Honor to the Rector. The authorities of the University of Pennsylvania have informed the Rector of the parish, that they propose to confer on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity at the coming Commencement on June 19th. He will especially value this honor as coming from a University which does not very frequently confer this degree and from which he graduated in the Department of Arts.

The Rummage Sale on May 16th was quite successful, netting some $46, of which $25 will be used for the summer outing.

The new painted glass window in the Chancel has been received from England where all our windows were made, and put in position. It represents Christ's triumphal entrance into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday, and completes, with one exception, the series of windows representing scenes from the life of Christ which fill the aisle and chancel windows.

The remaining window will represent the Betrayal of Christ. The Rector has the design for it which he will gladly show to any one, and he hopes some one will soon offer to fill it, as the plain glass now there is a great blot in the Chancel. The inscription in the new window reads "In memory of Benjamin F. and Prudence S. Holbrook, and their children, Clara, Anna, Elizabeth and Edgar."

Girls' Friendly Society Notes. The Friendly will continue its meetings through June. At the evening service on Whitsunday there was an admission service—Nelly Zahn and Margaret Mull being admitted as members, and Margagaret Hilferty, Elizabeth Searle, Anna Airey, Rose Airey, Martha Airey, Ida Trice, Elizabeth Carpenter and Sadie Moore were advanced to Senior Members. $30 has been given through the winter to Parochial objects, and $25 to Summer Outing Fund.

The Sunday School Excursion will take place Saturday, June 22nd, to Brandywine Spring Park.

The officers and teachers of the school are hoping that all the members of the church and school will take some interest in the excursion and help to make the day a grand success. Tickets, adult 50c, children 25c, can be had from Mr. William Morgan or any of the teachers or scholars.

The scholars will meet at the church Saturday morning, June 22nd, at 6.30 A. M., and then proceed to the B. & O. station, 24th and Chestnut St. Train leaves 7.30 A. M. Returns 7.45 P. M.

THE IDEAL PARISH.

Parish comes from the Greek word parochia which means a neighborhood. In ecclesiastical language it signifies a district, having definite boundaries in which is a church which all the people in the district are supposed to attend, and over which presides a clergyman who ministers to those people in spiritual thiugs, celebrates and administers the sacraments, instructs in the Catholic faith, preaches and exhorts to holy living, acts as guide and friend to every one young and old, rich and poor.

The ideal parish is one in which there is only one church, not a number of small insignificant chapels of different denominations, but one fine attractive, well appointed church to which all belong and where all work together for the common good, and which all attend on Sundays and Holy days at least, parents and children sitting together in the same pew. That is the only way in which parents can expect to bring the influences of religion to bear upon their children. Unless they show respect for it and use its offices for themselves they cannot expect their children to do so. And in this parish every one will contribute towards its support in due proportion to his means, and each will take his share in carrying on the work of the Parish. The older, more substantial men will act as Vestrymen, see after its finances and the care and adornment of its buildings, or act as officers or leaders in its schools and guilds. The older women will serve in the different societies of the Parish for missionary and charitable work. The younger men and women as well as the boys and girls will belong to the guilds or schools. All will be baptized and confirmed in the Parish Church, all who marry will be married there, all will perform their duties there, all the dead will be brought there for burial.

Such is the ideal. But, especially in our modern cities, it is very difficult to realize this ideal. Onr cities are so large, the dwellings are so scatrered, the modes of communication between one part of the city and another so easy, and so many changes of residence are constantly taking place. Persons having lived in one part of the city and become attached to a particular church and then moving away desire still to retain their connection with it, and other persons, foreigners or those professing different religions, move in and take their places, so that it is very difficult to keep up the idea of a distinct neighborhood constituting a parish, or for a clergyman to minister as he should to persons living at a distance from his church, or for them to attend it regularly.

This is a difficulty we find particularly in this parish, situated as it is in a district which has been so largely forsaken by native Americans and their places taken up by negroes, Jews and Roman Catholics, whom the ministrations of the parish cannot reach.

But if we cannot have an ideal parish let us try to come as near to it as we can. If those who live at a distance still keep up their connection with it, let them be as regular in their attendance, as faithful in the discharge of their duties to it, and take as much interest in it as they possibly can.

In the constant changes which are taking place we do not know what new opportunities may come to it. Certainly we have no intention of moving. So many churches have been moved from this section of the city that there is more need and more opportunity for our Parish to remain and minister as far as it can to those about it or who can be attracted to it.

Above all let us try to put it upon such a foundation that its good work may be sure of being carried on no matter what fluctuations of population in its immediate neighborhood may occur.

At the beginning of another season we want to elicit the active interest of every one who is in any way connected with, or interested in, this parish to enable it to become all that it might and should be.

PARISH NOTES.

The Summer passed off as usual in the parish. The services were regularly maintained, the Rev. Curate being in charge during the absence of the Rector in July and August. He preached a series of sermons on Sunday nights on the different places he has visited, Panama, the Yellowstone, Nova Scotia, etc., drawing a religious lesson from each. An after meeting was held each evening in the Parish Building, which was almost as well attended as the services in the Church, at which a large number of pictures he has collected were displayed and questions asked and answered.

Deaths. During the summer three of our communicants have died, Mrs. Almira Eck, Mrs. Harriet Rocap and Miss Martha Moitz. Tne latter is a special loss to the parish as she has long been connected with, and interested in, it and was one of our workers in the Altar Chapter of the Women's Guild. Her death was most unexpected.

Camp. Some ten or twelve of the men of our choir, servers, etc., had their usual summer camp at Florence, N. J., through the courtesy of Mrs. Thomas Neilson. They report having had a good time, boating, bathing, etc.

Sunday School. The closing session of the Sunday School took place on Trinity Sunday, at which time prizes were distributed. Miss Anna Carpenter and Miss Margaret Mull each receiving a gilt edged Prayer Book for perfect recitation of the Catechism. This is a standing prize offered each year by the Recror. He trusts there will be more applicants for it this winter.

The Sunday School excursion took place later and was very successful and enjoyable.

We regret that Mr. F. C. Botwright who has served as Assistant Superintendent of the Sunday School for the last six years has owing to domestic arrangements felt to resign the position. He has been most regular and faithful in the discharge of his duties and liberal in providing entertainments, etc. for the children, for which he deserves the warmest commendation and thanks.

The Sunday School recommences Oct. 5th when we trust there will be a full attendance. The Rector hopes very much to be able to secure this winter the aid of some university students both in this work and in the boys' and young men's Guild of the Parish. There is a systematic effort now being made to utilize the young men in the University in such works.

The Guilds. All our Guilds recommence their meetings this month on their regular days. The annual meeting of the Women's Guild takes place on SS. Simon and Jude's day, Oct. 28th, after the morning service at 10 o'clock. Every woman in the parish whether she take part in the work of the Guild or not is invited and urged to attend this meeting that she may hear the reports from the different Chapters and see if there is not some way in which she can aid in their work. The first monthly missionary meeting of the ladies is held after this meeting to arrange for the annual missionary box.

Old Clothes. At this time when ladies are overhauling their wardrobes let them remember that we can use any kind and description of clothes, shoes, hats, etc., they have to give away. Any articles suited for a Rummage sale we can dispose of.

Loss and Gains. We regret very much that owing to the vessel with which he has been connected having been ordered away from League Island where it has been for the last year, we are to lose from our choir Mr. Edward H. Offley. He has been most helpful not only in the choir but acting as lay reader and helping in the Men's Club, etc. He will be missed very much. And it is gratifying to learn from him that he regrets very much having to leave.

On the other hand we are glad to welcome back again Mr. Barton Huntington who has also made himself most useful in the parish, but was away all last winter in Atlantic City where he was engaged.

The repairs to our organ and to the roof of the Church have been completed, and the organ is now in a very satisfactory condition. We regret, however, that the Warden has not been in funds sufficient to pay in full for these improvements.

It is much to be desired that the Church should be put in such a financial condition that it could meet promptly not only the salaries of its own officers, but also the bills for any necessary expenses it may have to contract.

Duplex Envelopes. We are much gratified at the success attending the use of this new system. Not only were we for the first time able by the coutributions received through it to meet the amount asked from us for Diocesan Missions, but contributions for the Poor and for Parochial activities having been coming in as they never have before. Almost every envelope put on the plates has something in each pocket. All that it needed to make it a complete success and to put the Church in a satisfactory financial condition is for every one attending the Church to use them. We trust that now at the beginning of another winter each member of the congregation, who has not already done so, will ask the Rector for a set of envelopes and use them regularly, no matter how small the sum may be that he or she may contribute.

Men's Club. The first meeting will be in November of which due notice will be given.

Advertisement. We call attention to a new advertisement on the last page of our Choir Master, Mr. Alburger, who has taken up Real Estate business in addition to his music. We trust some of our readers may have work to put into his hands.

We are glad to recommend this and all our advertisements to our members.

Special sermons. The Rev. Curate will be the preacher at the Sunday night services during this month. His subject on October 5th will be "The one Catholic and many churches."

Prayers are asked. The Rev. Curate, just before his return from his vacation, spent four days and evenings preaching night Mission Sermons and giving afternoon instructions to children and to adults at Christ Church, Eddington, Pa., the Rev. W. F. Lutz, Rector. Prayers of this congregation are asked for the perseverance of those whose consciences were touched during those services.

St. Agnes' Guild Entertainment. Its Annual Entertainment will take place on the evening of Monday, November 11, at the Parish Building.

As usual, tickets will be sent to members of the congregation by mail, with the request that they return either the tickets or the money for them to the Guild, directed to the church.

This will be, as in other years, the only request for financial aid by the Guild during the twelve months.

Repairing Chairs. During the summer our good Sexton, Mr. Morgan, has been occupying himself by repairing and revarnishing some one hundred and seventeen of the chairs in use in the Church and Parish building. It makes them much more substantial and better looking, and was a needed work.

Bishop's Addrecs. Copies of the last Convention address of the Bishop of the Diocese have been printed for general distribution. A number have been sent to each parish. Those sent here will be placed in the racks in the vestibule of the church until they are disposed of. We think our people will be interested in reading them.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION.

There is no more momentous question affecting the life and welfare of our nation than that of the religious education of the young. The people of the United States thought a hundred years ago that they had taken a great step forward, beyond all nations, in providing a common free school education for all children. The belief was that that would secure the advancement and welfare of the people beyond every thing else. The question of religious education was not considered at all. The great and numerous divisions among Christians made it impossible to consider the question of the State having anything to do with the matter of religion. It was accepted as a self-evident maxim that the State and all questions of religion were to be kept absolutely separate. It was thought that the churches would be able to provide for the religious education of the young. But in practice that has not been found to be possible.

The only Christian body which makes adequate provision for the religious training of its children is the Roman Catholic Church. It has erected everywhere large parochial schools in which the young receive systematic religious, as well as secular, instruction. And the power of the Roman Church is undoubtedly due to this fact. Childhood is the time when character is moulded. If religious principles and habits are not acquired then it is very unlikely that they will be later. And the method we rely on of Sunday School teaching, which means only one hour a week in a school where the attendance is entirely voluntary, by teachers who are for the most part untrained and unfitted for the work, and with no power of discipline, is utterly inadequate for the purpose.

Why should not the Episcopal Church with its wealth do in this matter what the Roman Church does? Our parishes were never so well supplied with Parochial buildings as they are now. But they are not used as they should be. Most of them are open only for an hour or so on Sunday, and on some evenings in the week for the meetings of Societies, or for athletics or entertainments. Of course there would be the cost of maintaining schools. But why should we not have orders of men and women who would freely give themselves to this work of education as the Roman Catholics do?

But whether the Church does her corporate duty in this matter or not, every parent or godparent should be careful and conscientious in discharging his or her duty to the children for whose moral training they are responsible. All godparents promise "to see "that the child for whom they stand, "is taught the Creed, the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments and all things which a Christian ought to know and believe for his soul's health." This is a tremendous responsibility which few godparents discharge as they should. If all did their duty in this matter we should have more religious youth.

Then the clergy should do their duty more than they generally do in personally catechising and instructing the children of their cures and not leave it chiefly to the teachers of the Sunday Schools.

And our Sunday Schools themselves could be greatly improved if more of our educated and cultured people would give themselves to this work. It is one of the greatest and most important branches of Church work in which any one could engage.

Then arrangements might be made by which religious instruction could be given in our Parish buildings or churches, during the week as well as on Sundays. Attractions might be offered to the children to bring them there on week days on condition of their receiving religious instruction.

Certainly the church ought to bestir itself in every way in this momentous matter.

PARISH NOTES.

The annual meeting of the Women's Guild was held on SS. Simeon and Jude's day. Some fifteen ladies were present were present. The reports of the various chapters for the past year were read, which showed that the work of the Guild was up to the average of other years.

The following changes were made in officers of the Guild. Mrs. Carman resigns her position as Head of the Ladies' Aid and Mrs. Barrett takes her place. Mrs. Knabel will take charge of the Industrial School in addition to her work in the Mothers' meeting. Miss Caroline Biddle will take the place of Miss Elizabeth Gilpin as Secretary for the Church Periodical Club. Mrs. George M. Coates will become a delegate to the Colored Committee of the Women's Auxiliary, and Miss Caroline L. Thompson to the Foreign Committee. The other officers and delegates will be the same as last year.

The Industrial School recommences its sessions on Saturdays with this month. In addition to the usual classes Mr. Byron Huntington, who is now illustrating for one of the dailg papers in this city, will begin a class of older boys to teach them free hand drawing and caricaturing. This is an opportunity for our boys to acquire this art which we trust they will not neglect.

The Mothers' Meeting will recommence on Nov. 6, after which work will be given out regularly on Wednesday evenings, after the service in the church which all the members of the meeting are expected to attend.

The quarter's envelopes which are sent out the beginning of this month are on the side marked "for others" for the General Missions of the Church. The amount printed on them as "asked for" is $755. This was the amount we were asked by the Missions' Committee of the Diocese to contribute for the year ending September 1st, which we are glad to say was more than met, though chiefly through the liberality of an individual. This year we are asked to give $1,044.78. This may seem a very large sum for a parish such as ours to contribute for this purpose. But it is fixed by an arithmetical calculation of so much per cent. on the amount we raise for our current expenses. So that all other parishes are asked to give in the same proportion. We are sure that this year a great deal more than was contributed last year will be given by the general congregation, and we trust the entire amount will be raised.

Memorial window. The family of the late Miss Martha Moitz, who died in August have authorized the placing of a stained glass window in the clerestory of the church to her memory. It will fill the center lancet of the next group of three windows to those already filled and each containing the figure of an Apostle.

New piano. In addition to the above, Mrs. Moitz has presented to the church her daughter's piano. It has been placed in the Guild room for meetings held there and for the choir practice. It is most acceptable, as a new piano for these purposes was much needed. Our old piano was presented to the Church of the Redemption, Kensington, where it was most acceptable, as they had none at all and had long been wanting one.

Confirmation. The Bishop of the Diocese has adopted a new scheme by which Comfirmation will be administered to all the churches in the same neighborhood consecutively. This will bring the date for its administration in our church on Sunday, Feb. 9th, at the morning service, instead of a week day evening service near Easter as we have had it for many years.

This willl necessitate classes for Instruction being formed very early. Notice in regard to them will be given next month. And we trust that all persons of sufficient age, not yet confirmed, will begin immediately to turn their attention to the subject.

Missionary box. Donations are asked during this month for the annual missionary box which our ladies make up for some needy missionary. They may be sent to Mrs. T. Leaming Smith, 309 South Hicks St., the lady in charge of it. These boxes are a great boon to clergymen whose salaries are not sufficient even to provide them with the necessaries of life.

Wanted. Some new surplices and cottas for tbe clergy and choir. If donations of linen are made for this purpose. our ladies will make them up.

Thanksgiving. All fruit sent to the church before Thanksgiving day will be placed on the altar and afterwards sent to the sick. On the evening before Thanksgiving a supper will be provided for the members of the Mothers' meeting for which donations of poultry or cake will be acceptable.

The Girls' Friendly Society has started the winter with a singing teacher, and every Tuesday evening supper is served to those members desiring it, before the class.

If there are any women in the congregation who are interested in the work amongst the girls of the Parish, they can show it by becoming either an "Active associate" and helping with the work, or "Honorary," and the Secretary would be glad to hear from them.

Miss S. E. Gilpin,
904 Clinton St.

Repairs. The brick work about the entrance to the church has been repainted and some of the benches in the church reoiled, which needed it very much.

St. John's Junior Guild. This society has begun its autumn work under promising conditions. They are looking forward to the coming of a Gymnastic Trainer.

Sunday School. We very much regret to record the loss of two teachers, Miss Margaret Clinton and Miss Elizabeth Hawkins. Both have served faithfully for a number of years and everyone connected with the School greatly miss their presence and very real help.

We welcome several additions to the Official and Teaching Staff. Mr. Chester F. Myers has kindly undertaken temporarily the duties of Assistant Superintendent. When it was announced to the boys that Mr. Myers was to be with them, vociferous applause followed.

Two of our young folks have been promoted to teachers and both are worthy of it, viz., Miss Anna Carpenter and Mr. Alexander Boggs.

St. Agnes' Guild. The little girls will give their annual entertainment in the Parish Building on Monday evening, November 18, 1912 at 8 P. M. The affair will consist of "A Child's Garden of Verses," a play called "Her Scarlet Slippers," together with music and tableaux.

The friends of the children are usked to contribute toward the support of the guild by purchasing tickets at 10cts each or in any other way they see fit.

The profits derived from this one Annual Entertainment are the Guild's sole source of revenue for the year. Out of it they make an offering to the Church at Easter, they supply half the small wafers for the Blessed Sacrament, for the year, they usually make a gift to some work outside of the parish. in addition to supplying all the needs of the Guild itself, in the way of games, theatre visits, excursions, parties, etc., etc.

Men's Club. The first smoker of the season will take place on Thursday, Nov. 21, when Mr. Robert J. McKenty, Warden of the Eastern Penitentiary, will give an account of some of his experiences there.

NOTICES.

The Rector has received the following letter from the Bishop of the Diocese and he takes this method of calling the attention of the members of the members of the congregation to the request and urging them to comply with it.

Reverend and dear Brother:—

You will receive next week a number of copies of the "Church News" of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. Will you kindly see that they are distributed to your Parishioners? It is my earnest hope that, with the co-operation of the Clergy, we will receive a large number of subscriptions for the "Church News," and I hope that you will do everything in your power to bring about this result in your Parish.

Faithfully yours,
Philip M. Rhinelander,
Bishop of Pennsylvania,

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY MEETING.

THE CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT IDEA OF THE CHURCH

The conception which Catholics—and by them we mean the members of the great historic Churches, Greek: Roman and English—have of the Church is totaly different from that of the modern Protestant bodies.

The former believe that Christ was not simply a teacher, who proclaimed the Gospel and left His followers to associate themselves together as they thought fit, but also that He Himself organized a body which He designed to embrace all mankind and to last to all time, to be His representative and agent to carry out the work He had began, and be the means of enabling men to become like Him, and live a life they could not live by their own unaided efforts. The proof that this was His intention is seen in His sending and commissioning others as He said His Father had sent Him, in His ordaining Baptism as the means of obtaining membership in that body, and the Holy Communion as its great distinctive rite, to keep in perpetual memory the central characteristics of His life.

The Apostles acted on this idea, they carried on that organization and commissioned others to continue it when they were gone. And this was the unquestioned universal conception of the Church for fifteen hundred years.

At the Reformation, for the first time, the idea was broached that Christ simply taught a doctrine, and that all that was necessary was to accept it, that to believe in Christ would ensure anyone's salvation, that the only use of sacraments or acts of worship or assembly was simply to confess faith in Christ, or to be instructed in, or reminded of, the truths He taught. It followed that those who believed in Him were free to organize themselves into any sort of associations they chose, or not to belong to any organization if they saw best. Membership in a Church, or performance of any public acts of worship were entirely secondary and unimportant matters.

The result of this teaching has been the innumerable divisions among Protestants, and large neglect of Church membership and Church attendance. Surely the old Catholic conception of the Church was the true one. No faith could be adequately proclaimed and propagated without the aid of an organization. And men generally cannot overcome the inherent weaknesses of human nature and attain the life and character they should without outward help and Divine Grace.

It is true the unity of the Catholic Church has been broken by the political ambition and unfounded claims of the Roman Pontiff, but the Catholic idea should never be lost, the Greek and the English Church have maintained it, and every effort should be made to heal the Schisms of Christendom, to bring all Christians to be of one mind in the fold of the one Catholic and Apostolic Church.

No individual Christians, no matter how good or earnest tney may be, or different groups of Christians, working on different lines and teaching different doctrines will ever be able to redeem the world. Only the unity of all professing to be the followers of Christ, so that they can live and work together with one mind and one heart, can secure that.

If all Christians could be united in one body, then indeed would the Church go forth like an army with banners, conquering and to conquer. To accomplish that end let us never cease to labor and to pray.

PARISH NOTES

All Saints' and All Soul's day. We had a good attendance at the services on these days when the Church tells us about the state of the blessed dead. At the Celebration on All Soul's day, requests were made for the remembrance of no less than one hundred and eighty-eight persons.

Thanksgiving day was observed as usual with a full choral service as on Sunday. The Altar was decorated with specimen fruits which were afterward given to the choir boys and to some sick persons. The offerings at mid-day were for the Episcopal Hospital.

On the eve of Thanksgiving Day a turkey and cranberry supper was served in tne Parish building to over twenty members of the Mother's Meeting. Their hearts were also made glad by the promise of orders of some tons of coal which will be distributed to them this month.

Christmas. There will be the usual extra Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 6!30, 7.30 and 8.30 a. m., with the Choral Celebration after Morning Prayer and a Sermon at 10.30 a. m. Evening Prayer, plain, at 5 p. m.

The Christmas offering will be for the current expenses of the Church. And we depend on large special offerings at this time to make up the average necessary to meet our expenses for the year. Every summer when so many persons are out of the city our receipts are very small, and we have to borrow at least $1,000 to carry us over those six months. That is what we have done this year. And now we must pay it back. No extra offerings have been asked from the congregation since last autumn when they contributed so generously to make up a deficit which had accumulated for some years. So this Christmas we look for a large collection which will pay off this debt. As the deficit for our last financial year was entirely made up, we ought to have no difficulty in meeting all our expenses for the year, and will not have any if every person in the congregation will make special offerings at Christmas and Easter according to their ability. There is a special envelope in each set of envelopes for this purpose.

The Christmas festival for the children will take place on the Eve of Holy Innocents day Friday, Dec. 27th, at 7.30 P. M. After a service and singing of Christmas Carols in the Church an entertainment will be provided for them in the Parish Building.

Year Book. The new parish year book giving an account of the work of the Parish for the year from May 1, 1911 to May 1, 1912 has been printed. Copies will be found in the rack inside the Church by the main door.

The Men's Club Night Nov. 21st, was a great success. Over fifty men were were present. The address by Mr. McKenty, Warden of the Eastern Penitentiary was most interesting. He emphasised the fact which had been impressed upon him by his experience that the strongest influence to keep men out of the Penitentiary, and the only thing which can reform them if they get into it, is religion. This is very strong testimony coming from a person of this kind.

In addition to the address and the usual refreshments, there was a friendly bout between some young fellows who had been brought by some members of the Club. There was also a short address by the Rector thanking Mr. McKenty for his address and also announcing some changes which had been made in the constitution of the Club. Instead of being a separate organization as heretofore it will be carried on hereafter directly by the Brotherhood of S. Andrew which originally formed it. Mr. M. F. Roberts continuing as Chairman of the Committee having it in charge, and Mr. W. M. Newnam the Secretary. And all dues will be abolished, the offerings received through the Duplex Envelope system for Parochial activities affording sufficient funds to meet its expenses.

It was thought best not to have any meeting of the Club this month as its night comes so near Christmas, when so many are obliged to work late or are occupied in their families, and might not be able to attend. The next meeting therefore will be on the evening of the third Thursday in January, when Mr. Richard Gilpin will give a lecture on Electricity, illustrated by lantern slides, There will also be an acrobatic performance. We shall look for a large attendance. This is the one opportunity the men of the Church have for coming together.

Confirmation. As we announced last month Confirmation will be administered in this Parish on the morning of Sunday, Feb. 9th. Instructions preparatory to it will be given by the Rector on Sunday afternoons at four o'clock, beginning the Sunday after Christmas, Dec. 29th, and by the Rev. Curate on Wednesdays after the evening service at 8 p. m., beginning Dec 4th.

Sunday School. Through the kindness of Mr. Tali Esen Morgan, the officers, teachers and scholars of the Sunday School went to hear the Storm played and sung on Tuesday evening, Nov. 26th. In parts it was really thrilling and all enjoyed it, both the children and their seniors.

St. Agnes' Guild Entertainment. On Monday evening, Nov! 18th, a full house welcomed the little folks and their older friends in what proved to be perhaps the most enjoyable affair the Guild has ever provided.

Besides the little people of the Guild, there kindly helped us the Misses Frances Whitshurst, Jeanette Craig, Margaret Mull, Ivonne Villemeaux, Anna Anderson, Nellie Zahn and Messrs. George Morgan and Harry Ritsert.

Most liberally did our friends respond in the purchase of tickets by mail, and the long and severe labor of love on the part of the Superiors was rewarded by the amount of simple pleasure they gave the children and their elders. We almost wish next November was here.

The Rector has received the following appeal to which he calls the attention of the congregation.

Concord, New Hamyshire,
All Saints' Day,
Nov. 1st., 1912

Reverend and Dear Sir:

The members of the Commission of the House of Bishops to promote co-operation with the authorities of the Orthodox Eastern Churches in this country, venture to bring before you the enclosed appeal of the American Greek Red Cross Committee. Greece has never forgotten the sympaehy shown by the United States In her long struggle for independence and the help and backing given to her by us at different times. The friendship of the Anglican Communion is understood, and there is a warm appreciation of the attitude towards the Greek Church by the American Episcopal Church as it has been shown, for example, in the ministry of Bishop Southgate in Turkey, or in the Schools for Greek girls maintained by us for many years in Athens.

In Church and State, Greeks feel that we American Episcopalians are peculiarly their friends, and it is especially fitting that we should make an effort to aid the Greek Red Cross Committee in the charitable work of caring for the sick and wounded. The members of the Committee are known to us personally or by reputation and all contributions, sent to them or to any of us, will reach those in need at the earliest possible moment. May we ask you to bring this matter to the attention of your congregation?

Bishop of Delaware

EDWARD MELVILLE PARKER,
Bishop Coadjutor of New Hampshire

PRAY FOR YOUR FRIEND

Pray for my soul. More things are wrought by prayer
Than the world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice
Rise like a fountain for me night and day.
For what are men better than sheep or goats
That nourish a blind life within the brain,
If knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer
Both for themselves and those who call them friend? TENNYSON

AN INVOCATION

(a friend's prayer for you)

The Lord preserve thy going out,
The Lord preserve thy coming in.
God send His angels round about
To keep thy soul from every sin;
And when thy going out is done,
And when thy coming in is o'er,
When in death's darkness all alone,
Thy feet can come and go no more,
The Lord preserve thy going out
From this dark world of grief and sin,
While angels standing round about,
Sing, "God preserve thy coming in."

HOW TO KEEP SUNDAY

There are two ways in which Sunday has been largely observed, one is the Puritan type, the other what is known as the Continental Sunday. The Puritans observed Sunday, or the Sabbath as they called it, as if it was only a Jewish ordinance, with great strictness. They not only forbade any kind of work which was not absolutely necessary and any kind of recreation upon it, but they made it a day of austerity and gloom, taken up entirely with religious exercises of one kind or another. The Continental Sunday on the other hand is one in which business and work is carried on as on other days, on which all places of amusement are open, and which is a favorite day for races, entertainments, operas, etc.

Surely the true way of observing Sunday lies between these extremes. The object of Sunday observance is to afford a needed and welcomed rest from labor, and to give the opportunity for the discharge of religious duties and of cultivating one's spiritual life. To attain these ends there should be as far as possible a cessation of labor. It should be a general holiday. All classes and avocations should have guaranteed to them a cessation from labor.

Places of public amusement should not be opened, because they entail a large amount of labor from a great many people, and because such places being open would afford a distraction from the religious purposes of the day. So entertaining on a large scale should be abstained from on the same account, also all traveling that can be avoided.

Many Christian people are very thoughtless and inconsiderate in this matter, taking Sunday as a convenient day for this purpose, forgetting how this patronage necessitates many employees being forced to labor. All persons, members of corporations or business firms as well as individuals, should be most careful to secure a full day's rest in every seven to those in their employ. This is a moral obligation founded upon a divine law and natural requirement.

Then Sunday should be observed as a day for religious worship. No spiritual life can be properly sustained unless there is a specific and regular time set apart for its cultivation and effective means employed for the purpose. For Christians, attendance at the celebration of the Holy Mysteries in the Lord's House is the most essential means of attaining this end. So such attendance every Sunday, unless absolutely hindred by sickness or other unavoidable cause, should be considered as a moral obligation. The devout Christian will be glad to attend also Matins or Evensong or both, or two Celebrations, one for Communion and one for worship and thanksgiving. But every Christian should be present at least at one, if it is possible for him to do so.

Then the rest of Sunday can be used for any employment or recreation or social intercourse that does not involve unnecessary or excessive labor either for oneself or for others, or lead to the gathering of a large concourse of people or doing any thing incompatible with the sober reasonable purposes of the day.

The proper observance of Sunday is a most important safe-guard to the health and welfare and religious life of any people and ought to be most carefully maintained, not by rigorous and unreasonable laws, but by the conscientious observance on the part of the people themselves of these rules which are essential to its attaining those beneficent purposes for which it was ordained. If it is turned into a day of labor, the people will be defrauded of their just rights. If it becomes only a day for pleasure seeking, the religious character of the nation will deteriorate.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas was a bright day and well kept in spite of the bad walking. The Communicants numbered about the same as last Christmas. not counting the boys of S. Martin's college who were present then. But we are sorry not to see as many communicants generally at Christmas as we have at Easter. It certainly is one of the great Festivals, and no one should be content with making only one communion a year. That is the Roman rule of necessary communions, but the English should be higher.

On the Sunday evening after Christmas there was a full Choral Evensong and Solemn Procession with banners. They were also carried on the morning of Christmas and the Sunday after.

On Christmas eve over twenty baskets of provisions, each containing a fowl, were given to the members of the Mothers' Meeting and some others. Each also received an order for half a ton of coal.

On the day after Christmas the Choirmaster took all the boys of the choir to the theater for a treat.

Christmas Sunday School Festival. Perhaps the most interesting and successful Christmas Festival for several years, took place on the Eve of Holy Innocents.

The usual service of carols and prayers and an address in the church, was followed by a march past the Creche with its Figure of the Christ Child surrounded by a dozen others, St. Joseph and the Holy Mother, the shepherds and Wise Men and beasts. The Stable and Manger were illuminated and as we passed it, we sang "Once in Royal David's City stood a lowly cattle shed."

We then proceeded up stairs where a good entertainment awaited us, consisting of a hymn in Syriac, a Minstrel Show by our St. John's Guild, a sweet solo by Mr. George Morgan, a visit from Santa Claus through the back window and distribution of toys and candy by our Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Myers.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the evening, rain and snow falling as we assembled, we had a larger attendance than usual. Every one voted the whole affair to have been a success.

So altogether we had a pretty "Merric Christmas" in the Parish.

The Christmas Offering which was to pay back the amount borrowed to carry the parish through the summer months, amounted to something over $500, which is more than we have received for some years at this season. We shall have to depend on the Easter offering to make up the rest of the $1,000 which was needed, though that offering must also cover the $151.01 we are assessed for the Episcopal and Convention Fund.

Confirmation Instructions are now being given by the Rector on Sundays at 4 P. M. in the Parish Building, and by the Rev. Curate on Wednesdays after the 8 P. M. service. Though the clergy have made out a list of over forty persons who ought to be Confirmed this year, not half that number have presented themselves as yet. We trust that others may still do so while there is time for their proper preparation.

This sacrament should be received when young people are growing up and beginning to direct themselves. None should fail to avail themselves of the privilege of being admitted to the full Communion of the church. They should also remember their obligation of being enrolled in the great army of Christ to carry on the unceasing and vital warfare against the powers of evil in the world. And this can only be done effectively by the systematized and united efforts of all. How can any one in a Christian land reconcile it to his conscience not to respond to that call and not to make use of the aids the church gives him in his efforts to reach after spiritual things?

Sermons. The Rector will be the preacher at the Sunday evening services during this month. The subjects of his sermons will be, Jan. 5th, "How to begin a New Year"; Jan. 12th, "Why Smith does not go to Church"; Jan. 19th, "Why Smith should go to Church"; Jan. 26th, "How to profit by Church going."

The Memorial Window to Miss Moitz has arrived from England and will be put in place in a few days.

The Men's Club will meet on Thursday evening Jan. 16th. Mr. Richard Gilpin will give an illustrated lecture on Electricity and there will be also an Acrobatic exhibition. Any man attending the Church is invited to come and bring a friend with him.

The Duplex Envelope System has now been in operation in this parish for nearly a year, and it has added fully $500 to the income of the Church. This provides for our benevolent calls better than has ever been done before. All that is wanted now, is that every one in the parish should use them. Then we should have not only more money still for charitable purposes, but enough to meet our current expenses promptly. What we need is to get into such a position that we will not have to borrow money during the summer, when the Sunday offerings are so small.

Gifts from Sunday School. Our children are taught to give as well as to receive and so on the night of their Festival they brought quite a number of toys and placed them around the creche. They were told of a Home for orphaned boys and girls, and they seemed to take real pleasure in showing their childish possessions. A number of older friends also sent gifts, including candy from Mrs. Frank Hoffmann and toys from Mrs. C. W. W. Miller, neither of whom are members of our parish and to whom we are very grateful.

The Girl's Friendly continued its regular weekly meeting through December, with a usual attendance of twenty girls, and some of the Associates. Supper was served beforehand for those who came from their work, and the rehersals' for the concert on January 7th, continued. On the Tuesday evening before Christmas, the girls brought 35 stockings filled with toys and candy for the girls and boys at the Mission on Grays Ferry Road.

Our Sunday School Assistant Superintendent. After helping us in the above office since the Fall, (when we found ourselves without a Lay Superintendent and asked him to undertake the work), until the Rector could secure a permanent one, Mr. Myers, on his Sunday in office, was the recipient of a fine penknife from the school, in token of our gratitude for his kind and most efficient assistance.

At serious inconvenience to himself, he has come to the School from Sunday to Sunday and has proved so popular and efficient that we all wish we could devise some method by which he would have to stay permanently. Even for this temporary help we are very grateful.

Our New Assistant Superintendent. Mr. Pomeroy Hartman, a Seminarian at the Divinity School, has most kindly accepted the Rector's invitation to become the Assistant Superintendent of the Sunday School.

We welcome him among us and feel sure that his work will prove fruitful.

St. Agnes' Feast. Jan. 21st is St. Agnes' Day and our Guild of little girls expect to keep it joyfully and spiritually. Their plans are not yet complete, but they will surely include their attendance at the Blessed Sacrament, when they will sing to JESUS; and also some form of merry-making in the evening.

Acknowledgement of Missionary box, Dec. 16, 1912. My dear Mrs. Smith:—Please pardon my delay in acknowledging the receipt of the very nice box received several days ago. We have both been fighting the grip.

We are very grateful for all those nice things and I assure you that every article will be useful. I have already found my bathrobe and slippers extremely comfortable, and I'm going to have much pleasure from my pretty grey skirt, in fact from all the box contained.

The black suit fits Mr. C. well and with a little alteration the other will be very serviceable. As to the additional frocks you wrote of I will be delighted to get them.

This Parish, though not large, was formerly one of the most aristocratic and wealthiest in the state but it has been sadly reduced by the ravages of the bole weevil. A number of our members have moved to better business places, those remaining make a living on their land but have very little money. Mr. Carter's stipend was reduced one-half three years ago and except that living is cheap I don't see how we could stay here, but as Mr. Carter says some one must serve this little church.

The church was built in 1823 and I am told that this rectory is over a hundred years old; it is a substantial cottage and is fairly comfortable, the grounds are about the size of two city blocks, with large oak and pecan trees. I raise a great many chickens and of course have plenty of eggs. I always try to sell enough to pay for their feed. Mr. C. and I keep the grounds in order ourselves and I often threaten to send The Spirit of Missions his picture with his shovel, rake and barrow.

Just now I am struggling to have a Christmas tree for the little ones on the Friday after Christmas; there is always plenty to do.

With all good wishes for you and the good ladies of the Church of the Ascension, I am

Sincerely and gratefully,

HELEN M. CARTER.

CEREMONIES.

In all public functions there must be more or less ceremony. A number of men cannot act together without order being observed. Outward acts are required to manifest respect and reverence. Actions are very effective ways of teaching. So, in the coronation of kings, the inauguration of Presidents, in the conduct of Parliaments or courts, the movement of armies, etc., more or less ceremony is wisely and profitably used.

So it is in religion. All religions have employed it. And it has been most effective in teaching truth, impressing men with a sense of spiritual things, indicating reverence and devotion. In the old dispensation elaborate ritual directions were given, and the worship both of the Tabernacle and the Temple was conducted with the use of every adjunct that could be devised, architecture, painting, sculpture, coloring, lights, vestments, incense, postures, gestures, etc. All these were in use in the Temple worship in the time of Christ and His apostles and were employed by them.

So they were naturally carried over into the use of the Christian church. As soon as the infant church emerged from the times of persecution, when its members had to meet in upper rooms, in private houses, or in catacombs, or other secret places, though even there we have traces of the employment of such ritual as they could use, we find the universal adoption of such ceremonies as had been used in the Jewish church and by other religions. And especially before the age of printing and general education they were most invaluable for inculcating truths and principles more effectively than could have been done merely by the word of mouth.

And as time went on these ceremonies and ritual acts were more and more elaborated and perfected. Minute and numberless acts were added to the services of the church, and mystical and fanciful interpretations were given to them, with the result that it required a great deal of study and attention to conduct Divine worship and that only those very familiar with them could follow or even understand the various acts and postures that were observed. And the impression was created that public worship was more of a performance, a scenic representation, or magical act than of worship on the part of the individual participants.

It was one of the causes of the tendency at the time of the Reformation to throw over all the ancient practices of the church, even, by the Friends, to abolishing the use of sacraments, and establishing an entirely new order, in which there was to be no ceremony of any kind.

In England, however, a middle course was followed, and it was one of the objects of the first English Prayer Book to establish a mode of worship which should be reverent and reasonable, and such as every person could intelligently take part in. The Preface to that Book explains why some ceremonies which had been in use in the church previously had been abolished and others retained. The form and arrangement of churches which had obtained throughout Christendom for centuries, and the great essentials of a set liturgy with the use of music, lights, vestments, etc., were retained, but the minute, complicated and over elaborate acts and prescriptions which had gradually been added during the middle ages were omitted. So the distinguishing characteristic of the worship of all the churches of the Anglican Communion has been that of a dignified, beautiful, intelligible ceremonial as opposed on the one side to the complicated and elaborate uses still retained by the Greek and Roman churches, and on the other to the bareness and coldness and absence of all ceremonial which distinguishes most of the Protestant bodies.

This absence of all ceremonial on their part has led to lack of reverence and devotion, indeed to large neglect of any public worship whatever. And the inability to understand and follow the worship in the Greek and Latiu churches repels many from their use, and creates the impression that it is lacking in spirituality.

We believe that the position of the Anglican churches in this matter is the true one, and that which will ultimately be substantially followed throughout Christendom.

PARISH NOTES.

Lent comes most unusually early this year, there having been only one Sunday after the Epiphany, whereas occasionally there are as many as six. This also brings Easter earlier and the succeeding Festivals which is perhaps an advantage, as when they are late so many leave the city before they occur.

We have so many services in this church all the year round that during Lent no others are added except lectures on Tuesdays and Fridays after Evening Prayer at 5 P. M., when the boys of the choir will be present. The lecture on Tuesdays will be by a visiting clergyman and on Fridays by one of the parish clergy. We trust these services will be well attended, also the ordinary daily prayers and Celebration.

Gifts. The window in memory of Miss Martha Moitz has been put in the clerestory. It consists of the figure of S. Thomas, who is represented as always with a square in his hands, indicating we suppose his tendency to require that every thing should be squared to his understanding. His name appears below the figure and at the bottom of the window is Miss Moitz's name with the date of her death.

A member of the congregation has most kindly and thoughtfully given the means of providing hot water in the Parish Building. An automatic gas heater has been ordered which will supply hot water to the shower bath in the cellar, which our boys use after their athletic exercises, also to the sink in the entry for washing purposes. This heater is very ingeniously arranged so that the hot water runs as long as the faucets are turned on, and the flame is extinguished when they are turned off. A dozen bath towels were also given for the boys, and a lady has given a dozen towels for washing purpuses.

Girls' Friendly Society. The "Musical Evening" given on Jan. 7th, was very successful, the choruses sung by the members showed the training they had been having, and we thank Mr. MacNeil and Mr. Morgan of the Choir, for their kind assistane, and the Recitation of "All-of-sudden-Peggy," by Miss Neumuller was delightful. About $40 was realized. Mr. Huntington gave an interesting talk one evening on Art of Journalism. The usual sewing will be done in Lent for some charitable object, and on Saturday, March 1st, there will be a Rummage Sale in the Parish House. All contributions gladly received on or before that date.

S. E. GILPIN, Sec.

The Men's Club meeting last month was a great success. A most interesting lecture on electricity was delivered by Mr. Richard Gilpin, illustrated by lantern slides. This was followed by some very expert acrobatic feats by Mr. James McGough, who was formerly a professional performer, and a friend whom he brought with him.

The Club also was visited by three representatives of the Anthony Drexel Biddle Bible Class, each of whom spoke on objects of the Association, explaining the advantages of belonging to it. Gold buttons, belonging to the office of Vice Presidents, were presented to each of the clergy of the Parish.

The meeting of the Club this month will be on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 20th, when an illustrated lecture will be given, with singing by the Adelphi Harmony Four of which Mr. Louis B. King, who was formerly one of our choir boys, is now the second tenor.

Sociable. St. John's Guild gave a delightful sociable to the Girl's Friendly with music and dancing led by their teacher Mr. Ellis who has a class on Thursday evenings through the winter.

About thirty couples took part and a good feast was served by friends of the Guild, thanks to the help of Miss Hodge, Mrs. Shelton and Mrs. Linton. All passed off well. Mr. Clarence Martz mode an eloquent speech of thanks and all seemed to enjoy the evening.

The Ladies' Aid will meet during Lent on Wednesday afternoons to sew for the needy of our own parish. Quite a number of grown people and children belonging to the church have not sufficient clothing. The children not being able to come to the Sunday or Industrial school on that account. Any ladies attending the church are invited to join the Aid for this purpose.

Donations of money, or materials, gingham, outing flannel and muslin, etc., will be gladly received.

St. Agnes' Guild kept St. Agnes' Day, Jan. 21. At 8 A. M. the Blessed Sacrament was celebrated with an Instruction for the Guild, fifteen being present. That night eighteen enjoyed an evening at the theatre.

On Saturday night a fine party took place. There were present sixteen girls, twenty boys and eight grown people. After some Instructions and devotions, a happy evening was spent in games and dancing and refreshments.

Special sermons. On Sunday morning, Feb. 9th, the Rt. Rev. Dr. Garland, Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese, will administer Confirmation in the church; he will also be the preacher. On Sunday, Feb. 23rd, the Rev. Charles Townsend, Rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont, will be the preacher. We expect also to have the Rev. Dr. Bratenahl, Secretary of the Third Missionary Department, present the cause of the General Missions of the Church on some Sunday morning this month or next.

The Rector will preach on Sunday evenings a course of sermons on "Moral influences." The topic the first Sunday evening will be "How to make the world better," and the succeeding Sundays he will take up the various influences which should be such as to advance that end, the Home, the School, Amusements, etc.

A Mission was held by the Rev. Curate at All Saints' Church, Orange, N. J., for a week from Jan. 26th, and afterwards he gave a day's retreat for the clergy of the Diocese of Pittsburg at the request of the Bishop. He asks for prayers that large results may result from these efforts. His duties here during his absence were taken by the Rev. John W. Cook.

Church literature. The racks in the vestibule are kept constantly filled with various church papers, tracts, etc., which anyone coming to the church is welcomed to take away. Much interesting and instructive reading will be found in them.

The Educational Secretary of the Board of Missions suggests that the men of the church especially should keep Lent by reading some book on the teaching or work of the church. Among others he suggests a work entitled "Japan Advancing—Whither?" A study of modern Japan from the Church's point of view. It can be had for 40 cts. a copy, or 25 cts. in large quantities.

VESTMENTS.

In all religions the use of certain special vestments by those conducting the public worship, has been thought proper and appropriate, just as civil or military officers have always worn robes or uniforms or had certain insignia to designate their rank and characters.

In the Old Testament the Levites, the Priests and the High Priests all wore robes, the latter of the richest material and colors, when officiating in in the Tabernacle or Temple. To this our Lord and His Apostles were accustomed. So naturally when the Christian Church became organized it adopted the same custom.

During the ages of persecution, when Christians could only meet in private houses, very informally for worship, the ordinary dress of the day was used. And later, owing to the clergy not changing with the fashions of the day, they retained this dress and it became in time the recognized vesture for the sacred offices. So that we see in the immemorial vestments which have been used in the Catholic Church, the ordinary street dress of the Roman gentleman of the time of the Caesars.

That dress consists, for choristers and assistants in Divine worship and for the clergy in their ordinary ministrations, of the cassock or long clerical coat, with a linen cotta or surplice with loose sleeves, together with a silk stole or hood, the mark of their clerical or academical degree. For the Eucharist, the full Roman dress has been used, which consisted of an alb, a linen vestment reaching to the feet, with close sleeves, bound round the waist with a linen girdle, which also confined the stole which is crossed over the breast. This is made of silk and often richly embroidered and varies in color with the ecclesiastical season or service. Over the left arm hangs the maniple which is of the same material and color, and which originally was the handkerchief. Over all is worn the Roman outer garment called the casula, which is now known as the chasuable, which is of one piece, with an aperture in the center through which the head is passed. It falls down below the waist, back and front and to the wrists. It also may be of rich material, decorated and in color.

The proper insignia of a Bishop, are a rochet, which is a shorter alb made of finer material, a cope which is a long cloak, called by the Romans a pulvium, reaching from the neck to the feet open in front, with a hood and clasp in front called a Morse. This is also used by the other clergy in processions, and even by choirmen. The Bishop also wears a mitre and carries a crozier, or pastoral staff, showing he is the chief shepherd of the flock of Christ.

These vestments and ornaments of the clergy have been used substantially in all parts of the Catholic Church from its inception to the present day.

The first English Prayer Book prescribed them in detail. The present English Prayer Book says they shall be retained and used, and the American Prayer Book says it has no intention of departing from the principles and practices of the Church of England. So they are the legal use.

It is true that owing to the Puritan opposition to the use of any vestments, it required a great struggle to retain even the use of the surplice in the Church of England after the Reformation, and that is the only vestment used in many churches to the present day. But in the last fifty years there has been a large revival of the older use. And its advantage is, not only that it adds to the beauty and dignity of the service, but that it brings our churches into harmony with those of the Catholic world. A Greek or Roman Christian could hardly conceive of a celebration of the Holy Mysteries without their use, and would look upon their lack as a mark of heresy. And they are most important as impressing worshippers with a sense of reverence and realization of the sacredness and solemnity of the act of worship.

It is most important that there should be a special vestment for the celebration of the Holy Communion, to distinguish it from all other services, and make those taking part in it feel its supreme character and sacredness.

PARISH NOTES.

The Passiontide. This copy of the NEWS will not be issued until just before Passion Sunday, when the most solemn season of our church year begins.

During Holy Week there will be the Procession of Palms on Palm Sunday, and Celebrations each day in the week at 7 and 10 A. M., except Good Friday, when the mid-day service will consist of the Morning Prayer and Litany at 11 A. M., followed by the singing of the Reproaches and the preaching of the Cross from 12 to 3 P. M. The Rector will be the preacher. The preaching will be interspersed with the singing of hymns during which persons may enter or leave the church if they cannot remain all through. In addition to the Evening Service at 5 P. M., the Stations of the Cross will be observed each night, except Saturday at 8 P. M. They will also be observed on Good Friday at 9.30 A. M. for the children of the parish.

Easter day there will be Celebrations at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 A. M. Morning Prayer and Sermon and Choral Celebration at 10.30 A. M.

Special sermons. The Rector will continue his course of sermons on "Moral Influences" on Sunday evenings until Easter. The subject on March 2nd will be "The Newspaper"; 9th, "The Novel"; 16th, "Companionship"; 17th, "The Church, the greatest of all influences." On the Sunday after Easter, the sermon will be on "What will life be like after death?"

Easter flowers. We suppose every one wants to see flowers in the church at Easter, and that every one may feel that they are contributing at least one flower, a special alms box in the vestibule is set apart for two weeks before Easter to receive contributions for this purpose, and any one can put something in the box no matter how small the amount may be.

The lady who is the treasurer of our Altar fund also has to provide flowers for the main altar every Sunday of the year except Lent and Advent and has all the altar linens and vestments laundried. This requires a considerable sum and she is very anxious to get more regular contributors at so much a month, whatever they are disposed to give.

Contributions may be sent either directly to her, Miss Eveleen Parmelee, 1906 Chestnut St., or put in an envelope marked Altar fund in any offertory, or in the alms boxes in the vestibule. This fund also provides the altar bread, the Palms for Palm Sunday, etc.

The Young Men's Bible Class has formally connected itself with the Drexel Biddle Bible Classes, which organization is extending all over the country and arousing a great deal of interest in the Bible Class system. It gives its members great advantages in the use of its rooms on Mt. Vernon St., its summer Home at Lansdown, and in many other ways.

The Confirmation took place on Sunday morning, Feb. 9th. It was the first time in over thirty years that it was administered in this Parish on a Sunday morning. It has usually taken place on a week day evening near Easter. We were very glad to welcome one of the Bishops at one of our principal services.

As white is the color for a Confirmation, and it was not desirable that that should supercede the color for the day on a Sunday in Lent, the side altar alone was vested in white, and immediately after the sermon the Bishop and the clergy proceeded there; the candidates had previously been seated in front of that altar. The Bishop took his seat just inside the rail, which was then closed and afforded a place for the candidates to kneel as each came up in turn and was Confirmed. At the conclusion of the Office the Bishop and clergy returned to the chancel and the service went on as usual. The whole was performed with great solemnity and order. Twenty-four persons were confirmed, about our usual yearly number.

The Girls' Friendly Society has been sewing during Lent for the Sheltering Arms and for some Indian children in Wyoming.

There will be a Rummage Sale for the benefit of the Society on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, March 1st.

Miss Anabel. In the sudden death of Miss Isabel Anabel the church loses a long devoted member of the Parish. As the principal of a large girls' school she was at times able to bring to the church enough of her scholars to fill two pews. She had charge several times of the Parish Tea, and was always an efficient helper in any entertainments given for the benefit of the church.

A pathetic thing connected with her death was that her aged mother, eighty-eight years old, died three days after her daughter as the result of the shock at her loss. May they both rest in peace.

The Men's Club meeting last month was attended by some fifty men. The orator of the evening was the Rev. Mr. Frank, Rector of the Church of the Advent at 5th and Buttonwood St. He gave a very instructive talk on the question of immigration. He is thoroughly conversant with the subject as he is working among the large class of immigrants who are coming here now from the south of Europe, and explained why they come and how they should be treated.

"The Adelphi Harmony Four" gave a number of quartette and solo songs, which were much appreciated, Mr. Harry Rilsert acting as pianist.

As the third Thursday in this month occurs in Holy Week there will be no meeting of the Club. The April meeting will take place as usual and due notice will be given of the entertainment.

The Ladies' Aid are working on Wednesdays for the needy of the Parish. They have received sufficient donations for the purchase of materials, but would like more ladies to assist them in making them up into garments.

Prize. A gentleman of the parish has offered to give two prizes, to consist of a year's subscription to a popular magazine, one for the boys and one for the girls of the Sunday School, for the best essay on the subject of "the work of the Christian and Sanitary Commissions during the Civil War."

This will make our young people study up about that war and what the Christian people of the North did to alleviate its horrors.

The essays must contain at least two hundred and fifty words, and be handed in before Memorial day, May 30th.

Exchange. On Sunday, March 9th, the Rector will exchange with the Rev. Dr. Pierce, Rector of S. Matthew's Church, 18th St. and Girard Ave.

PROCESSIONS

Why do we have Processions in Churches? First, because they are an orderly and reverent way for a number of persons, the clergy and choristers or other bodies, to proceed to their places in the Church. If each one went in separately, or they all went in a mass, it would not be so seemly, or solemn.

Secondly, Processions are used at certain times for the same reason that we have military, or political Processions, or when some society, as the Masons, wants to make a demonstration of its power and importance, or as when a number of persons, as the Suffragettes lately, want to call attention to their demands, and show how many persons are in sympathy with them, or when manufacturers or others want to display their goods, or historical or other events are commemorated. So in our Churches on great Feast days, like Christmas and Easter or Ascension day, we have processions round the Church, of the clergy, servers and choristers, carrying the cross, and banners and sometimes lights, accompanied with singing of hymns, in order to emphasize the character or teaching of the day. On Palm Sunday those taking part in such Processions carry branches of Palm in commemoration of our Saviour's entering in that way into Jerusalem.

Then we have Processions of Guilds, or Church Societies, or Schools, on their anniversaries or some other occasion, for the purpose of making their members feel that they belong to these Associations, which have definite purposes in which all should take part and show their interest.

Then there are sometimes Penetential Processions in which the Litany is sung, which is most appropriate for such a purpose from its short broken petitions and constantly recurring refrains. It was originally composed to be used in this way.

So of course there are Processions at Marriages when the bride and groom with their attendants pass to and from the door to the Altar, and Funeral Processions in which the bier is carried followed by the Pall bearers, mourners and friends.

And on such occasions as the laying of Corner-stones, the Consecration of Churches or Cemeteries, or the Meeting of Conventions, or Ordinations or other occasions where a large number of clergy and officials are assembled, there are naturally Processions, both because it is the only way in which the number of persons present could move quietly and efficiently and also to add to the dignity and solemnity of the function.

In the old country, too, the custom is still kept up in places—it was very prevalent in old times—of Processions on the Rogation days, the three days before Ascension, composed of the clergy, choir and people to go round the bounds of the parishes, invoking God's blessing on the fruits of the ground during the coming summer.

All these are very proper, pious and effective purposes for having Processions. And as they are so frequently used for Military, Political, Social and educational purposes,—all our great universities have them—there is no reason we should not have them in the Church.

In fact there is nothing which collects a greater crowd in the streets than a parade of any kind, and there are few occasions on which a church is so well filled as when there is to be a Procession, or few things which are more impressive.

The proper vestment for the chief person or persons, taking part in a church Procession, is a cope, the ancient Latin garment called the Pluvium, because it kept off the rain, and so was used out of doors. It extends from the shoulders to the feet, and is open in front, without sleeves. Its color will vary with the character of the service. It may be of very rich material, decorated with embroidery, and held together by a clasp, called the Morse.

It is especially worn by Bishops, most of their functions involving their going in Processions.

PARISH NOTES

Easter proved a beautiful day and was well kept in the parish. The three early Celebrations were well attended. The 7.30 A. M. service was particularly remarkable for the large number of young men and boys who were present. The number of Communions made equalled those of previous years.

The music at the mid-day service was particularly well rendered. The Mass sung was a new one, Martin in F, and was specially beautiful. At the evening service there was a solemn procession, the Rector preaching the last of his series of sermons on "Moral influences," showing that the Church is the greatest and most important of all.

The only thing the day lacked was a greater display of flowers. We miss very much the banks of flowers we used to have along the base of the Rood screen. But we only provided flowers we could pay for, and as not enough money was given no more could be ordered.

The offering on Easter day was the largest we have had for a good many years, some $900. Within $100 of the amount we asked for. We shall still need, however, some $300 more during the month of April in addition to the ordinary receipts to meet all our expenses up to the first of May. We trust therefore all who have not yet made an Easter offering will do so some time this month, that we may be able to enter a new financial year without any deficit.

Vestry election. On Easter Monday the following gentlemen were elected to serve for the ensuing three years

Harry B. French,
Walter M. Newnam,
John S. Newbold,
George M. Coates, M. D.

At the subsequent meeting of the Vestry, Dr. Neilson was reappointed the Rector's Warden and Mr. M. F. Roberts re-elected as Accounting Warden.

Dr. Neilson, Mr. W. M. Newnam and Mr. John S. Newbold were elected delegates to the Diocesan Convention.

Sunday School Easter Festival took place on Easter Day at 3 P. M., with a good attendance of the school. After a brief session, contents of the Mite Boxes were counted and presented at the altar. A procession into the church was followed by two addresses and a brief service. As the school left the church, an Easter egg and a pot of flowers were given to each scholar and teacher.

The Industrial School Easter Festival was held on the Saturday after Easter. Prizes were given to the boys and girls who had been most regular in their attendance and done the best work during the winter. All received an Easter egg and Easter card and were entertained with ice cream and cake, after which there was "a fish pond" out of which each drew a gift.

St. Agnes' Guild Gift. The Guild, as its custom at Easter, presented the church with a gas lighter of brass and a walnut polished handle with an inscription engraved upon a small plate. It was made by Lamb & Co. of New York.

The Girls' Friendly Society made and presented to the church a flannel cover for the brass eagle Lectern.

St. Agnes' Guild Feast. The Guild will, during the Easter-tide, have a feast, the exact character and date of which has not yet been determined.

Primary Sunday School. This department of the school has recently furnished two good sized classes for the Main School, under the care of Miss Anna Anderson and Miss Anne Carpenter.

We are glad to welcome Miss Coombs to the Primary School and already the children have learned to love her. Mrs. Maginnis still continues her faithful service with the Primary Department.

A Story Class. The Rev. Curate has begun a story class for the Choir Boys. For half an hour before the service on the nights when he is the appointed preacher, and on the other Sundays, for half an hour before the Morning Service, he reads or tells stories bearing upon some point of Doctrine or Practice. On every such occasion a prize of a nickel is given to the boy who best repeats the story or stories of the preceeding Sunday. Our attendance has been a little over a dozen each meeting.

Sermons in April. The Rev. Curate will preach four sermons the Sunday nights in April upon the general topic, "Life and Work in the next World." The subject next Sunday night will be, "Shall we recognize our Loved Ones in Heaven?

A Minstrel show and dance will be given by the members of S. John's Guild on the evening of Thursday, April 10th in the Parish building. Reserved seats 25cts.

The Men's Club will meet on the evening of Thursday, April 17th. It will be the usual Smoker with a lecture by a representative of the Philadelphia Housing Commission illustrated by pictures showing the housing conditions in the city. This lecture has been given in over one hundred churches of the city, and is said to be most interesting as showing conditions with which every citizen should be familar. There will be music by the Hautboy Club and some other entertainment. All men connected with the parish are invited to come and bring a friend. There are no charges for admission or membership.

Ascension day this year occuring on the first day of May we give notice of it in this month's issue. There will be the usual Celebrations at 7 and after Morning Prayer, at 10.30 A. M. The latter being choral. In the evening there will be at 8 P. M., a choral service with solemn Procession and Te Deum and the anniversary sermon by the Rector. The Annual Guild service will be on the following Sunday evening, May 4th, and the Parish Tea on Monday evening, May 5th. We hope to see all our parishioners present with their friends. Tickets 25 cts.

The United Offering. We beg our good women to remember, that in the early days of October, the Woman's Auxiliary will make its great Triennial gift to Missions. What is the United Offering? you ask. It is the Thank Offering, made by the women of the church, at the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, when the General Convention is sitting. It is called United Offering, because it aims to include all of our women.

In the joy of the gathering of 1889, a Thank Offering was proposed, as the Service was about to begin, and $200 was given, one-half of it by one lady, to build the first Church in Alaska. It was then resolved to give a three years' preparation for the offering, and it has grown by leaps and bounds ever since. In 1892, $20,353.16; in 1895, $56,198.35; in 1898, $82,742.87; in 1901, $107,000; in 1904, $150,000; in 1907, $224,251; in 1910, $243,390; in 1913, how much? For what is all this money given? For the training and support of our women missionaries. Our ideal is to pay them all, but in using one-third of the gift each year, until the next General Convention, we have thus far only given enough for 130 women's stipend, and more than 300 are in the field. Pennsylvania has borne an honorable part heretofore, and while the need continues, she will not forget it, and will be generous.

The Rector has received the following note to which he calls the attention of the congregation.

To the Pastors of the churches of Philadelphia:—

The public is responsible for considerable of the unnecessary Sunday business of the Retail Druggists of Philadelphia.

We respectfully urge you to request the members of your congregation to assist us in maintaining a proper observance of Sunday, by refraining from buying Postage Stamps, Cigars, Toilet Articles, etc., and confine their purchases to articles of Necessity and Charity.

Very truly yours,
Committee of the Phila.

The Use of Pictures and Statues in Churches.

In edifices erected for religious worship, we find almost universal use of paintings and sculpture. The ancients always made statues of their gods, not primarily to worship as idols, but as representations of the gods they believed in, though frequently among ignorant people such use of images degenerated into idolatry.

The Jews, though strictly forbidden, to make the likeness of anything to worship, nevertheless were commanded to make images of Cherubims to be placed over the Mercy Seat in the Holies of Holies, the most sacred shrine of the Temple. So images were used to support the laver of brass in the temple and elaborate carvings of fruits and flowers, and the richest coloring decorated all the parts of the Temple.

It was natural, therefore, that Christians should do the same thing and from the earliest times we find them using both paintings and sculpture in their churches. For a time there waged what was known as the Iconoclastic Controversy, one party in the church wanting to destroy and banish all pictures and images from the churches, the other wanting to retain them. It was finally decided however by a General Council that they should be retained. To this day however there is a difference of use between the Eastern and Western Churches. The Greek allows pictures, but no images in their church buildings, the Latin and English Churches use both.

The value of pictures and statues in Churches is not only that they are a most beautiful and effective decoration, but they have a distinctively religious value, they are suggestive and indicative, presenting most vividly to the mind, through the eye, religious impressions which it would be difficult to convey in any other way.

The power of suggestion is one which is being more and more recognized and acted on in the modern world. It is being realized that it is sufficient even to produce cures from physical disorders. One personality can often just by a suggestion effectively and permanently influence and control another person. How wise therefore to use it to produce religious impressions. The mere act of gazing on the Figure of Christ hanging on the cross, or on pictures representing important scenes in His life, can certainly make one realize and appreciate all that the crucifixion, or other acts in our Lord's life, mean better than the mere reading or hearing of them could.

So statues or pictures representing the Blessed Mother, the Apostles, the Saints, Confessors, calling to our minds what men and women have done and suffered for the Faith, the virtuous or heroic traits they have displayed, are certainly powerful means of bringing to bear the influence of their lives and characters on those who contemplate them.

It is therefore a true instinct that has led Christians to use such in their Churches. The use has been universal except in modern times by the Puritans, who when they were in power in England pulled down all the statues and the crosses and destroyed the stained glass windows which had pictures in them. But now their descendants are using them again in their Churches.

There is little danger in this enlightened age of the use of pictures and images degenerating into idolatry, and it can be of great benefit by helping the worshipper to appreciate as he could not otherwise so readily do, the great facts and truths which they are intended to set forth. It is wise then to use the great power of suggestion for religious purposes.

PARISH NOTES.

Gifts. The Church has been presented with the brass gates for the entrance to the Chancel which belonged to the Rood Screen we received from St. Mark's Church. They are much heavier and more elaborate than those we had. By resolution of the Vestry the old ones have been presented to the new St. Barnabas Church, Haddington, which is being erected in West Philadelphia as a memorial to the late Bishop Whitaker.

St. Agnes' Guild has added to one of our Processional Crosses, a Figure of our Lord, so as to make it correspond with the crosses on our altars.

The Rector was presented with two very fine linen surplices imported from England by a lady of the congregation.

A large Welsbach burner for the choir room, three books and a large number of magazines and illustrated papers for the Parish Library were presented, also fifteen gymnasium suits were given to St. John's Junior Guild and twelve prizes for the spring sports.

The Periodical Club which collects and distributes magazines and papers to those who would be glad to see them, requests any person having such for which they have no further use to send them to the Church Reading Room for use during the summer.

The Mothers' Meeting was given an oyster supper on the Wednesday after Easter by Miss Alice Young, who formerly had charge of it. It was much enjoyed by about twenty-five persons who were present. They were also given ice cream and cake at their closing meeting on April 30.

The members of the meeting made 706 garments during the winter. This was a great help to them and benefit for the hospitals for which the sewing was done.

The Ladies' Aid made during Lent some ninety articles of children's clothes which were given to needy families in the parish.

The Men's Club meeting on April the 17th was attended by over fifty men. A very interesting and instructive lecture was given by Mr. Arthur

E. Hutchinson, representing the Philadelphia House Commission, illustrated by lantern slides showing how bad the conditions are in many parts of the city. This was followed by a concert by the Zobo band, Knights of Pythias, Myrtle Wreath Lodge 61 which was most entertaining. We were indebted for its services to Mr. Albert Challman one of our choir men who is a member of the band.

There will be no meeting of the club this month as the Parish Tea takes its place.

Change In The Sunday Morning Service. After Trinity Sunday Morning prayer will be said plain on Sundays during the summer, in order to make it easier for the choir, which will not enter the church until its conclusion, when the Holy Communion will begin. The sermon will be preached after the Creed and the collection made during the offertory. This dispenses with the singing of a hymn and the whole service will be over by twelve o'clock.

New Advertisement. We call attention to a new advertisement we have of H. F. Bruner & Co., who are the successors of J. S. Lowey & Sons, who formerly supplied the Church with coal. We recommend them to our subscribers.

The Fourth Annual Minstrel Show and Dance given by the St. John's Guild under the management of Messrs. Samuel Neill, James Boggs, Alex Boggs and Harry Ritsert was held in the Parish Building April 10th, proved to be a great success in every way.

Messrs. Samuel Neill and James Boggs as endmen kept the audience in laughter with their sayings and actions through the entire performance. The Guild wishes to extend their thanks to Mr. Albert Challman for his services as interlocutor. There was a dance after the show which everyone present enjoyed very much. The total receipts for the entertainment amounted to $20.00 after all expenses were paid. Thanking all our patrons we hope to see them at our next performance.

A dress rehearsal of the Minstrel Show was given on Tuesday evening before the performance, at the Seaman's Mission, Front and Queen streets. It was greatly appreciated by a room full of men, who gave our young men a cordial invitation to come again.

The Members of the Drexel Biddle Bible Class of the Ascension paid their first visit to the Drexel Biddle Home at Lansdowne where a party was given by the Racquet Club. The young men invited ladies to accompany them, so there were eighteen from the Ascension who joined in the dancing and evening's fun. An oyster supper followed. There are thirty-two acres of ground at Lansdowne which our young men have the privilege of using. Several tennis courts, base ball diamonds, and other amusements. We hope that our base ball team will make a good record during the summer.

They also can spend their holidays and any week end there by paying a moderate sum for meals.

The Girls' Friendly will give a "Cafe Chantant" in the Parish Building on Tuesday, June 24th, at 8 P. M. It will be assisted by some members of the choir. Refreshments will be served. Tickets 25cts. A large attendance is looked for.

ST. ANNA'S HOME

2018 RACE STREET

This Home is provided, by the All-Saints' Sisters of the Poor, for Aged Women who are communicants of the Episcopal Church in Philadelphia and the suburbs. The applicant must be over sixty years of age and in need of such a home.

References are required from the rector of the parish to which the applicant belongs and also from two ladies to whom she is personally known. A physician's certificate is also required.

No admission fee is asked, but it is necessary that a small amount shall be paid for board. It can hardly be expected that the board paid will cover more than one-third of the expenses of the house, and it is earnestly desired that the remainder be provided by donations and annual subscriptions.

The house is open and ready for occupation, but, since it is not endowed, applicants can not be accepted until their support in the Home is assured. The fact that in the four months since the announcement of the opening of the Home, there have been twenty-two applicants proves the need of another such home.

Can we, their fellow-members of the church in this diocese, allow them to remain unprovided and uncared for while one room is empty at St. Anna's Home?

The Home is open for inspection and visitors will be welcome.

Contributions may be sent to Mrs. S. H. Day, Treasurer for Associates of St. Anna's Home, 6388 Woodbine Ave., Overbrook.

St. John's Junior Guild.

On Monday, April 28, the little boys of this organization gave an exhibition of spring sports, which did them much credit. High jumping, potato racing, three-legged racing, calisthenic exercises, etc., occupied the evening. At the close prizes made to boys were awarded.

Thanks to Mr. Rodman Wanamaker's gift of fifteen gymnasium suits the boys were very happy. Twelve members took active parts. The first prize for good behaviour through the year was won by Watson Mull, the youngest member of the Guild. Charles McDermott carried off second prize for efficiency in drill work. The potato races were very exciting, won by George Barr and John Jones, George Mull won the prize for buck work and John Jones for running high jump. The most exciting event being a pie eating contest which was won by Watson Mull and George Morris. Many new members have asked to join next year, and we hope for a full gymnasium. Through the generosity of Mr. Spencer Erwin we have been able to have a good trainer, Mr. Samuel Neil, for this winter of whom the boys are very fond. The object of this Guild is to keep boys from the streets at night and make them better and useful citizens in every way.

Our Church Year.

Our parochial year runs from May 1st to May 1st when the annual reports are returned to the Bishop. The report for the past year we print in full in this issue.

In commenting on the report, as he always does in his sermon on the evening of Ascension Day, the Rector called attention to the following points. There were ten Baptisms less than last year, just the same number Confirmed, two more Marriages, the same number of Burials. The additions to the Communicant list were two less by first communion, and twenty-four less by transfer from other parishes. The large number last year was due to the accession received from the Church of the Messiah on its being closed. The number lost by death this year was two less and by removal three more.

Those who died during the year were Mrs. Emma Baily, an old member long prevented by physical disability from attending the church. Mrs. Harriet Rocap, who leaves a young daughter. Martha Adeline Moitz, long attached to and interested in the church and a worker on the Altar Chapter. Mrs. Mary Schott Doxie, who leaves a husband and son, the latter one of our choir boys. Margaret McIlhenny connected with the church for nearly thirty years and whose death was most unexpected. William Augustus Dodson, at one time a regular attendant but of late years spending most of his time in the South, being only occasionally in the city. Mrs. Mary Morrow, a member of the old church on Lombard St., transferred afterwards to All Saints, but returning to the parish again when that church was removed to Snyder Avenue, Isable Anabel, long a member of the parish, at one time in charge of St. Mary's Guild, and always most efficient in assisting in entertainments, her death was most sudden and unexpected. Elizabeth Sager for a number of years attending the church though not registered as a communicant. William Andrews, who came to the church from the Presbyterians and a regular attendant until the last few years when he became unable to walk any distance. Mrs. Elizabeth Marter, a member of the Mothers' Meeting, herself confirmed in the church and the means of bringing several members of her family to its communion, her death was instantaneous.

We thank God for the good examples and good work of these His servants and pray that they may rest in peace. All but two received the ministrations of the church in their last illness.

The Sunday and Industrial Schools report about the same number of names on their rolls. But neither of these schools are as large as formerly owing to the change in the character of the population in the neighborhood of the church.

The young people's Guilds have been well maintained and made attractive by numerous entertainments. The Girls' Friendly Society had a very successful singing class which gave a concert during the winter. And there were several sociables provided for it and S. John's Guild for young men, a dancing teacher being employed.

The Men's Club held four meetings during the winter at each of which there was an attendance of over fifty. Instructive lectures and interesting entertainments were provided.

The work of the Women's Guild was up to and in some departments, above that of other years, though we have to lament the small number attending the missionary meetings and engaging in other work. The work done by the members of the Mother's Meeting and the Ladies' Aid was in excess of the previous year.

Comparing the financial receipts with those of last year we find the total receipts for parish purposes were only a few dollars less, though last year a special appeal had been made by the Vestry which brought in over $2,000. The receipts from the endowment and from parochial agencies were about the same. The Women's Auxiliary contributed $100 more and the offerings for purposes out side of the parish, owing to the use of the duplex envelopes were $300 more than the previous year.

Some $500 was spent in improvements and repairs, which consisted of two Memorial windows, the putting in of a water heater in the parish building and extensive repairs to the roof of the church.

But while our receipts are in excess even of those of some previous years, we again find ourselves with a deficit at its close owing to the fact that our regular income does not meet our expenses. Will not each member of the parish feel his or her responsibility to give regularly as large an amount as they possibly can.

The conditions of the parish are discouraging owing to the constant removal of our people to the country and the newer parts of the city. But we cannot but believe that eventually our neighborhood will improve and a larger constituency be obtained. And if all of our members are faithful and zealous in its support its efficiency can not only be maintained, but increased.

Parish Notes.

Ascension Day coming so earlier this year ought to have secured larger congregations than usual, but the annual service for the presentation of the United Offering of the Diocese took away some of our people. And its coming on the same date as that for a stated meeting of the Vestry did secure the presence of some of the Vestry we might not otherwise have had in the evening. Its coming on the first day of the month made it very difficult for the Rector and Accounting Warden to get up all their figures in time for the anniversary sermon and the Vestry meeting after the evening service. Excepting during the time he was at the services and eating his meals the Rector was busily working over figures the whole day. We give a synopsis of his anniversary sermon in this issue.

At the Vestry meeting in the evening the affairs of the Parish were discussed at considerable length. It was determined in the first place to shorten the Sunday morning service during the summer months by having Morning Prayer said without any music. This has been done very satisfactorily the whole service now being over by twelve o'clock.

Then it was suggested that during July and August instead of having a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m. and another after Morning Prayer at 10:30 a. m., it would be better to have only one service at 9 a. m., consisting of Morning Prayer and the Holy Communion. This will be easier for the Reverend Curate who will be alone during those months, and it will be a much cooler hour than the middle of the day.

In spite of the good financial showing for the year, the Vestry feels the need of economy so as to bring our expenses within our ordinary receipts. As a step in this direction the Vestry withdrew the hundred dollars formerly given for extra clerical services during the summer when one of the clergy was away. In consequence of this there will be no early celebrations of the Holy Communion from July 1st to October 1st.

The Annual Guild Service on the Sunday evening after Ascension Day was an ususally effective one. For the first time the Men's Club and St. John's Guild members made an effective appearance, though there were a many more who might have joined in the procession. The Rev. Mr. Capers, Rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles gave a very appropriate sermon.

The Parish Tea on the following Monday was particularly pleasant. There was a large attendance and plentiful refreshments as usual and a very effective musical program. The Girls' Friendly singing class rendered some very good pieces showing the results of their training during the winter. Mr. George Morgan and Miss Ott sang solos, Miss Hare played and Miss Cavmam gave some of her admirable recitals. The evening closed with a dance by the young people.

The Marriage of Mr. George H. Morgan, the son of our Verger and a member of our choir and Miss Eveline Ott, took place in the church on the evening of May 29th. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Snyder B. Symes, the Rector of the old Swede's Church to which parish the bride belonged, assisted by the Rector of this church. An informal reception was held after the ceremony in the Parish building. The happy couple have the best wishes of all members of the congregation. They were the recipients of many useful and handsome presents.

The Death of Mr. Frederick Tallent took place May 30th. Many of the congregation will remember him as the blind man who formerly attended the church very regularly. For a number of years he has been too infirm to do so, and since before Christmas he has been bedridden. He was really a remarkable man, most well informed on almost every subject and delighted in conversing, bearing his great affliction with wonderful patience. He passed away quietly in his eighty-sixth year.

The New Cut of the exterior of the church which we are now using was made to take the place of that of the interior which was destroyed in the fire at the printers. It was made from a photograph taken some years ago while the burial service of one of our choir boys was going on in the church.

An Entertainment on a large scale for the benefit of the church has been planned for next autumn by one of our most energetic workers. It will consist of a repetition of the representation of "Angels in Art," being living tableaux of ancient pictures of Angels. It was given this spring at the Bellvue-Stratford and was a most beautiful and successful entertainment. Many who saw it before will wish to see it again. Several meetings of our ladies have been held to arrange for it and committees have been appointed to arrange the details. It will be given as the other presentation was in the Bellvue-Stratford sometime in November.

A Story Class.

Every Sunday night at 7 p. m. the Rev. Curate has about him a little company of boys, who listen to stories illustrating some doctrinal truth or reverent habit and who repeat the stories of the previous Sunday, encouraged by the prize of a nickel to those who tell the stories well. The brief session is closed by a chapter of a child's story of St. Francis Assisi.

The Prizes offered by a member of the congregation for the best essay on "The work of the Christian and Sanitary Commissions during the Civil War," to a boy and a girl of our Sunday School, have been awarded to George Mull and Frances Whitehurst. One was a year's subscription to the American Boys' Magazine and the other the Ladies' Home Journal.

On the evening of Ascension Day the Rector conferred a silver medal awarded by the Choirmaster to John Owen, for regular attendance and good behaviour.

Gifts one dozen palm leaf fans. Twenty volumes for the Parish Library.

Summer Sermons.

The Rev. Curate will preach a course of sermons on the Sunday nights in July and August upon various modern presentations of religion, such as Christian Science, Mormonism, Spiritualism, Ethical Culture, etc., etc.

The services in church will be followed each night by an After-Meeting and Question Box in the Parish Building. These meetings in previous summers have proved attractive, the number of men attending being especially noticable. On one occasion about 50 men out of about 125 people, came back into the Parish Building for the Meeting, the thermometer on that particular evening registering over 90 degrees in the room.

The City Church.

The conditions affecting a city church are very diffeaent from those in a small town or in the country. In the latter everyone is known, and if they can be reached at all, by religious influences, they can be brought to bear upon him. In the city there are thousands of all kinds and sorts of people, many of whom it is very hard to come to know or to reach in any way. In the country the church is more of a social institution, and every one feels more his obligation to attend and help support it, it is more easily to do so owing to the social advantages it gives him.

Then the towns and country have generally a more staple population. The same families often live on the same farms or in the same houses for generations. In the city there is constant change. A district which is residential at one time, in a few years may be entirely abandoned to business or to a foreign population.

Then there is the tendency, which we are feeling very much in this parish, for people to move from the central portion of the city to the suburbs or newer parts of the city, where they can get new houses with all modern conveniences, and much more attractive, for the same price they have to pay for old and inconvenient ones. Some move to the country to live there altogether. Then the wealthier people who have country seats are coming to live on them the longer each year, moving into the city only for a few months in the winter.

All these conditions are making it harder and harder to keep up our city churches. In consequence of these tendencies more than thirty churches have been moved from the section of the city south of Market street, and east of Broad, in the last twenty-five years.

And yet there are plenty of people still in the city, and there is more poverty and religion there than anywhere else. Surely the churches ought to be maintained there. And now, owing to our facility of transportation, a trolley in every street, it is very easy for people living at a distance to attend a particular church if they are attached to it. We have a number of people living at a great distance from the church who attend it most regularly. And our church is most centrally situated, the district north of it is still one of residences. And Broad street must eventually be improved in its immediate vicinity. The proposed subway will certainly give an impetus to such improvement and make the church more accessible.

Moreover one can never tell how soon one wave of population may succeed another, or how quickly the foreigners, by (many of whom we are surrounded) may become Americanized and be drawn to our church. Certainly we ought to try to work among them, giving them facilities to worship in their own languages and according to their own rites, as our Bishops are frequently allowing, and in time they may come to prefer our English ways to their own. We are convinced that there is place and work for Ascension Parish in spite of the difficulties against which we have to contend.

But to keep up the church and do its work requires funds. And if we are losing more and more of our well-to-do-people, then there is more necessity of our parish being endowed. In fact, endowment is the only way by which any church can be put upon a permanent foundation, and secured against the fluctuations of population or changes in the condition of its attendants. There are several of our churches in the eastern part of the city which could not be kept up now were it not for their endowments. Will not all our parishioners who can do so, at least remember the parish in their wills, even if they cannot give largely to this fund in their lifetime?

The Ascension has done a good work in the past, and can do a still greater one in the future, if it is properly supported.

My Dear Dr. Hodge:

I have been away for the summer and feel I must write and tell you what the return to the Church of the Ascension means to me. I have been to other churches, and seen different services, and am more than ever impressed with the beauty and quiet dignity of ours—the good and reverently rendered music—and our comprehensive service, giving one so much help and benefit spiritually, with so many aids to devotion in the accentuating of all the essentials in our service and lessons of the day.

Can we not use the prayer—"Stir up, O Lord, we beseech Thee, the wills of Thy people"—to bring them more regularly and devotionally into House of Prayer and Worship, which needs their presence—to show not only God, but our fellow men, that we are not going to let the environments and other difficulties interfere with this "Household of Faith"—but make it a "shining light" that will shine more and more unto the perfect day. I can at least pray that others will be moved to feel our opportunities and privileges as I have been led to do—and sign myself

A DEVOTED PARISHIONER.

Parish Notes.

The summer. During July and August, there was but one service on Sundays at 9 a. m., consisting of Morning Prayer said without music, followed by a Choral Celebration with a sermon. It was hoped that this might prove a pleasanter hour than 10.30 A. M. as formerly. But it did not materially increase the attendance.

During September the latter hour was returned to, there being no early Celebration owing to the absence of the Curate and the Vestry having felt obliged to withdraw the appropriation for a supply.

We subjoin our account of the summer work by the Rev. Curate who was in sole charge during July and August.

Sunday School On one of the hot days of the summer, some of the school were taken to the Park for an outing. The ride to and fro and the fresh air and the romps on the green grass were happy events.

St. Agnes' Guild. As usual, this Guild has had no vacation. Every Saturday it has been in operation and the attendance at the Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament at 9 A. M. every Sunday has been good; never a Sunday passing without Guild superiors and children in their pews No rewards are offered to them for this faithfulness; their knowledge of their Saviour's Eucharistic Presence being their sole inducement.

Sunday Nights. The services and after-meetings have gone on as usual during the summer. The after-meetings have been interesting and at least four men and two women are known fruitages of these gatherings. Frank discussions by men especially, of beliefs and practices from the varying points have earnestly taken place, one night nearly eleven o'clock having arrived unconsciously to those present, before the meeting was of necessity adjourned.

Paradise Farm. A number of our boys were visitors at the Country Week's farm; and sun-browned faces and happy countenances and many stories to tell of important events connected with sports and swimming, proved the success of their outing.

The Story Class. Truths and Devotions inculcated through the medium of stories have found lodgement in the heads, and, it is hoped, in the hearts of Choir Boys, as part of the regular Sunday routine all through the summer. From a lot of noisy, busy, restless boys has developed a group of silent listeners, sharing the chair or grouped about the story-teller; and able on the following Sunday night to repeat remarkably well the truth taught, and the story which told it, the previous Sunday.

The Daily Sacrifice. On every morning during the summer the Holy Sacrifice has been offered with an instruction on different days for different objects. On some mornings for those struggling with specific sins; on others for men and women (usually by their Christian names) who are seeking more light as to truth and helps to sanctity; on others for the sick and dying and dead; on every Sunday for the Rev. Rector of this parish.

But on every day, the offering has been for the General Convention which will meet in October, that God would save its members from mistakes through "error, ignorance, pride or prejudice." Let us continue that prayer every day until the conventions close. Prayer has been defined as "suppliant omnipotence," and it can accomplish more for God's glory and the good of His Church than ecclesiastical importance or financial resources or great eloquence. Those who pray hardest will most influence the coming Convention. So let us do our part.

Sunday School Excursion. The most largely attended excursion of the Sunday School for several years took place on Saturday, June 14th.

The day was begun with a Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament at 6.30 A. M. Mrs. Harris kindly played the organ and 60 children and adults sang Eucharistic Hymns from the Children's Eucharistic Card.

Tickets were then distributed and the 8 A. M. steamer was boarded at Chestnut street wharf. It took about two hours to go and two hours to return, the rest of the day being spent in the Island Park.

A game of baseball was played between the St. John's Guild and the choir. The former won by a score of 16 to 6.

Tickets for amusements were given to the children, games were played, everybody was hungry for lunch and dinner, and the two hours' sail home completed a happy day.

Sunday School Prizes. Twenty-seven medals were awarded to scholars for regular attendance.

For the recitation of a whole book of doctrinal statements, which was wonderfully well done, jewelry was given to Frances Whitehurst, Nellie Righter and Margaret Mull. A watch was given to Harry Barr and John Barr, a finer one to George Mull, and a fountain pen to Louis Klofach.

Song Service for School. It is proposed to have every Sunday afternoon at 2.45 P. M. a song service for those of the children who care to come. On the last Sunday of the school the hearty and enthusiastic singing of many popular hymns was only an illustration of how congregational singing can inspire and attract both young and old, if conducted under conditions which experience and results have proved to be essential and successful. It is one means of gathering people within reach of exhortations and instructions, which it seems a pity to have so long neglected. St. Paul was expressing his love for souls, when he said: "If by any means I might save some."

Holidays. The Rector spent his holiday with his wife and two daughters in the Adirondacks. He enjoyed perfhct health in a delicious atmosphere, never hot, and getting plenty of exercise in rowing and walking. In addition he found time to read six volumes of theology, three of history, six of memoirs, and one novel having a theological and socialogical purpose. He also read all he wanted to of one quarterly and two weekly magazines, four weekly church papers and two daily papers. He wrote an essay covering twenty pages of foolscap for a church magazine, the triennial report of the Church Unity Society, some editorials for the NEWS, and carried on quite a correspondence. He also did a good deal of work in connection with the report of the General Convention Committee on the revision of the Sectionary, of which he is a member. And he celebrated the Holy Communion, read Morning Prayer and preached each Sunday he was away. So that he feels that his holiday was profitable as well as healthful and restful. And he trusts that that the opportunity he thus had of communion with nature and with books has given him inspirations which will enable him to minister more effectively to his people during the coming winter.

The Rev. Curate took his holiday in September, spending some days of it in Retreat with the Holy Cross Fathers on the Hudson.

Winter services. The full order of winter services are resumed this month as formerly, except that on Sunday morning the arrangement we began in June of saying Morning Prayer without any music will be continued for the present, until it can be ascertained whether that is more generally acceptable than the former plan of having the choir present at both services. It is not only a great relief to the choir, but shortens the service for the congregation, the whole concluding now at twelve o'clock, instead as formerly at twelve-thirty.

The Sunday School re-opens on the first Sunday of this month, and we trust all the teachers and scholars will be in their places.

SS. Simon and Jude day, Oct. 28th, is the annual meeting of the Women's Guild of the Parish and we hope all the ladies of the congregation will try to be present to hear the report of the last year's work, and to arrange for the coming winter.

Girls' Friendly Notes.

On June 24th, there was given one of the pleasantest entertainments which have been held in the Parish House. It was called a "Cafe Chantant," and as the name signifies it was singing in a cafe, the stage made into pretty little restaurant, and the choir men and G. F. S. girls taking the parts, and rendering very delightful songs, and two of them acted as colored waiters and gave much enjoyment with their jokes and by-play. Those taking part were Messrs. Myers, Challman, McNeill, Ritchert, Boggs and Neill, and the Misses Anderson, Whitehurst, Villermong Klofack, Hoffman, and Horscroft. Ice cream and cake were served to all who attended.

The money realized was divided between the Choir and "Friendly."

The regular weekly meetings will begin on Tuesday, October 7th, at 8 P. M. It is hoped there will be a good attendance.

St. John's Junior Guild begins its sessions on Monday night, Oct. 6th, with Miss Trainor.

An entertainment, partly for the benefit of the Church Home for Children, and the Church of the Ascension, entitled "Angels In Art" Tableaux, with musical interpretation, will be given at the Bellevue-Stratford Ball Room, on Friday, Nov. 14th, at 8:15, and Saturday, Nov. 15th, at 2.15. Tickets $2. (No reserved seats.) All who can possibly avail themselves of this opportunity of seeing these lovely pictures will also be helping to benefit these two worthy objects.

THE GENERAL CONVENTION.

The great National Council of the American Church which meets triennially closed its sessions on Oct. 25th. Though we have not yet received the official account of what it did, yet we can gather enough from the newspaper reports to judge pretty well what it accomplished and what it failed to do.

First, the great question of the change of the name of the church about which there was so much debate before the Convention met, hardly came before it at all. Some memorials praying for the change were presented and referred to committees to consider. But they did not report in favor of any action. It was universally conceded that the change ought not to be made without greater unanimity than there is at present. So the matter was practically allowed to drop.

A resolution was passed in the House of Deputies in favor of altering the Constitution of the Church so as to prevent any changes in the Prayer Book or Constitution of the Church except by a two-thirds vote. But this was not agreed to by the House of Bishops as they felt it would be making any change too difficult.

There were several other disagreements between the two Houses. The Bishops voted to allow the establishment of racial Episcopates, chiefly to give the colored people a bishop of their own. But the Lower House would not consent to it. On the other hand the House of Deputies wanted the Church to be represented in the Council of "the Federated Churches of America," but the House of Bishops refused to let the Church be represented as one of a number of "Evangelical Churches," but agreed to allow representatives to be sent to the Council from the Commission on Church Unity.

The most important thing the Convention did was the erection of what have been called "the Missionary Districts" into "Provinces." This is the name which has always been given in the Catholic Church to groups of contiguous Dioceses. The Church in the United States has until now been one overgrown Province. It should have long since been subdivided, and even now that Provinces have been created, their right to form new Dioceses and elect and consecrate Bishops has not been given to them. But doubtless that will come in time.

Another good thing the Convention did was to license the tentative Lectionary reported by the special committee, of which our Rector was a member. This is not only a thorough revision of the old Lectionary, giving much more suitable Lessons for Holy days and other special occasions, but it provides no less than four alternative Lessons for nearly all the Sundays in the year, so that we will not hereafter be obliged to read the same Lessons on the same Sunday every year, many of which were not edifying for a general congregation.

A Canon was also passed recognising Religious Orders and Communities in the Church, and putting them under the control of the Bishops of the Dioceses in which they exist.

In addition to this a Commission was appointed to consider the propriety of further alterations and enrichment of the Prayer Book, also one on Marriage and Divorce to report to the next Convention. And five new Missionary Bishops were elected to fill vacancies.

In connection with the Convention a number of very interesting meetings were held in advocacy of religious education, extended missionary work, amelioration of social conditions, promotion of Church Unity, etc

On the whole we have every reason to be thankful with the results of the Convention. Much that many of us would have liked to have seen done was not accomplished, but no harmful or reactionary legislation was effected, and some substantial steps were taken which we believe will enhance the power and efficiency of the Church.

PARISH NOTES.

Gifts. During the summer the church received the gift of a dozen palm leaf fans for the church and some twenty volumes of books for the Parish library, also last month a carpet for the Bible class room, the old one having become very shabby. The Rev. Curate received a small rug to be placed under his writing table in the choir vestry. The similar table in the Sacristy needs one too very much as the carpet there is very worn.

The order of services as we have been having them on Sunday mornings will be continued this month, except that during Advent the Litany will be sung before the mid-day Celebration. The Litany, especially when it is sung, is one of the most beautiful services we have, but it is really only suitable for Penitential seasons such as Advent and Lent, and Wednesdays, Fridays and Rogation days

On the Sunday evenings of this month the Rector will be the preacher. On Sunday, Nov. 2nd, he will preach on "All Souls," and on the other Sundays in the month on some social subject. And he proposes after the service to hold in the Parish Building a meeting for the free discussion of any religious or social subject. There are many persons who are anxious for information and would like to ask questions on these subjects, and many are led astray on account of their ignorance even of fundamental religious truths. It is the province of the clergy to give such information, and the Rector will be ready to answer, to the best of his ability, any questions of this kind which may be asked.

The anniversary of the Women's Guild was held on SS Simon and Jude's day. Some twenty ladies were present. The reports of the past year showed a decided advance in the amount of money received last year. Appointments and plans were made for the coming season. Most of the workers will continue in the places they have held, except that Mrs. H. Christian takes charge of the Mothers' Meeting, in place of Mrs. Knubel who has resigned.

The Mothers' Meeting begins on Wednesday evening, Nov. 5th.

The Industrial School reopens on Saturday, Nov. 8th, at 10 A. M.

S. Andrew's Brotherhood held its first meeting last month and resolved this winter to hold meetings on alternate months with the Church Club.

The first meeting of the Club therefore will be on Thursday evening, Nov. 20th, when in addition to the usual Smoker, an illustrated lecture will be delivered by Mr. H. P. Busch, one of our members, on his travels in Iceland, Spitzbergen and Norway.

Extra envelopes. In sending out the envelopes this quarter we are sending a number of extra sets to some members of the congregation who have not as yet used them, in the hope that they will do so, or in place of them make a quarterly or half-yearly subscription for the support of the church. We need very much a larger regular income.

Subscriptions to the News. Last month and this month we have been mailing copies of the NEWS to a number of our members, who seldom attend the church, in order to keep them informed of what is going on in the Parish, and also in hope of their becoming subscribers, as we require a larger subscription list to enable us to pay our expenses. We are some twenty dollars behind hand at present.

The Angels in Art. Our members will not forget this exhibition which is to be given in the ballroom of the Belleveu-Stratford on Friday and Saturday evnings, the 14th and 15th, at 8.15 P. M., and on Saturday morning at 2.15 P. M. Half of the proceeds are for the benefit of this Parish.

Tell all your friends about it and urge them to be present. Our choir will furnish most of the music, and the members of the Girls' Friendly Society will make candy to sell during the evening. The exhibition was given here last winter and is most attractive. Tickets can be had from Mrs. Perot, 917 Clinton St., and Ryan's ticket offices.

Sermon by Bishop Onderdonk. An elderly lady has presented to the Parish a printed copy of a sermon by Bishop Henry A. Onderdonk preached in 1856. It will be remembered that the Bishop was deprived of the Bishopric of Pennsylvania and suspended from the ministry on account of intemperance. But after more than ten years of repentance and reformation he was restored—not to his Bishopric, for that had been filled,—but to the exercise of the Ministry. And the first sermon he preached after his restoration was this one, in the old Church of the Ascension. We shall preserve carefully so historic a document among the archives of the Parish.

Thanksgiving. We give a turkey dinner to the members of the Mothers' Meeting at Thanksgiving. Donations for it will be gladly received.

A PAINTING FOR SALE.

There has been hung on the north wall of the church a painting of "The Entombment." Prof. Pascale Farina, the Art Critic and Restorer for Mr. John S. Johnson and Mr. John Wanamaker, has examined the painting and pronounces it a fine specimen of the Bologese School, original and not a copy, of about the year 1550.

The owner has inherited the painting from his ancestors, and having no suitable place for keeping it, is anxious to sell it

Further particulars can be learned from the clergy.

ST. AGNES' GUILD ENTERTAINMENT.

The little girls of this Guild will give their annual entertainment on Monday evening, Nov. 17th, at 8 P. M.

It will consist of a series of Tableaux by the children in costume, interspersed with popular songs, in which the children would be glad to have the audience join.

The friends of the children are asked to buy as many tickets as convenient at 10 cents each. This is the Guild's only source of revenue for the whole year's work and pleasure.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

On Saturday, November 8th, the Guild will give a Hallowe'en Party. The little ones will be in mask, and they hope to have a fine time.

ST. JOHN'S JR. GUILD.

The weekly meeting for Devotions, Instruction and fun have been begun.

Officers have been elected, viz.: The Rev. Curate as Director; George Mull, President; Charles McDermott, Secretary; John Jones, Treasurer.

Five of the boys have undertaken to serve at the altar on the five weekday early Celebrations of the Blessed Sacrament, at 7 A. M.

The boys' dear friend, Miss Maria Gilpin, helps and brightens their weekly meetings. What would the little boys do without her?

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Three new teachers have been added to our corps, viz.: Miss Margaret Mull, Miss Frances Whitehurst and Miss Anna Ritsert. We welcome them.

The Rev. Curate brought with him from New York a panorama contrivance, and every Sunday a portion of it is shown to the school and explanation given.

MISSIONARY ITEMS.

In 1861 there was only one bishop of the American Episcopal Church and one bishop of the Church of England in all China and Japan. The first converts of modern missionary effort had not been baptized in Japan. There was but a handful of Christians of any name in China. To-day in both China and Japan there are fully organized national churches. Japan has seven dioceses with as many bishops, two American, four English and one Canadian China has eleven dioceses and as many bishops, three American, seven English and one Canadian In both Churches the communicants are numbered by the thousands, besides many additional thousand baptized members and adherents.

About the middle of September the welcome news was sent to the Church papers that the offerings of the Church for the fiscal year ending September 1st, together with the use of undesignated legacies, made it possible to close the year without further deficit. This is the first time since 1909 that the gifts of the year have carried the current expenditure. It has only been accomplished by increased gifts, but even more rigid economy on the part of the Board in making appropriations. The accumulated deficit of the former years amounting to $197,000 still remains to be provided.

The Lenten Offering of the children of the Church amounted on September 1st to the sum of $175,745.71. This is an advance of $8,000 over the offering of last year and constitutes the highest record yet made. The gathering of such an amount of money in small sums during the six weeks of Lent is a really remarkable achievement, and means not only great assistance to the Board of Missions, but a practical educational propaganda among the Church's children.

A WORKING CHURCH.

A Church is built primarily for the worship of Almighty God, the celebration and administration of the sacraments and the preaching and teaching of the Christian Faith. For these purposes only the church building itself is needed, with an additional room, generally in the first floor of the tower, for the Clergy to vest in, and where the Vestry of the Parish can meet. So all our olden churches were built, as Christ Church, St. Peter's, old S. James', S. Andrew's, etc. Then when Sunday Schools were established, it was found necessary to provide a place where they could be held. And the plan was adopted of building churches with a basement beneath, which could be so used, as S. Luke's, the old Epiphany, S. Philip's, and the Ascension This was very objectionable. It put the church proper up in the second story, approached often by a very steep staircase, difficult for elderly and infirm people to climb, and exceedingly awkward, especially in case of funerals. And the basement itself was often very dark and damp. Then too it came to be realized that there were many other works connected with a church in addition to the Sunday School which ought to be carried on, for which such a provision was not suitable.

So the erection of Parish buildings in addition to the Church proper was begun. And now there is scarcely a single church in the Diocese, in the country as well as in the city, that does not have its Parish Building.

And these buildings are sometimes as large and expensive as the church, sometimes larger, as in the case of the Church of the Holy Apostles.

These buildings provide for a parish carrying on different kinds of work for the benefit of the various classes of people connected with it. A church exists not only for the worship of God and dispensing the sacraments, but it is to a certain extent a social institution, a place to which the young people of the parish can be drawn and taught and interested in church matters, brought under good influences, and kept from the temptations to which they might otherwise be exposed, and where the older people can congregate to work for the benefit of their poorer neighbors or for Missionary purposes. So our Parish buildings are often equipped with work rooms, gymnasiums, kitchens, and drill halls. We have meetings in them every evening in the week and constantly throughout the day.

Thus in our Parish Building there is a meeting every Monday evening for young boys, with an athletic trainer; on Tuesday evening the Girls' Friendly Society meets, on Wednesday, after the service in the Church, a Mothers' Meeting, on Thursdays a Young Men's Guild, which plays basket ball or has a dancing teacher, on Friday is the Choir practice, and on Saturday a little girls' guild, which plays games of different kinds. And each of these Guilds has a part of its time given to an instruction and religious service by one of the clergy.

Then through the day the various departments of the Woman's Guild meets, the Embroidery Class, the Ladies' Aid, the Missionary Society. And the Parish building is always open. There is a place in the cellar with a Shuffle board where the young men can sit and read and smoke or play. It gives those who are out of work a place to congregate and keeps them from resorting to saloons and pool rooms.

It would be a very good thing, too, if our Parish Buildings could be utilized to give our young people that systematic religious instruction during the week which they do not get in the public schools. But as it is, we give in this way a great deal more instruction than is given simply in the Sunday School. And young people are drawn to and interested in the Church and brought to Confirmation and Communion who would not be reached in any other way.

Constant entertainments and sociables, both for the young and old, are given, too, which attract and make connection with the Church a pleasure as well as a profit to its people.

One who only attends the services of the Church and never goes into, or knows what is going on through the week in the Parish building, has no idea of how many persons the Church is reaching or of the work it is carrying on. But we need more workers, more appliances and more rooms.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas. The services on Christmas day will be Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 6.30, 7.30, and 8.30 A. M., and after Morning Prayer at 10.30 A. M. Evening Prayer at 5 P. M.

Special large offerings are asked on that day to make up for the summer season when the congregations are small and the offerings correspondingly so. The Warden reported to the Vestry Nov. 1st that we were then $1,500 in debt. As we have realized $550 from "the Angels in Art," there remains $1,000 to be made up, to do which we must depend on the Christmas offering. Though the cost of everything has gone up so, there has been no increase whatever in the salaries of the officers of the Church. Let us at least see that what they have been receiving is paid fully and promptly.

We shall be glad to receive special donations for the Christmas decorations and to provide Christmas dinners for the members of the Mothers' Meeting.

Children's Christmas Festival. As Holy Innocents' day occurs this year on Sunday, the Children's Christmas service will be held in the Church on the afternoon of that day, Dec. 28th, and an entertainment will be given them in the Parish Building on Monday evening at 8 P. M.

On Sunday afternoon the children will sing their Christmas Carols in the Church. At 3.30 P. M. the School will march from the Parish Building into the Church and pass before the Creche which will be placed in front of the Font. It is a little stable, furnished with straw and filled with about thirteen figures of animals, Shepherds, Wise Men, St. Joseph, the Holy Mother and the Christ-Child. It will be illuminated inside with candles and around it the children will sing carols to the Christ.

The School this year will observe its Christmas Festivities more elaborately than for a number of years past. The various Departments of the School will contribute to the varied program. The Primary School will have its part to perform,—the younger girls are preparing a special feature; the older girls and young men are rehearsing a Play, and the boys are preparing for a Minstrel Show. The affair will take place on Monday night, Dec. 29th. There will be no charge for admission and the congregation is invited.

Toys are asked. The children are requested to bring toys, old or new, on the above mentioned Sunday, that they may be placed around the Creche and so offered to God. Later these toys will be given to a home for poor children. In this way an effort is made to teach the young people, that Christmas should be a time, not only for expecting and receiving gifts, but better still for making offerings and especially for remembering the Poor. The congregation are asked to enter into the spirit of this endeavor and to send toys to the Church, to be used as above indicated.

Thanksgiving day was observed by Morning Prayer as well as the Holy Communion being sung. And that the service might be no longer than the usual Sunday service the sermon was omitted, the Rector only saying a few words from the altar steps on the duty of thankfulness, thus making the service of the day one only of worship. In the evening before a generous hot turkey supper was served by some of the ladies of the congregation to the members of the Mother's meeting and some of their children. The fruit placed on the altar was as usual given to the choir boys after the service, and some of it sent to the sick.

"The Angels in Art" entertainment given on November 14 and 15 in the ball room of the Belleveu-Stratford Hotel was admirably rendered. By a special arrangement with the hotel, people who were unable to pay the full price of the tickets were allowed to attend the dress rehearsal on the evening of the 13th by the payment of 25 cents. It is estimated that thirteen hundred persons were present that night. The next night and the matinee were fairly well attended. All present expressed great admiration at the performance. The share of the proceeds given to the church amount to $550.

The Parish is under deep obligation to all those who took part in it, many of whom worked very hard, especially Miss Elizabeth S. Gilpin, to whom the honor of the whole inception and carrying it out under many difficulties, is entirely due.

Our thanks are also due to the Choirmaster and members of our choir, and to Mrs. Sydney Thayer, Mr. Harvey Hindermeyer, Mr. John N. Frazier and Mr. Arthur Jackson, whose services were given gratuitously.

Socialistic Forum. The Rector has been preaching a series of sermons on the Sunday evenings of last month on Socialism, and has instituted after the service in the Parish Building an open Forum in which any socialistic, economic or religious subject may be freely discussed by those present.

This is an effort to reach and bring into touch with the Church a large and rapidly increasing number of men who are embracing Socialistic principles and who are more or less prejudiced against, and alienated from, the Church. And yet we believe that they are fundamentally actuated by motives which the Church can thoroughly approve, and that they need and can be materially assisted in their aspirations by the Church.

We believe that every effort should be made to make working men feel that the Church is their truest and best friend and that they are making the greatest mistake in separating themselves from it.

Various laymen having the ear of the Socialistic bodies will be asked on different Sunday evenings to conduct this Forum. The way to arrive at truth is to ask questions and have a free discussion of the merits of any subject. And there is no reason why full opportunity for such discussion should not be given in connection with our Church services.

It is hoped these meetings can be continued throughout the winter and that they will do much good to those taking part in them, and fill up the empty seats in our Church at the Sunday night services.

The Men's Club night in November was attended by some forty men. Mr. H. P. Busch gave a most interesting illustrated lecture on a journey he made to Iceland, Spitzenbergen and Norway. This was followed by songs by Mr. W. M. Jones, Mr. Benjamin Dooley and a friend who came with him. Mr. Harry Ulrich acted as accompanist on the piano Mr. Harry Ritsert also played and there was some chorus singing.

The next Club night will be on the evening of the third Thursday in January.

St. Andrew's Brotherhood meets this month on the evening of Dec. 16th, and it is hoped some more of our young men will join the Brotherhood at that time. We need their help especially in the effort to build up the night services.

Sermon of the Rector. The sermon preached by the Rector at the annual service of the Society of the Sons of the Revolution last year in S. Peter's Church has been printed. The Rector has a number of copies he will be glad to give to any who may care to have them.

St. Agnes' Guild Entertainmene. The Guild's Annual entertainment took place on Nov. 17th. The usual large crowd attended and the Guild is very grateful for the generosity of the congregation in purchasing tickets. The following children took part: Aimee Villermaux, Caroline Ritser:, Dorothy Maginniss, Lizzie Moore, Katharine Rocap, Mary Smith, Ruth Smith. Reba McDermott, Margaret Diflo, Lucy Moffitt, Barbara Ritsert, Hilda Bieberbach.

They were assisted by Mr. Harry Ritsert, and the following young ladies, Miss Margaret Mull, Miss Frances Whitehurst, Miss Anna Ritsert and Miss Lottie Bieberbach.

A novel feature of the occasion was the joining of the audience in the popular songs by the Guild.

A New Book by the Rev. Curate. A Book entitled "Stories and Talks on the Sacraments" has just been published by the Rev. Curate. It consists of fourteen chapters, sixty-eight stories and thirty-five poems. As it is illustrated with thirty-two full page, half-tone engravings, and is bound in silk cloth and gold stamping it is suitable for a Gift Book for Christmas. It contains about two hundred pages and has been favorably reviewed by several Church papers. It sells for a $1.00 a copy and is now ready for delivery. It can be obtained at the Church. A circular concerning the book is enclosed in this issue.

Confirmation. The Bishop of the Diocese has appointed Sunday, Feb. 8th, for an all day visitation of the Parish. That means that he will attend all the services that day, visit the Sunday School, meet the Vestry and generally examine into the working of the Parish. He will also administer Confirmation. Instructions preparatory to Confirmation will begin this month of which due notice will be given.

Girls' Friendly Society Schedule for December:

2nd. Devotional Meeting, and business.
9th. Cooking Class, and Embroidery.
16th. Cooking Class, and Embroidery.
23rd. "Christmas In Other Lands." Illustrated talk.
30th. Party.

The Friendly made a quantity of "Fudge" which was sold for the benefit of "Angels In Art" and realized $40 from it.

Some parishes are what is known as High, some as Low and some as Broad. Of course this character may change from time to time. A parish that is High under one Rector, may become Broad under another, and vice versa. But as the Ascension has now been under one Rector for thirty-three years, and he has held uniformly the same position, its characteristics have been pretty well established. And the Rector is anxious that every one in the parish should understand and appreciate just what these principles are, that they may be heartily and enthusiastically supported.

From his first coming to the parish the Rector was very anxious that it should teach and stand for what he considered the true Anglican idea of the church, as opposed to Roman Catholicism on the one side and the mere Protestant idea of the Church on the other. The Roman Catholic regards the Church as an autocracy governed absolutely by one man, the Pope, and that every one must believe and do just what he commands. The Protestant on the other hand, sees no necessity of union among Christians and recognizes no authority except in the individual conscience. He thinks Christians can associate themselves together in any way they choose and worship after any manner they see best. The Anglican believes that the Church of England and the Churches which are in communion with it are parts of the one Catholic Church which has come down from the times of the Apostles, which has thrown off the usurped authority of the Bishop of Rome, and some un-Catholic teachings and practices which had grown up in the course of the centuries, and holds and teaches the Christian faith in its original purity and simplicity, and celebrates and administers the Sacraments as they were ordained by Christ. So its essential characteristics in Doctrine, Discipline and Worship are those which have prevailed throughout the great body of the Christian Church, and not those first invented by a Luther or a Calvin a few centuries ago.

And these principles are set forth in the worship of the Church as embodied in the English Prayer Book, especially the first Prayer Book set forth in the reign of King Edward VI, whose principles have never been authoritatively departed from, though in practice and from erroneous teaching they have often been obscured.

One of those principles was that the great central act of worship of the Church, by which every Sunday and Holy day at the least, should be sanctified, should be the celebration of the Holy Communion, and with those accessories of vestments, lights, music, etc., which had been universally used. So on his first coming to the parish the Rector instituted such a Celebration, introduced a surpliced choir,—his was the third instituted in this city—colored Altar cloths, and vestments of the Clergy, lights on the Holy Table, a musical rendition of the service, etc.

At the same time he has been careful to avoid the copying of peculiar Roman forms and gestures, all of which are really modern. No intelligent Churchman worshipping in this parish would ever think that he was in a Roman Catholic Church, but sees a beautiful, reverent, distinctly English service.

The Rector also instituted a daily service, afforded opportunity for early fasting Communion, and has ever tried to teach what he considered the true principles of the Catholic Church. He is sure that these are the principles which will be eventually recognized universally as the true principles of our Prayer Book and formularies, and which he believes will be those on which all Christians will be finally united. We believe that the regular attendants of this Church have learned to love and value these things and feel that they get in this parish what they do not always find elsewhere.

Next month we will speak of some other characteristics of this parish which distinguish it from many others.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas. Though the weather was uncertain on Christmas day fortunately the rain held off until the afternoon and did not interfere with the morning congregations, which though not what we have at Easter were somewhat larger than last Christmas. The church looked beautiful and there were some unusually handsome flowers on the Altar. The music was well rendered, and many in the congregation rejoiced in the return to the old method of having the choir present during Morning Prayer. The offerings amounted to some $700, which is over $200 more than last year. In addition $47.95 were given to provide Christmas dinners, the Children's Festival and the Christmas decorations. So altogether we had a bright and successful Christmas.

Gifts. Two drop lights, with glass shades for the work room. The choir master was presented with an amethyst scarf pin. The Verger was handsomely remembered by the young men of the parish. Christmas baskets were provided for the members of the mothers' meeting and others.

Sunday School Carol Service. On the Feast of the Holy Inncents, Sunday, Dec. 28th, at 3.30 p. m., the children had their Sunday School Carol Service. They formed in line in the Parish Building and marched thence around the church.

Upon reaching the Creche, which had been placed in front of the Font, the crossbearer and the school gathered aroundthe little stable, the Primary School standing in front, and sang "Once in David's City stood a lowly Cattle Shed," Mrs. Harris accompanying the carol on the organ.

While gathered around the Creche, the Rev. Curate commented upon the various details represented by the Figures of the Christ Child, the Holy Mother, the Shepherds, the Wise Men, the beasts, etc.

Upon reaching their pews, the school joined in a brief Office of Devotion, the Rev. Curate made an address, several more carols were sung, and the school returned to the Parish Building.

It was generally thought to be one of the brightest and best attended Children's Carol Services recently held.

The Rev. Father Prescott of Montreal, Canada, was with us for a few minutes in the Parish Building; but, having another engagement, he could not remain for the service.

Toys from the children. Quite a number of the children brought toys to be given to other children, poorer than they. It was a pleasure to see them catching the idea of giving rather than only receiving; and we are sure the Divine Lover of His poor, even though they be only littles, will bless our school for thus participating in generous care for others.

The acumulated toys will be given to a Home for poor Colored Children.

Christmas Entertainment. On Monday within the Christmas Octave, the Sunday School entertainment took place. It consisted of sweet little songs by the Primary School, minstrel performances by the boys, and a play by the young men and girls connected with the school. This part of the evening passed off well and happily.

Then Santa Claus held sway and delivered gifts of toys, etc., and boxes of candy to the whole A merry and happy evening was spent and no doubt it gave pleasure to the Children's King and the Guardian Angels.

St. Agnes' Day. Wednesday, January 21st, will be St. Agnes' Day, the Feast of the Patron Saint of our Guild of Little Girls. We will keep it in various ways.

On the morning of the Feast, the Guild will attend a Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament at 7.30 a. m., at which the children will sing hymns of loving adoration to their divine Guest.

On Thursday evening (22nd), they will attend the theatre and on the following Saturday evening will have a party, to which each member of the Guild is privileged to invite a friend.

We always look forward to our Patronal Guild Festival with happy anticipations and remember it with joy.

The Junior St. John's Guild meets regularly every Monday and a routine of Prayer and Instruction and Payment of Dues is followed with pleasure. At its close, the Gymnastic Class meets and three-quarters of an hour is spent in exciting and wonderful way.

Resignation of Choir Master. We regret very much to announce that Mr. Philip F. Alburger, who has been our Organist and Choirmaster since 1907, has resigned his position, finding its duties interfere with the proper attention to the business in which he is engaged. He has been very successful in conducting the choir, especially in developing the tone of the boys' voices, giving us very good music. We are sure there will be universal regret at his leaving.

The Music Committee has appointed as his successor Mr. Henry C. Ulrich, who was formerly a member of our choir, and for the last four years Organist and Choirmaster of S. Elizabeth's Church, where he made a very good record in organizing and controling an entirely volunteer choir. We trust he will be equally successful here. He will take charge February first.

The Men's Club will meet on Thursday evening, Jan. 15th, when a lecture on "First Aid" in case of accidents will be given by Dr. Hubley R. Owen, a member of our Parish and physician to the City Fire department. This subject is one all should be familiar with as one never knows when he may be called upon to act under such conditions. There will be also a musical program, refreshments and tobacco We hope all the men of the Parish will come to get thus to know each other and have an enjoyable evening.

The Girls' Friendly Society program for the month will be on the 6th, Devotional meeting and business.

13th, Cooking, Sewing and Reading.
20th, Cooking, Sewing and Reading.
27th, Illustrated talk on Phila.

The Socialistic Forum we spoke of last month has been kept up every Sunday evening since. The attendance has not been as large as we had hoped, but we have had as many as twenty-five present at a time. The meetings have been very interesting. Each night a professed socialist has presided and after a short statement in regard to some phase of the Socialistic question, he has been ready to answer any questions asked. There have always been a number of questions asked and a good deal of information has been given. The speakers have all expressed themselves as sympathetic with religion, though some of them said they had not been in church for a long time and were evidently prejudiced against it.

The Forum is doing therefore just what we wanted it to do. It is bringing these men into contact with the Church, enabling us to learn just what their thoughts and feelings are, and we hope it is teaching them that the Church is sympathetic with them and can be of use to them in carrying out their plans and aspirations. We wish very much more would attend these meetings whether they believe in Socialism or not. It is only by full and frank discussion of these questions that the truth can be arrived at, and we can all come to work together for the common good.

The Forum will be conducted on the Sunday evenings of the month on the 4th by Mr. James W. Lee.
11th by Mr. Thomas Birtwistle.
18th by Mr. William D. Oursler.
25th by Mr. Harry Goldburg.

Confirmation. As announced the Bishop of the Diocese will visit this Parish on Sunday, Feb. 8th, when he will administer Confirmation. The clergy affectionately call upon all, old and young, who have not yet received this blessing to present themselves for it at this time. Regular preparatory instructions for it are given every Wednesday evening after the evening service at 8 o'clock, by the Rev. Curate. If there are any who cannot attend at that time, he, or the Rector, will arrange to meet them on some other occasions, but their preparation should begin at once as there is only a month left for it.

Some parishes are what is known as High, some as Low and some as Broad. Of course this character may change from time to time. A parish that is High under one Rector, may become Broad under another, and vice versa. But as the Ascension has now been under one Rector for thirty-three years, and he has held uniformly the same position, its characteristics have been pretty well established. And the Rector is anxious that every one in the parish should understand and appreciate just what these principles are, that they may be heartily and enthusiastically supported.

From his first coming to the parish the Rector was very anxious that it should teach and stand for what he considered the true Anglican idea of the church, as opposed to Roman Catholicism on the one side and the mere Protestant idea of the Church on the other. The Roman Catholic regards the Church as an autocracy governed absolutely by one man, the Pope, and that every one must believe and do just what he commands. The Protestant on the other hand, sees no necessity of union among Christians and recognizes no authority except in the individual conscience. He thinks Christians can associate themselves together in any way they choose and worship after any manner they see best. The Anglican believes that the Church of England and the Churches which are in communion with it are parts of the one Catholic Church which has come down from the times of the Apostles, which has thrown off the usurped authority of the Bishop of Rome, and some un-Catholic teachings and practices which had grown up in the course of the centuries, and holds and teaches the Christian faith in its original purity and simplicity, and celebrates and administers the Sacraments as they were ordained by Christ. So its essential characteristics in Doctrine, Discipline and Worship are those which have prevailed throughout the great body of the Christian Church, and not those first invented by a Luther or a Calvin a few centuries ago.

And these principles are set forth in the worship of the Church as embodied in the English Prayer Book, especially the first Prayer Book set forth in the reign of King Edward VI, whose principles have never been authoritatively departed from, though in practice and from erroneous teaching they have often been obscured.

One of those principles was that the great central act of worship of the Church, by which every Sunday and Holy day at the least, should be sanctified, should be the celebration of the Holy Communion, and with those accessories of vestments, lights, music, etc., which had been universally used. So on his first coming to the parish the Rector instituted such a Celebration, introduced a surpliced choir,—his was the third instituted in this city—colored Altar cloths, and vestments of the Clergy, lights on the Holy Table, a musical rendition of the service, etc.

At the same time he has been careful to avoid the copying of peculiar Roman forms and gestures, all of which are really modern. No intelligent Churchman worshipping in this parish would ever think that he was in a Roman Catholic Church, but sees a beautiful, reverent, distinctly English service.

The Rector also instituted a daily service, afforded opportunity for early fasting Communion, and has ever tried to teach what he considered the true principles of the Catholic Church. He is sure that these are the principles which will be eventually recognized universally as the true principles of our Prayer Book and formularies, and which he believes will be those on which all Christians will be finally united. We believe that the regular attendants of this Church have learned to love and value these things and feel that they get in this parish what they do not always find elsewhere.

Next month we will speak of some other characteristics of this parish which distinguish it from many others.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas. Though the weather was uncertain on Christmas day fortunately the rain held off until the afternoon and did not interfere with the morning congregations, which though not what we have at Easter were somewhat larger than last Christmas. The church looked beautiful and there were some unusually handsome flowers on the Altar. The music was well rendered, and many in the congregation rejoiced in the return to the old method of having the choir present during Morning Prayer. The offerings amounted to some $700, which is over $200 more then last year. In addition $47.95 were given to provide Christmas dinners, the Children's Festival and the Christmas decorations. So altogether we had a bright and successful Christmas.

Gifts. Two drop lights, with glass shades for the work room. The choir master was presented with an amethyst scarf pin. The Verger was handsomely remembered by the young men of the parish. Christmas baskets were provided for the members of the mothers' meeting and others.

Sunday School Carol Service. On the Feast of the Holy Inncents, Sunday, Dec. 28th, at 3.30 p. m., the children had their Sunday School Carol Service. They formed in line in the Parish Building and marched thence around the church.

Upon reaching the Creche, which had been placed in front of the Font, the crossbearer and the school gathered aroundthe little stable, the Primary School standing in front, and sang "Once in David's City stood a lowly Cattle Shed," Mrs. Harris accompanying the carol on the organ.

While gathered around the Creche, the Rev. Curate commented upon the various details represented by the Figures of the Christ Child, the Holy Mother, the Shepherds, the Wise Men, the beasts, etc.

Upon reaching their pews, the school joined in a brief Office of Devotion, the Rev. Curate made an address, several more carols were sung, and the school returned to the Parish Building.

It was generally thought to be one of the brightest and best attended Children's Carol Services recently held.

The Rev. Father Prescott of Montreal, Canada, was with us for a few minutes in the Parish Building; but, having another engagement, he could not remain for the service.

Toys from the children. Quite a number of the children brought toys to be given to other children, poorer than they. It was a pleasure to see them catching the idea of giving rather than only receiving; and we are sure the Divine Lover of His poor, even though they be only littles, will bless our school for thus participating in generous care for others.

The acumulated toys will be given to a Home for poor Colored Children.

Christmas Entertainment. On Monday within the Christmas Octave, the Sunday School entertainment took place. It consisted of sweet little songs by the Primary School, minstrel performances by the boys, and a play by the young men and girls connected with the school. This part of the evening passed off well and happily.

Then Santa Claus held sway and delivered gifts of toys, etc., and boxes of candy to the whole A merry and happy evening was spent and no doubt it gave pleasure to the Children's King and the Guardian Angels.

St. Agnes' Day. Wednesday, January 21st, will be St. Agnes' Day, the Feast of the Patron Saint of our Guild of Little Girls. We will keep it in various ways.

On the morning of the Feast, the Guild will attend a Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament at 7.30 a. m., at which the children will sing hymns of loving adoration to their divine Guest.

On Thursday evening (22nd), they will attend the theatre and on the following Saturday evening will have a party, to which each member of the Guild is privileged to invite a friend.

We always look forward to our Patronal Guild Festival with happy anticipations and remember it with joy.

The Junior St. John's Guild meets regularly every Monday and a routine of Prayer and Instruction and Payment of Dues is followed with pleasure. At its close, the Gymnastic Class meets and three-quarters of an hour is spent in exciting and wonderful way.

Resignation of Choir Master. We regret very much to announce that Mr. Philip F. Alburger, who has been our Organist and Choirmaster since 1907, has resigned his position, finding its duties interfere with the proper attention to the business in which he is engaged. He has been very successful in conducting the choir, especially in developing the tone of the boys' voices, giving us very good music. We are sure there will be universal regret at his leaving.

The Music Committee has appointed as his successor Mr. Henry C. Ulrich, who was formerly a member of our choir, and for the last four years Organist and Choirmaster of S. Elizabeth's Church, where he made a very good record in organizing and controling an entirely volunteer choir. We trust he will be equally successful here. He will take charge February first.

The Men's Club will meet on Thursday evening, Jan. 15th, when a lecture on "First Aid" in case of accidents will be given by Dr. Hubley R. Owen, a member of our Parish and physician to the City Fire department. This subject is one all should be familiar with as one never knows when he may be called upon to act under such conditions. There will be also a musical program, refreshments and tobacco We hope all the men of the Parish will come to get thus to know each other and have an enjoyable evening.

The Girls' Friendly Society program for the month will be on the 6th, Devotional meeting and business.

13th, Cooking, Sewing and Reading.
20th, Cooking, Sewing and Reading.
27th, Illustrated talk on Phila.

The Socialistic Forum we spoke of last month has been kept up every Sunday evening since. The attendance has not been as large as we had hoped, but we have had as many as twenty-five present at a time. The meetings have been very interesting. Each night a professed socialist has presided and after a short statement in regard to some phase of the Socialistic question, he has been ready to answer any questions asked. There have always been a number of questions asked and a good deal of information has been given. The speakers have all expressed themselves as sympathetic with religion, though some of them said they had not been in church for a long time and were evidently prejudiced against it.

The Forum is doing therefore just what we wanted it to do. It is bringing these men into contact with the Church, enabling us to learn just what their thoughts and feelings are, and we hope it is teaching them that the Church is sympathetic with them and can be of use to them in carrying out their plans and aspirations. We wish very much more would attend these meetings whether they believe in Socialism or not. It is only by full and frank discussion of these questions that the truth can be arrived at, and we can all come to work together for the common good.

The Forum will be conducted on the Sunday evenings of the month on the 4th by Mr. James W. Lee.
11th by Mr. Thomas Birtwistle.
18th by Mr. William D. Oursler.
25th by Mr. Harry Goldburg.

Confirmation. As announced the Bishop of the Diocese will visit this Parish on Sunday, Feb. 8th, when he will administer Confirmation. The clergy affectionately call upon all, old and young, who have not yet received this blessing to present themselves for it at this time. Regular preparatory instructions for it are given every Wednesday evening after the evening service at 8 o'clock, by the Rev. Curate. If there are any who cannot attend at that time, he, or the Rector, will arrange to meet them on some other occasions, but their preparation should begin at once as there is only a month left for it.

A FREE CHURCH.

We spoke last month of what Ascension Parish stands for in doctrine and worship. Let us speak now of another marked characteristic of this parish. For thirty-three years it has been a Free Church. By that is meant one in which no pews or sittings are sold or rented or permanently appropriated to anyone.

The practice of renting seats in churches arose in this country to take the place of endowments for the support of religion, or direct payments of the clergy by the state, which is so common in the old country. And when the country was new and the towns and cities were small, so that almost everyone was known and could be provided with a place in church, it was not so objectionable. But now, when our cities are so vast, filled with such an immense and heterogeneous population it is a great hindrance to the Church accomplishing the good it should. It presents an utterly false conception of the Church to the world, as if its privileges were only to be given to those who were willing to agree before hand to give a certain money equivalent. And it is certainly very inconsistent with the idea of the Church as an universal Brotherhood in which all stand on a level and have equal rights, to see people seated and graded in a Church according to their wealth, the richest in the front pews in the middle aisle and those less well off further back or on a side aisle, and the poor up in a gallery.

If there is any place on the earth which should be absolutely free and open to everyone, in which one should feel he had a right and a welcome, it should be the house of the One Universal Father. No one should feel that he was ever excluded from a church, except it were by the numbers wanting to attend it, or that he could only go there if he was able to pay a sufficient sum, or by trespassing upon the uncertain hospitality of those who could afford to pay. It is a matter of common experience that many persons are very disagreeable about having strangers put in their pews, and even if they do welcome them, who wants to go where he is uncertain how he will be received and feels that he is intruding, perhaps incommoding or turning out those who have a right to be there. And a stranger feels constrained put into the midst of a family or company, who looks inquisitively at him, wondering who he is or how he will behave.

We believe that there is nothing which has done so much to alienate people from the Church, and make them give up the habit of church going altogether as the pew renting system.

In our finest churches you cannot even rent a sitting, you must rent a whole pew, or make a private arrangement with others to divide one. People in moderate circumstances cannot do this. And for those living in boarding and lodging houses, constantly moving about, as so many do, it is not worth while to rent a pew in a particular church if they could. There are thousands of young men and women in our cities who are living by themselves, without any families. Can you expect them to go to church under such circumstances? The result is they do not go, at least regularly; multitudes not at all.

And how can the Church hope to win the erring, the vicious or the indifferent classes if she demands a payment before anyone can even enter her buildings and hear her message? This is not giving the Gospel "without money and without price."

But, it is said, churches have to be supported. True, but the church must always depend for that support upon the voluntary gifts of those who value its blessings for themselves and are glad to extend them to others. And those who have the means should provide endowments for Churchs so that they can be permanently supported, no matter what fluctuations of population or membership may take place in their neighborhood.

On this principle of an absolutely free church this parish has been carried on successfully for thirty-three years, and we believe that it has reached a larger number and more people of different classes, and has received more money for its support than it would have under the pew rented system.

PARISH NOTES.

The Bishop's Visitation. For the first time in all its history this parish will receive an all day visitation by the Bishop of the Diocese. Usually the Bishnps have come to a single service, generally of a week day evening, preached and administered Confirmation and that was all. This time the Bishop will hold the following services:

Saturday, February 7, at 8 p. m. A devotional meeting of all the Communicants of the Parish. The Bishop desires, and the clergy urge, all our people, as many as possibly can do so, to be present at this service. It will be conducted in the Church but will be entirely informal.

Sunday, February 8, at 7:30 a. m. The Bishop will celebrate the Holy Communion. At the mid-day service he will preach, and after the service he wishes to meet the Vestry of the Parish. He will visit the Sunday School in the afternoon, and also Confirm a sick member in private. At 7:45 p. m. the Bishop will preach again and administer Confirmation, and we hope attend the Socialistic Forum, in which we know he is much interested.

All this will make a very full day for him, and ought to be of great benefit to the Parish. We hope to see all members at these services. The offerings at the evening service will be for the "Bishop's Purse," which he uses for Benevolent purposes.

The Rev. Curate has been giving confirmation instruction every week as follows:

On Tuesdays at 4 p. m. to children; on Mondays at 8 p. m. to boys; on Tuesdays at 8 p. m. to adults; on Wednesdays at 8 p. m. to adults and children; on Fridays at 4:45 p. m. to children; and on Saturdays at 7:45 p. m. to girls. These will be continued through this month.

Visitors were welcomed at any of these meetings and quite a number came to the Wednesday evening class,

Sunday School Missivnary Service. On Sunday afternoon, January 11, the Sunday School joined in a missionary service prepared by the Board of Missions in New York. It involved prayers and Psalms and address by the Rev. Curate.

St. Agnes Day. On Wednesday, January 21st, there were present at a Choral Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament 20 children and 6 adult at 7:30 a. m. They sang heartily their hyms of adoration and so far as observed every child behaved with proper reverence, kneeling before his Saviour.

On Thursday 26 went to the Colonial Theater at the invitation of the manager and enjoyed a clean and amusing series of vaudeville acts and songs.

On Saturday 27 came to their party. It had rained all day and continued through the evening and this, of course, kept away some of our guests. But it is hard to quench the joy and ardor of children; so in the midst of the rain we had our party.

The regular attendance at the Guild on Saturday evenings this winter is larger than it has been for several years, nearly doubling that of last year.

The Men's Club last month was attended by about forty men, old and young. Doctor Hubley Owen gave a most interesting and instructive lecture on "first aid," telling and illustrating what should be done in cases of accident, the resuscitation of those who are overcome by smoke, drowning, etc. The lecture was listened to with the greatest attention, and the thanks of all were tendered to Dr. Owen for giving it. The next meeting of the Club will be on the evening of the third Thursday in March, of which due notice will be given.

The Socialistic Forum has been continued every Sunday evening, and though the numbers attending have not increased, different persons have come each night, and the meetings have been interesting. Questions have been freely asked and answered and the best temper possible has been displayed. We only regret that more do not come to them. The way to determine what is wisest and best, is to hear all can be said both for and against any proposition. If the opponents of Socialism, as well as its advocates, would attend the Forum, its discussions would be more profitable. It will be continued as long as an attendance can be secured.

Minstrel Show and Dance. S. John's Guild will give a minstrel show followed by a dance in the Parish Building on Thursday evening, February 12th. Tickets of admission, 15 cents. The Guild will also give a Sociable, at which there will be dancing, on Thursday evening, February 19th. Admission by invitation.

Acknowledgment of Missionary Box sent in December:

December 10, 1913.

My dear Mrs. Smith:

This letter I am writing to you for the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Ascension from whom came the box, which we received in good order yesterday. It is very hard to write this letter, for it is so utterly impossible to express our gratitude and appreciation. It was such a surprise and like Christmas ahead of time. Not only did it stand for a great deal in a financial way, which counts a great deal with most missionaries, but it also meant much, very much, in a personal way of joy and added encouragement. It is such a little thing just to say "Thank you," and the most we can do is to work still harder for the spread of Christ's Kingdom in this country even as you are working together for its advancement.

You cannot realize what it means to us who are working on the outposts where the Church is weak to feel that after all me are but a part of a big army, and that, though far away, yet the others are with us and we are one in the battle. Here, where often the crisis is not one of advancement, but often of very existence, one needs that sense of fellowship. Such was the message the box brought to us, and we will go on with a new courage gained from this token of your interest and sympathy.

Most sincerely yours,

AN OPEN CHURCH.

Another characteristic of the Church of the Ascension is that it is an ever open Church. Since it was erected twenty-seven years ago its doors have never been closed a single day, winter and summer. On the outside of the church is a brass plate stating that the church is always open for private prayer. And in the vestibule there is a printed sign asking every one who enters there not to leave the church without saying a prayer for himself, for those who minister in the church, and those who worship in it.

Many doubtless have done so, and who can tell what blessings have resulted from such prayers, which would never otherwise have been offered.

The church is the best and most appropriate and inspiring place in which to say prayers and the fullest opportunity for its use in that way should be given.

And the church has not only been open all through the day, but services have been said in it daily throughout most of the year. Morning and Evening Prayer have been always said, also a service on Wednesday evening, and for the last eight years there has been a Celebration of the Holy Communion daily at 7 a. m., except on Thursdays when it is at 9 a. m. This is in accordance with the intention of the Prayer Book which provides for a daily Celebration and prayers morning and evening. As the church is the best place in which to pray, so a regularly arranged service is the most helpful way in which to pray.

Our Bishop at his visitation of the Parish last month urged the communicants to reserve some portion of each day for prayer, and not to make their prayers mere selfish cries for something for themselves. Now the surest way to do that would be to attend the daily services in the church, or at least one of them. Our forms of service secure our praying in the right way and for just those things for which we ought to pray. We are sorry our people do not use these services as they should. They would be a great blessing to them if they did. But even if only a few persons come, the church by being always open and holding these services is setting the example and giving the opportunity to all to pray, and the clergy are using them for their own spiritual benefit and they are thus too dischaging their Priestly obligation of intercession for their own people and for all who need their prayers.

So the open church is not only a call and opportunity for prayer but it affords a place into which any one who is passing may go for a while for rest and meditation, where he can have his thoughts taken away from their disquieting and often debasing engrossments, and elevated to higher things. Many persons are so circumstanced that they have really no other place they can go where they can enjoy quiet and have spiritual influences so strongly brought to bear upon them. The church can and should afford such a place and opportunities to her children. It is a shame, and waste of a large and costly plant, to have a church closed and standing idle, unused except one day a week. Then, too, the church being always open and services being held in it daily at regular hours, enables the people to know when and where they can see the clergy if they desire to do so. And any one having anything to send to the church can do so at any time, knowing it will be received. And it is thus always ready for special devotional meetings of Societies or Guilds or for marriages or burials or extra services.

And an open church should mean, too, an open Parish building, where church workers and committees can carry on their activities at all times, and where the young people, especially when out of work, can congregate and have healthful reading matter and games provided for their occupation.

All these are ways by which an ever open church can contribute to the spiritual and social benefit of a parish. We have found it most effective here used in these various ways.

PARISH NOTES.

The Bishop's visitation was most delightful and helpful. The Parish is favored in being one of the few parishes this year to have an all-day Visitation. At the meeting for communicants the evening before over sixty persons were present and the Bishop's instruction was most admirable. At the early Celebration on Sunday there were twenty-seven communicants. We regret there were not more present. At the mid-day service, the Bishop preached an excellent sermon, and afterward greeted the members of the Vestry and others of the congregation. After dinner with the Rector and his family, he returned to the church for the 3.30 P. M. Children's Service where he spoke. The Rector then went with him to Confirm a paralized lady on Seventeenth St., and then he went with the Rev. Curate to Confirm another aged and infirm lady in Pine St. At the evening service he preached again and Confirmed a class of seventeen, making the total Confirmed nineteen. We had hoped he would have attended the Socialistic Forum after the night service, but having been very much rushed during the previous week he did not feel that he could do so.

But we are most thankful for the time he gave and interest he manifested in our parish. He particularly complimented our music.

Lent. We enter on the Lenten season with this month and we earnestly trust our people will try to use it as a special means for the cultivation of their spiritual life. As we have so many services regularly no additional ones are put on, but our people can make more use of them than they usually do. The boys of the choir will be present at the evening service every Tuesday and Friday. On Tuesdays the Rector will lecture on the primary duties of life, our duty as individuals, as members of a family, of the community, of the State, of the Church. On Friday afternoons a visiting clergyman will lecture, and it is well for our people to hear other preachers beside their own clergy who speak to them so often.

We urge all our people to make a rule to attend at least one service a day during Lent,—we have three each day and four on Wednesdays,—and at least one Celebration of the Holy Communion a week, and to adopt a definite rule of self-denial in the way of fasting or abstinence from amusements, luxuries and other indulgences. If Lent is used in this way it can be be of real service in making us truer and better Christians.

Special sermons. In addition to the week-day lectures during Lent, the Rector proposes to deliver a course of sermons on Sunday evenings on some of the fundamentals of religion, such as "the existence of God, what is the Bible, has there been a Revelation, the Divinity of Christ, is there a future life, and are there future rewards and punishments."

It may seem strange that it should be thought necessary to teach any of these truths from a Christian pulpit, but the fact is that owing to our want of general religious teaching in this country there are now multitudes of people living among us who have never been instructed in the truths of religion and consequently are sceptical or without faith on these points. We hope that many who are so will attend these sermons and hear what can be said on these questions.

The Girls' Friendly Society meets each Tuesday evening this month to do Lenten work, except on the first Tuesday when it has its usual devotional meeting.

The Men's Club will have a Smoker on Thursday evening, March 19th.

Cantata. On the Tuesday evening of Holy Week our Choir, probably augmented, will render Stainer's "Crucifixion."

Death of Miss Vogdes. Last month the parish lost one of its oldest and most devoted Parishioners in the death of Miss Sarah Vogdes. For twenty-four years she has belonged to the parish. For some years, she taught in the Sunday School and helped in other ways the work of the Church, She presented to the Church the large Lectern Bible now in use. Though for some years she has been living in Christ Church Hospital, she came into the Church as often as she could.

SERMONS BY THE CLERGY.

The Rev. Curate will preach this Lent in the city at St. Philip's; St. Luke's, Kensington; Good Shepherd, Kensington; St. Elizabeth's; and All Saints', Darby. Also at St. Mary's, Baltimore; St. Stephen's, Camden, N. J.; Sewickley, Pittsburg; All Saints', Norwood; Trinity Cathedral, Easton, Md.; St. John's, Norristown.

Prayers Asked. The Rev. Curate asks the prayers of the congregation on behalf of several series of addresses he is to make this Lent. On March 19th to 22nd he will conduct a series of Evangelistic Services at All Saints', Darby. On Friday, March 13th, he will conduct a Quiet Day for women at Trinity Cathedral, Easton, Md., and on that night will speak to a meeting of men in the Cathedral. On Passion Sunday, March 29th, he will begin a series of Conferences on the Holy Eucharist to continue every night during that week at St. Stephen's Church, Sewickley, Pittsburg. At the same place he will conduct a Quiet Day for women on April 2nd, and on Tuesday, March 31st, he will address a meeting of clergy and laymen of Pittsburg at St. Stephen's Church, Sewickley. Also on March 30th and 31st and on April 1st a meeting of the children will be held.

On Good Friday, he will preach at the Three Hours' Devotions at St. Timothy's, Roxboro.

He begs the intercessions of this congregation that work for God and souls may be accomplished at these various meetings.

St. Agnes' Guild. The Guild has been having a series of parties during the past month. On Feb. 7, there was no meeting of the Guild because of the Visitation of the Bishop. On the 14th a party in honor of St. Valentine was given at which in the rain there were five adults and twelve children. Little red hearts, made of paper, were given to the children, and chocolate and cake served. On the 21st a Washington Birthday Party was held, at which were present five adults and seventeen children. Little paper hatchets and candy drops were distributed to the children, and chocolate and cake provided. Lest it may seem that we are growing very extravagant, we would state that each "Party" cost the handsome sum of 65 cents in the aggregate. Their office of Devotion was said and as usual an Instruction on some point of doctrine or practice was given at each meeting.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD.

On Thursday, Feb. 12th, gave its annual minstrel show.

It was followed by dancing.

On Thursday, the 19th, the Guild gave a Sociable to the members of the Girls' Friendly and others at which there was dancing and refreshments.

GIVING.

No man lives, or should live only for himself. We all belong to a social order in which each member is dependent more or less on the others. In that order, through different circnmstances some are well off and prosperous and some are needy. And those who have the means to do so should give to those who are in need. God has made even the maintainance of His Church and its extension throughout the world dependent upon the gifts of its members. It is best that it should be so. Men value most that which costs them something, and one of the loftiest and most pleasurable qualities one can possess is that of charity.

It is the duty of every one therefore to given. Even the poorest should give something. It is not the amount but the intention and motive from which the gift is made which constitutes its real value. But of course it should always be proportionate to the ability of the giver and the worthiness of the object for which it is given.

And this is what many givers fail to consider. They give only on impulse. They never think about giving at all, do not recognize it as a normal obligation, unless some special object of charity is obtruded on their notice, something that appeals to their benevolent impulses. And they do not realize their obligation to contribute to the support of the Church or the spreading of the Gospel. They see that Churches are supported in some way, so they do not concern themselves about it. And as for the spreading of the Gospel, they either do not think of it at all, or they are doubtful of its utility, at any rate they do not feel any obligation in the matter.

Then there are others who give only when they feel they have to give. If a plate is passed to them in Church they do not like not to put something into it, but they put in just as small a coin as they can, or if a personal application is made to them for a subscription to any charitable object, they will give because they feel they have to do so, and they make the amount as small as they dare to.

Such giving is not charity. It is the "cheerful giver" whom "the Lord loveth." Only he who is glad of the opportunity, and takes real pleasure in relieving want or ministering to the comfort or enjoyment of others, or of futhering some good cause, is the truly charitable man, the good giver.

Such a one will seek out opportunities and be careful to see that the object to which he gives is deserving, and one where his gift will produce the greatest or best results.

Then giving should always be systematic, and regular, in full and proper proportion to one's ability. What that proportion shall be every one must decide for himself, being guided by his obligations and the demands upon him. Under the old Dispensation every one was required to give a tenth of all his receipts. But that included the taxes for the support of the government. In the New Dispensation no arbitrary rule is laid down. A man with a large income should give more than a tenth, while a man with a small income, with perhaps a large family to provide for and their future to ensure, is not required to give as much. "He that has much should give plenteously and he that has little should give gladly of that little." Certainly the rule that all should follow is, not to spend more on luxuries and amusements and extravagances than he does on good works.

So one should carefully study the claims of the objects presented to him. He should never give without satisfyfying himself that it is worthy, and will be really helped by his gift and that his charity will do the most good if bestowed upon it. Never give just because you are asked. Often more harm than good results from doing so. There are persons who resort to begging because they find it is easier to get their living so than by working. Always investigate each case, either in person or by refering it to some agent who will do it for you. Our charitable societies exist for the very purpose of finding out and discriminating between the deserving and undeserving and of extending help to the needy in the wisest way. It is far better to give through your Church, or through Societies where all cases are investigated than to give personally without inquiry.

Regard all giving as a solemn duty —to be conscientiously and carefully discharged. And look upon it as something which will give you pleasure to do to the extent of your ability, that you may thereby express your thankfulness for the blessings you yourself enjoy, and which will bring relief and happiness to those who are in need, or less well off than you are. Look upon the Church as the greatest of all charities, because it ministers to the souls as well as to the bodies of men, and to whose support it is your duty regularly to contribute, to the extent of your ability. And the work the Church is able to do will be in proportion to the gifts which it receives.

PARISH NOTES.

Holy Week Services. There will be the Procession of Palms on the morning of Palm Sunday, and Celebrations of the Holy Communion each day in the week at 7 and 10 A. M., except Good Friday, when the mid-day service will consist of the Morning Prayer and Litany at 11 A. M., followed by the singing of the Reproaches and the preaching of the Cross from 12 to 3 P. M. The Rev. James B. Halsey, Rector of S. Timothy's Church, Roxborough, will be the preacher. The preaching will be interspersed as usual with the singing of hymns during which persons may enter or leave the church if they cannot remain all through. In addition to the Evening Service at 5 P. M., the Stations of the Cross will be observed each night in the week, except Tuesday, at 8 P. M. They will also be observed on Good Friday at 9.30 A. M. for the children of the parish.

On Tuesday evening at 8 P. M. the Cantata of the Crucifixion will be sung.

Easter Day there will be Celebrations at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 A. M. Morning Prayer and Sermon and Choral Celebration at 10.30 A. M. The Children's Easter service at 3 30 P. M., and Procession and Sermon at 7.45 P. M.

Easter offering, The following is the statement of the Accounting Warden of the amount needed for the Easter offering to meet our current expenses up to May 1st, the end of our financial year.

Coal bill,	$221.00
Salary of the Rector,	817.51
Gas bill,	60.00
Loan,	100.00
	$1,198.51

In addition to which we owe for Diocesan Assessments.

Sustentation fund,	$ 33.11
Episcopal and Convention fund,	182.84
Convocation fund,	100.00
	$315.95

To meet which only $95.11 has been received through the envelopes as yet.

The offerings on the other Sundays of this month will be required to meet the salaries and expenses for the month not mentioned above, so that it will require a very large Easter offering to enable us to come out at the end of our year free from debt.

It will be remembered that what we received from the proceeds of the "Angels in Art" was not much more than what was required to pay off our indebtedness for the previous year. So that we shall again have to face a large deficit unless our people give very liberally at Easter. We would especially ask those who attend the Church very irregularly and contribute nothing at any other time, to make up for that by a large contribution at Easter.

Flowers. Offerings for Easter flowers are also asked for.

"The Crucifixion", a Sacred Cantata by Sir John Stainer, will be rendered in the Church on Tuesday of Holy Week, April 7th, at 8 P. M.

The choir will be especially augmented to 75 voices on that evening, being assisted by the choir of the Church of the Incarnation, and Mr. Walter St. Clare Knodle, one of our former Organists, who will be at the Organ. Mr. Ullrich, our present Organist, will sing the Baritone part.

Mr. Ullrich looks forward to an excellent performance of this beautiful Lenten Cantata, and it is earnestly hoped all will take advantage of the opportunity to hear it sung on such a splendid scale.

Easter Party for Sunday School. The Sunday School expects to have a Party on the Monday in Easter Week at 8 P. M. The performers in the entertainment part will be the members of the School. Each scholar is authorized to invite one guest. We hope to have a merry time. Light refreshments will conclude the affair.

The Daily Eucharist. It is a pleasure to record that the attendance this Lent and this winter has been materially larger than in recent years. A real test of one's love for our dear Lord is found in the degree of attractiveness which the veiled Presence of our Divine Redeemer exerts upon a soul. We have reason for gratitude in this regard.

The Junior St. John's Guild. Another encouragement is the attendance this winter at this Guild. Perhads twice as many have come as in recent times and it affords a chance for the Spiritual Director to instruct boys both of this parish and from various Denominations in the truths of God's ancient Religion. Every Monday night Devotion and Instruction form a part of the Guild programme.

The St. Agnes Guild. This Guild, also, has about doubled in numbers this winter, and not for years have their evenings been happier and more edifying.

St. Agnes' Guild Party. The little girls will be happy on Saturday in Easter Week, when their Party will occur. They will each invite a little girl. Games and refreshments add to the evening's pleasure.

A Dramatic Reading. On Tuesday, April 21st, at 8 P. M., a delightful entertainment will be given in the Parish House for the benefit of the Girls' Friendly Society, and St. John's Guild. Miss Ethel Barrington, the clever Dramatic Monologist, will give four of her interpretations, and other artists will contribute music and singing. Tickets of admission 25 cts.

Girls' Friendly Society. The cooking class has been a great success, and very much enjoyed, and the sewing during Lent for the Indians and mountain whites, has been of great inest. Mrs. Edward B. Meigs spoke one evening to the Senior Members, and Miss Maule on "Social Service" and "Vocational teaching."

The Men's Club met on Thursday, March 19th. The entertainment consisted of an interesting Boxing match between two representatives of the Young Men's Christian Association. This was followed by an instructive talk by Mr. T. Henry Walnut on the Reform of the Civil Service. There was the usual smoking and refreshments. This will be the last meeting of the Club for the season as next month the Parish Tea takes its place.

The Sunday night sermons by the Rector this month will be on Palm Sunday on "Salvation", Easter day, "The Resurrection", Low Sunday, "Is there a future life?" Second Sunday after Easter, special sermon to "The Knights of Pythias," who will attend in a body.

Wanted. Some persons in the parish who would like to send regularly Harper's Magazine, the Cosmopolitan, and Ladies' Home Journal through the Church Periodical Club. Miss S. E, Gilpin, 904 Clinton St., will be glad to give the addresses.

Rummage Sale. Any contributions for a Rummage Sale will be thankfully received. Things sent to the Parish House before the end of April.

Warren McGarrick. The deepest sympathy of the congregation is extended to our fellow members, Mr. and Mrs. McGarrick, on the mysterious disappearance of their little boy.

MEMORIAL TO THE REV. WILLIAM BERNARD GILPIN.

This is one of the many memorials erected to the memory of our late beloved Curate.

OBSERVANCE OF GOOD FRIDAY

The following resolution was adopted at the late General Convention of the Church held in New York last October.

"Resolved, That we recognize with sympathy the inability of many Christian people to share in the age-long custom of setting apart Good Friday as a day of public and private devotion in commemoration of the sacrifice of our Lord. In view of this fact we call upon them at noon on that day to unite in at least a few minutes of special personal contemplation of Christ crucified."

PARISH VISITING.

Every clergyman wants to know the different members of his congregation. He wants to know their characters, dispositions and circumstances, their views and opinions on religious matters, and the difficulties or problems they may have in their lives that he may, if possible, be of service to them. The idea of the Pastoral office is that the Pastor should be to his people what that word implies, a Shepherd to a flock, one who watches over, leads, guards, and feeds in spiritual things those committed to his charge. He should be their friend and confident and adviser. And if he sees they are negligent of their duties or wandering from the right way, it is his duty to go after them to try to recall them, and if necessary to rebuke them. This is an exceedingly difficult office to discharge. It requires a great deal of tact and delicacy. And above all it is necessary that he should know his people. This can only be done by his visiting them, seeing them in their homes and surroundings, becoming intimate with them and they with him. It is as necessary that they should come to know and trust him, as for him to know them.

Of course every clergyman has times appointed when he can be seen in his church or office We publish in every issue of this paper that the clergy of this parish can be seen in the Church after any service, or are ready to meet people there at any time by appointment. But there are only some who go of their own accord to see their Pastor. It would be much easier and more satisfactory for him if more would do so. And the Church is the most suitable place for interviews on religious matters. But in most cases the clergyman must go after his people, he must visit them in their homes.

And this is an exceedingly difficult thing for him to do, especially in a city congregation of any size. Owing to our modern facilities of transit, the members of a city congregation now are often widely scattered. There are people living in West Philadelphia who come regularly into the city to church, and there are those living in the city who go out there. The old parish idea of those living in the vicinity of a church attending it, is rarely carried out. People belong to churches to which they have become attached, or to which they are attracted, no matter where they are situated. We have people coming to this church who live as far south as Shunk St. 2600 south, and above Erie Ave. 3700 north, and from Second St. to Sixtieth. There are four parishioners living in Germantown, three ladies in Christ Church Hospital on the edge of the Park, who still want to see their old Pastor sometimes, there are some thirty houses in West Philadelphia the Rector visits.

All this involves an immense amount of labor and consumes a great deal of time. The Rector's rule is to spend part of each day throughout the winter in parish visiting, unless he is prevented by other duties, attending funerals or meetings of societies or committees to which he belongs, etc. And even so it takes him the whole winter to get round and see every one belonging to the parish once. And he does not accomplish even that, for he often fails to find those whom he calls upon at home, even after three or four attempts to do so. And there are some persons whom it is very difficult for a clergyman to see at any time, especially the men and above all the young men of the parish, a class to whom his friendship might be of more use than to any others, if it could really be secured. But how is he to do so? Such persons are never at home during the day, and they cannot be pursued and interrupted at their places of business, and they are rarely at home in the evening. So there are multitudes of young men who do not know or even speak to a clergyman throughout their lives.

If only people would consider these things they would realize how extremely difficult and unsatisfactory a thing parish visiting is, and yet how important it is if a clergyman is really to know and be of any real use to his people in their daily lives.

If any in the Parish think that the clergy do not call to see them as frequently as they would like them to do let it be remembered that it is not because the clergy are indifferent to them or do not want to know them, but because it is a physical impossibility for them to visit them as often as they would like.

The clergyman wants to know and become intimate with and be a help to his people, but when their numbers mount up to the hundreds and they are scattered over a large area, and he has many other engagements and duties to perform, he is not really able to do more than call on each family once a year. And he is not able to accomplish even that, though he always tries to do so.

If his people would not leave all the visiting to be done by him, but would stop after any of the services when they come to church, especially during the week, when he can give them more time, it would be much more satisfactory, and that intimacy which should subsist between a Pastor and his people would be increased.

PARISH NOTES.

Easter. We had a beautiful Easter day, though the weather bureau had predicted rain. But being so fine a day instead of bringing more people to church, it took many to the seaside and other places of resort, so that we did not have the crowded church we used to have always on that great Festival. The service was beautiful and the music well rendered, part of it was the S. Cecilia Mass of Gounod which is such a favorite. It was repeated on Low Sunday, and on the following Sunday.

The offering at Easter was over $950, a handsome amount, and yet not sufficient to meet all our expenses to the end of our financial year. The Vestry is considering very seriously whether it is possible for us to go on in this way year after year coming out with a deficit, trusting to its being made up by entertainments of one kind or another. This is certainly not the way to support churches. If the people belonging to a parish cannot give more than a certain sum for its support, then its expenses should be kept within that amount.

On Easter afternoon the Children's Easter service took place, when their Lenten offerings were presented and each child—thanks to their old friend Mr. Witmer—was given a flowering plant. These plants brighten up homes which have often little in them in the way of beauty and are preserved in some cases from year to year.

On Easter evening and the Sunday following there was full Cho al Evensong and a Procession.

On the second Sunday after Easter, Myrtle Lodge, No. 61, of the Knights of Pythias, attended tne church in a body. The church was decorated with their banners and a special sermon was preached to them by the Rector, who took for his subject the motto of their order.

Vestry election. At the annual election for Vestrymen held on Easter Monday, the members whose term expired were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. William C. Lloyd, who declined re-election owing to his inability to attend the Vestry meetings or even the Church services, except very occasionally. Mr. William Moore Wharton was elected in his place.

St. Agnes' Guild Party. On Saturday in Easter Week a happy company of some twenty-five or thirty little girls and half a dozen ladies took part in their Easter Party. The only persons of the sterner sex present were the Director of the Guild and one lone boy. Many games were played, for some of which prizes were offered. Ice cream and cake were the refreshments, for which we were indebted to Mrs. Frank Hoffman, a kind friend who has often been good to us.

Sunday School Party. About seventy children and some adults participated in one of the happiest Sunday School affairs of recent years. Indeed this was the first Sunday School Easter Party for two or three years and perhaps for that reason among others it was so much enjoyed. Refreshments, games and some prizes were features of the evening and nothing occured to mar our pleasure.

St. Agnes' Guild Gift to Parish. At Easter this Guild of little girls gave to the church a copy of the Holy Bible with the Marginal Readings for use at the Stalls before the Side Altar. This Guild had already donated the two Prayer Books used there; so that they have the pleasure of knowing that they have provided all the books used for the Daily Choir Offices. The book just given is of the finest seal flexible binding, gilt edges and thin paper.

Ascension day. We remind our people of the coming this month of this Festival, our special Parish Festival. There will be Celebrations as usual in the morning, the full choir being present at mid-day service, and in the evening as well at eight o'clock, when the Rector preaches his anniversary sermon, reviewing the work of the parish during the past year. We hope all our people will be present on this occasion. On the Sunday evening after the Ascension is the Annual Procession of the Parish Guilds, in which we hope there will be a full turn out. The preacher of this occasion will be the Rev. Elliot White, Rector of St. Mark's Church. And on Monday evening, May 25th, the Annual Parish Tea will take place, a custom we have observed without a break for nearly thirty years. They have always proved most enjoyable occasions

The Sunday evening Forum which we have had since the first of December is discontinued for the present owing to the difficulty in securing persons to conduct it. Now that the warm weather is coming on speakers are so much in demand for outdoor addresses that they cannot be spared for indoor meetings.

Missionary box. In spite of many bad Wednesdays which interfered with a full attendance, the Ladies' Aid succeeded in making up a very substantial box for the Holy Cross Fathers in Sewanee, Tenn. It was valued at $50.

An entertainment was given on April 21st through the efforts of the Misses Gilpin and proved a very delightful and successful affair. There was a large attendance. The talent being entirely gratuitous and outside the Parish, with the exception of Mr. Ullrich who kindly consented to sing three songs, made it very interesting.

Miss Ethel Barrington gave her four impersonations and monologues n her own charming and clever way, and the other artists—Mrs. Leonard who sang, Mrs. F. H. Gilpin who played on the violin, and Veto la Monica who played on the piano, with Mr. Ullrich's charming songs—won great applause.

The proceeds will be used for the Girls' Friendly Society work and St. John's Guild.

The Girls' Friendly Society will continue its regular meetings on Tuesday evenings through May. A Rummage Sale will be held on Saturday, the 16th, from 3 to 9 o'clock, in the Parish Buildings.

Church Periodical Club. It is hoped that all who are closing their homes this Spring will not forget to send all their magazines to the church, or offer to send a magazine regularly through the summer to some address supplied by Miss S. E. Gilpin, Librarian.

Special sermons. The Rector is preaching on the Sunday mornings of this month a series of sermons on the history of the Christian Church. And in the evenings he will speak on the present types of Christianity, Roman, Protestant, Liberal, and Catholic

A Dance. On Thursday evening, April 28th, an informal dance was given by Miss Hodge, in the Parish House, to the members of her Bible Class. There were fifteen young men and young ladies present, and after dancing, they were served with ice cream, cake, and coffee. It was voted a great success, and it is hoped to have one every Spring. The music was furnished by a borrowed phonograph.

ANNIVERSARY SERMON.

The Rector preached his thirty-fourth anniversary sermon as Rector of the parish on the evening of Ascension day.

He began by dwelling on the great significance of the Feast of the Ascension and its special importance to this church as its parochial festival.

He expressed his thankfulness for his continued good health which had enabled him to officiate on every Sunday in the year with one exception.

He then went on to read the items of the annual report of the parish as made to the Bishop on May 1st and to comment upon them. We publish the report in full in this issue.

The number of Baptisms was the same as for the previous year. There were six less Confirmations, Marriages and Burials, and nine less added to the Commnnicant list, but twenty less were lost, making the total loss eleven.

Those who died were Mr. Frederick Tallent, an aged blind man, long a faithful attendant until he moved to West Philadelphia and was too feeble to come so far. John Martin, who became a communicant when on his death bed. William Long Anderson, Confirmed in the parish and for some time a regular attendant but who had been an invalid for some years. William Anderson, a familiar figure in the Church as he always sat near the front in the middle aisle and was present each Sunday morning. as he was devotedly attached to the Church. married out of the city, but returned to her sister's during her last illness where she was ministered to by the Rector. Sarah Vodges for many years connected with the Church and at one time a teacher in the Sunday School, she presented the Lectern Bible and Altar service book now in use, she died in Christ Church Hospital where she has been living for some years. Matilda Buckingham, she had lost all her relatives and living alone, became despondent and took her own life, the first case we believe of a communicant of the parish commiting this awful crime. John Reed Mason, for many years a choir boy, he lost his young wife some years ago and now dies himself leaving a small son. Frances Bond, for some years a faithful attendant of the Church and Mothers' Meeting, but lately living too far from the church to continue doing so. All these were ministered to by the clergy in their last illness with the exception of Miss Buckingham. May they rest in peace.

The Sunday and Saturday Industrial Schools of the parish have maintained about the same numbers as last year, but neither are as large as formerly owing to the different character of the population in our neighborhood.

The Guilds have been well maintained especially the Junior S. John's and S. Agnes. The former made a good showing at their annual spring sports, and the latter every Sunday as they sit in the front seats in the church. The Men's Club had three interesting meetings and S. John's Guild and the Girls' Friendly a num- of sociables. The latter had also a very profitable cooking class. We regret that more of the younger girls did not avail themselves of learning this very important art.

The Mothers' Meeting was very regularly attended by a dozen or more, and was of great assistance to them as well as aid to the Hospitals for which they worked.

The little band of the Woman's Auxiliary sent off a very substantial missionary box and their usual offerings to the different branches of the missionary work.

The still smaller group of the Ladies' Aid sent a box valued at $50 to a school in the south, beside doing necessary work in caring for the clergy and choir vestments.

The financial items of the report show about $1,000 less received than last year, but the expenses were some $800 less also. This difference was largely due to the cost of two stained glass windows and a water heating apparatus being included in the last report. The receipts for current expenses and the total receipts were quite up to the average of a number of years past. We are especially indebted to the ladies who worked so hard in connection with "The Angels in Art" which secured the church so large a sum.

In spite of these facts, however, we find ourselvee again with a deficit of some $500 at the end of the year. And as this seems to have become our chronic condition, the Vestry have resolved that some intrenchment must be made and our expenses kept hereafter within the limits of our income.

The general conditions of the Church have been changing in the last few years, and the Church must alter her methods to meet them. Some plans for doing so are under consideration and will be announced in due time.

The Rector closed by urging every one connected with the Church to do his utmost, by regularity in attendance, taking part in its work and contributing to its support, to assist in helping the Church to the full measure of its efficiency.

PARISH NOTES.

Ascension day was a beautiful day and we had a most inspiring service in the morning and an interesting one in the evening.

There was a good turn out of the young people at the Annual Guild service on the following Sunday evening, when an excellent sermon was preached to them by the Rev. Mr. White, Rector of S. Mark's Church.

The Annual Parish Tea was as usual a happy occasion. A number of musical pieces, recitations, etc., by members of the parish and some of their friends were given and bountiful refreshments provided.

Summer services. Last summer the experiment was made of having only one Celebration of the Holy Communion on Sundays at nine o'clock, but it did not prove a success. There will therefore be no change made this summer. The Rev. Curate will celebrate at 7.30 A. M. and the Rector at the 10.30 A. M. service. He expects to spend the summer near the city and will come in town each Sunday. The Curate will preach at the Sunday night service.

Boy Scouts. It is proposed to organize a Boy Scout band in the Parish. Boys between twelve and eighteen years old are invited to meet in the Parish Building on the evening of Monday, June the 8th, for the purpose. Mr. Patton, head of the organization in this city, will be present to constitute the Ascension Band

The Girls' Friendly had a busy month, with the devotional service in the church on the first Tuesday, and a party on the 7th in connection with St. John's Guild, and one evening the members gave a supper to the Secretary and Associates, after which a large and handsome boquet was presented to the Secretary, and a gift and flowers to the lady who had kindly given them some lessons in cooking during the winter.

The Rummage sale was very successful and the Secretary wishes to thank all who kindly sent donations of things for it.

Then came the Guild service, with 12 in attendance, and the members also acted as aids at the Parish Tea.

The last meeting of the season was on Tuesday, June 2nd, at 8 p. m.

The report of St. John's Guild for this month shows 20 members. The receipts from an entertainment given by the kindness of Mrs. Owens amounted to forty dollars of which ten dollars was given to the Church and to the Girls' Friendly and St. John's Guild each fifteen dollars. The Guild had their annual sociable and all enjoyed it greatly. Dancing and a good supper were given by friends of the Guild on the 5th of May.

On the 4th of May the Junior Guild had their spring sports with prizes. The first three were for Church attendance and regularity won by Louis Klofach, who has served most faithfully, and Charlie McDermott. Races and stunts were the order of the day.

St. John's Guild propose giving an excursion next month by moonlight on the Delaware to make money for the Guild, and tickets may be had from any member of the Guild. A good time and dancing will be enjoyed.

The sketch given at the Parish Tea by Messrs. Neill and Rissert was very well done.

Three new members have been added to the Guild this month and we hope for more Juniors.

Mr. Spencer Erwin and Richard Gilpin acted as judges for the boys' sports very kindly.

The last meeting until October was held on Thursday, June 5th.

The News. There will be no issue of this paper during the months of July, August and September.

St. Agnes' Guild Parties. Two children in the past month were honored on their birthdays, one on May 2nd, and the other on May 23rd. A Birthday cake on each occasion was provided, furnished with the proper number of lighted candles. No one was iuvited excepting the members of the Guild, but there were about 25 of them on each occasion. Never were Birthday Parties more happy and sweet. Several new members have been added to our numbers and it is pleasant to see how promptly they are received into the hearty good graces of the Guild.

Sunday School Excursion. Saturday, June 13th, has been fixed upon as the day and Burlington Island is the place for our Annual Excursion. We will meet for the Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament at 6:30 on that morning, and all the teachers and scholars are expected to assist at that Service. Indeed it has been a pleasure in the years past to visit their Eucharistic Lord and to ask a blessing before entering on their day's pleasure.

Sunday School Prizes. On the last session of the Sunday School which will be on June 7th, 43 prizes will be given for regular attendance, etc This is 9 more than was given last year.

St John's Junior Guild. This Guild has had during the last Season the largest attendance in its history. It was a pleasure to see how intelligently and interestedly the company of boys entered into the study and discussion of the various matters included every Monday night in the Instructions given by the Director. A kind friend of the Guild offered a prize to the boy who proved most proficient in an examination on the Instructions given and it was awarded to Master George Mull. At his request there was selected a year's subscription to The American Boy.

ACTION OF THE VESTRY IN REGARD TO THE CURATE.

At the regular meeting of the Vestry on the first Thursday in May, all but two of the members being present, a full discussion of the condition and resources of the Parish took place. The result of which was the adoption of a Resolution to the effect that owing to the changes in the neighborhood of the church and the decrease in its membership, it was not wise to continue the effort to support two clergymen, and that it would be necessary therefore to discontinue the services of a Curate. This action was afterwards concurred in by the two members of the Vestry who were not present when it was taken. It also had the entire approbation of the Rector.

Due notice of this action was given to the Rev. Mr. Dyer, who has been Curate for the last twelve years, and his connection with the Parish terminated September first.

This will make necessary a considerable change in the services of the church

The Sunday night service will be given up. For the last year or two it has been found very difficult to secure a congregation at the Sunday night service. Very few churches in the central part of the city have a night service. In place of it, there will be a shortened Choral Evensong with an Instruction at 4 P. M. This will be attended by the children of the Sunday School, and we trust by many adults as well, and we hope it will prove a more convenient hour for a second service than at night.

This will make only three Sunday services, and the Rector will secure the assistance of some clergyman at one of them, probably that in the middle of the day.

There will be no Celebrations of the Holy Communion during the week except on the mornings of Holy Days at 7 and 10 A. M. and on Thursday at 9 A. M. from Advent to Easter.

The daily prayers at 10 A. M. and 5 P. M. will be continued, with service on Wednesdays at 8 P. M. from November to May.

With such assistance as he may be able to get, the Rector thinks he can keep up these services himself.

He has also secured, at least temporarily, the services of Deaconess Elizabeth Walker, who has had a long experience in church work, as Parish Visitor. It will be a great help to the Rector and benefit to the Parish to have one who can give her time to this work. She will also have charge of the Mothers' Meeting, S. Agnes' Guild, the Primary department in the Sunday School, and the Saturday Industrial School.

The Rector expects to be with each of the Guilds of the Parish, one evening in each month. As however the whole work of the Parish will come upon the Rector, he will have to rely largely upon the assistance of the lay people, and he hopes very much that there will be those both among the men and women of the Parish, who will aid him in carrying on the various benevolent activities.

The good wishes of the congregation will follow the Rev. Mr. Dyer who has been with us so long and who has gained for himself many warm friends. He has removed with his family to New York where he has taken up work in one of the large city parishes.

THE WAR

All Christians' hearts are torn with grief at the terrible catastrophy which is involving so much of the civilized world in the horrors of war. That such an event should be possible is a test to our faith in Divine Providence.

But we must remember that it is not the result of God's ordering, but of human passions and ambitions. And if it is permitted at all, it is doubtless because in no other way can the nations of the world be taught the folly and wrong of maintaining enormous standing armies and spending so much treasure in creating engines of destruction, and submitting to autocracies which inevitably use these powers to promote personal ends.

So far from shaking our faith in religion, it should convince us all the more of its necessity, as the only possible influence that can sufficiently "control the unruly wills and affections of sinful men" and lead them in the paths of righteousness and peace.

It is said that in England the churches were never so well attended as they are now. Many that have been kept closed throughout the week are now opened, and the bells are frequently tolled to call the people to prayer.

Why should we not use our own open church and daily service for the purpose of invoking Divine aid to help and comfort all who are suffering from the fearful calamities this war is bringing to such multitudes of people, and to so overrule human events that it may speedily come to a close?

PARISH NOTES.

The Summer has been very uneventful in the Parish. The services were kept up as usual until August, when the Rev. Mr. Dyer's work ceased. After that the Sunday night service was stopped and all services during the week. The early service on Sunday and the 10 30 and 11 A. M. services were continued.

Beginning with September the daily Prayers were resumed, the Rector being assisted by the Rev John W. Cook, and on September the 20th, the Sunday School resumed its sessions, followed by the 4 P. M Sunday afternoon service. It is proposed to continue this service at this hour during the winter instead of the 7.45 P. M. service we have been having.

So many of our people have removed to such a distance from the church it seems impossible for them to get there at night any longer.

We hope this afternoon service will be more convenient for them At any rate the children of the Sunday School will attend it, and we trust their parents as well. So that will furnish a congregation. It will consist of a shortened choral Evensong with an Instruction by the Rector.

The Wednesday evening service at 8 P. M., followed by the Mothers' Meeting, will recommence on the first Wednesday in November.

Sunday School. The Sunday School sessions came to a close on Sunday, June 7th. Hymns were sung, addresses made by the Rev. Curate and Mr. Witmer, forty-three prizes were distributed to various adults and children.

It reopened on Sunday, September 20th. The hour of beginning will be 3 P. M. hereafter the scholars attending the regular church service at 4 P. M. instead of having a separate service of their own as formerly. This will be much more attractive for the children and will teach them to use the Prayer Book and make them familiar with the ordinary church service which is very important. The Instruction given at this service will be appropriate for both children and adults.

There were seven teachers and some thirty scholars at the first session. We hope these numbers will soon be largely increased.

Some changes among the teachers have taken place. We regret to lose from the school the Misses Stretch but they have removed so far from the church that they find it impossible to continue to attend it. The Rector has secured Miss Agnes Martin to take Miss May Stretch's class. She will organize it as a Drexel-Biddle Bible Class, she having had charge of such class at the Church of the Holy Trinity for the last two years, is thoroughly competent to do so. She will begin on the first Sunday of this month. Miss Marian Stretch's class will be taken by Mrs· Harris, whom the girls all know. The boys she has been teaching will go into the Bible Class. Mr. Robert McNeil has taken a class of boys, and the Rector hopes to get other young men of the Parish to do the same. He is superintending the school himself at present, but trusts he will be able to find some thoroughly competent man who will devote himself to this most important branch of parochial work.

A new class book has been adopted in which a record will be kept of the attendance, punctuality, conduct and proficiency of each scholar. Regular marks will be given and at the end of the season, the averages will be deter mined and prizes awarded accordingly. Special prizes will also be given for learning the catechism and bringing in new scholars. The teachers will be supplied each week with papers containing the lesson for tne day.

S. John's Junior Guild will re-begin its meetings on Monday evening, the fifth of this month. Mr. Raymond Reeves will have charge, organizing it as a band of Boy Scouts, as we announced in our last issue was the intention, Mr. Reeves being the Scout Master.

S. John's Senior Guild, the Brotherhood of S. Andrew and the Girls' Friendly Society and S. Agnes' Guild all recommence their meetings this month.

Women's Guild. The ladies of the Parish will remember that SS. Simon and Jude's day, Oct. 28th, is the anniversary of this General Guild, and we trust there will be a large attendance at the meeting which will be held immediately after the morning service at 10 o'clock.

Gifts to the Church. Our choirmaster, Mr. Henry Ullrich, has presented to the church a very fine cabinet organ, which has been placed in the side aisle of the church in front of St. Saviour's Altar, in place of the very inferior one we had there. He has also placed a superior Welsbach burner and shade on the gas fixture in the Sacristy, and in June he had a photograph taken of the whole choir, the Clergy and Verger in a group; a copy has been hung in the choir room.

Opportune gift. In June an anonymous donation of $50 came by mail to the church. It arrived just in time to pay the quarterly gas bill which was about that amount and for which there was no funds in hand. Our thanks are due to the unknown donor.

Repairs. We are glad to say no extensive repairs will have to be made to the church building this autumn, beyond having the walls and ceilings of the parish rooms cleaned, as they very much needed it. We have however a bill for $60 for repairs made to the roof of the church last spring which is not yet paid.

Prayers for Peace. A special service set forth by the Bishop Suffragan for peace will be used on Sunday morning, October 4th.

St. Agnes' Guild. As usual for several years past, the Guild continued its sessions through most of the summer. During a part of June and the whole of July, they formed the basis of a choir of girls and women, sitting at Evening Prayer in the front seats of the church. The heat at Guild meetings may have been at times intense, but no weather conditions can destroy the capacity for joy and fun on the part of children.

On July 30th, they attended at 7.30 P. M. a performance at Keith's and surely none of the audience were more appreciative than they.

Sunady School Excursion. On Saturday, June 13th, the members of the school attended a Celebration of the Blessed Sacrament at 6.30 A M. Almost every teacher and scholar was present, who went on the excursion.

Eighty adults andchildren had a fine sail up the Delaware and the day was spent joyously and without mishap.

Refreshments and amusements were purchased for the children and their carfare paid to and from the boat

The attendance was the next to the largest for several years and we wished Sunday School excursions came more often.

St. John's Guild Senior's Moonlight Excursion on July 9th was a great success. Some ninety people in all went, about thirty from the parish. The receipts were some thirty dollars.

Deaths. There have been only two deaths among our communicants during the summer months. One was Mrs. Emma Jordon, who, with her husband, was for over twenty-five years a regular attendant of the church. The last two years she has been an invalid, and died in Christ Church Hospital in June.

The other was Miss Elizabeth G. Lloyd, who for many years was most interested in the church, and was constantly doing kindly things for the poor of the parish. For a long time, however, she has been paralyzed, unable to leave her room. Her death was a gracious release.

May these our departed sisters rest in peace.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION.

Sunday, October 18th, was observed at the request of our Bishops as a day for the consideration of, and prayer for, Sunday Schools and other agencies for religious education. There is no more important matter connected with the spiritual life of our people.

Owing to the divisions among Christians it has been assumed that it would be impossible to have any religious instruction given in our public schools. And it was thought that the various churches could provide for their adherents what was needed. And they have tried to do so. But a school at which the attendance is entirely voluntary and of which the teachers are volunteers, and untrained themselves, and which is held only for one hour once a week, cannot accomplish very much. This is coming to be very generally recognized.

Religion is the most valuable factor in the life of an individual or community, and the best means by which religion can be imparted and cultivated is education. It does not come to men naturally, except in a very crude and imperfect way. And to trust to men becoming religious by spiritual influences being brought to bear upon them in after life, is a very uncertain means of securing that end. The best and surest way is by the education of children. Childhood is the most plastic and impressionable period of life. Lessons then learned and impressions produced will be likely to determine the whole future life of those who receive them. So nothing is more vital to the welfare of a community than that its children should receive a religious education.

The most potent means by which that can be given is by the influences of a truly Christian home. If the atmosphere and surroundings in which a child is brought up are really religious the child will be pretty sure to turn out well. But such homes we fear are rare even in Christian countries. Multitudes of parents are not themselves religious, are indifferent to, and unappreciative of religious matters, and so do not concern themselves with the religious development of their children. And many even of those who want to do what is right for their children are utterly incompetent to direct and influence them as they should.

If the Sunday School then is but a feeble means for accomplishing this end and the home fails to do so, what can be done to secure this all important object? That is the question all Christian people should think about and try to solve. A general society has been formed to promote Christian education throughout the land. Our own Church has taken it up very seriously. It occupied more attention at the last General Convention than anything else, and a special Board to advance the cause was created.

There is no reason why moral education, at least, should not be given in our Public Schools, and text books giving such courses have been provided and are being used in some places. In a few of our States opportunities are being given to the clergy of the various Denominations to give religious instruction to the children of their own adherents during school hours, so many times a week.

In other places the churches are trying to establish distinctly religious schools, and colleges, or church halls connected with the State colleges. By these or other means the question must be solved in some way.

All who are parents should feel that they have no greater responsibility than that of bringing up their children in "the nurture and admonition of the Lord." And all Christians, whether parents or not, should feel the importance of seeing that this education is provided for the children of the nation generally. And no man or woman could give themselves to a better or more needed work than that of helping in making our Sunday Schools as efficient as possible. We are trying to do this in our parish and sorely need helpers. Who will volunteer?

PARISH NOTES.

Gifts to the Church. A walnut folding table a small stand, twenty-seven books for the Parish library, a large quantity of writing paper and long envelopes, a thermometer for the Sacristy, some small games for children, and 12 grape juice glasses, 21 Boy Scout Prayer Books. One of our parishioners kindly gave $60 to pay for the repairs to the roof of the church.

The Guild room. Our choirmaster has fitted up the Guild room as his studio. He provided the material to paint the walls and oil the floor and our Verger did the work, thus saving the expense of a regular painter. He has put a grand piano in it to use in the choir practice, a desk, typewriter, etc., making the whole room very attractive.

The Deaconess has been doing very effective service. She has paid during the last month over one hundred and thirty visits to members of the congregation and Sunday School, some at a great distance. She has taken charge of the Primary department of the Sunday School and hunts up regularly all the absentees. She is one of the Superiors of S. Agnes' Guild, and she will have charge of the Mothers' Meeting and of the Industrial School which both begin this month, and will play the organ at the Wednesday evening service. So she is filling many positions most usefully.

The Parish Guilds have now all recommenced their sessions and bid fair to have a successful winter. The Junior St. John's Guild has been provided with a ball and have been playing football while the weather permits out of doors on Saturday afternoons, and basket ball in doors on Monday evenings. It has twenty members in attendance.

The Senior S. John's Guild is also playing basket ball and has had one match with a visiting team. It is also arranging for a sociable to be given on the evening of November the twelfth.

The Girls' Friendly has started the winter with its regular meeting every Tuesday at 8 p. m., with a good attendance and renewed interest. The members are working for the Red Cross Society, and one evening enjoyed a Hallow E'en party.

S. Agnes' Guild has been meeting on Saturday evenings with a fair attendance. It will have a Hallow E'en party on the evening of November seventh. We are very glad to say that the Misses Stretch, though unable to attend the church at present, will continue to act as Superiors to this Guild.

The Mothers' Meeting will re-open on Wednesday, November fourth, and the Industrial School on Saturday morning, the seventh.

The Sunday School is getting well organized. The Rector has determined to continue to act himself as Superintendent, and Mr. William Palmer, a member of our choir, and Miss Margaret Kent have become teachers. Miss Martin has taken charge of the Girls' Bible Class, and as soon as it is large enough it will be regularly constituted as a Drexel-Biddle class.

Each Sunday the teachers are provided with a Lesson paper giving an Instruction both in the Bible and Catechism. The School opens with a hymn after which the Rector reviews the Lesson of the previous Sunday. Then follows the Lesson for the day taught by the Teachers. The whole lasting about three-quarters of an hour. Then the school attends the four o'clock Choral Evensong in the church, which is shortened by omiting the discretionary parts, and abbreviating the Psalter and Lessons The Rector then preaches a short sermon on the Sunday School Lesson for the previous week suitable for adults and children both. The service is bright and attractive and is closed at a quarter to five, and has the great advantage of familiarizing the children with the regular Episcopal Church service.

The Brotherhood of S. Andrew met Oct. 20th. Seven members were present and after a devotional meeting in the church, a business meeting was held at which plans for the coming winter were discussed.

The next meeting will take the form of the Men's Club on the evening of November nineteenth. Cards announcing it with the entertainment to be provided will be sent out to the male members of the Parish as usual.

The Quarterly envelopes for the support of the Church and for a benevolent purpose will be sent out before the first Sunday of this month. The Rector will be glad to give a set to any one applying for it. And every one attending the Church ought to use them as they take the place of pew rents which are required in other parishes.

All Souls' day. This old English Festival on November 2nd which is often confounded with All Saints' day, but which really has a very different meaning, will be observed as formerly in this parish by Celebrations of the Holy Communion at seven and after Morning Prayer at ten o'clock. Any desiring to have the names of departed friends specially remembered at that time can send them in to the Rector before those services.

The Rector wants to acknowledge his obligation to the Rev. John W. Cook for the assistance he has been rendering him, not only at one of the Celebrations each Sunday for which he has engaged him, but for voluntarily attending the other Sunday services and taking the daily evening prayers throughout the week.

NOTICES.

Mission Study Class. Dr. Hamilton Jeffreys of S. Luke's Hospital, Shanghai, will give a series of six mission study classes to laymen in the Church House on Thursday evenings at 8 P. M., beginning November 5th. We are sure that any one attending them will find them very interesting.

The Annual Meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held November 13th in the Church of the Holy Trinity at 10 A. M. and 3 P. M. Addresses by Bishops and others at 1.30 P. M. Lunch will be provided in the Parish Building at twenty-five cents.

Mass Meeting for Men. In Cooper Hall, 23rd and Christian St., Monday evening, Nov. 9th, 8 P. M., to promote the improvement of the 30th Ward. Addresses by Hon. John Wanamaker and Mr. Edward I. Cattell, City Statistician. As our church is in this Ward we hope all our men will show their interest in this movement by attending this meeting, and doing what they can to promote its object.

WHAT EFFECT WILL WAR HAVE?

A question that must have occurred to many of our Church people who are conscientious in their stewardship, is "What effect will the war have upon missionary and charitable giving?" The reply is "That depends upon how fully we believe in our missionary work. There is only one agency which can abolish war, and that is the promulgation and practice, by nations as well as individuals, of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It is God only who can "make wars to cease in all the world." If, realizing its horrors, we desire to work for its abolishment, we certainly will not regard curtailment of income as an excuse for failing to spread the Gospel of the Prince of Peace. In proportion to our ability, our gifts for the extension of God's Kingdom are small indeed; perhaps hardship or loss may make some of us realize the truth.

CHURCH FINANCES.

This Parish is using the Duplex Envelope System. It is the duty of every Communicant member to contribute regularly to the support of the Church expenses. The Rector and Vestry strongly urge those who are not using these envelopes to adopt the system at once. We ask for additional contributors.

OUR PARISH.

The bounds of the district assigned to this Church as its parish by the Ecclesiastical authorities, are from Lombard St. to Washington Ave. and from Broad St. to Seventeenth St. This is for missionary purposes, that is, the Rector of this parish is expected to look after all the people residing within those bounds. It does not mean that people residing there cannot go to another church if they prefer, or that persons outside these bounds cannot attend this church. It means that all the houses in this district should be visited by some one from this church and invited and urged to come here, if they are going nowhere else, and that they should be assisted materially as well as spiritually if they are in want.

Now there is a great difficulty about our carrying out this idea in our parish, owing to the fact that this district is now so largely occupied by colored people. When the church was built here nearly thirty years ago, there were scarcely any colored people living west of Broad St. All the small, as well as the principal, streets were filled with white people many of whom came to this church and sent their children to our Sunday and Industrial Schools and other Parish agencies. Now there are but few white people within our parish limits and those who are there are chiefly Roman Catholics and Jews. There are only about a dozen families living there who attend this church. And the Deaconess has been visiting throughout it lately and reports that she finds but very few white persons of any kind. Some whole blocks are entirely colored.

This is making the work of the parish extremely difficult. Those who formerly attended the church when they were living near it, have moved to a great distance, and if not transferred to other churches, come here very irregularly, not more than to one service a Sunday at the most, and they cannot send their children so far. Consequently neither our congregations nor our schools are as large as formerly.

Now the question is, will this condition continue? We think not. The colored people are very migratory. If within thirty years they have so generally removed from the east to the west of Broad St., we believe they will move still further. This part of the city will become too valuable to be given up to them. And their places will be taken by Americans under improved housing conditions, or by white foreigners who are becoming rapidly Americanised and so can be drawn into our English Church. Then, too, there is already a movement on Broad St. in the improvement of real estate, though as yet it is not just what we hoped for, but it may improve; apartments and finer residences may be built along it, bringing a more church-going class of inhabitants. The building of the subway, too, will further the improvement of the street. And the central and prominent position of the church is such that it should always be maintained and eventually may make it very useful.

Our effort therefore should be to strengthen and improve the church in every way, especially, if possible by increasing its endowment, thus rendering it independent of any temporary fluctuations of population, and enabling it to do its work effectively. We hope all our people will do all in their power thus to uphold and strengthen it.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas. As usual there will be Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 A. M., as well as after Morning Prayer at 10.30 A. M. on Christmas day. Evening Prayer, plain, at 5 P. M.

The Christmas offering will be for the current expenses of the Church. And we depend on large special offerings at this time to make up the average necessary to meet our expenses for the year. Every summer when so many persons are out of the city our receipts are very small, and we have to borrow at least $1,000 to carry us over those six months, or else default in paying our salaries. That is what we have done this year. And now we must pay it back. Though we have dispensed with the services of a Curate, the amount paid the Deaconess, and for the occasional clerical services the Rector must have, make only a small economy. We trust every person in the congregation will give a special offering at Christmas according to his or her ability to make up this amount. There is a special envelope in each set of envelopes for this purpose. There are also others in the rack at the back of the church.

A Christmas festival for the children will be given on the evening of Holy Innocents' day, Monday, Dec. 28th, at 7.30 P. M. There will be singing of Christmas Carols and an entertainment provided for them in the Parish Building

The Rector will be glad to receive special contributions for this purpose, for the Christmas decorations and for dinners for our poorer members as well.

The St. Cecilia Mass. The Choir is preparing this wonderfully beautiful setting of the Communion Service to be sung in its entirety on Christmas Day and the two following Sundays. While the St. Cecilia has been sung many times at the Ascension, it has not been used for some five years, and Mr. Ullrich is planning to make the rendition of this work at Christmastide one of exceeding significance.

The performance of this work has been frequently associated with orchestra accompaniment, but without the most careful rehearsing, entailing great expense, the result is apt to be extremely unsatisfactory. So that Mr. Ullrich feels the organ accompaniment will prove entirely adequate.

The service on Christmas Day will mark the first important work of one of the younger boys of the choir, Master William Bender, whose fresh, young voice will show to distinct advantage in the soprano solos. The other solos will be sung by Mr. Albert Challman, Bass, and Mr. Robert M. MacNeill, Tenor, who are both indefatigable workers in the Choir. The Choir is exceedingly well-balanced and will have the assistance of extra voices for this occasion, which will tend to increase the solidity of the splendid choruses.

The St. Cecilia Mass contains some of the most beautiful solos we have in Church music and is interspersed with numerous trios Most persons are familiar with the beauty of the "Sanctus", but one cannot fail to appreciate the majesty of the "Creed" and the "Gloria", and the impressiveness of the "Kyrie", the "Benedictus", and the "Agnus Dei".

It is earnestly hoped that not one member of the Church will fail to attend one or all of these services or to speak about it to friends.

Elaborate programmes have been printed together with small cards taking the form of invitations, which may be sent by mail, and all who can are urged to distribute them. Mr. Ullrich will be glad to hand them to all those who are desirous of making this Festival of Christmas at the Church of the Ascension one of exceeding beauty.

Mr. Ullrich wishes to take this opportunity to write a word of praise for the entire Choir. The work of the Choir has been extraordinary, having been well-organized and well-trained by Mr. Alburger, and it has been indeed a source of continuous pleasure to be associated with such a splendid organization.

The boys of the Choir took part in the performance of "The New Life" by the Choral Society of Philadelphia at the Academy of Music on Thursday evening, November 19th.

In addition to the large chorus of the Choral Society there was a boy choir of 100 voices, made up from churches in Philadelphia, including our boys. They were especially trained by Mr. Walter St. Clare Knowdle, a former choirmaster of our parish.

The performance was a notable one, and the parts by the boys stood out quite prominently.

To those who may not know, the Choral Society of Philadelphia is the only Society in this city giving the large choral works on such a splendid scale.

Henry Gordon Thunder is the Conductor, and the performance of Handel's "Messiah" at Christmastide is one of the unvarying features of the work of this Society.

Girls' Friendly Society. There will be an interesting course of lectures on Hygiene given by the Superintendent of the Women's Hospital in West Philadelphia on the first Tuesday in the month. Any woman in the Parish interested will be welcome. The next two Tuesdays there will be a teacher for an interesting class; on the third Tuesday gifts will be made for the children at Blockley, and on the fifth Tuesday there will be a party for Christmas.

The Industrial School opened with a larger attendance than usual this winter. We have two new teachers for the girls, Miss Clara Williamson and Miss Parke, and a student from the Art School has kindly undertaken a wood carving class for the older boys.

Year Book. The new Parish Year book giving an account of the work of the Parish for the year from May 1, 1913 to May 1, 1914 has been printed. Copies will be found in the rack inside the Church by the main door.

The Men's Club Night, Nov. 19th, was a great success. Over forty men were present. The address by Major Moses Veale, a veteran of the Civil War giving reminiscences of that exciting time, was listened to with rapt attention by all present. The Major is an admirable speaker and we appreciate very much his kindness in coming and giving us this talk.

On our next Club night in January we expect to have some one who will give an account of the present European war.

The Mothers' Meeting. We are glad to welcome some new members to the meeting this year in addition to all the old ones, and we hope to see it grow. On the evening before Thanksgiving day a bountiful turkey and cranberry supper was supplied by the generosity of some of the congregation.

We trust the members of this meeting will attend the Sunday afternoon service at four o'clock, thus coming to church with their children which is very important.

During Advent the Litany will be said on Sundays after Morning Prayer and there will be a Celebration of the Holy Communion on Thursdays at 9 A. M. The usual changes will be also made in the music in the Sunday services.

Advent and Epiphany Lectures by Bishop Rhinelander. It has been Bishop Rhinelander's custom, since his consecration, to give a course of conferences or instructions in some parish church during the Advent season. This year, at the invitation of a group of students belonging to the Episcopal Church, and with the support of the University Christian Association, he has consented to give the course at Houston Hall, University of Pennsylvania, and to extend the number to six lectures, three to be given in December and three in January. Members of the University, both faculty and students, are cordially invited to attend, and all persons who are interested will be welcomed.

THE FUTURE OF OUR PARISH.

We spoke last month of the present condition of this parish, pointing out how its immediate neighborhood is almost entirely occupied by a colored and foreign population. We said, however, that we did not believe that this would last, but in time it would again become a white district, occupied by a teeming population which might be attracted to the church. Then there is also the probability of improvement on Broad Street. A real estate movement has been already started and though, as we said, it is not as yet of a kind to be of much service to the parish, there is still plenty of room below the church for improvement in the way of residences and apartments, and in the neighborhood east and west. And the position of the church is so prominent on this great central avenue of the city that it ought to be retained at all costs. There are many places in the newer parts of the city to which the church might be removed and do a larger work than where it is at present. But we believe it should be held for the future. There must always be a population in the center of the city, and there should be churches there to minister to it.

But that the position may thus be held and the church be made useful, it is most essential that it should be sufficiently endowed. All the churches in the old part of the city, Christ Church, S. Peter's, S. Andrews, S. Stephen's, S. Luke's and the Epiphany, S. Mark's, the Holy Trinity, and

S. James', have each a large endowment. Several of these could not be kept up today if it were not for their endowments. And every one of them charges pew rents in addition. Whereas the Ascension has been maintained for over thirty years as an absolutely free church, and has as yet only an endowment of some fourteen thousand dollars.

Endowments ought to be provided for all churches. Owing to the constant fluctuations of population, a district which is well-to-do, may in a few years be deserted and become a slum district, which could not maintain a church, and yet it is just such a district which needs a church most. And even in a populous neighborhood the death or removal of one or two persons who have been liberal contributors may cripple it very much.

It would be a great satisfaction to the present Rector to see the church thus provided for so as to secure its future, after he has spent so many years of labor in it.

We may add that, as by action of the Vestry, any money given for this purpose is placed in the hands of the Pennsylvania Trust Co., persons making bequests for the endowment fund can feel perfectly sure that it will be permanently secured as such.

We trust, therefore, that every one in the Parish who has any money he or she could give or bequeath to a charitable purpose, will remember this need. The Parish has had a number of benefactors in the past, whose gifts erected the church, furnished and decorated it, removed its entire indebtedness and partially endowed it, and we sincerely trust that there are others still, who will complete this good work and secure its future against all possible contingencies by seeing that it is sufficiently endowed.

CONFIRMATION.

The annual Confirmation of the Parish will occur this year on the afternoon of the last Sunday in February.

The Rector affectionately urges all adults connected with the church who have not yet been confirmed, to be so on this occasion. They owe it to themselves that they may receive all the blessings which the ordinances of the church can bestow, and they owe it to Christ and to the world, to enroll themselves avowedly in that great army which is enlisted in the glorious task of winning men to God and goodness. Not to be a full member of the church is to stand aside, and to appear at least indifferent to that cause.

Instructions preparatory to Confirmation will be given every Wednesday evening at the eight service in place of the usual lecture, beginning with the first Wednesday of this month. All looking forward to Confirmation will be expected to attend these instructions. If there are any who cannot possibly do so, the Rector will arrange to meet them at some other time.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas. This great Festival was observed in this parish as it always has been with every mark of festivity. There were the usual four celebrations of the Holy Communion, three early and one in the middle of the day. The latter was accompanied by a procession of the clergy and choristers to the chancel with the processional cross and banners, one of the Agnus Dei and the other the Eucharistic banner, both made by ladies of the parish. The music was the S. Cecilia Mass of Gounod, which was most beautifully rendered. The same service was repeated on the Sunday after Christmas, and there was a solemn procession after the four o'clock service in the afternoon.

Our only regret about these services was that the attendance was not larger. The musical program had been very widely advertised and we certainly thought we should have had a crowded church, at least on the Sunday after Christmas. The mid-day attendance on Christmas day itself was somewhat better than usual, but nothing like what it should be. And our greatest regret is that there were not more communicants at the early celebrations. Not one-third of the registered communicants of the parish made their communions on Christmas day. Some doubtless did so in other churches which were more convenient for them, and some will probably come on the first Sunday of this month, but we should suppose that all devout churchmen would want to receive on Christmas day itself. We trust our people will not fall into the Roman Catholic habit of communicating only once a year, at Easter. That shows very little appreciation of this great privilege.

Seventeen bounteous Christmas baskets were sent to the members of the Mothers's Meeting and one or two other members of the parish.

The Children's Festival took place on the evening of Holy Innocents' day. A creche was arranged as usual in the Guild room representing the Nativity group in a stable, dimly lighted, before which the children assembled and sang a Christmas hymn. Other hymns were sung upstairs in the large school room, and after a short address by the Rector, a magician performed some wonderful tricks to the amazement of the children. Then Kris Kringle appeared through one of the windows and began distributing gifts to each member of the Sunday School. These were arranged at the foot of a beautiful tree lighted by electricity supplied by our kind friends of the Storage Battery Company and Mr. Richard Gilpin. All present, young and old, were given tasteful boxes of candy Each member of S. John's Junior Guild also received a very attractive book from their ever kind friend, Miss Maria Gilpin.

The Christmas offering this year amounts to some $588, which is about the average of previous years. But each year $1,000 is asked for and needed. And until this amount is made up our salaries have to stand in arrears. We wish very much that a sum could be obtained in some way to be used as a reserve fund to be drawn upon during those months in the year when our receipts are small, to be replaced later in the winter.

Gifts. The embroidery class of the Women's Guild presented a very handsome white silk embroidered stole to the Rev. John W. Cook in recognition of the services he has been rendering the parish, and a new linen girdle to the Rector. Our Verger also was the recipient of a handsome remembrance from the same class, and from several members of the congregation.

Deaconess Walker, we are sorry to say, was taken sick the end of November and obliged to go to a hospital, where she remained throughout December. We are glad to say that now she is much better but she is unable to resume her work at present. During her sickness her place in charge of the Mothers' Meeting was supplied by Miss Walsh. Miss L. P. Baugh took charge of the Primary department in the Sunday School, and Miss Anna Airey and Miss Margaret Hilferty have taken charge of the little girls' guild, and Miss Clara Williamson and Miss Parke of the Saturday sewing class. Miss Baugh also did some visiting for the Sunday School. So we have made shift to get along. The Rector has now secured the services of Miss Lydia W Drinker as Parish Visitor in place of the Deaconess. She begins her work with this month.

The Men's Club will meet on the evening of the third Thursday of this month when we hope to have a speaker who will give some account of experiences during the present European War.

The Church Fair for S. Martha's House, in which every church in the Diocese, by the Bishop's request, was asked to take part, proved a great success, about $8,000 was cleared.

The ladies of our Parish responded very kindly to the appeal for fancy articles, and we sent a box of most attractive things, about sixty-four in all. The Ascension shared a table with St. Martin's, Radnor, and also took charge of the supper with the help of others outside the parish; $6.00 being contributed by our ladies for butter. Ham, tongue, salmon, rolls, etc. were also donated. Quite a number of the young ladies gave their services as aids to serve the supper for three nights It was very strenuous work and we are much indebted to them for their help.

S. Agnes' Guild The members of this guild who have been regular in their attendance since it recommenced in October were taken to Keith's on the evening of Wednesday in Christmas week.

S. John's Junior Guild have been playing a number of basket ball matches with other teams both here and in the parish buildings of other churches.

S. John's Guild. The basket ball season is well under way and our two teams, playing every Thursday evening, are rapidly rounding into form. The first team, after getting off to a poor start by losing the first two games, finally struck their stride and were victorious in the next two. The last game was on Thanksgiving evening, when our team defeated a team that had previously beaten them; this game was witnessed by the largest crowd that ever turned out to see the red and white, our Rector being among those present. The second team got under way and although they were defeated in their only game, there is every reason to believe that they will win the majority of their games.

On the evening of Nov. 12, we gave our annual "Fellowship Dance", which is primarily to bring together the athletic members, also those who do not come out for the teams. The young people were chaperoned by Miss Gilpin and Miss Hodge.

THE TWO SIDES OF RELIGION.

Religion is the recognition of the relationship in which we stand toward God and our fellow men and the duties we owe to them, with the sincere desire and effort to fulfil them. This is, of course, in its essence a spiritual act. Unless it embodies a sincere intention, it is worthless, and becomes an hypocrisy or a farce.

But if it be sincere, it involves certain outward actions. It requires the public acknowledgement of our sense of that relationship, the public worship of God, and the use of those instrumentalities by which man is assisted in the discharge of his duties, and in the attainment of his highest spiritual development. Thus we find that men everywhere have, not only believed in God, but have erected temples to His honor, and systematically performed rites of worship and maintained a Priesthood, or other agents for the purpose, and have used what Christians call Sacraments, or their equivalent, as a means of gaining help from God.

So then there are these two sides to religion. One is entirely spiritual, consisting of the inward intention and disposition of the soul; the other is outward, involving acts and exercises of devotion. And there is always a tendency to lay an undue emphasis on one or other of these sides. Some say religion is entirely a matter of the heart, it does not need the help, nor require the exercise, of any outward acts, they are regarded as formality and show. So, many hold that a man can be truly religious and not belong to any church, nor ever attend public worship, nor use any sacraments. Or if, like the Friends, they do have a church organization or maintain public worship, it must be of the simplest, plainest character possible, all else is formality, and looked upon as a hinderance to, and inconsistent with, true worship.

On the other hand there are those who lay an undue stress upon what is outward. The extreme of this tendency is seen in the man who thinks that if he attends Mass every Sunday, goes to Confession and Communion once a year and receives the last sacraments when he is dying, he is sure of his salvation, even if his religion does not make him sober, truthful or kindly. And undoubtedly there are many persons who perform the outward acts of religion with great regularity and apparent devotion, and yet who, as far as we can see, are very little influenced by it, either in their lives or characters.

There are two distinct dangers therefore in connection with religion to be guarded against. That of looking upon it solely as a spiritual matter, which has nothing to do with outward acts and ordinances, though there are very few who are so spiritual as to be able to dispense with such helps altogether. And the other is, that of relying only on what is outward, irrespective of the heart. The outward acts are necessary because they are the natural and necessary expression of one's inward feelings, and the most powerful means by which those dispositions may be aroused and quickened. At the same time they should never be regarded as being the whole substance of religion.

Then it should be recognized that people are very differently constituted. There are some who are very much influenced by what appeals to their physical senses. Music, poetry, eloquence, art, ritual, affect them powerfully. They are awed, inspired, helped by worship in a grand church, amid beautiful surroundings, with a reverent or elaborate service.

Whereas on the other hand, there are those who care for none of these tnings, are even repelled by them, prefer the simplest and plainest surroundings. These differences are temperamental. And a truly Catholic Church should make provision for both classes. You cannot force all men into a single mould. We see these differences of taste and disposition in the members of the same family. So the Church, which is the universal family of all God's children, should recognize the variety of character among those belonging to it, and arrange that each may worship in the way that is found most helpful and congenial.

Nor is it necessary that they should be divided into separate organizations in order to do so. There is no reason why there should not be in the same Church different kinds of services to suit different tastes.

Certainly those who prefer an ornate mode of worship should not accuse those who do not care for it, of having no religion at all. Nor should those who do not like it, look upon those who do as hypocrites and formalists.

PARISH NOTES.

Confirmation will be administered in this Parish by the Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese on the afternoon of Sunday, Feb. 28th. The remaining Instructions preparatory to it will be given by the Rector on the Wednesday evenings of the month at the 8 P. M. service in the church.

Gifts. The Church has received a very handsome gift of a reproduction in bronze of Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper." It has been placed on the wall of the west aisle of the church near S. Saviour's Altar. This is not only an appropriate place for it, but it is in a good light, there being two extra gas lights on the top of the column directly opposite to it. The bronze was purchased by the late John Hare Powel of this city nearly a hundred years ago and by him presented to a friend who afterwards gave it back to a member of the Powel family who owned it for many years, and it is now presented to the church as a memorial to Mrs. Amy Smedley Powel and her daughter, Mrs. Julia de Veaux Powel Peters, which is recorded with the dates of their respective births and deaths on a brass plate beneath the bronze.

We were also much gratified last month by the receipt of a donation of $200 towards the Endowment Fund of the Church by a lady, who is not a member of the congregation, but was moved to make the donation by reading the article in our last issue on this subject.

We have also received an ink eraser and blotting pad for the Sacristy, 5 games for the little girls' Guild, and 16 books for the Parish Library.

Lent. As this Holy Season begins with Ash Wednesday on the 17th of this month, we announce that the service on that day will be as on Sunday, 7.00 A. M , Holy Communion, 10.30 A. M., Morning Prayer, Litany, Penitential Service and Communion, Evening Prayer at 5 P. M , and Penitential service again and Instruction at 8 P. M. During Lent, as in Advent, the Litany will be said every Sunday morning after Morning Prayer. There will be a special Celebration of the Holy Communion each Thursday until Holy Week at 9 A. M., and an address each Friday after Evening Prayer at 5 P. M.

The Holy Week services will be announced next month.

Organ Recital. On Thursday evening, February 11th, Mr. Henry L. T. Ullrich, our Organist and Choirmaster, will give an Organ Recital in the Church at eight o'clock.

Mr. Ullrich will have as his assistants Master William H. Bender, the soprano soloist of the choir, whose voice pleased so well in the St. Cecilia Mass at Christmastide, and Mr. Henry Gurney, Tenor.

Mr. Gurney will sing arias from both The Creation and The Messiah, as well as the familiar "Love Divine" duet for tenor and soprano by Stainer with Master Bender. Mr. Gurney has sung in opera in Italy and oratorio and concert through Europe, and his voice is one of extraordinary lyric beauty. Mr. Gurney has sung in the Ascension before, but some years ago.

The organ numbers of Part II of the programme will be devoted entirely to compositions of Mr. Ralph Kinder, Organist and Choirmaster, of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Philadelphia. Mr. Kinder has written many works for the organ of unusual interest, and a careful selection has been made for this Recital.

Altogether, the programme is one of much attractiveness, and it is earnestly hoped that all will avail themselves of the privilege of hearing the wonderful programme of organ and vocal music which has been arranged.

Mr. Ullrich will be very glad to hand cards of invitation which may be distributed among friends who may not otherwise know of the Recital.

The Men's Club meeting on January 20th was attended by about the usual number who enjoyed very much a most interesting account from Mr. Reed A. Morgan of the experiences of himself and family on the breaking out of war in Europe this summer.

All the meetings of this Club have been interesting. Our only regret about them is that more do not avail themselves of the advantage of attending them. Out of nearly one hundred and fifty invitations sent out to men connected with the parish, the attendance is rarely more than a third of that number.

The next meeting will be on the evening of the third Thursday in March, of which due notice will be given.

S. John's Guild. In addition to their weekly basketball matches is planning for another sociable on the evening of Feb. 16th.

Boy Scouts. Arrangements are now being perfected for the regular organization of all the boys of S. John's Junior Guild over thirteen years of age as a Boy Scout Band, with Mr. Raymond Reeves as the Scout Master. We are sure this will be a very useful, interesting and profitable thing for the older boys of the parish.

Envelopes. A new quarter's set of envelopes is sent out the beginning of this month, and we want to remind our people that it is on the receipts through the envelopes and the Christmas and Easter offerings that the church relies entirely for its support. Every one interested in the church should contribute through them, and just as regularly as they would pay a pew rent, thus securing the inestimable benefit of an absolutely free church to those who can not afford to give much if anything towards its support. The cost for the maintainance of our church is very moderate, and yet we think that those who attend it have all the advantages they would get in some of our richest churches. And those costs should be promptly met, but on the contrary we are far behind in our payments, and we do not see our way to meet our expenses up to the first of May, even by a large Easter offering. What we need are more regnlar contributors.

The offerings for purposes outside the parish this quarter are for the Diocesan Assessments for the Episcopal and Convention Fund, Diocesan Missions and the Sustentation Fund to aid poor parishes. For these purposes this parish must pay $341.36, and if that amount is not received through the "other side" of the envelopes, the difference must be taken out of the amount contributed for the support of the church, which of course diminishes the receipts for current expenses.

Will not each contributor give the same amount this quarter on each side of the envelopes?

The Poor Fund. The Rector has to announce that the Fund at his command from which he assists the poorer members of the congregation is exhausted. And yet there are still three months during which the Mothers' Meeting is carried on, and this we think is the best way to give its members help, by supplying them with work. To do this requires from seven to eight dollars a week. In addition to which there is one pensioner of the parish who receives $5.00 and two others $4.00 a month each. So about $100 is needed to meet these demands up to May 1st when another set of envelopes for "the Poor" is sent out.

The Ladies' Aid will meet as usual on Wednesdays during Lent, and propose this year to sew for "the Emergency Fund" for the relief both of our own people and the sufferers from the war in Europe.

THE USE OF LENT.

Lent is the Church's regular annual season of revival. All religious bodies recognize the necessity of revivals from time to time. The Roman Catholics have what they, and we, call missions, conducted in different Churches usually by the members of religious Orders. The Methodists, Presbyterians and others have sporadic revivals led by some noted Evangelist, when one can be found, such as that being conducted here just now. Christians are liable to become careless, and indifferent, and lukewarm in the performance of their religious duties, and so need to be stirred up to renewed life and activity. Lent is the regular annual season which has been observed from the earliest times in all parts of the Catholic Church for this purpose.

In order to observe it aright we should do as Moses did when he was drawing up the great code of the moral law for the guidance of his people, and as our Lord did when He deliberately faced the temptations which He knew would come to Him in His human nature, "go apart into a desert place," that is seclude ourselves as far as possible from other thoughts and occupations which so constantly engross us. Lent should be a time when we abstain from pleasures and amusements, which may be perfectly innocent in themselves, but which if indulged in all the time occupy too much of our attention and strength. It should be a time for a great deal of Church going or the observance of time for religious devotion at home, in addition to what is our ordinary habit, and more frequent use of the Sacraments. What we need is to think about spiritual things, to make a real endeavor to get the better of tendences or habits we have formed, and to cultivate spiritual graces.

We need to realize, far more than we do, the relationship in which we stand to God, and should stand in regard to our fellowmen. To be a member of the Church, means to be a member of a body of which Christ is the Head and every member of which should regard himself as connected with Him, just as the members of a human body are connected with and dependent upon its head. It is the head or mind, that uses the various members of the body to accomplish its various purposes So Christ formed the organization He called His Church, and into which He commanded that all should be incorporated by the sacrament of Baptism, that He might use them to accomplish the purposes He has at heart. Every Christian therefore should do what Christ did. His feet should go on errands of mercy, his hands should be laid on the sick, his mouth should speak words of love and consolation, of exhortation or reproof, his face should express sympathy with the suffering and afflicted, just as Christ did when He was on earth. Lent is a time when each one should ask himself whether he is doing these things, and if not, to set about doing them, or provide the means to secure others to do so on his behalf.

Then as the members of a body are dependent for life and vitality upon the head, so all members of Christ's body are dependent for spiritual strength upon Him. Thus we need to realize and continually by prayer and sacrament seek this grace and help.

We should use Lent especially to do this More real prayer and devotion, confession, and contrition for sin, resolutions of amendment, engaging if possible in some special good work, Church going, the hearing of sermons, or devotional reading, acts of self discipline and self sacrifice, by these means we can keep a good Lent, and it will prove to be of immense value in obtaining the mastery of our evil tendencies, and in establishing and perfecting our spiritual characters.

PARISH NOTES

Lenten Services. Daily 10 A. M., Morning Prayer; 5 P. M., Evening Prayer; Wednesdays 8 P. M., Penitential Service and Lecture; Friday at 5 P. M. Lecture, the boys of the choir being present; Thursday 9 A. M., Holy Communion.

Holy Week, 7 A. M., Daily Holy Communion; 10 A. M., Morning Prayer and Holy Communion, except on Good Friday when Morning Prayer and the Litany will be said at 11 A. M., followed by the preaching of the Cross from 12 to 3 P. M. This is interspersed with the singing of Hymns, during which persons can enter or leave the Church. At 8 P. M., fhe Stations of the Cross will be observed daily except on Tuesday and Saturday.

Easter Day. Holy Communion at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 and after Morning Prayer at 10.30 A. M. Children's Easter Service at 4 P. M.

There will be the Procession of Palms on Palm Sunday at the mid-day service, and a solemn Procession on Easter and Low Sunday afternoons.

Easter Offertory. As our next issue will not appear until after Easter we have to urge our people now to be prepared to make a large Easter offering. We began our financial year May 1st, with a deficit of $505, which has never been made up. So that in addition to meeting our expenses for this year we have still that to pay. This will require an offering of considerably over $1,000. That amount was asked for at Christmas and only something over $600 was received. Let us see if by a strenuous effort on the part of all we cannot remove our entire indebtedness. If every one connected with the Church would do all he or she might do, that result could certainly be accomplished.

Musicales. The organ recital on Feb. 11th, was well attended and proved a most enjoyable occasion. A printed program contained all the numbers rendered. Mr. Ullrich brought out the capacity of our organ as we have seldom heard it. Master Bender sang his part very well and Mr. Gurney's voice was much admired.

On Friday, March 19th there will be at 8 P. M. a musical service at which Miss Jessie Masters of Washington, D. C., a noted Contralto, will give a "Song-cycle" entitled "Mary." It is very appropriate for the Lenten season. She will be accompanied by Mr. Albert W. Harnerd, organist of the Church of the Ascension. Washington. Short addresses will be given by the Rector on the force and meaning of the words of the song. As this talent comes from Washington for this purpose, there will be considerable expenses involved which it is hoped will be covered by the silver offering which will be asked on the occasion.

On Tuesday in Holy Week at 8 P. M. "The Crucifixion" will be sung by our Choir, largely augmented as last year. The offering then will be for the choir fund.

Confirmation. Twelve persons were presented to the Bishop at the annual Confirmation on Feb. 28th at the 4 P. M. service. The Rector had confidently expected some six or seven others, but they failed to attend the necessary preparatory Instructions. No effort was made to present any very young children. Only one was Confirmed who was under fourteen years of age.

The Parish Visitor. We have been most unfortunate in regard to our Parish Visitor. In September Deaconess Walker was engaged, but after working most effectively for two months she fell sick and was obliged to go to the hospital where she remained for seven weeks. She is now about again but unable to resume work. In her place Miss Drinker was engage January first, but after working nearly a month, she too fell sick and went to a hospital and felt obliged to resign her position. The Rector, however, has now secured as Visitor, Miss Augusta H. Murphy, a graduate of the Deaconess House, and an experienced worker. She began work Feb. 19th, and we trust will soon get things in shape, though of course all these changes have been very disadvantageous and some results we had hoped for have not been accomplished.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew. A very handsome dinner was tendered the members of the Brotherhood on Feb. 16th, the date of their regular meeting, by Mr. R. Hinckman Young at his residence. Nine sat down at the table. Two others were invited but were unable to come. Such an occasion adds a very pleasant social element to the meetings of the Brotherhood.

The Men's Club meeting this month will be on the evening of Thursday, March 19th. The agent of the Legal Aid Society will give an account of its work, which is something very well for everyone to know about. We shall also have a visit from the Hautboy Club of the Knights of Pythias.

Social. On the evening of Shrove Tuesday there was a joint social meeting of the members of S. John's Senior Guild and the Girls' Friendly Society, the expense being divided between the two societies, the music being furnished by one Guild and the entertainment by the other. Dancing was kept up until near midnight, there being some couples on the floor.

Easter parties. The children of the Sunday School will be given a party similar to the one they had last year, some evening during Easter week.

The Easter Festival of the Industrial School will take place on Saturday morning, April 10th.

The Ladies' Aid is working during Lent for the Emergency Fund. Work is given out on Wednesdays after Morning Prayer or from 3 to 5 P. M.

The Girls' Friendly Society is sewing during Lent on Tuesday evenings for the Church Home for children at Angora.

Gift. The Church has received the gift of a small very old copy of the Madonna of the Rabbit, so called from the head of a rabbit appearing in one corner. It has been hung over the credence table of S. Saviour's Altar.

SINS OF OMISSION.

It isn't the thing you do, dear,
  It isn't the thing you leave undone,
That gives you a bit of heartache
  At the setting of the sun.
The tender word forgotten,
  The letter you did not write,
The flower you did not send, dear,
  Are your haunting ghosts at night.

The stone you might have lifted
  Out of a brother's way;
The bit of a heartsome counsel
  You were hurried too much to say;
The loving touch of the hand, dear,
  The gentle winning tone,
Which you had no time nor thought for,
  With troubles enough of your own.

Those little acts of kindness,
  So easily out of mind,
Those chances to be angels
  Which we poor mortals find;
They come in night and silence,
  Each sad, reproachful wraith,
When hope is faint and flagging,
  And a chill has fallen on faith.

For life is all too short, dear,
  And sorrow is all too great,
To suffer our slow compassion,
  That tarries until too late;
And it isn't the thing you do, dear,
  It's the thing you leave undone,
Which gives you a bit of heartache
  At the setting of the sun.

There is greater spiritual satisfaction in self-denial, than there is temporal satisfaction in self-indulgence.

Our very sins may be the stepping-stones to higher things, and produce, if not humility, at least watchfulness. There, out of that fetid jungle, we have been able to bring the sweet flower of gentleness.

The Christ-like life (unconscious of its power) draws men to the Cross.

"ONE DAY'S INCOME!"

The Board of Missions desires us to give the widest publicity to the following appeal.

To Each Member of the Church:

It is necessary to raise $400,000. This amount is needed in addition to the usual offerings for missions. It is made necessary because the gifts of the Church through your Board of Missions have been insufficient to meet the present needs.

How has this critical situation come about?

(1) Because of increased obligations—in part ordered by the General Convention.

(2) Because the very success of our missionaries has created new obligations which the Board has been compelled to accept.

(3) Because the Board can never know in any one year exactly what the receipts will be, and as a matter of fact only once in the last seven years has the income equalled the expenditure.

In view of these facts, your Board of Missions at its last meeting appointed a Committee to secure the help of every member of the Church in giving an Emergency Fund of $400,000.

We are encouraged to ask this by the fact that the laity of the Church have already suggested some such action. One of them writes:

"I am deeply distressed by the failure of the Church to give the apportionment. In view of present world conditions, is it enough for the Board of Missions to say: 'There ought to be no retreat?' Should it not rather declare 'There must be an immediate and determined advance?' Does the Board ask enough of us Churchmen? Are we not able to provide all that is needed?"

This layman offers not simply to give one day's income, but the income of one day for each of twelve months, in addition to his usual missionary offerings.

Will you enlist in this campaign? If so,

1. Will you join us in prayer that we may have vision and faith, and may learn the joy and blessing of sacrifice? Deeper far than the need for money is the need for devout prayer in the Name of Our Lord.

2. Will you, in addition to your usual missionary offerings, give not later than June 1st, 1915, at least ONE DAY'S INCOME?

3. If this is impracticable will you make an equivalent self-denial offering?

Of course many can do much more than this.

(1) The members and officers of the Board are taking the lead in contributing, and have already given over $10,000.

(2) The employees at the Church Missions House have voluntarily pledged one day's income.

(3) The missionaries on furlough are planning to do the same.

(4) Wherever the idea has been suggested it has met with a unanimous and cordial response.

Will you join in this?

All gifts for the Emergency Fund will count upon the apportionment of your parish and diocese unless you request otherwise.

Your offering may be sent through your rector, or directly to THE BOARD OF MISSIONS, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York.

For all your loyal help in the past, by prayers and gifts, your Board of Missions thanks you most heartily. We are facing a new world of opportunity, of danger and of duty. Upon your Board of Missions has been placed responsibility of leading the Church forward.

PARISH NOTES.

Gifts. A porcelain head of Christ by Solney Pex, an oil painting in gilt frame by Rothemel of the two Spies; an old painting in gilt frame of the heads of Dante and Savonarola; a portrait after Van Dyke in gilt frame; a small water color drawing in frame; a load of earth, half a bushel of bone dust and two quarts of clover seed for the grounds of the church.

Easter Day there will be the usual extra Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 6·30 and 8.30 as well as at 7.30 A. M., and in the middle of the day.

Easter offering. Again we urge all the members of the congregation and every one interested in maintaining this free church in its central position in the city—from which so many churches of other Denominations have removed, to give as large an Easter offering as they can. Although our expenses have been somewhat reduced by our not having had a regular Curate since September the first, it has not made a great deal of difference as we have been paying a Parish Visitor and for some clerical assistance the Rector has been obliged to have. In addition we have been carrying a debt of $500 from the previous year. This has to be made up, and we hope it may be so by the voluntary offerings on Easter day. Will not all who are behind hand in their payments on their envelopes see that they are paid at the same time? If all the money which has been pledged had been promptly paid, we should not now be in our present condition of owing money and being in arrears for salaries.

Diocesan assessments. So far only some ninety dollars have been contributed to meet the $341 36 we are required to pay before May 1st for the different Diocesan purposes for which this parish is assessed, and we are even requested to give more than that. Will not every one using the envelopes put a contribution each week in the side marked "for others", so that this sum absolutely required may be made up. They will be helping to meet our current expenses by doing so, as unless the amount required for these assessments is contributed, it will have to be taken out of the receipts for current expenses.

Cantata. The two musical services rendered last month were most successful. The night "Mary" was sung was unfortunately stormy, which together with the fact that this cantata was not known here affected the size of the congregation. But all who were present expressed themselves most pleased with it. Miss Masters has a beautiful voice and sang with great expression. The conception of the Song Cycle was a novel one and most pleasing and devotional. We only regret that the financial return to the performers was very small.

The night the "Crucifixion" was rendered was fine and not only every seat in the church, but over a hundred extra chairs were filled. The choir numbered nearly eighty voices and sang with wonderful precision and effect, as did the soloists. Many present said they had never heard the "Crucifixion" better sung.

The Men's Club meeting on March 19th was attended by about the usual number, together with over a dozen members of the Mystic Lodge of the Knights of Pythias constituting the Zobo Band, which contributed musical selections throughout the evening. Mr. Louis W. Robie, the legal agent of the Legal Aid Society, gave a most interesting account of the aims and methods of the society and told of the good it accomplished.

A dramatic entertainment by some members of S. John's Senior Guild will be given on the evening of April 29th. The tickets will be twenty-five cents, the proceeds to be partly for the benefit of the Guild and part for the current expenses of the Church.

A number of the Guild went down, one evening last month, to the Seamen's Mission on south Front St. and gave an entertainment for the benefit of the sailors, which was much appreciated.

Parish Worker. Miss Murphy having resigned the position of Parish Worker after having been with us for a month not finding the work just what she anticipated, the Rector has appointed in her place Miss Marie E. Bowen. She has been working during the winter in connection with the Emergency Aid, has had experience in Church work and has been very successful with children.

This is the fourth person who has been engaged as Church Worker in this Parish during the winter, the two previous workers having been obliged to give up on account of illness. But we trust now we are permanently settled and that Miss Bowen will prove what an advantage such a worker can be to the Church.

St. John's Church, Jersey City Heights, was burned on Saturday, October 4th. The following morning the rector, the Rev. George D. Hadley, announced a canvass of the parish to obtain immediate funds. In this canvass the missionary appeal was put first; the parish needs second, and the gifts for the new church last. The results were pledges for $33,000, the gifts for missions and current expenses being in each instance much larger than those of the preceding year.

PARISH OPPORTUNITIES.

The opportunities for good in every parish are splendid. If every communicant in the parish were an earnest Church worker, who can calculate the result? If every communicant were a helper, a sympathizer, in every means employed to build up the Kingdom of Christ in our midst, and to pull down the kingdom of Satan, who could hinder or impede the Christian influence of the parish, placed here to represent the truth and the work of God? If every communicant were a fellow-worker with the Rector in the service of Christ, who can estimate the "fruits of their labor?"

'Tis the neglected opportunities by the many in the parish, that produce weakness, worldliness, dissatisfaction and failure in its life.

Would that we could arouse every dormant member of the Church to a realization of the splendid work the parish can do, if only it can secure the consecrated energies of all God's people.

Who would hinder this usefulness?

RITUAL.

When to Thy Beloved on Patmos,
Through the open door of Heaven,
Visions of the perfect worship,
Saviour! by Thy Love were given:
Surely there was truth and spirit,
Surely there a pattern shown,
How Thy Church should do her service,
When she came before the Throne.

O the censer-bearing Elders,
Crowned with gold, and robed in white;
O the living Creatures' anthem
Never resting day nor night!
And the thousand choirs of Angels,
With their voices like the Sea,
Singing praise to God the Father,
And, O Vic im Lamb, to Thee!

Lord, bring home the glorious lesson
To their hearts, who strangely deem
That an unmajestic worship
Doth Thy Majesty beseem;
Show them more of Thy dear Presence,
Let them, let them come to know,
That our King is throned among us,
And His Church is Heaven below.

THE CHURCH AND SOCIAL QUESTIONS.

A great deal of interest is being manifested now by churches of all Denominations in regard to social matters. The Christian conscience seems to be awakening to a realization of the responsibility of the Church to interest itself in, and do what it can, towards improving the material condition of the world. Religion is looked upon no longer as simply a means to secure one's welfare in the future life, but to make the present world a better place to live in.

Of course the primary duty of the Church is to teach religion, to make individual men and women true and godly. And if the Church can succeed in doing that, it will be doing the best thing that can be done to improve the conditions of human society. If the persons who compose a community are upright and God-fearing, you will have a perfect, ideal society. So in proportion as the Church fulfils this her primary obligation she will be doing the very best and most needful thing to benefit social conditions.

But beyond this, the Church should be deeply interested in, manifest her sympathy with, and actively and directly exert all the influences she can to do away with, all the sufferings and needs and sorrows by which men are afflicted.

Our Blessed Lord who came to earth chiefly to save men from sin, yet spent a large part of His active ministry in healing the sick, cleansing the lepers, etc. His Apostles did the same. Some of the first disciples, we are told, made clothes for the poor, and collections were made among the Gentiles for such as were in Jerusalem. And wherever the Church has been planted, from the earliest time, we find the performance of the corporal acts of mercy regarded as an essential of Christian conduct. Great charitable Institutions have sprung up, and multitudes of lives have been devoted to ministering to the wants of the sick and afflicted. For centuries the great Christian Monasteries and Convents were almost the only asylums and hospitals or benevolent institutions in the world.

Now the Christian spirit has spread, and been assimilated by so many who are not actually members of the Church, that there are numbers of charitable Institutions and Societies which have no connection with it, which are doing splendid social work. Still the Church, as a body, should show its interest in, and sympathy with all kinds of suffering or need, and be itself an active agent in doing all it can to alleviate such conditions. Its many corporate organizations gives it special power and opportunity to do this.

So, connected with every parish there ought to be agencies for ministering to the material needs of its members and its neighborhood. Nearly all our churches now have parish buildings connected with them which can be used for these purposes most effectively.

And the parochial organization of the Church, which implies that a definite district is placed under the care of a clergyman who should know, personally, if possible, all living within its bounds, affords a most potent means for advancing the welfare of all. The Rector of a parish, with the assistance he should have at his command, ought to be able to banish all dens of vice, demoralizing saloons, and places of amusement, and whatever else is injurious to the morals of the community, and to secure all needed reforms, and all appliances requisite for the good of the community.

And then the Church alone is able to supply the spiritual element which is so essential in all benevolent work. Without it, the dispensing of charity is apt to degenerate into hard, mechanical officialism, often doing more harm than it does good.

Let us see to it, then, that our parish is alive to its responsibilities, and does all that it can to discharge its duty to the community, ministering to the material as well as the spiritual wants of its members and all whom it can reach. The offerings which are given during two quarters of the year, for the poor and for parochial activities, are used for this purpose.

PARISH NOTES.

Holy Week and Easter. Through the assistance of the Rev. Mr. Cook, the Rector was able to keep up the routine of services during Holy Week as in former years. The attendance was fair, though not what it used to be. The attendance on Easter day was greatly affected by the blizzard which occurred on Easter Even, which made the streets almost impassable that evening, and the walking very bad on Easter-day. This, with the usual exodus to Atlantic City on that day, reduced the number of communions made. Additional communions, however, were made on Low Sunday. The music was very good and the church looked very beautiful. The offerings for the day were larger than on any Easter-day for many years, being some $1,200. This included a donation of $500 from one parishioner, which paid off the deficit we have been carrying from previous years. This ought to inspire us to meet this year's expenses without a deficit, and to resolve in the future that each year we will meet the full amount required to pay our expenses for that year, and not allow accumulations to be rolled up year after year until they become so large that we cannot pay them without resorting to entertainments or other devices inconsistent with proper methods of supporting a church.

So we ask everyone to make an additional contribution now to meet the deficit we still have in spite of our large Easter offering.

Summer Expenses. There is another problem connected with the support of the church which we should be very glad to find a solution for, and that is the meeting the necessary expenses of the church during the summer months when our receipts are very small. Each year the Vestry authorizes the Warden to borrow a thousand dollars for this purpose. But apart from the objection to borrowing at all, the question is how to borrow it. The Warden can only give the note of the church, and no financial institution will lend money without some security for its payment.

Are there any individuals in the congregation who would be willing to trust the church to this extent? A better way of meeting this difficulty would be to have a reserved fund, which could be used during the summer, the amount taken out of it being returned during the following winter. Another would be for all connected with the church to make their payments on their envelopes during this month or in June, six months in advance.

If anyone can suggest any other method of overcoming this difficulty we shall be very glad to hear of it.

The Sunday School missionary offering during Lent this year amounted to $14.06.

The children were each presented with a flowering plant on Easter Sunday afternoon through the kindness of Mr. D. L. Witmer, who collected the money for the purpose On Easter Monday evening there was a children's party; various games were played after which refreshments were served and each child was given an Easter egg.

We are glad to welcome Miss M. E. Hofmann as a new teacher in the Sunday School. She takes the class Mrs. Cobb has found it necessary to give up. Miss Hofmann has had experience in teaching and we are sure will be a great addition to our staff.

The Industrial School this year was much better attended than for some years past. This was due to the fact that a number of teachers were secured who were faithful and regular in their attendance, thus ensuring the interest of the children. The annual festival for the school was given on the Saturday after Easter when an unusual number of prizes were distributed There was also "a fish pond", out of which each child drew a prize, and ice cream, cake and Easter eggs for all.

Ascension Day will be kept as formerly as our special Parochial Festival. The full choir will be present at the mid-day service and in the evening when the Rector preaches the anniversary sermon. We hope all will take enough interest in their parish church to come and hear the statistics telling of its work during the past year and showing the progress made.

The annual Guild service will take place this year on the Sunday afternoon after the Ascension, as we do not have a regular night service now. We hope all the members of the parish Guilds will turn out and join in the procession round the church. This is our annual demonstration of our Guild work.

All the offerings on Ascension day, unless otherwise designated, will be as usual for the Endowment fund of the Parish. This is the most essential thing for the stability of the church. No parish in the older part of the city is safe unless endowed. And we have a smaller fund for this purpose than any other church in the old city. As one lady who does not belong to the parish made a donation of $200 to this fund during this past winter, are there not those belonging to the congregation who would make a regular annual donation for this purpose, in addition to remembering it in their wills.

Easter election. At the annual election for Vestrymen on Easter Monday, those whose terms then expired were re-elected, there being no vacancies.

The Parish Tea will take place on the evening of May 19th. Tickets twenty-five cents. Every member of the parish is asked to come and have a social evening. A good entertainment will be provided.

Gifts. A most acceptable gift was made to the church of 25½ yards of linen for cottas, and 23⅜ yards of serge for cassocks for the choir, as new ones were much needed to supply the wear and tear which is constantly going on.

A friend has also given a large quantity of hollyhocks and pivot sprigs for a hedge round the church grounds.

Girls' Friendly Society. During April the Lenten work for the Church Home for children has been finished, consisting of seventeen petticoats and five aprons.

One evening they visited the Women's Hospital where they were taught many useful things, and entertained very hospitably by the nurses. They attended the annual service on the 28th at Holy Trinity where there were about 1500 girls.

A Rummage Sale will be held on Saturday, May 22nd, in the Parish House at 3 p. m. All contributions for it will be thankfully received before then.

S. John's Guild gave a very successful Dramatic Entertainment on the evening of April 29th. The Parish hall was well filled. The receipts were in the neighborhood of $40. part of which will go towards our deficit.

PARISH ANNIVERSARY.

As usual Ascension day was observed as our special Parish Festival, being the thirty-fifth occasion during the present Rectorship.

In the anniversary sermon on the evening of Ascension day, the Rector began by expressing his gratitude for the good health he had enjoyed throughout the year, having officiated on every Sunday without an exception, and having been absent only on one or two weekdays, except during July and August when he took his holiday.

He read the annual report of the Parish, commenting on it. There were fewer baptisms of adults than during the previous year, owing to the fact that there was no need of conditional Baptism of any of those who were Confirmed. There were three infants less Baptised, but there were more than that number in the parish awaiting Baptism. There were three more males and nine women less Confirmed, in all six less than last year, the smallest Confirmation class in thirty-five years. But this was counter-balanced by there having been more added to the Communicant list, seven less by Confirmation, but eleven more by transfer from other Parishes.

Six Communicants have died during the year. They were Mrs. Emma M. Jordan, long a regular attendant of the Church, but for some time an inmate of Christ Church Hospital, where she died. Mrs Margaret Martha Washington Wilson, a member of the last Confirmation class, who died suddenly in the summer. Elizabeth Gibbons

Lloyd, many years ago much interested in the Church, and a zealous worker among the poor, but for a number of years confined to her room by paralysis, so that her death was a merciful release. Mrs. Kate Storey, for many years a member of the parish and regular attendant when she lived near the church, and even when removed to a distance always coming to make her Communions here on the great Festivals. Mrs. Mary White, also one who kept up her connection with the church after removing from its neighborhood. Mary Stokes Smith, a former member of the Sunday School and Girls' Guild. She died still young through a rapid decline. May these rest in peace.

There were two more marriages and four burials less than last year.

In the Sunday School there have been about the same number of children as last year, though the attendance of the boys has been much larger than that of the girls, owing doubtless to the loss of some of the former faithful female teachers and the difficulty the Rector has experienced in securing any to take their place. The Rector has himself acted as Superintendent. In the Industrial School there were ten more scholars than the previous year, and three more teachers who were very regular and faithful in their attendance.

The Parish Guilds have held their own very well, with the exception of S. Agnes' Guild for little girls, which for a time was demoralized by constant changes in its Superiors, but under the present one is regaining its numbers and interest. S. John's Junior Guild has been organized as a Boy Scout Band and bids fair to be very successful. S. John's Senior had a number of basketball matches and sociables, and gave a dramatic entertainment by which they made over forty dollars, part of which they contributed to the church The Girls' Friendly Society has been actively maintained, and beside entertainments and lectures it has worked for the Red Cross and Emergency funds. Their total receipts were some $70, of which they gave $55 to various charities. The Men's Club held three smokers which were well attended and interesting.

Full accounts of the work of the various chapters of the Women's Guild will be published in the annual Year Book.

The financial report for the year shows the total receipts were some $500 more than last year, almost all being offerings, only $207.10 being received from sales, etc., against $700 from such sources last year. This is most encouraging. The amount contributed for Parochial charities was $400 more and for Diocesan Missions $50 more; for extra Diocesan purposes it was almost exactly the same as last year.

Though the services of a regular Curate had been dispensed with for eight months of the year, the total expenditures were only some $40 less than the year before.

At the close of the financial year, May 1st, the Warden's books still showed a deficit of $550, but since that date, through the generosity of a member of the Vestry who remitted a loan to the church of $300, and by some extra contributions of others and the payment of some envelope pledges which had been in arrears, the entire indebtedness has been removed, so that the Parish has no outstanding obligations of any kind. This is a very happy condition of things which we have not experienced for some years, and we trust that by economy on the part of the Vestry and by liberal offerings on the part of the congregation we shall be able to keep out of debt in the future.

The general review of the year is encouraging. Through the aid of the Rev. Mr. Cook, much of whose services have been voluntary, nearly the same number of services have been kept up, and by the aid of a Parish Visitor, in spite of no less than four changes having been made, a great deal more parish work has been done than formerly.

We cannot disguise the fact, however, that the parish is losing more and more of its members by constant removals to greater distances from the church.

What the ultimate character of the neighborhood will be cannot yet be determined, but the Rector closed his sermon by urging the necessity of increasing the endowment fund of the Parish, as the only way of securing its future usefulness in spite of the changes taking place in the character of the population in its neighborhood. Each of the Episcopal Churches in the older part of the city has an endowment of over $100,000; ours ought to have the same. We add a little to the fund each year, but we need large gifts or legacies to make up that amount.

PARISH NOTES.

Ascension day was kept by two celebrations of the Holy Communion, the second being fully choral, and by a shortened Choral Evensong and the anniversary sermon by the Rector at 8 P. M. The music rendered by the choir was excellent; the anniversary sermon, giving the statistics for the past year, should have been interesting. We regret that so few in the parish appreciated sufficiently the meaning of this great Festival, or had enough interest in their parish to attend these services.

The Annual Guild service on Sunday afternoon was also poorly attended. Many of the young men and even the girls apparently thought it was more interesting to stand on the street and watch the "Jitneys" go by, than to be present at this beautiful service and manifest their loyalty to their Guilds by joining in the procession.

The Parish Tea on Wednesday evening, May 19th, was an unusually successful and pleasant occasion. Nearly 150 persons were present. A very good musical program was rendered, Miss Hare playing selections from Gounod and Chopin, and acting also as accompanist; Mrs. Owen and Miss Herter recited; Mrs. Francis H. Gilpin played on the violin, and Mr. Ullrich, our choirmaster, and Mr. George Morgan sang. The Rector made an address, and all seemed pleased with the bountiful supply of ice cream, strawberries, cake and coffee provided. Two tables were prettily decorated with silver, candlesticks and flowers,

The choir boys and members of S. John's Junior Guild were given a supper after their exercises on Monday evening, May 17th.

The Rummage sale on Saturday, May 22nd, netted some $12 for the benefit of the Girls' Friendly Society.

English Class. Our energetic Parish worker has started a class one evening in the week to teach adult Italians to read and write English We think this will be very useful, and the means of drawing some of this nationality, who are living in our neighborhood, into our church, as many of them no longer attend the Roman Church.

Summer services. The Sunday afternoon service will be suspended after the second Sunday in June until the third Sunday in September as there are no sessions of the Sunday School during that period, and its members are the chief attendants at that service.

The Communion at 7 30 A. M. and the service and Celebration at 10.30 A M. will be kept up all summer. The Rector expects to be present each Sunday at the midday service He will also be present on week days during June and September at the 10 A. M. Prayers, except on Saturdays. There will be Celebrations on all Holy days during the summer at 10 A. M., and prayers will be said every Wednesday and Friday at 10 A. M., and generally on other days at 10 A. M. and 5 P. M.

The church will be kept open always as usual and the Rector can be communicated with at any time through the Verger, Mr. Morgan.

Acknowledgments. The hospitals for which the members of the mother's meeting worked during the winter, have sent grateful acknowldgements of the work done for them, also the Emergency Aid for the work done for it by the Ladies' Aid during Lent.

Gifts. A large hardwood bureau for the ladies' work room. Twenty gymnasium shoes for Boys' Guild.

The Spring sports' meeting of S. John's Jr. Guild was held on the evening of May 24th. Sixteen boys were on the floor in uniform and a good audience was in attendance. Prizes were presented to the successful contestants. Mr. Spencer Ervin and Mr. Raymond Reeves acted as judges.

The annual picnic of the parish will take place on Saturday, June 19th. It will be held as formerly on Bushington Island Free transportation will be provided for all the members of the Sunday School and of the Mothers' Meeting from the church to the Island and return. Entertainments will be given the children on the Island, but each person is expected to bring his or her lunch. Members of the parish can join the picnic by paying their own expenses All will assemble in the Parish building by 7 A. M.

Should June 19th prove stormy the picnic will take place the following Saturday

A moonlight excursion has been arranged by S. John's Senior Guild for Friday, June 25th. Boat leaves Arch St. wharf at 8 15 P. M. Tickets 35 cts. from Verger.

There will be no issue of this paper during July, August and September.

NEW ASSISTANT MINISTER.

We are glad to be able to announce that arrangements have been made by which the parish will again have the services of a regular Curate.

The Rev. Richard J. Morris, at one time Curate of St. Peter's Church, and for the last eleven years Rector of the of the Church of the Epiphany, Pelham Road, Germantown, having been appointed one of the Secretaries of the Bishop, has agreed to give us his Sundays and the time on week days, not required by his position.

Mr. Morris is a man of experience and ability and and we are confident that he will be acceptable to all in the parish.

In addition to assisting in the services, he will have entire charge of the Sunday Schools, of the Young Peoples' Guilds, and of the Wednesday night service and the mothers' meeting. This will be a great relief to the Rector.

We bespeak him a hearty welcome from every one in the parish.

ADULT BIBLE CLASS.

For many years we have had a Bible Class for young men and another for young women. It is proposed now to unite these classes and have one Bible Class for adults composed of both sexes and of all ages from sixteen years up. The Rector proposes to teach it himself. He will be glad to have any one join who will be really interested in study.

It will be not only for the study of the Bible, but of Church Doctrine, Church History, Liturgics, Church discipline, customs, etc. A question box will be kept on the table in which questions in regard to any matters about which the members of the class want information may be put, and they will be answered and discussed.

A class of this kind for free and familiar conversation on important topics ought to be very interesting, and we trust it will be well attended.

It will meet every Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m., beginning with the first Sunday in this month.

THE AFTERNOON SERVICE.

This winter we will return to the custom we followed many years ago of having a full choral Even-song on Sunday afternoons without any sermon. There will be an anthem after the Third Collect and an effort will be made to make the service attractive musically. The children of the Sunday School will be expected to attend this service and we hope it will lead them to appreciate and love the worship of the church. As they are instructed in the Sunday School they do not need another Instruction immediately afterwards in the church. And the adults who attend the Rector's Bible Class at 3 p. m., will not want another Sermon the same afternoon.

We hope very much, that having simply the regular evening service of the church beautifully rendered without anything else, will add very much to the attendance of both adults and children.

RICHARD WILLIAM GILPIN.

The parish sustained a great loss in the death in June of Richard William Gilpin a member of the church since 1890 and a vestryman since 1902.

A man of singularly sweet and patient disposition in spite of great physical disability, he endeared himself to all who knew him. Successful and constantly occupied in his profession as an electrical engineer he yet was interested in, and found time to devote himself to, political, social and religious matters. He was not only a Vestryman and chairman of the Committee on Buildings of this parish, but was also a member for many years of our Brotherhood of St. Andrew, particularly enjoying the spring meetings which usually take place in some suburban parish. He took much interest also in the meetings of our Men's Club.

All who knew him in the parish will greatly miss him. Our deepest sympathy is extended to his afflicted family thus called upon to lose another member so soon after the death of his brother our former Curate, the Rev. William Bernard Gilpin.

We pray that they both may rest in peace and that light perpetual may shine upon them

MRS. JOHN S. MEWBOLD.

The parish has also sustained a great loss during the summer in the death of Mrs. Newbold, the mother of our Vestryman, Mr. John S. Newbold. Though registered as a communicant in a country parish where she passed her summers, she has been a regular attendant in this church during the winter for a number of years. She was much interested in it, and contributed largely to its support. She was a lady of singularly sweet and attractive disposition, a most intelligent Churchwoman, regular in the performance of her religious duties and taking an active part in many charities We sorrow that we shall see her face no more.

PARISH NOTES.

The Summer Services were continued as announced, the Sunday afternoon service being discontinued from the third Sunday in June to the third in September, when the Sunday School re-opened. The Rector was present each Sunday at the mid-day service, the Rev. John W. Cook taking the early Communions until the Rev. Mr. Morris began his work as Curate September 1st. Mr. Cook also said prayers during the week to that date. This service was entirely gratuitous on his part.

The Sunday School closed its sessions June 20th, at which time the following prizes were awarded, First, for not having been absent a single Sunday from the opening of the school in September, and for good conduct and attention to lessons to Frederick Zahn, an Ingersoll watch. Second, for having been absent only once and for good lessons, Ellen Zahn, a handsome Bible and a stick pin. Third, for regular attendance and good behavior and lessons, George McLoughlin, a Boy Scout hatchet. Fourth, for only being absent once and for regularity in church, John Ball, a Boy Scout rope and cup. Fifth, for regular attendance and good lessons, Harry Barr, Boy Scout rope and cup.

The following girls received gold stick pins for regular attendance in church and good conduct, Lottie Bierberback, Margaret Mull, Florence Whitehurst, Clara Ritsert, Caroline Ritsert and Catharine Rocap.

The following received silver badges for not having been absent not more than five times, George Mull, Watson Mull, Edward Ramonette, George Kolhlund (since he began) and William Bender. The following received gold badges for good conduct, Robert Zahn, William Righter, Charles Ritsert, William Rogers and John Berry.

The little girls of the infant class who had been good, and regular in attendance received silver cross badges hung on blue or pink ribbons.

The Annual Parish Picnic took place on Saturday, June 26th. About seventy persons, adults and children meet at the church and were taken by trolley cars to Front and Chestnut street and from thence by boat to Burlington Park, N. J. The Rev. Mr. Cook, Mr. William Morgan and Mr. Raymond Reeves were in charge. Mr. R. Hickman Young acted as paymaster.

The day proved delightful, amusements and ice cream were provided for all, and no accident or mishap of any kind occurred, the whole party returned to the city the same way they went having a beautiful sail down the river.

Summer Outings were provided for some individuals in the Parish and the choir boys were all taken down to Brandywine Park near Wilmington, Delaware early in September.

Legacy to the Church The widow of the Rev. Dr. H. G. Batterson, who died early in June, has remembered our parish among the many charitable benefactions of her very remarkable will, leaving $1,000 for the benefit of the poor of the parish Though living in New York during the later part of their lives both Dr. and Mrs. Batterson always attended the Ascension when they came to this city, which they did for some time each year. They were both ardent advocates of free churches.

Hour of Service on Holy Days. We will return this winter to the former rule of having the early Communion on all Holy Days on the same hour as on Sundays, 7.30 a m., instead of 7 a. m., as was the rule for some time. It is believed this will be more convenient for those who will be likely to attend those services.

Improvements. Our very competent Verger has employed his leisure time during the summer in thoroughly repairing and re-oiling all the chairs in the parish building. He has also repainted the walls and ceilings of the Guild room, which our Choir Master uses as his studio, the walls and ceiling of the vestibule of the Parish building and all the exterior wood work. This has greatly improved the appearance of things and was needed as well to preserve the wood from decay. He has also taken great pride in cutting the grass and cultivating flowers in the plot of ground south of the church buildings. This is a great addition to the beauty of the property.

Guilds. All the parish Guilds resume their meetings and work this month and we hope our ladies will not forget the annual meeting of the general Women's Guild, including all its committees, which occurs on October 28th, SS Simon and Jude's Day immediately after the Monday service in he church at 10 a. m.

The reports of the last year's work are then read and work arranged for the coming winter. Let every woman in the parish come to this meeting and learn what the needs of the parish are and how each one can be of service.

Boy Scouts. Troop 63, instead of taking a vacation this summer have been very busy with a ball team which did not lose a game, 3 overnight hikes and the work of organizing patrols, etc.

The Mongoose Patrol, with Scout Eisinger as leader and Scout McLaughlin as assistant, is leading in the "efficiency" point contest The Woodpigeon Patrol with Norman Hayes as its leader and Scout Bender assistant have won one game of base ball from the Mongoose in a series to decide the championship of the troop.

They are all trying hard for that "Seventh Heaven" of Scouting, i. e. becoming a FIRST CLASS Scout. Many of the teams are second class now and several have the coveted goal within their grasp.

A committee composed of Scout Scribe Marsh, Scouts Bender and McLaughlin have been appointed to arrange a program for Monday evening, Oct. 25, when Scout Brown will be honored for the rescue of a comrade from drowning, who needless to say did not belong to "63". The parents and friends are invited and admission will be free.

Any fellow over twelve years old who would like to join the Scouts just see one of them or the Rector.

Advertisements. We have lately lost three of our adveatisements. As we depend largely on advertisements to pay for the publication of this paper, we should be very glad if some of our members or friends could give, or procure for us, some new ones to take the place of those we have lost.

Gifts. A Morris chair and cushions, twenty-five Prayer Books and Hymnals, twenty-five altar candles.

THE PREACHING MISSION IN ADVENT

Part of the Bishop's Foreword

The last General Convention appointed a Joint Commission to arrange, in the near future, for a "Preaching Mission" of "nation-wide" extent; to be held, as far as practicable, in every diocese and parish in the Church, and at the same time in every place, that the greatest possible momentum and the most far-reaching effect might be secured. Behind the vote authorizing this great undertaking was a very general feeling that the time was ripe for it, and that the Episcopal Church had a definite responsibility for leading and directing the reviving interest in religion which seems to be a striking mark of these pregnant times.

The Commission, after long and careful thought and investigation, decided to put the plan into operation during this coming winter, suggesting, in its strong appeal to the Church, that the weeks between the first of Advent and the last of Lent would probably afford sufficient time in which to carry through the work. They asked for the earnest co-operation of each diocese in perfecting the arrangements and assuring the success of the proposed Mission. The desire of the Commission has met with general approval. Certainly the events of the last year point to, and should find us all prepared for, a time of great spiritual crisis. Now, if ever, the Church of Christ is challenged to a pure devotion, a clear witness, and a sacrificial love. Now, if ever, is God calling her and sending her afresh into the field of missionary effort, to the work of winning new souls for Christ, and of strengthening His faithful people.

At the end of June, a meeting was called of the clergy of this diocese to consider the question of co-operation. It was voted, with practical unanimity, that we take part, and that the Mission be held in this diocese in Advent. The Bishop was asked to appoint a committee of clergy to have general charge and oversight. These subsequently met, organized and were divided into various sub-committees. A letter was prepared and sent to all the clergy, telling of the appointment of the committee, explaining the general plan, as far as outlined, and enclosing prayers for the Mission for regular public and private use.

Without preparation the work of such a Mission is apt to be purely superficial, if not positively harmful. The fixing of attention; the rousing of interest and expectation; the house-to-house visiting with news of the Mission, and personal invitation to the services; the enlisting and instructing of recruits for personal work in connection with the Mission; above all, sustained, definite, united prayer, shared in by the communicants, guiding and inspiring every step taken and every approach made—these are the ways in which alone the soil can be made ready for the seed, and a real harvest of abiding spiritual fruit secured The time is very short, but we must make the best of it. Probably it will be found wise in many places to plan, not for a fully developed Mission, with Bible Classes and services and instructions for particular groups at various hours during each day, but to concentrate attention and effort on the preaching service of each evening, with equal emphasis on the daily celebration of the Holy Communion, for the strengthening and refreshing of communicants. In this way the work of preparation will be simplified and lessened, and what is done may be done effectively.

As to the conditions of success. Prayer must come first. God's blessing will follow our preaching and our pleading in proportion as we pray. That is quite certain. The Mission is a purely spiritual work. Prayer is therefore its chief instrument. Without prayer we shall not only be inviting failure. We shall be bringing down judgement on ourselves, We shall be taking God's Name in vain, that is, without meaning it. Our prayers should cover the whole range and every detail of the Mission. As nothing is too great for God's power, so nothing is too little for His love. We should pray for those outside, that He may bring them in; for those inside, that He may build them up; for the preachers, that they may have power to convict, wisdom to enlighten, love to persuade; for the services and sacraments, that they may be worthily rendered and administered and faithfully received; for all workers and helpers in the Mission, that they may be kept from sin and error, and made true instruments and agents of the Kingdom. We should pray for people and for objects definitely, and by name; regularly and perseveringly; in groups, with our families, by ourselves; at set times and at odd times; in season, out of seasou From now on, to and through the Mission, and while the fruits are being reaped, we should strive, with concentrated and unflagging purpose, to lead a life of prayer.

Next to the need of prayer, comes the duty and necessity of genuine and generous sympathy and love for all who are working and praying with us in the Missions, for all who are our fellow-members in the Spirit-bearing Body of the Lord. The work before us is more than a series of unrelated efforts in different parishes. It is a stirring and energizing of the whole Church. It calls and claims us all for common work. And while we are working together for the Kingdom, each in his place, and with his part, we shall feel, perhaps for the first time, the bands of our brotherhood, the stimulus of our common life. Not the least of the blessings of the Mission will have been secured if we shall learn once and for all not out of books, but in our personal experience, that God is best made manifest to men by the manifested oneness of His people.

In so far as each one of us comes to the Mission, works in it, lives through it, and gives thanks for it when it is done, in prayer to God for men, and in love of Christians for Christ's sake, just in so far shall we do the work to which God sends us for the greater glory of His name.

PHILIP M. RHINELANDER,

The Mission in this Diocese will be held during the first and second week in Advent, In this Parish it will commence on ~~Sunday~~, ~~Dec. 5~~, and end ~~Sunday~~, Dec. ~~12~~. Preliminary services of intercession will be held each evening in the week, beginning Nov. 22, in the churches of the group to which this church belongs, viz., the Holy Apostles, the Ascension, the Holy Comforter, the Prince of Peace, and the Chapel of the Holy Communion. The service in this church will be on Friday evening, Nov. 26th, at 8 P. M. Addresses will be made by the Rev. Dr. ~~Toop~~, Rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, and the Rev. Mr. ~~Mons~~, a cousin of our Curate, Vicar of the Chapel of the Prince of Peace. The members of all the parishes will be invited, and we trust our own people will turn out in full force to show their interest in this movement and to prepare themselves to take an active part in it.

The Mission itself in our parish will be conducted by the Rev. Father Bull, one of the English Order of Cowley Fathers. He has been stationed in Boston, Mass., for some years where he has earned a reputation as a most forceful preacher and experienced Missioner. We are most fortunate in having him assigned to us, as requests for his services were made by a number of parishes. He will preach every evening during the week, and may conduct other services of which notice will be given.

We trust this effort may result in bringing new people to our church, and arousing many of our own members who have become lukewarm and negligent in their religious duties, to new life and activity.

PARISH NOTES.

Parish Guilds. The winter work of all our Parochial Guilds has now begun. Each of the five young people's guilds began their regular meetings last month, and the Mothers' Meeting, the Saturday Industrial School, Ladies' Aid, and the Embroidery Class begin this month.

The first meeting of the Men's Club will be held Thursday evening, Nov. 18th. Notices of which will be sent out in due time.

S. John's Senior Guild have already arranged a series of basketball matches with other guilds.

A Hallowe'en party was given on the evening of Oct. 30th to the members of S. Agnes' Guild and some of the boys of the Sunday School. The usual ducking for apples, etc., took place, together with the apparition of a ghost, etc.

The Girls' Friendly Society hold their devotional meeting each second Tuesday evening of each month to be followed by a talk from a representative of one of the hospitals in regard to hospital work, care of the sick, etc.

Rector's Anniversary. On the ~~last~~ third Sunday morniug of this month the Rector will preach a sermon on the thirty-fifth anniversary of his entrance on the Rectorship of this Parish. There is now only one other Rector in the Diocese who has held his position for a longer period. We trust there will be a large congiegation present that day to hear the Rector's sermon on the occasion.

Rector's Bible Class. One hundred postal cards were sent to members of the Parish informing them of the beginning of this class on the first Sunday in October. Five persons only were present that day. Some few others have joined since. We trust more will avail themselves of this opportunity of study of the most wonderful and important book in the world. The Rector has been constantly studying it for the last forty years, and he believes that he can make its study interesting and profitable to any who will attend this class every Sunday at 5 P. M. in the Parish Building.

Sunday Afternoon Service. We are making an effort to render the Sunday Choral Evensong at 4 P. M. very attractive this winter. As the Rector gives an instruction for adults at 3 P. M., and the Curate instructs the Sunday School at the same time, there seems to be no need of another Instruction in the church immediately afterwards, so there is no sermon at the 4 o'clock service. The full Evening Service of the Church is musically rendered with anthem Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, and special anthem after the third Collect.

The choir now is in excellent training and render a really beautiful service. Come and attend it yourself, and tell your friends about it. It is a great pity that such a service should not be enjoyed by a great many more people than have been coming to it as yet. Our parish ought to gain a reputation for the good music we have, if for nothing else.

Confessions. The Rector is in the church every Saturday after Morning Prayer, and every Saturday both before and after Evening Prayer to hear confessions, and the Curate on the Saturday before the first Sunday in each month at 8 P. M., for the same purpose.

The Boy Scouts. Troop 63 defeated Troop 19 (of St. Elizabeth) in the opening basketball game of the season. Score 21–8

In the only other game played the Mongoose went down under the rain of field goals by the Woodpigeons. They were weakened, however, by the absence of McDermott who was under suspension. Score 18–10.

On Oct. 25 we celebrated Brown's night, giving him his "life-saving" certificate and a beautiful pair of cuff links. Exhibitions in Signaling, First Aid, knot-tying, etc , resulted in a tie for first place by Scouts Bender and Marsh, Woodpigeons; second place, G. McLaughlin, Mongoose; third, tie between H. Barr, Mongoose, and Biebubach, Woodpigeon. The staff was sworn in, and Scout McDermott took his "Oath" as a Second Class Scout.

Dr. Coates, Major Dunne, Scout Hammis of "22", and the Scoutmaster acted as judges.

We are completing arrangements for two first-aid lectures, football games, basketball games, a party, and a bunch of other activities which will keep us busy all winter.

THE RECTOR'S THIRTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

On the morning of November 21st the Rector preached a sermon commemorative of the completion of the thirty-fifth year of his Rectorship of this parish.

He briefly reviewed the history of the parish since its inception in 1833 when a number of persons associated themselves together to build a new church in the "south western portion of the city," a lot on Lombard St. above Eleventh St. being selected for the purpose.

The church, a plain two-story brick building, was erected on this site and carried on successfully for some years. Later, owing to the building of other churches both to the north and south of it, the congregation began to fall off, and finally it was so reduced as to become a Mission Chapel of S. Luke's Church. Uuder the charge, however, of the Rev. Mr. Hare, who afterwards became Bishop of South Dakota, it again became independent and did a good work. After his resignation it again declined until by 1880 only thirty-two names remained as registered Communicants.

It was on the last Sunday in November of that year that the present Rector took charge of the parish. A number of the former parishioners of Christ Church Chapel, of which he had previously had charge, followed him here, and by May, 1881, one hundred and forty persons were enrolled as Communicants and nearly $3,000 had been contributed to improve the church building and carry on the services. This progress continued until 1885 when, owing to the neighborhood of the church becoming almost entirely colored, it was thought best to sell the church to a colored congregation and remove to the present site at Broad and South Sts. where a lot was secured. The present Parish building was first erected and for a year used as a place of worship. The nave and aisles of the church were then erected, and some years later the chancel and organ chamber were added, and the organ installed.

Here the congregations, and the revenue of the parish, increased, and finally all the indebtedness incurred in the purchase of the new site and the erection of the building was paid off and a small endowment fund accumulated.

Without reviewing the whole history of the parish, the following incidents occuring during the past five years were referred to, the paying off an indebtedness of $2,100 for current expenses by the free will offerings of the parishioners, and later, last spring, of a similar debt of $700 by some generous subscriptions, two stained glass windows were placed in the chancel, and one in the clerestory as memorials, the carved statues on St. Saviour's altar, the heavy brass gates to the chancel, a tablet in memory of the Rev. Mr. Gilpin, a large Processional Cross, the bronze reproduction of the Last Supper, a small picture of the Madonna, a porcelain Head of Christ, a large cabinet organ, a water heater in the cellar, and several pieces of furniture for the Parish building. The church grounds to the south of the church have also been very much improved and the church buildings kept in admirable repair.

Efforts were made during this period to draw people to the night services by sermons on popular subjects and the holding of after-meetings For one winter a Socialistic forum was held in the parish building after the Sunday night service. The Men's Club was maintained, a Boy Scout band formed and various other agencies for the social, as well as spiritual, betterment of members of the congregation.

In 1912 the Duplex envelope system was introduced which has resulted in producing a regular income for charitable and missionary purposes.

Two of the Vestrymen of the parish, Mr. Gibson McCall and Mr. Richard Gilpin have been lost through death, as well as a number of other prominent members of the congregation.

Of late years the size of the congregation has diminished owing to the rapid deterioration of the district south and west of the church, but while the Rector believes this will be only temporary, he urged the necessity of increasing the endowment fund as the only way of ensuring the future of the parish against all possible contingencies.

He closed by expressing his gratitude for the unbroken health and many blessings he had enjoyed, and for the harmony which had always reigned in the parish. And we trusted that the principles of a free and always open church, and the carrying out of the full provisions of the Prayer Book for weekly and holy day Eucharists, and daily prayers, with a dignified, beautiful rendering of the services, without excess of ritual, and the reasonable, tolerant teaching which had always distinguished the church during his rectorship, would be continued and produce their effect in the future, as they had in the past, and that the work of the parish might be extended and perfected in the years to come.

PARISH NOTES.

Rector's Anniversary. The day was observed not only by the historical sermon preached by the Rector, but by the rendering of special music arranged by the choirmaster, Mr. Ullrich. Two of our former soloists, Mr. Chester Myers and Mr. Messerschmidt, volunteered to sing on the occasion, and Mr. Arlington Moore, a florist, of 1639 North Broad St., one of our old choir boys, sent—as he did on a similar occasion five years ago—a number of large palms to decorate the church. The Rector was also the recipient of some beautiful flowers. A number of our old parishioners were present on the occasion.

The Mission is only beginning as we go to press, but every effort has been made to render it a success. A letter from the Missioner, Father Bull, setting forth the purpose of the Mission, and urging all to attend it for their own good, and to try to bring others, too, who have been living without God, was mailed to each member of the congregation. This was followed by a card giving the hours of the services, left by hand where it was possible, one of our members using an automobile for this purpose in reaching those living at a distance. Posters were also placed on the outside of the church and in some large establishments in the neighborhood. The service cards were distributed from house to house in the neighborhood. A preparatory intercessory service was also held on Friday evening, Nov. 26th. The choir was present to lead in the singing of hymns, and addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. Toop, Rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, and the Rev. Mr. Morris, Vicar of the Chapel of the Prince of Peace.

We earnestly pray that this preaching mission throughout our country will produce great results in arousing the negligent to a realization of the obligations and blessings of religion, and of bringing many to its profession who have never done so before

Thanksgiving day was observed as usual by the same services we have on Sunday. The chancel was decorated with fruits and grain. A lavish turkey and cranberry dinner was provided on the evening before to the members of the Mothers' meeting. Some twenty-five were seated at the tables.

Vestryman elected. At the regular meeting of the vestry held in November, Mr. R. Hickman Young was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Mr. Gilpin.

Christmas. There will be as formerly Celebrations on Christmas day at 6.30 and 8.30 A. M., as well as the usual ones at 7.30 and 11.00 A. M. We hope every communicant of the parish will make his or her communion at one of these Celebrations.

At the mid-day service, and on the two succeeding Sundays, the S. Cecilia Mass will be sung, the Vestry having made a special money appropriation for the purpose.

The Children's Christmas Festival will be held on the evening of Holy Innocents' Day, December 28th.

As usual we ask for special Christmas offerings to meet the current expenses of the church for the year. During the summer months our offerings are very small and we always have to borrow money to tide over this part of the year, and this sum we have to pay back by extra offerings at Christmas. We trust every one will feel the obligation to make a special offering at this time, and as large a one as possible. We shall want special gifts to provide the children's Christmas festival and Christmas dinners for the poor.

The Poor fund, which comes from the benevolent envelopes in the quarter of the year from May 1st to August 1st, is now exhausted by the demands made on it through the last six months. And the Rector has still some eight dollars a week to pay out for the work of the Mothers' Meeting, which is a great aid to its members who are in straightened circumstances, and also regular pensions to two or three of our poor people, so he needs a considerable sum to replenish this fund, for which he asks donations.

An Armenian School. The Rector has given permission for the use of a room in the Parish building two afternoons in each week for a couple of hours for a school for twenty or more Armenian children, who are happily in this country, not in their own, at this time, These people have no church or parish building of their own, so some of ours have been lent to them for the purpose of giving their children religious instruction. One school has been started in West Philadelphia, another in one of our churches in Kensington, and this one is intended for children in the southern part of the city. We hope it may be the means of bringing some of these children to our Sunday School and church.

CHRISTMAS NIGHT.

Drowsy shepherds in the field
Sleeping flocks are tending:
In their sight,
An angel bright,
Robed in splendour stands revealed.
Night's thick shadows rending:—
"Wake, ye shepherds! Lo, I bring
"Tidings of your Promised King!"

"Unto you this night is born,
"Here in David's city,
"David,s Son,
"Th' Anointed One!
"He shall comfort all that mourn,
"Through God's tender pity,—
"Unto whom, in Mary's Child,
"Man shall now be reconciled!"

—REV. H. OGDEN DU BOIS.

Gifts. Three dozen new hymnals, blotter, writing pads, pens, rubber bands, envelopes, postage stamps for the Vestry. A number of signs for the Mission were painted by one of our young men. The printing of the letter of the Missioner and cards of services and invitations to the Men's Club meeting were donated.

Reading Matter. A great deal of good reading matter will be found in the rack in the vestibule of the church, Copies of the Spirit of Missions, of the Survey, the Diocesan News, etc. Persons attending the church are welcomed to take these papers to read them and pass them on to others.

A Hallowe'en party was the "big" feature of the month for troop 63. The "old gym" certainly did look queer with ghosts, tramps, colored men, German girls, bathing girls, clowns, Chinamen, and some very brazen "ladies" (Scouts Bender and Marsh) whose faces were obviously painted, strutting and strolling around. There were some "heavy eats" on the program, too.

On Saturday, Nov. 20, we were presented with a large American flag for use in parades, etc., by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Another big time was the glorious victory in the cage over Troop 99, our old rivals from Holy Apostles. Harry Barr, the sturdy little guard, was out under suspension which makes the feat more wonderful. Excitement ran high and in the middle of the second half the referee, Mr. Alex. Boggs, had to disqualify two fellows for slugging. Even after that with two stars out we kept on scoring. We have been playing "grey stock" for 3 or 4 years, and this is our first victory. Score 38–9.

The Men's Club meeting in November was unusually attractive. A very interesting lecture, illustrated by lantern slides, was given by Mr. A. A. Hodge, a cousin of our Rector, who has devoted his time for many years to studying social conditions in our city. This lecture was on the foreign population and was very illuminating. There was also a friendly boxing match between two young fellows, a heavy and a lightweight. And new features were introduced in the line of refreshments which were enjoyed. Forty-five men were present.

NEGLECT OF CHURCH ATTENDANCE.

There is no more alarming feature of the times than the increasing neglect of Church attendance, which is noticed among all Demoninations of Christians, except, perhaps, the Roman Catholics.

It is due to many causes, chiefly we believe to the multiplied modes of amusement and self-indulgence which are offered to all classes now on the Lord's day. Formerly few persons could leave the city on Sunday, nor was there anything more attractive in the reach of most persons than going to Church. Now by trolleys and automobiles and jitneys anyone can go miles into the country any day, and Sunday is the one day people have leisure to do so. And most persons have friends living in the country or suburbs who are always glad to see them. There are, too, in the city, Parks and Libraries, Art galleries, and Club rooms open on Sunday, which draw people from Church. Then there is the growing self-indulgence among young people especially, that of lying in bed till midday, or later, on Sundays. These causes, with deeper ones in regard to changes in human thought about religious matters, tend to this neglect of Church going.

But it is to the serious detriment of those who indulge in it. High religious character cannot be maintained unless religious exercises are regularly and systematically engaged in. Men may say that religion is a matter of the spirit and does not depend on outword assistance, that a man can be good und upright and live a moral life without Church-going or sacraments. But experience proves that when these things are neglected the spiritual character deteriorates. It stands to reason that it must be so. Men are not naturally all they should be. They have evil tendencies, passions and appetites. To restrain, and contend against these, and follow only what is good and high and noble, constant efforts must be made; education, reproof, exhortation, inspiration are necessary. The existence and character of God must be recognized and realized, and that cannot be effectually done unless deliberately and regularly one puts himself in an attitude of reverence and devotion. And if a man is really interested in and anxious to cultivate his spiritual nature it will be a necessity and a pleasure for him to do so. He will feel a want and a spiritual thirst if he omits it. Even the Quaker, who looks upon religion as altogether a spiritual thing, feels the need of his weekly meeting for worship, although it may be a silent one. Men of all times and of all races have instinctively recognised that religion is a matter of prime importance, and that it can only be kept alive by means of organization, by temples, by worship, by a priesthood.

Like everything else in this world, if it is to be of any value, time and thought and effort must be given to it. As a man goes every day in the week to attend to his business, so with the same regularity and attention, he should go every Sunday to Church. He will lose the benefits of religion if he fails to do so as infallibly as he will fail in his business if he neglects it. He need not give the whole of Sunday to it, for it is a day for rest as well as for the cultivation of religion, but he should regard attendance at Church at least once on the Lord's day as a moral obligation, preferably taking part in the celebration of the distinctive act of Christian worship, the Lord's Supper.

EDWARD F. PUGH.

This parish, and the whole Diocese, has met with a great loss in the sudden death of Mr. Edward F. Pugh, which occurred last month.

Mr. Pugh has been attendant of this church and a Vestryman since 1908. He was a most devout and intelligent Churchman. He never missed being at church on Sunday, and came often during the week in Lent. Frequently, also, on Sunday afternoons or evenings.

He was most interested in church matters. He was not only a Vestryman of this Parish but also of S. Mary's Church, Wayne, where he spent his summers. He represented that Church in the Diocesan Convention of which he was a very influential member. He was a trustee of the Diocese and chairman of the Committee on Trusts, the most important position in that body. He was a member of the Executive Council and Treasurer of the Free Church Association, and a member of the Board of Managers of the Society for the Advancement of Christianity in Pennsylvania.

In all those positions he was most valued for the interest he took in them and for the soundness of his judgment. Being a lawyer by profession he was able to serve the Church most effectively in these different Boards.

We shall miss his presence and his valuable counsel in our Vestry.

His funeral took place at the church on December 15th, the Bishop of the Diocese, and the Rev. Mr. Armstrong, Rector of S. Mary's Church, being present in addition to the Rector.

The Vestrymen of the two churches with which he was connected acted as Honorary Pallbearers. The interment was in the churchyard of S. David's, Radnor.

May he rest in peace.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas was celebrated with our usual ceremonies. There were three early Celebrations and the Choral S. Cecilia Mass in the middle of the day. The latter was most beautifully rendered by an augmented choir, as also on the Sunday following. It was prominently advertised, and circulars giving the hours of the services and details of the music were printed and disseminated, some of them by mail. Our Organist deserves much credit for his labor and enterprise in the matter.

The number of Communicants was, we are glad to say, larger than on Christmas a year ago, but it did not include, by any means, all who ought to have made their Communion at this great Festival. The offerings were about up to the average at Christmas. They were enough to pay all our salaries, Etc., up to date, but not enough to pay back all of the money we had to borrow during the summer.

The Children's Festival took place on the evening of Holy Innocents' day. The children assembled first in the Guild room and sang the hymn "Once in David's royal City',, before the dimly lighted creche, consisting of a small representation of a stable, with figures of S. Joseph, the Blessed Virgin Mary and Babe, with cattle standing round. Then in the large school room there was a Christmas tree lighted by electricity and decorated, with gifts and a box of candy for each child, piled beside it. After singing, a short address by the Rector, the recitation of Christmas stories by Miss Carmen, and other recitations by some of the children, and the playing of the violin by Miss Dorothy Hodge, a granddaughter of the Rector's, Kriss Krinkle suddenly appeared through a window and after talking to the children distributed the gifts and candies.

He was personated by Mr. Barton Huntington who kindly came from the country for the purpose.

All seemed to enjoy the occasion.

Gifts. Some twenty-two baskets of provisions, each containing a chicken or two, according to the size of the family, cranberries and other vegetables and fruit, a mince pie, sugar, etc., were sent to the members of the Mothers' Meeting and one or two other families.

Nine and a half tons of coal were also distrubuted to the most needy in the parish.

The Church received a half dozen good towels for use in the Vestry room.

Confirmation. The Bishop of the Diocese has appointed the evening of Wednesday, March 29th, for administering Confirmation in this Parish. Preparatory Instructions will be given beginning in February, of which there will be due notice. The Clergy affectionately urge all connected with the Church who are of sufficient age and have not yet been Confirmed to avail themselves of this privilege at this time. It only comes once a year.

The Men's Club Smoker will be given on Thursday evening, January 20th. We hope to have a gentleman present who will give an occount of his experience in the French trenches. We look for a large attendance of our men.

The benevolent side of the envelopes for the present quarter is for General Missions, and it will be noticed that the amount asked from this parish this year is over $1,000. Nothing like that amount has been contributed as yet and there is only this month remaining for offerings for this purpose. We trust all using the envelopes—and every one attending the church should use them—will bear this in mind. These offerings are for the carrying on of all the missions of the Church at home and abroad.

The Mission held in our parish we trust will produce effect. Father Bull is a very spiritual preacher, and many who heard him were much edified. We regret the attendance was not larger.

In addition to defraying the expenses of the Mission, we were glad to be able to make a donation of $50 to the Society of S. John the Evangelist, to which Father Bull belongs.

The Thursday Celebration, at 9 a. m. will be by request, continued regularly until Easter every week at that hour, unless a Festival occurs on that day when the Celebration is always at 10 A. M.

A Sociable. S. John's Senior Guild gave a very attractive social entertainment on the evening of December ninth. The members of the Girl's Friendly Society and others both within and outside the parish were invited. Instrumental music accompanied the dancing and a bountiful colation was provided.

The Girl's Friendly Society are practicing for a play to be given in the Parish building some time in March.

The Boy Scouts. Our Basket Ballers kept their record clean, defeating Lyndhurst by default and evening home by 46-12. The regulars were all in the game.

Our business meetings have been attended by the Rev. Mr. Morris who spoke briefly on the Scout Law defining "Trustworthy, Loyal, Helpful and Friendly.

On New Year's Day the Scouts in Philadelphia had a rally in the "First Regiment Armory." There were Patriotic songs, lariot throwing, making fire without matches, movies, music, etc. It was great.

We have been very fortunate in procuring the services of Mr. Alex Boggs for Asst. Scoutmaster. Mr. Boggs who has been working with the "Seniors" for a long time is a good fellow and should make a popular and efficient leader.

Miss Gilpin Asst. Scout Master Boggs and the Scout Master are making plans for a Spring "Sports." Contests in Scouting and Athleties will be held and prizes given to the winners.

Hikes, Basket Ball, Gymnasium, Scouting, Shuffle-board, Instruction in First Aid, etc , by experts, special lectures are some of the coming events.

NOTICE.

There will be a general Missionary meeting of the Women's Auxiliary on January the 27th in S. Stephen's Church, 10th St. above Chestnut. There will be sessions both in the morning and afternoon. Addresses by prominent speakers.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

We suppose most of our readers have seen in the papers that a legacy of $100,000 was left by the late Mrs. H. W. Watson for the erection of a church in the section of the City of Philadelphia lying south of Market Street, between the Delaware and Schuylkill rivers, to be called "St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church," in memory of her mother. This legacy was left to the Trustees of the Diocese and was accepted by them at their quarterly meeting last October.

The Trustees then appointed a committee to consult with the Bishop and other ecclesiastical authorities of the Diocese as to the best place in which to erect this church. The Bishop subsequently consulted the Convocation of South Philadelphia, whose territory covers this section of the city, and the Convocation appointed a committee to consider the question and report at a subsequent meeting. Both these committees held joint sessions, together with the Bishop. A Committee of the Architectural Commission of the Diocese also considered the matter.

The Bishop, with the Rev. Dr. Tomkins, Dean of the Convocation, and Congressman Watson, Mrs. Watson's husband, and executor, whose approval of any plans for the erection of the church is required by the will, together with a real estate expert, visited in an automobile all the built up southern sections of the city to consider where such a church could be placed.

Their conclusion was that there was no part of the present built up portion of the city where it would be wise to erect a church of this magnitude, without any provision for its support. So they, with the committees of the Trustees and of the Convocation, agreed that it would be wiser to take the site of some existing church, if one could be found which would be willing to change its name and merge its property with this legacy, transferring it to the Diocese to form a Diocesan Church.

The Vestry of our parish having been approached on the subject has agreed to do this, and the position of our church on the one great avenue we have and within a few blocks of the center of the city, makes it preeminently a fitting location for such a church.

The committees both of the Trustees and of the Convocation, having each reported to their respective bodies in favor of the project, their reports were in each instance accepted, and the Committee of the Trustees was instructed to carry it out. There seems, therefore, that nothing remains but to complete the necessary legal and ecclesiastical steps required.

The constitution of a Diocesan Church would mean the formation of a body of which the Bishop would be the head, and which would probably be governed by a board composed of the Bishop, and a number of clergymen and laymen representing both the Diocese and the congregation. This would secure the carrying on of the same trusts under which the property of the parish is now held, but it would greatly enlarge its scope and add to its prominence. Various Diocesan agencies would probably be grouped about it.

To carry the project out, will involve the purchase of additional property adjoining the church and its enlargement and enrichment. It will also require the accumulation of an endowment fund. But this, it is believed, can be more readily secured for a Diocesan Institution than for a mere parochial one.

As members of this parish we ought to be very happy over this prospect of securing its permanence and prosperity under such favorable auspices.

PARISH NOTES.

Gifts to the Church. The Parish has received the very handsome gift of three large religious pictures, one representing the Nativity, one the visit of the infant Baptist and his mother to the infant Christ, one a Holy family. These pictures were purchased nearly a hundred years ago by the late Mr. John Hare Powel, and hung for many years in his residence on Rittenhouse Square. At his death they passed to his son, Robert Hare Powel, and were hung in his house on Sprue St. above 15th St. until now, when that house being broken up, they are presented by his daughter, Miss Amy Ida Powel, to the church, as memorials to members of her family.

The two larger pictures have been hung, under the supervision of our Committee on Buildings, on the north wall of the church; the somewhat smaller one in the chancel over the stalls on the west wall.

They add immensely to the enrichment and decoration of the church.

The Vestry passed a special minute thanking Miss Powel for her generous and handsome gift.

Confirmation instructions will be given on Saturday afternoons at 4 o'clock by the Rector, and on Wednesday evenings, after the 8 o'clock service, by the Curate, beginning with the first Wednesday and Saturday of this month.

We trust that all who are of sufficient age and have not yet been Confirmed will attend one of these courses of instruction, that they may be prepared for presentation to the Bishop at his annual visitation of the parish which will take place on the evening of Wednesday, March 29th.

The envelope offerings for purposes "outside" of the parish for the quarter we enter this month, are for "Diocesan Assessments." The amount asked for this purpose from this parish is greatly increased this year, owing to the adoption at the last Convention of what is known as the "Budget." That includes a number of purposes to which this parish has not formerly contributed, such as work among the Colored, Italian, and other foreign population of the Diocese, the Gallilee Mission, State College, etc. To meet these assessments largely increased offerings must be made over what we have received in other years. The total sum required from the Parish is $445.39.

The ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary make their collections for the general Missions of the Church this month.

The Smoker of the Men's Club last month was made very interesting by the illustrated lecture given by Dr. Walter E. Lee on his experlences as a surgeon connected with the American Hospital in Paris during the present war. He talked for nearly two hours and showed a large number of pictures and some exhibits, shells, etc., he had brought back with him. This, with a short friendly boxing match and the usual refreshments, filled up the entire evening.

Girls' Friendly Society. On February 15th and 22nd there will be very interesting talks on health and hygiene by the Supt. of the Women's West Philadelphia Hospital. All the women in the congregation will be welcome.

Troop 63, Boy Scouts. On Jan. 24, Dr. Hubley S. Owen, Chief Police Surgeon, addressed the Scouts on "First Aid". This subject is interesting to all good scouts, so we invited our neighboring troops. There were about 150 boys and men present.

During January, Scouts Bender, Bieberback, Hayes, Eisinger, and H. Barr passed one or more "tests" each, which gives us a few more "near" first class scouts. Watson, Mull and Geo. Dennis are preparing for their tenderfoot "exams".

Any good fellow over "12" can join us. Just see one of the scouts or come around on Monday night.

NOTICES.

The Rector has been requested by the agent of the Traveler's Aid Society to furnish the names of any families in his congregation who would be glad to take as boarders, or to furnish rooms for, one or more respectable girls coming as strangers to the city to obtain work. Any seeing this notice who would like to do so, can communicate with the Rector.

The Clergy and all who are interested in devotional work among women are cordially invited. Mrs. Caroline S. Berger, Acting President, Jane M. Welte, Secretary.

Song Recital. A Song Recital will be given by our Organist and Choir-Master, Mr. Henry L, T. Ullrich, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 23, 1916, at Griffith Hall, 1420 Chestnut Street.

Mr. Ullrich's baritone voice is familiar to the members of the congregation through the number of times he has sung during the Morning Services on Sundays, and particularly on the performance of Stainer's Sacred Cantata, "The Crucifixion", which has been a regular part of the Holy Week Services during Mr. Ullrich's period of service as our Organist and Choir-Master.

The programme arranged is a most comprehensive one, and we can promise those attending a most enjoyable Recital.

Sptrit of Missions. This year the annual Lenten Offering Number of The Spirit of Missions will be issued in March. It promises to be very popular. The advance orders have been most encouraging. In one week requests for more than thirty-two thousand copies were received. The usual arrangement is being made with Sunday-school scholars, through the rectors or superintendents, whereby copies may be ordered in any quantity. These are billed at five cents each, and sold for ten cents apiece by the children. Five cents goes to pay for the magazine and five cents goes toward the Sunday-schhol Lenten Offering. Last year the children sold about ninety-eight thousand copies. This year it is hoped to exceed a hundred thousand. It is not required that those selling this number be members of a Sunday-school, so long as it is understood that the special rate is given for the sole purpose of helping to advance the Lenten Offering. The Managing Editor, the Rev. C. E. Betticher, Jr., will be glad to hear from any who are willing to sell copies with this end in view. Full particulars will be cheerfully and promptly given, and correspondence is solicited from any who wish more information in the matter. Address inquiries and orders to the Managing Editor, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

A SERIOUS WORD ABOUT LENT.

At the beginning of every Lent the Clergy set forth lists of special services, sermons, etc., with directions how Lent should be observed. But very many persons pay no attention to these things at all. Lent is not different to them from any other part of the year except perhaps there are no large balls given.

But it is a season which has been appointed to be observed universally by the Church from the very earliest times. It is intended to answer a very special purpose. It is a very emphatic reminder to all Christians that they need constantly to repent of sins they have been committing, and to make a distinct effort to amend their lives and to strive after higher things than those which usually occupy their time and attention. To do this effectively they need to put themselves under discipline, and for a time at least practice some sort of austerity, and to give special attention to spiritual things by acts and exercises of devotion and performance of charitable works.

The Churches of the Anglican Communion do not lay down specific rules how their members should fast. They leave each to decide that for himself. What is fasting for one, is not for another. But in general it may be laid down that all should abstain from amusements and dissipation of any kind, and follow some rule of fasting from indulgences in food and drink. They ought also to be more frequent in prayer and attendance on Divine worship.

Of late years the custom has obtained here of having short noonday services with addresses from distinguished preachers at two or three of the business centers of the city under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. These are intended primarily for business people who can only get off from their work for a few minutes at noon. But many of our Church people who have time frequent these services as well. And doubtless they profit by the addresses they hear. But the amount of devotion they can get from the few collects which are said and the couple of hymns sung is very little.

Therefore the Clergy of this Parish very seriously call upon their people to give more attention this coming Lent to the matter of devotion. Will they not be more rigorous in attending on Sundays a Celebration of the Holy Communion, which is the highest, most perfect devotion we can engage in, and if possible in addition the 9 A. M. Celebration on Thursdays?

And can they not arrange to attend more or less regularly the daily prayers at 10 A. M. or 5 P. M., or the Wednesday service and lecture at 8 P. M. On Fridays, at 5 P. M., as formerly, the boys of the choir will be present and a special devotional service will be held.

The Rector proposes this year to have special devotions each Friday for the following objects: March 10th, The peace of the world; March 17th, Harmony in our own Church; March 23rd, Union among all Christians; March 30th, The extension of the Christian religion throughout the world; April 7th, The building up of the Church in our own Country; April 14th, The work and prosperity of our own parish.

We beg our people especially to attend those services, not only for the good they may be to them, but that by their prayers they may assist these great needs of the Church and the world.

And let all determine to really observe Lent in some way for the spiritual blessings they may gain thereby.

On Ash Wednesday there will be Holy Communion at 7.30 A. M. Morning Prayer, Litany, Penitential Service, and Holy Communion, with sermon, at 11 A. M. Evening Prayer at 5 P. M. Penitential Service and Sermon at 8 P. M.

PARISH NOTES.

Confirmation. The annual visit of the Bishop to this parish when he will administer Confirmation on the evening of Wednesday, March 29th, is drawing very near.

Preparatory Instructions are being given every Saturday afternoon by the Rector at 4 P. M. in the Parish building, and by the Curate every Wednesday after the 8 P. M. service. If there are any who desire to be Confirmed and cannot attend on either of these days, the Rector will meet them on Sunday afternoons after the 4 o'clock Evensong. Let no adult attending the church who is not confirmed permit this opportunity to pass without receiving this blessing.

Lenten Services. As we have regularly so many services both on Sundays and on week days in this parish there is no need of additional ones during Lent. But there is great need of those we have being better attended. We hope many more will come during the week days especially, than do so usually. The only change is having the choir boys sing on Fridays at 5 o'clock, when as we have said in our editorial, there will be special devotions for certain specific present needs of the Church and the world. We trust there will be a good attendance especially at this service.

The Ladies' Aid as usual invites any of the ladies attending the Church, or their friends, to join them on Wednesday afternoons during Lent to sew for a charitable purpose. The object will be decided by the ladies when they meet. If there are those who prefer to do so, they can come and get their work and do it at home. Donations of money or material for this work can be sent to the church to the care of Mrs. Barrett who is in charge of it.

Gifts. The Church has received a very acceptable donation of 50 new Prayer Books and 50 new Hymnals from the Bishop White Prayer Book Society, for which we return our thanks. Also a wire letter box for the Vestry room and a number of magazines and some articles of clothing for the poor.

New Chancel Window. We are glad to announce that an order has been given by one of our parishioners to fill with painted glass the one remaining plain glass window in our Chancel. The subject of this window, in harmony with the others, will be, Christ in the garden of Gethsemane.

As it will be made in England by the same firm which has put in all the other windows it will take some time before it is received here.

This leaves only the remaining small Clerestory windows to be filled, as the church now stands. When it is enlarged there will be probably some more large windows to be put in. The Clerestory windows can be filled either singly or in groups of three or more at a time. The Rector has designs for two more on hand.

Entertainments. There will be another Men's Smoker on the evening of Thursday, March 16th, when we expect to have an illustrated lecture called "A Trip to Porto Rico" by Bishop Van Buren, who was with us as a guest at the last smoker. He has a large number of very beautiful slides he has kindly offered to show us.

On Monday, March 6th, there will be a children's party for the Sunday School, and on Shrove Tuesday there will be a Social given by the Girls' Friendly Society, which will consist of an entertainment and saurkraut supper. The tickets of admission, .25 cents.

S. John's Guild. Having been unsuccessful in Basket Ball due to the lack of attendance, the St. John's guild decided to change the program of entertainment on Thursday evenings to dancing instructions. Up to date this scheme has worked out to perfection owing to the co-operation of members and their friends with the committee.

At the January meeting the following officers of the club were elected for the year of 1916. Mr. Alex Boggs, President, Mr. James Boggs, Treasurer, Mr. Samuel Neill, Secretary. This Committee is very anxious to increase the membership of the guild this year and would be greatly indebted to anyone who can in any way help them to procure members.

Boy Scouts. Scouts G. Mull, Bender, and Ramonett all passed 2nd class tests during February. Our Basketball team has had particularly "hard luck" in visiting teams failing to appear, being disappointed on four different times in the month. The Bear Hunt on the 22nd, the shuffleboard tournament with Scouts W. Mull and H. Barr showing unexpected strength, are leading factors in the Feb. activities.

During March we will elect new patrol leaders to succeed Scout Norman Hayes, (Woodpigeon), and Scout Eisinger, (Mongoose), who have done very well during the past year. To the Woodpigeon, however, goes most of the laurels, including championships in scouting, and baseball, and a lead in the basketball series. The Mongoose are starting the New Year by leading in shuffleboard and are determined to regain the other championships during 1916.

What a Philadelphia lawyer says about making a will.

People should make their wills while they are in good health, and before they are stricken down with their last illness.

It has never caused any one regret upon his deathbed to know that he has put his affairs in order, and has left his estate so as to cause his widow and children as little trouble as possible.

People naturally desire to have their property, upon their death, go in accordance with their wishes.

It is dangerous to delay making a will. This is especially true in regard to gifts to charity. According to the Act of 1855, no gift can be made for any charitable purpose, except by deed or will, executed one month before the death of the grantor or testator, and with two subscribing witnesses.

It, therefore, frequently happens that because a person did not make his will until within a few days of his death, all the charitable bequests made by him fail, and the property goes to people to whom he does not intend it shall go.

REMEMBER.

1. That the object of keeping Lent is not only to conform to an ancient custom, but also to obtain a spiritual good.

2. That the testimony of Christians whose testimony is worth having is that there is much profit in a well kept Lent.

3. That the benefits of Lent are for those who seek them, and they can not be expected to come unsought.

4. That the purpose of fasting is not to propitiate God by making ourselves miserable, but to gain control over our worldly desires.

5. That whenever money is saved by denying ourselves some luxury, the cost of it should be added to our Easter offering, otherwise the discipline of self-denial is not complete.

6. That all our self-examinations should be unbiased, our object being not to find what can be approved, but what must be corrected.

7. That our Lent will profit us just in the proportion in which it brings us nearer to Christ, and makes us more like Him.

Send out Thy Light, the way is dark before me,
The path Thy Love has moulded out for me;
Send out Thy Light, that I may see Thy Footsteps
Calming the waters of life's restless sea.

Send out Thy Light, the clouds are dark above me,
Gathering in tempest from the angry sea;
Send out Thy Light, that I may see the storm-drops
Which fell from the dear Hand, once pierced for me.

Send out Thy Light, and lead me, Father, lead me,
Beyond this darkness, sorrow, and unrest;
Send out Thy Light, and guide me, worn and weary,
To the calm Shelter of my Saviour's Breast.

THE DIOCESAN CHURCH.

The members of the congregation will be naturally interested to know what steps are being taken to change our parish into a "Diocesan Church", as it was announced was the intention.

At a meeting of the Vestry last month certain amendments to the charter were adopted for the purpose of carrying this out. The first amendment changes the name of the church from that of "the Ascension" to "St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Diocesan Church." The second sets forth the purposes of the Church, first to maintain Divine worship, and as this is to be the Bishop'Church, the standard of worship will be naturally that which the Bishop would like to see in all the churches of his Diocese. The other purposes of the Church will be to promote educational, missionary, and social activities, under the immediate direction of the Bishop and the Diocesan Convention, the latter consisting of all the clergy and three representatives of each parish in the Diocese.

These four purposes of a Diocesan, or Bishop's Church, appear in all the statutes or constitutions, in different words in all the Cathedral Churches of England, and in this country. The plan is to carry them out here by transferring the City Mission from its present position on Third St. below Walnut to this location, and centering here as well other activities of the Diocese.

The third amendment to the Charter provides for the substitution of the present Vestry by a Board of Trustees, to be composed of the Bishop of the Diocese, three clergymen and four laymen to be elected annually by the Diocesan Convention, two clergymen to be appointed by the Bishop, and four laymen to be nominated by him and elected by the other members of the Board. Among these there will be naturally some representatives of the congregation of the Church.

These amendments to our charter will be submitted to the Standing Committee of the Diocese at its regular meeting this month, and if approved by them, and by the Bishop, they will then go to the Committee on Charters of the Diocesan Convention, who will report on them to the Convention which meets the second week in May. And if the Convention approves of them they will then go to the court to get legal sanction. This may be accomplished in June before the courts adjourn for the summer, or, it may have to go over until the autumn.

In the meantime plans are being perfected for the enlargement and beautification of the Church. We are glad to announce that the two houses immediately south of the Church property on Broad St., having a frontage on that street of thirty-six feet, have been purchased for the Church. Also the store north of the Church has been bought. This will enable the Church to be extended to South St. where a front will be erected, and a tower built on the corner of Broad and South Sts.

The chancel end of the Church may also be taken out and the Church extended in that direction. No plans have as yet been drawn.

It will be some time before the plans can be perfected and the additional building completed.

In the meantime the services of the Church will be continued as usual, and there will be no cessation of the services even while the new building is going on.

PARISH NOTES.

Holy Week The services during Holy Week will be, as formerly, daily Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 7.30 A. M., and after Morning Prayer at 10 A. M., except on Good Friday. Daily Evening Prayer at 5 P. M., and at 8 P. M. the Stations of the Cross will be observed, except on the evening of Tuesday when the Cantata of the Crucifixion will be sung, as in the last two years, by a largely augmented choir. On Saturday evening instead of the Stations there will be a short service commemorative of the blessed dead.

On Good Friday the Stations will also be observed at 9.30 A. M., for the Children of the Parish. The Mid-Day Services will begin at 11 A. M., with Morning Prayer and the Litany, followed by the singing of the Reproaches and the Preaching of the Cross from 12 to 3 P. M. The preacher this year will be the Rev. Mr. Hatherway, Rector of S. John's Church, Norristown, who was at one time a choir boy in this parish.

On Palm Sunday there will be the usual procession of palms before the Mid-Day Celebration at 11.00 A. M.

Easter Day. There will be Celebrations at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 and 11.00 A. M. Morning Prayer at 10.30 A. M., Choral Evensong with Procession at 4 P. M.

Easter Offering. We shall need fully $1,200 at Easter to meet our current expenses up to May 1st, as we began our financial year last May entirely free from debt, and as we have reduced our current expenses to the lowest possible figure, we trust that every one in the congregation will make as large an offering as possible, that this sum may be secured, and we may have the satisfastion of entering another year free from any liabilities.

If there are any who would prefer to make their Easter offering for a Missionary or benevolent object rather than for our current expenses, they can designate their offering for General or Diocesan Missions, for neither of which purposes has the parish made up the sums asked from it.

Confirmation. The Bishop of the Diocese visited the parish on the evening of March 29th and Confirmed a class of fourteen persons. We were much disappointed that a number of others who should have been Confirmed this year did not present themselves.

The Men's Club. Owing to illness Bishop VanBuren was unable to give the illustrated lecture on Porto Rico, as had been announced. But we were fortunate in securing in his place a representative of the Young Men's Christian Association, who spoke most interestingly and effectively on the educational facilities now offered in Philadelphia, also on the great advantages to be gained by every one through availing himself of the educational opportunities he may have.

This lecture, with some music, filled up the evening.

The children's party last month was a success in spite of its occurring on a very bad night.

The Girls' Friendly play and supper was a great success, some eighty persons being present.

During Lent the members are sewing for S. Michael and All Angel's Home in West Philadelphia. The Corporate Communion of the Friendly will be held on Sunday, April 2nd, at the 7.30 A. M. Celebration.

The Mothers' Meeting. The Rector is in much need of funds for the payment of the work given out every Wednesday evening to the members of this meeting. It amounts to eight or nine dollars a week, and the Poor Fund from wnich the money is derived is now exhausted, in fact largely overdrawn. The Rector will be most thankful for special contributions for this purpose; it is an admirable way of assisting families who find it very difficult to get along especially during the winter months.

St. John's Guild gave, on February 24th, a Dance and Sociable which met with a great success. The grand march was led by our esteemed directress, Miss M. Gilpin, and the President of the Guild, Mr. A. Boggs.

This affair made a great impression on those present and the Guild is going to try to repeat it sometime in the near future.

Boy Scouts. Our new year has started off with a "whoop". Of the three contests during the month we took two, a basketball game from the Wonders and a shuffleboard match from Trood 10. The other basketball game with Greystock was bitterly fought and our team feel as if they could have won had they resorted to mean tactics, but during the chat between halves the team, with the score tied, decided to stick to the square, clean game, win or lose. Score 20–14.

At the meeting on March 27, Scout Mull was appointed Senior Patrol Leader, heading the Mongoose, while Bender will be Patrol Leader of the Woodpigeon. McDermott is the new "scribe." Scout Marsh was elected Honorary member. W. Mull and G. Dennis took their oath as "tenderfeet." We are busy drilling and practicing for Spring Sports. The Scoutmaster being ably assisted meanwhile by Asst. Scoutmaster Boggs and Mr. Seyfert of the Troop Committee.

"THE CRUCIFIXION."

As in the two past years, the rendition of the Sacred Lenten Cantata, "The Crucifixion", by Sir John Stainer will be a regular part of the Holy Week Services of the Church.

The date this year is Tuesday evening, April 18, at eight o'clock.

As formerly, our Choir will be especially augmented, with some 75 extra voices.

Mr. Edward Shippen VanLeer has been engaged to sing the important tenor solos of the Cantata. Many will remember Mr. VanLeer as a boy soprano in our Choir, having attended our Sunday School and grown up in the work here, and was at one time our tenor soloist. It may be said that Mr. VanLeer sings the Crucifixion markedly well, and his singing in this rendition will have a singular significance.

Our present Organist and Choir-Master, Mr. Henry L. T. Ullrich, will sing the baritone part, and the bass solos will be intrusted to Mr. Henry J. Ebrey, who was formerly a member of St. Mark's Choir, and is a singer of considerable prominence in Philadelphia.

Mr. Walter St. Clare Knodle, who all know was at one time our Organist and Choir-Master, and is now in charge of the music at St. Paul's Church, Chestnut Hill, is kindly assisting by bringing his Choir, and in addition will preside at the Organ on that evening.

While it is extremely pleasant to see so many strangers in the Church on these occasions, the Cantata is given primarily for the members of the Ascension, and it is hoped all will hear this Service, particularly since the Crucifixion is not given on such a splendid scale anywhere else in Philadelphia.

NOTICE.

THE CHURCH'S SOCIAL MISSION AND FREE CHURCHES.

There is nothing more noticeable lately than the general awakening of the Church to a realization of her social mission. Religion was long regarded as a means chiefly of securing ones welfare in the future life. Of course it does this, but it secures as well the living of the best life in this world. He whose heart and mind are in accord with God, and governed by His laws will live the happiest life and be of most service to the world. The laws of God are the laws of nature, and so far as men live in accordance with them the highest welfare of the community will be secured.

The Church has a mission to society. It is its duty to teach men how to live aright, and to employ any means she can to promote human welfare.

So we find our churches everywhere doing all they can to better social conditions. All our Churches now have parish buildings in which all sorts of agencies are employed for the education and amusement of young and old, to bring them under the influence of the Church and to keep them away from other associations which would be harmful. Nearly all our Dioceses have Social Service Commissions, to study social conditions and to devise means for their betterment.

And the Church itself, in its constitutions and teachings, is the most powerful instrument for inculcating and promoting the highest human interests. It was the first to proclaim the universal brotherhood of men. Its mission is to set up the kingdom of God upon earth. All men of all races and conditions are entitled to her membership, and the enjoyment of all her privileges, by the same instrumentalities and without price. The millionaire and the pauper, the prince and the peasant are baptized in the same way, are communicated from the same vessels on the same level, and married and buried with the same words. It is the most Democratic Institution in the world.

Is it consistent then with this character and these teachings that seats should be sold or rented or reserved in our churches, that people should feel that there is no place or welcome for them unless they are able to pay a fixed price—and that often a very large one—for a place where they can attend the worship of the Church? Is it consistent with her teaching that people should be graded in Church according to their wealth, the richest in the best front seats, those not so well off, further back or in the side aisles, and the poor up in, or under, a gallery, if there is any place for them at all?

We believe that there is nothing connected with the church which has done more to destroy its influence in the community, to create the impression that it is only a rich man's club, that the poor, or working class people, are not wanted in it, and so interferes with its exercising an effective social influence, as the habit which has obtained of renting and selling seats in churches.

And there are just two excuses given for this system, one is, that it is the best way to secure a large and regular income for a church. But if to do that puts the church in a false light, and injures its influence in the world, surely it would be better for it to run the risk of loss of revenue, or secure it in some other way, and experience has proved this can be done.

The other excuse is, that people like to have their family pews. But that is pure selfishness which ought not to be allowed to stand in the way of the church doing the greatest amount of good it can.

The Church is not carying out the Democratic principles, or conveying the impression it should, that all have an equal right and welcome to her membership and privileges, and that she is interested in the welfare of all, if its pews are sold or rented, and social distinctions thus maintained. The pew rent system is inconsistent with, and a hindrance to, the church's carrying out her social mission.

PARISH NOTES.

Easter. We had an unusually bright and successful Easter. Though an April day it was not threatening enough in the early morning to keep people away, it cleared off beautifully in the middle of the day, and did not rain until after the four o'clock afternoon service. The church looked beautiful, as it always does on such occasions, the music was very good and the number of communions made were more than last Easter, though we must remember that last Easter was a stormy day. The offerings amounted to some $700. This is not all we needed and we trust the remaining amount may still be made up, as we do not want to carry a deficit on to the new financial year which begins with this month.

The receipts of the Sunday School children's mite chests this Lent amounted to $25.17. This was largely obtained by the children selling chocolate eggs on which they obtained a percentage. One boy brought in over $8 he made in this way.

Gifts. A very handsome piece of Filet lace of the XVII Century, which has been used for a frontal to the Festival cover of the Credence to the main altar. The brass cover of the Font, with the ball and chain supporting it, have been relacquered, and look as new as if they had just been put in.

Vestry Election. At the annual election for Vestrymen the four gentlemen whose terms expired this year were all re-elected. Mr. John W. Patten was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Edward F. Pugh. At the meeting of the Vestry in Easter week Mr. Millard F. Roberts was re-elected Accounting Warden, and Dr. Thomas R. Neilson re-appointed Rector's Warden.

The marriage of the Rector's eldest daughter, Miss Helen Harriet Hodge to Mr. William E. Lockwood, of Glenloch, Pa., took place in the church on April 25th. The ceremony was performed by the Rector, assisted by the Rev. Jules Prevost, Rector of Glenloch, the Rt. Rev. the Bishop of Pittsburgh, pronouncing the benediction.

Improvement of the Church. A meeting was held at the church last month of a Committee of the Architectural Commission of the Diocese and the architectural firms, to whom the additions and improvements to the church will be intrusted, to consult as to what changes should be made and as to their character. The general conclusion was reached that the church should remain substantially as it is, except that the chancel should be extended, if there is sufficient funds to do so. When possession is obtained of the corner property, the store now standing on it will be torn down and the church extended in that direction to South St. This will give the church the front it has always needed, and allow of a tower being built at the corner of the two streets which will add immensely to its beauty and prominence, and of course afford space for a belfry which we have always wanted to have.

As the corner lot extends further west than the church it will also permit the formation of a chapel at that end of the building to which the Altar now standing in the west aisle can be removed. This will increase the seating capacity of the church and provide a real side chapel.

There are other improvements which it is hoped will follow, such as the erection of a really handsome Altar and Reredos in the Chancel, making the floor fireproof, putting a better flooring under the pews, introducing electric lighting, filling all the vacant windows with handsome glass, etc. Our Parish Building and the Vestry room ought also to be enlarged. These things, we trust, will all come in time. And they will be certain to come if the change in the relations of the church results in bringing to it a greatly enlarged congregation as we trust it will.

The formation of the Diocesan Church may be somewhat delayed, as the Bishop wants to consider more carefully its Constitution. But we are authorized to say that when it is constituted our present Rector's connection with it will continue. He will be on the Clerical Staff and act as Pastor of the congregation. This will answer many questions which have been asked as to whether or no he was to remain with the Church.

Entertainments. The children of the Industrial School were given their Annual Easter Festival on the morning of Saturday, April 29th. Prizes were given to the scholars who had done the best work during the winter and been most regular in their attendance. Easter eggs for all, with ice cream and cake, and "a fish pond", were also provided.

The members of S. Agnes' Guild of little girls are rehearsing for "the Pageant of the Church" to be given on Wednesday evening, May 3rd.

The Girls' Friendly Society have been working during Lent for S. Michael and All Angels' Home for Crippled Children. The devotional meeting this month will be on Tuesday morning, May 16th. Their other meetings will continue as usual throughout the month.

The Ladies' Aid Society during Lent made up a box of clothing for S. Christopher's Hospital for Children, valued at $35.

Death of Miss Hewson. The older members of the Church will regret to hear of the death of Miss Jane B. Hewson, in the ninetieth year of her age. Miss Hewson was long one of the most devoted friends of this Parish and did most for it. She formed our Saturday Industrial School some thirty years ago, devised the work for the children to do, and the system of prizes and Festival with "Fish pond, etc.," which has been kept up ever since. At one time there were one hundred and fifty children in it, and though Miss Hewson was herself not larger than some of the smallest girls, she managed to keep perfect order both among the boys and girls. She founded, also, the Ladies' Aid Society, and St. Mary's Guild for young women, which has been merged into the Girls' Friendly Society. She was a regular attendant at the Church services, never missing the early Sunday Celebration as long as she was able to come to the church. When she could no longer do so, she returned to Christ Church Chapel which was directly opposite her house, and in which she had previously been interested. For the last year or two she has not been able to leave her house. She was ever a liberal contributor to the Church, constantly devising nice things for it or for its clergy.

We are sure that she has now entered into rest, and we pray that she may be richly rewarded for all her labors for God and for His Church.

The Juniors of St. John's Guild will give a grand exhibit of their Annual Sports, in the Parish House, May 28th, at 8 P. M. There will be contests in jumping, running and drills by members of Troop 63 Boy Scouts. Admission 10cts. Music and prizes. Don't fail to come and see what the boys of the Ascension can do!

Come one, come all.

Boy Scouts. The Scoutmaster has appointed the staff for the coming year. Senior Patrol Leader, G. Mull; Patrol Leader (Woodpigeon), Wm. Bender; Scribe, C, McDermott. Work under the new leaders is going with a "vim." A basketball game was played, in which the Woodpigeons tied up the series with the Mongoose for the troop championship.

Our hike to Seven Springs was a great success, the Mongoose having a full patrol. Many of the boys passed tests during April, bringing us all nearer to first class.

Four or five new fellows are preparing for their tenderfoot test.

PARISH ANNIVERSARY.

As usual Ascension day will be observed as our special Parish Festival, being the thirty-sixth occasion during the present Rectorship.

In the anniversary sermon on the evening of Ascension day, the Rector will read the annual report of the Parish, commenting on it. There have been double the number of Baptisms over the previous year, 26 against 13. Two more Confirmed. There have been three more Marriages and four more Burials. Six more Communicants have been added new and one by transfer. One more lost by death, and six less by transfer and removal. But the total number of communicants is ten less than last year. This is due to the continued removal of families from this part of the city to the suburbs.

Those who have died during the year were Richard William Gilpin, one of our Vestrymen for fourteen years, and a member of the parish for twenty-five years, a member of S. Andrew's Brotherhood, and one deeply interested in the welfare of the Church. He was a brother of our former Curate, the Rev. William Bernard Gilpin. In the same month died Mrs. Sadie Rutherford Stewart. She was brought up in our Sunday School and Confirmed here. Subsequently she married and removed to a distance, but when a long illness overtook her, by request, the Rector ministered to her and officiated at her burial. Mr. Thomas Craig, a Scotchman by birth, and reared as a Presbyterian. He was Confirmed in this parish a few years ago and was as regular in his attendance as his work permitted him. He died a beautiful death, supported by the consolations of religion and with strong faith for the future. In November Mrs. Margaret Spence passed away after lying for five years a helpless paralytic. She had been Confirmed ni private by the Bishop two years before and had since then regularly received the Holy Communion at home. She was a most beantiful example of patient bearing of suffering, never complaining, always bright and cheerful. Mrs. Mary Ann McCann died in February. She attended the old Church on Lombard street, and when her son, with whom she was living, removed with his family to the northern part of the city and was transferred to a nearby Church, Mrs. McCann refused to leave the parish she had so long been connected with, so the Rector ministered to and buried her. In April, Mrs. Esther Niell died very suddenly, leaving a large family of children. She had been brought up and Confirmed in this parish, but removing to a distance, had been very irregular in her attendance of late years And last month an equally sad death, was that of Mrs. Sadie Kelly, formerly a girl in our Sunday School, and Confirmed here, who died when only twenty-two, leaving two small children.

In addition to the above the parish met with a great loss in the sudden and unexpected death of Mr. Edward Fox Pugh, for eight years a most valuable Vestryman of this parish, and for a long period a most regular attendant at its services through eight months of each year, though he was registered as a Communicant in a country parish where he lived during the summer. He was deeply interested in all Church matters, and his experience as a lawyer and his sound and judicial judgment was most helpful both to the parishes with which he was connected and to the Church at large.

May God grant light and refreshment to all these departed members of our parochial family.

The number of children in our Sunday and Saturday Industrial Schools has remained about the same as last year. The attendance at both schools would be larger and the discipline better if we could secure more teachers who would be regular in their attendance and devoted to their work. But each year it seems more difficult to find those who will give themselves up to this work. This year the Curate has acted as Superintendent of the Sunday School, and the Rector has taught an Adult Bible Class, male and female. The latter was a pleasure to him, though he regrets that while the enrollment was thirty-two, the usual attendance was seldom as much as half that number.

The Rector has been fortunate this winter in having a regular Curate again, who has not only assisted him with the Sunday services, and taken them entirely on occasions when he could not be present, but has relieved him entirely of the Sunday School, of the Wednesday night services and of all the young peoples' Guilds. This has been a great help to him and a benefit to the parish.

Our various Guilds have kept up their numbers and interest. We are especially gratified at the success and usefulness of the Boy Scout band.

Our little band of women workers have been as faithful and assiduous as ever, and accomplished an equal amount of work to that of former years. We only wish that more of the ladies of the parish could, or would, take a part in its activities.

The financial receipts for the year were somewhat less than the previous year, but that was due to some especially large gifts having been received then which we could not expect to be repeated. We did not quite make our expenses for the year, but the deficit has been very nearly made up since May 1st.

Of course the great event which has happened to the parish during the year has been the fact that the ecclesiastical authorities have determined to place here the legacy received from the late Mrs. H. W. Watson for the erection of a Church in the central portion of the city, and the securing of properties both to the north and the south of the Church lot for its extension, and the fact that it is to be made a Diocesan Church. This will secure its future in an enlarged and beautified condition and give it a prominence and importance it could not have as a merely parochial Church. It is a peculiar gratification to the Rector to feel that the work on which he has bestowed so many years of labor has this prospect of permanence and increased usefulness in the future.

The Church has also been fortunate this year in the reception of the three large religious pictures which have been hung on the walls, and in the promise of another stained glass window for the Chancel which will be put in very soon.

Altogether we have to congratulate ourselves in having maintained the work of the parish at a standard equal to that of late years, and with having had opened before us most unexpectedly a brilliant prospect for the future.

Though this may be the last parish festival held under the legal name of the Church of the Ascension, we trust a still more satisfactory report may be made another year when it shall be known as S. Mary's Diocesan Church.

PARISH NOTES.

Our Parochial Festival comes unusually late this year owing to the late date of Easter. June 1st is Ascension day, when there will be services as on Sunday. Holy Communion at 7.30 A.M. and after Morning Prayer at 10.30 A. M. This will be Choral. At night there will be a shortened Choral Evensong and the Anniversary sermon by the Rector. On Sunday, June 4th, at 4 P. M., there will be the annual Guild service when all the Parish Guilds will enter and leave the Church in procession, and a sermon will be preached to them by the Rev. Dr. Mockbridge, Rector of S. James' Church. We trust that every member of our various Guilds will make it a point of honor to be present on this annual occasion when they are all expected to appear together.

The Parish Tea will take place on Monday evening, June 5th, when the members of the Girls' Friendly Society will give a short play. There will be also music and the usual refreshments. Tickets may be obtained from the Verger.

Summer Services. The regular Sunday Services and Sunday School and Bible Class will be continued until Trinity Sunday, after which the Sunday afternoon service will be discontinued until the third Sunday in September. On the afternoon of Trinity Sunday prizes will be distributed to those scholars who have been regular in attendance and proficient in their studies during the year.

During the four summer months the daily Morning and Evening Prayers will be discontinued. Prayers being said only on the mornings of Wednesdays and Fridays and all Holy days, the latter with Celebrations of the Holy Communion.

The Church will be always kept open as usual, and one of the Clergy can be communicated with at any time by telephone if their services are required.

The United Offering from the parish this year was $86.50, the largest amount ever raised in one year. This was due to our energetic Treasurer, Mrs. M. F. Roberts.

The annual picnic of the parish will take place on Saturday, June 24th. It. will be held as formerly on Burlington Island. Free transportation will be provided for all the members of the Sunday School and of the Mothers' Meeting from the Church to the Island and return. Entertainments will be given the children on the Island, but each person is expected to bring his or her lunch. Members of the parish can join the picnic by paying their own expenses. All will assemble in the Parish building by 7 A. M.

Should June 24th prove stormy the picnic will take place the following Saturday.

Boy Scouts. We had a big meeting to start the month, and the position of Patrol Leader of the Woodpigeons changed hands, Bender resigning and John Barr being appointed. Harry Barr and Max Bieberback are the new assistants.

The Mongoose clinched the basketball championship in the deciding game. A nature study hike was arranged for May 13th. Many specimens were gathered |including poson ivy by Scout Simons.)

In the championship contests for Philadelphia Scouts, Scout Bieberback got second in "Dressing", and Bender got seventh in "Compass pace." They are both Woodpigeons. Among the awards at the "Spring Sports" will be a "gold pin" for Mr. Seyfert as a "thank you" for his work this season.

A unique entertainment was given in the Parish Building on Wednesday evening, May 3rd, by the members of St. Agnes' Guild and some boys of the Sunday School.

There was a short act by the Boy Scouts. They were much applauded for their songs.

The 'Prophecy Pot' afforded much amusement.

The next feature was a tableau, representing "Good Friday." It was followed by the "Easter morn." The girls were dressed as angels and sang two Easter Hymns. Lemonade and cake were served at the close of the entertainment.

The Board of Managers of "St. Christopher's Hospital for Children," very gratefully acknowledge the receipt of squares, tray covers, gowns, petticoats, dresses, aprons, towels and soap sent by the Ladies' Aid of our parish, the result of their Lenten work.

Gift. The Church has received the gift of a very handsome piece of brocade for a Vestment.

Girls' Friendly Society. On Tuesday, May 16th, at the monthly devotional service, two new members were admitted, and five 'Senior' members. The Curate, Mr. Norris, gave a very helpful address, and following the service the Branch, with several friends, partook of lemonade and cake which had been made by the girls. The members will visit the University Observatory one evening in June, and meet through the summer in their "little gardens."

The Annual Spring Sports of the Junior St. John's Guild and Troop 63, Boy Scouts of America, took place on Monday, May 29. There was a large attendance Program: 1, Drill; 2, "Setting Up" Exercises; 3, Buck; 4, High Jump (Junior record 4 ft. 6 in., 1915); 5, Standing Broad Jump; 6, 3 Legged Race; 7, Pie Eating; 8, First Aid; 9, Signalling; 10, Awards.

There will be no issue of this paper during July, August and September.

THE NEW LECTIONARY.

We begin with this month the use in this parish of the new tables of Lessons set forth by the late General Convention.

These tables form a two years' course and are founded on the Ecclesiastical instead of the Civil year.

The old tables provided the same lesson for each Sunday in every year. These new tables give series of lessons for each Sunday for two years, and then directs that in the two succeeding years the lessons that have been read in the morning, should be read in the evening during the succeeding two years. This really provides a course extending over four years and enables those attending Church regularly either morning or evening to hear all the important parts of Scripture during that time. There are many persons who are in the habit of going to Church on Sundays only in the morning or only in the evening, so under the present system they hear only the same lessons year after year. The new tables will give this greater variety and make all Church attendants more familiar with the different parts of Scripture.

These lessons being founded on the Ecclesiastical instead of the Civil year, begin with the first books of both the Old and New Testament on the first Sunday in Advent instead of as formerly on January first. And they are made to correspond, as far as possible, with the teaching of the season, instead of reading the books straight through as they come in their chronological order. This will require a good deal of skipping from book to book, but the lessons will be much more appropriate to the season through which we are passing.

The historical lessons for Sundays are are so arranged as to carry the history of the Israelites through to their deliverance from Egypt in the first year, and on to their return from their captivity in Babylon during the second year. And the second lessons are made to correlate as far as possible to the first lessons, those selected from the Old Testament containing the prototypes of our Lord's life and work as given in the New Testament. The lessons are made also to harmonize with the Collects, Epistles and Gospels for the several Sundays.

In addition to the Historical Lessons for the Sundays an alternate lesson is given for each Sunday from either the Prophetical books or the books of Wisdom, which may be used in place of the historical lesson if preferred. This introduces another possibility of variety in the Sunday Lessons. There is also permission given for the reading of a lesson provided for any day of the same week instead of the Sunday Lesson, as they all have reference to the same subject. And when there is no Celebration of the Holy Communion on Holy days, the portions of Scripture appointed for the Epistles and Gospels may be used in place of the lessons appointed for morning or evening prayer.

All these provisions afford a great flexibility in the use of the Bible readings in our Church services and will give much more definiteness and meaning to the different seasons of the Church year.

Those who cannot attend the daily services in the Church, or even the Sunday services regularly, cannot do better than to use these tables as a guide in their private reading of the Bible, a habit all Christians should carefully maintain. The Bible is a colection of the most interesting, instructive, and inspiring books which can be found in all human literature. Every one should be familiar with them, and try constantly to imbibe more and more of their wisdom, teaching and spirit. In them God speaks to us as He does in no other way, and if there is any voice we should be attent to hear it is that of God as He speaks to us through those whom He has thus inspired to speak to men in His name from time to time.

Copies of these new tables can be obtained at Jacob's Book Store, 1628 Chestnut Street. Price 15 cents.

PARISH NOTES.

Thanksgiving day was observed as usual with a service in the middle of the day as on Sunday, the office for St. Andrew's day being used in the early morning. The sanctuary was decorated with fruits, some of which were sent afterwards to three persons in the parish who are sick, and the remainder was distributed to the choir boys after the service. On the evening before the members of the Mothers' Meeting and their children were entertained at a bountiful turkey and cranberry dinner in the parish building, which was provided by the liberality of some of our members. One of our male members and four of our ladies prepared the supper and waited on the table.

The Men's Club meeting last month was attended by about the usual number. A very interesting talk on the life and habits of fishes was given by Mr. Mechan, the head of the City Aquarium in Fairmont Park.

Over one hundred and thirty invitations are sent out each time to men connected with the parish to come to these meetings, but the attendance is seldom more than thirty or forty. Those who fail to come, not only miss a very pleasant and interesting evening—for we always try to make them so—but they are losing an opportunity of becoming acquainted with other men in the parish. A Church should be not only a place to worship in but also a social center. Those who belong to the same church shoul look upon themselves as members of one family and try to cultivate the relation which should subsist among the members of the same family.

It is not well for any one to live all by himself or even to shut himself up exclusively to the society of his own family, or let himself be so taken up with his daily work as to allow no time for recreation, or to seek recreation in ways which perhape may be injurious to him. We are trying very hard to make our Churches now do social as well as strictly spiritual work, and a man will be helped in many ways who enters into the social activities which he will find now in most of our parishes.

We hope we shall see more of our men at the next meeting of the Club in January.

Changes in the Church. As many are asking what is being done in regard to the proposed changes in our parish, we can only say that the deed transfering the property of the parish to the Trustees of the Diocese to be held for the Watson Memorial has been signed, and the architects are perfecting their designs for the proposed extensions to the Church. As we cannot get possession of the store north of the Church until the lease of the present tenant expires, the extention of the Church cannot take place in that direction until then. But when the plans for all the alterations of the Church are completed, we can begin the enlargement of the Chancel towards the south on the ground we already possess. No further steps have yet been taken for the constitution of the Diocesan organization which is to control the property, or for the removal of the City Mission offices to the neighborhood of the Church as was proposed.

Christmas. Our services on Christmas day will be Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 and after Morning Prayer at 10.30 A. M. Evening Prayer at 5 P. M. The Children's Christmas Festival will take place on the evening of Holy Innocents' day at 7.30 P. M. There will be the usual Creche and Christmas tree, with candies and presents, and we hope a play of some sort will be given by the members of the Candidates' Class of the Girls' Friendly.

The Christmas Offering must be for the deficit in our current expenses. Every summer we run behind hand in meeting our monthly obligations owing to so many persons being out of town. We can only make this up by large special offerings at Christmas and Easter. We need $1,000 on each occasion. We hope that those especially who do not use the envelopes and contribute very little regularly, will make up for it by a large offering at this time.

Donations for the Children's Christmas Festival and for Christmas baskets for our poorer members may be placed in the alms chests in the vestibule of the Church which are marked for those purposes.

The Christmas Communion. As Christmas day comes this year on Monday, some may prefer to make their Christmas Communion on Sunday, the day before. One of the Clergy will be found in the Church on Saturday, except between one and three o'clock in the afternoon, if any desire to see them in regard to it.

Christmas Music. Farmer's Communion service will be sung on Christmas day and on the following Sunday. It is one of much beauty and has never been used in the Ascension.

The Te Deum will be by Dudley Buch in C, and the Offertory Anthem, "We have seen His Star in the East and are come to worship Him," by Edwyn A. Clare. Postlude—Processional March by James H. Rogers.

Boy Scouts. Several overnight hikes during the summer partly equipped the boys for their work this fall, which has included a hike nearly every week. Our last "overnight" was a hike to Camp Morrell led by the Scoutmaster and Patrol Leader John Barr. Mr. Bushnell had his semi-annual nature study hike during November taking us through Cheltenham Ogoutz and Jenkintown.

Our indoor meetings have been made interesting by the talks of the following: Mr. Walker, U. of P., on "Football, Personal Health, etc.;" Dr. Funkey, on "Teeth", Scont Commissioner Merrill on "Veteran Scouts", and Rev. Mr. Morris on "The Scout Law."

Scout Bender has passed his tests and is now a First Class Scout. The knot-tieing class has been started with Scout McCann doing the best work.

The basketball team of the St. John's Guild, composed of Scouts, has been winning regularly under the leadership of "Dick" Mull. On Thanksgiving Day they defeated two teams, "Greystock", an old and bitter rival, and the "Owls."

Keep this in sight. Girls' Friendly Society. December, 1916. Tuesday, 5th, Service and business meeting; Tuesday, 12th, Miss Williamson and Miss Wharton in charge. Surgical dressings to be made; Tuesday, 19th, Dancing class, and all contributions of toys, fruit, etc., for children at Blockley, to be brought in; Tuesday, 26th, Crochet and fancy work classes.

"A Babe on the breast of a maiden He lies,
Yet sits with the Father on high in the skies;
Before Him their faces the Seraphim hide,
While Joseph stands waiting unscarred by His side.

"Lo! here is Immanuel, here is the Child,
The Son that was promised to Mary so mild;
Whose power and dominion shall ever increase,
The Prince that shall rule o'er a Kingdom of Peace.

"The Wonderful Counsellor, boundless in might,
The Father's Own Image, the Beam of His Light;
Behold Him now wearing the likeness of man,
Weak, helpless, and speechless, in measure a span.

"O wonder of wonders, which none can unfold,
The Ancient of Days is an hour or two old;
The Maker of all things is made of the earth,
Man is worshipped by Angels and God comes to birth.

"The Word in the bliss of the Godhead remains,
Yet in flesh comes to suffer the keenest of pains;
He is that He was and forever shall be,
But becomes that He was not, for you and for me.

"Then let us adore Him, and praise His Great Love,
For to save us poor creatures, He came from above."

CHANGES IN THE CHURCH.

The proposed changes in our parish both as to enlarging the Church, and constituting the parish as a Diocesan Church have been delayed through various causes.

As to the first, though the property on the corner of Broad and South Sts. was purchased last April, the deed for it had to be sent first to England and then to France to be signed by the owners, one of whom is in London and the other in Paris, and it was not returned until the end of July. Then it was found defective in form, and another deed had to be drawn and sent as before to England and to France, and it has not yet been returned. And no steps could be taken in the meantime to obtain possession of the property.

However, the architects have been making their drawings which are now complete and ready to be put in the hands of the builders when they have been submitted to the proper authorities and approved.

They provide for the tearing down of the store now on the corner of South Street and erecting in its place an extension of the nave of the Church with a very handsome tower on the corner of Broad Street on the one side and a side Chapel on the other side of the nave. The Altar now at the head of the west aisle of the Church will be removed to this Chapel, and it will afford a much more appropriate and convenient place for week day and early Sunday services than the present arrangement.

The principal entrance to the Church will be through the tower, but there will be also a door to South Street at the west end of the nave, and above it will be three large lancet windows, which Mr. Watson proposes to fill with handsome stained glass as a memorial to his wife, who was the donor of the money for the erection of the building. Other additions and improvements will be made to the Church.

There has also been delay in changing the Church from a Parochial to a Diocesan organization, owing to the Bishop's feeling that it would be wise to take time in forming the new constitution. He called a meeting early in June of a number of laymen whom he wanted to consult in the matter, and propounded to them a number of questions in regard to which he asked their opinion, intending to have another meeting at which these questions would be considered. But by this time it was so late in the season, that this did not seem practicable until the Autumn. And he and some of those he wanted to consult will be absent at the General Convention until the end of October, so nothing further can be done until he returns. And we imagine some time will be consumed after that before a final agreement can be reached and the plan consummated.

In the meantime the parish will go on as usual, and we must possess our souls in patience until we see these bright anticipations for its future enrichment and expansion realized.

PARISH VISITING.

As we do not expect to have a regular Parish Worker this Winter, and as the Curate's time during the week is largely occupied by his duties as one of the Secretaries of the Bishop, all the parish visiting will devolve on the Rector, and as our people are so scattered, so many living at a great distance from the Church, it is impossible for him to call on each family more than once in the year, except in cases of sickness or other emergency. But a great deal more visiting should be done, especially in connection with the Sunday and Industrial Schools and the Mothers' Meeting, and in hunting up delinquents. Are there not in the parish some persons who would volunteer to assist in this work?

In many Churches now it is a regular habit for the laity to do this work. It is often regularly organized, a band of men or women will undertake sometimes on a particular day to call on every person in the parish, enjoining regular Church attendance, etc. And in many cases congregations have been greatly enlarged in this way.

The Rector would be very glad if he could have some help of this kind. Might not a parishioner in West Philadelphia undertake to visit the members of the parish residing on that side of the river. Or one living, say south of Washington Ave., call on those in the southern section of the city. Another perhaps might visit all the members of the Sunday School, another those of the Mothers' Meeting.

The Rector will be glad to furnish names and addresses to any who would be willing to do this most valuable work.

PARISH NOTES.

The summer passed off uneventfully in the parish. The Sunday School closed on the afternoon of Trinity Sunday, June 18th. Prizes were awarded to the following members of the school for regularity in attendance or for good behaviour: Henry Barr, Edward Ramonette, Watson Mull, Cavalier Worthington, Frederick Zahn, Charles Ritsert, John Berry, William Rogers, Augusta Cocia, Anna Cocia, Bertha Franks, Pauline Worthington, Reba McDermott, Catherine Bierberback, Clara Ritsert, Barbara Ritsert.

The children of the Infant Class were each presented with a small silver cross on a blue or pink ribbon to hang round their necks.

The Annual Parish Picnic took place on the following Saturday, under the charge of the Rev. Mr. Morris. The day was fine, and all enjoyed the sail up the Delaware to Burlington Park and back, and the day spent there. No accidents of any kind occurred.

We have to regret the usual small attendance at the Church services during the summer months. Of course many were out of town, especially on Sunday. But of those who were in the city many stayed away, giving as an excuse that it was "too hot" to go to Church. We did not find, however, that the many beautiful, pleasant Sundays we had made any difference in their attendance.

The Boy Scouts held their annual camp at Florence Heights, N. J., on ground kindly loaned for the purpose by Mrs. Thomas Neilson. In honor of the Rector they called it "Camp Hodge."

The week beginning July 17th was a busy week for the Troop, preparing for the opening of "Camp" on Saturday, July 22nd. It was all very new to most of us and without Mr. Morgan's help, it would have been a sorry camp.

The equipment was sent to Florence early in the week, and on Friday, Mr. Morgan with John Barr, Kohlhund and myself, established camp, Mr. Morgan and myself returning in the evening, leaving Barr and Kohlhund in charge.

Saturday morning, although a dismal, rainy morning, found us all at the Church in high spirits and after assuring fond parents there was no danger of sharks, we left for the boat. There were, Jones, McDermott, G. Mull, W. Mull, H. Barr, F. Kohlhund, Dennis, Ramonette, Biles, Collison, Steubyen, not forgetting "Aunt" Katy, the cook, and her assistant, Phoebe.

We arrived at camp about three o'clock and after placing things in order, it was supper time. What appetites! I saw at once my work as provisioner was to be "some" job.

After supper Scout McLoughlin arrived to spend Sunday, and soon thereafter we all went to bed, but not to sleep.

On Sunday it cleared off splendidly. In the afternoon, a former choir boy, Charlie McCann, came with his parents to visit us. He had such a good time, he came back on Monday to stay until Thursday.

But with our "Pop" Reeves away, we all felt there was something very much lacking and when he arrived Sunday evening, unexpectedly, we were more than glad.

The days were spent for the greater part in the water, and those on detail to bring wood and carry water, hated to give up even that much time.

Tuesday and Wedenesday brought visitors to the Kohlhunds and the Mulls and with them lots of good "eats". Thursday brought Mr. Roberts and Mr. Ullrich whom we persuaded to stay for the watermelon party that night.

The boys from St. Elizabeth's Church pitched their camp next to ours and in the evenings we would visit each other's camp fires, and argue as to which was the better.

On Tuesday evening, they invited us to a corn party which we returned by a watermelon party on Thursday. Jonsey and Micky were the star entertainers of the evening. Friday evening, both camps gathered around our fire and had some more eats, but all were rather quiet because of the breaking camp on the morrow.

We broke camp after lunch and in a short time had the equipment packed, and were on our way home.

The camp was a great success, and we all want to thank the Rector and other good friends who helped make it possible for us to have it.

R. B. Seyfert, Scout Aide.

Winter work. With this month all our young people's guilds recommence. The only changes made will be that the Girls' Friendly Society will meet on Friday evenings instead of Tuesday as heretofore, and the little girls' Guild will be in charge of Miss Ely, who is connected with the New Century Club, and has lately come to the Parish. They will meet on Tuesdays instead of Saturdays as they have so long done.

Our ladies will remember the annual meeting of their Guild on SS. Simon and Jude's day, the 28th, at 10 A. M.

The new Chancel window promised in the spring, arrived from England during the summer and was put in place by the first Sunday in September. It is an unusually brilliant piece of glass, though it represents a night scene, that of the betrayal in the Garden of Gethsemene. In the upper part of the window, our Lord is represented surrounded by the soldiers, with their torches and weapons, and Judas is in the act of kissing Him. In the lower part S. Peter is about to cut the right ear of the servant of the High Priest with his sword. The window is a memorial to Mr. John W. Patten and his wife.

This now completes the windows in the Chancel and is a great improvement over the solitary plain glass window which was there. We wish all the remaining clerestory windows could now be filled with handsome glass.

Our Parish Worker, Miss Bowen, has felt obliged to give up her work, in order that she may take a position which will occupy her whole time. We regret very much to part with her as she has been most faithful and zealous, and has been of great service in the Sunday School, the Mothers' Meeting, and the little girls' Guild and in parish visiting.

The Rector will have again to depend on volunteers to occupy these different positions, as he has not the funds to pay the necessry salary for a Church worker. When the Vestry withdrew the salary for a Curate, they appropriated a smaller sum for a Parish Visitor. But when a year later another Curate was engaged that sum had to go towards his salary, and the Rector had to take the salary of the Parish Visitor out of the fund for Parochial Activities. But this fund for the past year was not only exhausted but the income for the present year anticipated. So that the Rector finds himself absolutely without funds either for these purposes or for the relief of the poor of the Parish, as that fund also was overdrawn. He begs, therefore, those who have not as yet returned their contributions made during the summer months for these funds to do so at once, and to make them as large as possible, that he may be able to carry on the work during the coming winter.

The Sunday School should have reopened on the third Sunday in September, but owing to the prevailing epidemic, and the prohibition by the city authorities of children under sixteen attending any schools, it was necessarily postponed until the first Sunday in this month. Though we lose Miss Bowen as one of the teachers we have the prospect of having two new female teachers, each of whom have come into the parish during the summer months. They will be most heartily welcomed.

We hope also that Miss Young will take charge again of the Infant Class.

Bible Classes. Miss Maria Gilpin has offered to take up again the Young Men's Bible Class this winter. We hope all the old members will come back to it, and there are a number of the older boys of the Sunday School who will be promoted to it.

A Bible and Prayer Book Instruction will be given in the Church on Sunday afternoons by the Rector. A half hour will be given to the study of some portion of the Bible, and a half hour to the Prayer Book. It is thought that the older members of the congregation, all who are too old for the Sunday School, will find these Instructions both profitable and interesting.

As last year there will be no Sermon or Instruction at the four o'clock Evensong, as this Instruction at three o'clock will take its place.

Death of Mrs. Reeves. The sympathy of all in the congregation will go out to our Boy Scout Master, Mr. Raymond Reeves, in his great affliction, in the loss of his young wife, leaving him with a small infant.

THE GENERAL CONVENTION.

As the General Convention of the Church has just closed its triennial session held in St. Louis, Missouri, all Church people should be interested in knowing something of what it has done.

The General Convention is the supreme legislative body of the American Church. It is composed of two Houses, in one of which all the Bishops of the Church have seats; the other, called the House of Deputies, consists of four clergymen and four laymen from each Diocese, elected by the Diocesan Conventions. And every measure to become a law must be concurred in by the Bishops, clergy and laity voting separately. This makes it a very conservative body so that any very radical legislation rarely takes place. And all matters relating to the Constitution of the Church or changes in the Prayer Book must be proposed in one Convention and adopted at a subsequent one. This prevents any hasty changes in important matters. And its meeting only once in three years prevents constant changes taking place.

What it does adopt, therefore, may be considered as the deliberate judgment of the whole Church, acting on the principle on which the Christian Church has always acted, of representatives of its different Orders coming toegther in Council to consult as to what is best and wisest to be done. The Church has thus led the world, showing the true way in which nations should be governed.

We have not yet the full details of what this Convention has done, but we can note certain things which have been reported in the papers..

A Committee on the subject of marriage reported a Canon—or rule—forbidding the remarriage of any persons who have been divorced for any cause whatever, the present Canon allowing the remarriage of the innocent party in the case of a Divorce for adultery. Many persons voted for this new rule, not because they did not think the innocent party entitled to remarriage, but bestand, allowing a Suffragan Bishop in a innocency in such cases. The proposition, however, failed to pass by a very slight majority.

Another proposition was made to allow the consecration of a colored Bishop to take charge of all the colored people in the United States. This also failed, leaving the existing provision to stann, allowing a Suffragan Bishop in a single Diocese to take charge of the colored people within its bounds.

The positive action of the Convention consisted in setting forth for tentative use new tables of Lessons following the Ecclesiastical, instead of the Civil, year and extending over two years. This will enable the Bible to be read much more fully and intelligently than formerly. They also set forth a new Hymnal, leaving out a number of the Hymns in the present Hymnal which are rarely if ever used, and substituting others for them.

A great deal of the time of the Convention was taken up in considering proposed alterations in the Prayer Book, in order to enrich it and adapt it more to present conditions in this country. Most of the proposals were adopted but must lie over until the following Convention three years hence, for final approval.

A great many Commissions and Committees were appointed to consider ways to promote peace in the world, to study social conditions, to visit the Missions in Liberia, to establsh a Bishopric in the Canal Zone, to send a delegation of Bishops, clergy and laity to England to consult with representatives of the Church of England in regard to war conditions, etc.

Changes were also made in the Missionary Canon of the Church, and many important Missionary meetings were held. Missionary Bishops were elected for South Dakota and Western Colorado, and various resolutions were adopted.

All who attended the Convention testify that it was one of the most amicable ever held, all parties, no matter how much they differed from each other, seemed intent only on doing what was most advisable for the advancement of the Kingdom of God on earth.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

We want to say a very serious word to our subscribers. We have not been in the habit of sending out any bills for subscriptions as they become due, simply putting a blue mark on the wrapper, and acknowledging it when paid in the following issue. But many do not notice these marks, or the difficulty of sending fifty cents by mail makes others neglect to do so. Consequently many are behind in their payments and we are in arrears. We have lost, also, some of our advertisements, which makes it additionally difficult to meet expenses. Will not every one in the Parish who can afford to, subscribe to the paper and pay it regularly each year in the same month. Otherwise we shall be compelled to send out bills, and we think many will be surprised to find out for how many years they owe.

PARISH NOTES.

Woman's Guild. The annual meeting of the Guild was held on SS. Simon and Jude's day, Oct. 28th. Some seventeen ladies were present. The reports of work for the past year were read and made a very good showing compared with previous years. A number of changes were made in the different Chapters of the Guild. Mrs. Chandler Hare and Miss Hare, having moved to the country, have resigned their missionary positions, also Mrs. Lockwood, formerly Miss Helen Hodge. In their places Mrs. Coates and Mrs. Christian were appointed on the Diocesan Committee, and Miss H. A. Baugh on the Foreign Committee. Mrs. Samuel Wagner takes Miss Hare's place as Secretary of the Church Periodical Club. Miss Alice Young will take charge of the Mothers' Meeting, and Mrs. Tutwiler of the Industrial School, at least for the present.

A request having been made that we should send two delegates to the Women's Auxiliary of the South Convocation, Miss Bannington and Miss Louise Carmen consented to serve and attended a meeting of the Auxiliary in the Chapel of the Prince of Peace on Monday, Oct. 30th.

The Winter activities will recommence this month. The Wednesday service followed by the Mothers' Meeting, the Industrial School on Saturday mornings, the Embroidery Class and the Ladies' Aid on Thursdays.

The Men's Club will hold its smoker on Thursday, Nov. 16th, at 8 P. M., when we expect to have a talk from Mr. William E. Meehan, head of the City Aquarium, on "the Wonders of Fish life."

The Benevolent side of the enevlopes for this quarter is for General Missions. The amount we were asked to give for this purpose last year was $1,241.76, and we gave $863.88. This year we are asked for $952.97, let us see if we cannot give it in full and so be one of those parishes which has made up its apportionment.

Sunday School. We have been very glad to welcome Miss Ely and Miss Tames as two new teachers in the Sunday School. Miss Anna Anderson and Miss Ida Klofack have taken charge of the Infant School, and Miss Maria Gilpin has started her Young Men's Bible Class with an attendance so far of eight.

The Bible and Prayer Book Instruction in the Church on Sundays at 3 P .M. by the Rector should be more largely attended. In these days of Bible criticism and Prayer Book alterations, people ought to acquaint themselves with what is being said and done in these matters. The method adopted by the Rector of giving an informal instruction on Sunday afternoons, instead of a formal sermon, is better calculated to give this information on these subjects. And he will be very glad to answer any questions which may be asked in regard to them.

This Instruction is put before the four o'clock Evensong, instead of after, so that that service may not be made too long for the Sunday School children to attend.

Christmas Cards. The new Secretary of the Periodical Club has received a request to provide Christmas cards for the children of S. Michael's Home for Crippled Children in West Philadelphia. Any person having such cards to dispose of can send them to Mrs. Samuel Wagner, 410 South 15th Street.

Thauksgiving Day. Any donations of fruit on Thanksgiving day will be placed on the Altar during the service, and afterwards be given to the sick and the choir boys. Donations are also asked for the Thanksgigving supper for the members of the Mothers' Meeting on the Wednesday evening before. The offerings at the mid-day service will be given to the Episcopal Hospital.

Girls' Friendly Society. The meetings hereafter this Winter will be on Tuesday evenings, with a crochet and fancy work, dancing class, cooking, and entertainment meetings once a month. The Young Girls' Guild is being organized into a Candidates' Class under the care of Miss Ely, and the devotional meeting will be a united one on the first Tuesday of the month. S. E. Gilpin, Branch Sec.

CAVALERIA RUSTICANA.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the initial performance of "Cavelleria Rusticana" will be celebrated by a performance of that Opera by the Behrens Opera Club in the Metropolitan Opera House, Broad and Poplar Streets, Monday evening, November 27th.

The outstanding feature of this performance will be the fact that Mr. Gustav Hinrichs, who conducted the initial performance of this Opera twenty-five years ago, will also conduct this performance.

It will undoubtedly be of interest to the Congregation to know that our Choir will participate in the coming performance, singing the "Easter Music" after the procession to the Church.

A very capable cast has been selected, and we feel certain in predicting a splendid performance of the Opera.

A COMPARISON.

The collections or offerings in all the nine hundred churches of Philadelphia on a recent Sunday did not equal the $137,000 paid to see the Harvard-Yale football game, although the congregations numbered ten times as many as the football spectators.

CHURCH PAGEANT.

One of the most interesting side lines of the General Convention in St. Louis, was the Church Pageant which was given on the evening of Wednesday, October 18. The committee having this matter in charge has gone to great pains to insure the carrying out of the minutest details. Two thousand persons took part, and the Coliseum in which the pageant was given holds about seven thousand spectators. Beginning with the scene in the upper room on the day of Pentecost, the history of the Church was portrayed down to the present time, emphasizing the continuity of the Church, and the prevailing idea of the responsibility for spreading the Kingdom of God among the heathen. The great missionary enterprises and marks of development were pictured in the different groups. It was a wonderful production, in twenty-nine tableaux and episodes, illustrating the history of the Church from the Day of Pentecost to the Episcopate of Bishop Tuttle. The great building, which recently witnessed the renomination of Woodrow Wilson, was crowded to the utmost. This admirable presentation was made by groups connected with the different parishes of St. Louis and vicinity. It was a great feature of a great Convention.

THE NEW LECTIONARY.

We begin with this month the use in this parish of the new tables of Lessons set forth by the late General Convention.

These tables form a two years' course and are founded on the Ecclesiastical instead of the Civil year.

The old tables provided the same lesson for each Sunday in every year. These new tables give series of lessons for each Sunday for two years, and then directs that in the two succeeding years the lessons that have been read in the morning, should be read in the evening during the succeeding two years. This really provides a course extending over four years and enables those attending Church regularly either morning or evening to hear all the important parts of Scripture during that time. There are many persons who are in the habit of going to Church on Sundays only in the morning or only in the evening, so under the present system they hear only the same lessons year after year. The new tables will give this greater variety and make all Church attendants more familiar with the different parts of Scripture.

These lessons being founded on the Ecclesiastical instead of the Civil year, begin with the first books of both the Old and New Testament on the first Sunday in Advent instead of as formerly on January first. And they are made to correspond, as far as possible, with the teaching of the season, instead of reading the books straight through as they come in their chronological order. This will require a good deal of skipping from book to book, but the lessons will be much more appropriate to the season through which we are passing.

The historical lessons for Sundays are are so arranged as to carry the history of the Israelites through to their deliverance from Egypt in the first year, and on to their return from their captivity in Babylon during the second year. And the second lessons are made to correlate as far as possible to the first lessons, those selected from the Old Testament containing the prototypes of our Lord's life and work as given in the New Testament. The lessons are made also to harmonize with the Collects, Epistles and Gospels for the several Sundays.

In addition to the Historical Lessons for the Sundays an alternate lesson is given for each Sunday from either the Prophetical books or the books of Wisdom, which may be used in place of the historical lesson if preferred. This introduces another possibility of variety in the Sunday Lessons. There is also permission given for the reading of a lesson provided for any day of the same week instead of the Sunday Lesson, as they all have reference to the same subject. And when there is no Celebration of the Holy Communion on Holy days, the portions of Scripture appointed for the Epistles and Gospels may be used in place of the lessons appointed for morning or evening prayer.

All these provisions afford a great flexibility in the use of the Bible readings in our Church services and will give much more definiteness and meaning to the different seasons of the Church year.

Those who cannot attend the daily services in the Church, or even the Sunday services regularly, cannot do better than to use these tables as a guide in their private reading of the Bible, a habit all Christians should carefully maintain. The Bible is a colection of the most interesting, instructive, and inspiring books which can be found in all human literature. Every one should be familiar with them, and try constantly to imbibe more and more of their wisdom, teaching and spirit. In them God speaks to us as He does in no other way, and if there is any voice we should be attent to hear it is that of God as He speaks to us through those whom He has thus inspired to speak to men in His name from time to time.

Copies of these new tables can be obtained at Jacob's Book Store, 1628 Chestnut Street. Price 15 cents.

PARISH NOTES.

Thanksgiving day was observed as usual with a service in the middle of the day as on Sunday, the office for St. Andrew's day being used in the early morning. The sanctuary was decorated with fruits, some of which were sent afterwards to three persons in the parish who are sick, and the remainder was distributed to the choir boys after the service. On the evening before the members of the Mothers' Meeting and their children were entertained at a bountiful turkey and cranberry dinner in the parish building, which was provided by the liberality of some of our members. One of our male members and four of our ladies prepared the supper and waited on the table.

The Men's Club meeting last month was attended by about the usual number. A very interesting talk on the life and habits of fishes was given by Mr. Mechan, the head of the City Aquarium in Fairmont Park.

Over one hundred and thirty invitations are sent out each time to men connected with the parish to come to these meetings, but the attendance is seldom more than thirty or forty. Those who fail to come, not only miss a very pleasant and interesting evening—for we always try to make them so—but they are losing an opportunity of becoming acquainted with other men in the parish. A Church should be not only a place to worship in but also a social center. Those who belong to the same church shoul look upon themselves as members of one family and try to cultivate the relation which should subsist among the members of the same family.

It is not well for any one to live all by himself or even to shut himself up exclusively to the society of his own family, or let himself be so taken up with his daily work as to allow no time for recreation, or to seek recreation in ways which perhape may be injurious to him. We are trying very hard to make our Churches now do social as well as strictly spiritual work, and a man will be helped in many ways who enters into the social activities which he will find now in most of our parishes.

We hope we shall see more of our men at the next meeting of the Club in January.

Changes in the Church. As many are asking what is being done in regard to the proposed changes in our parish, we can only say that the deed transfering the property of the parish to the Trustees of the Diocese to be held for the Watson Memorial has been signed, and the architects are perfecting their designs for the proposed extensions to the Church. As we cannot get possession of the store north of the Church until the lease of the present tenant expires, the extention of the Church cannot take place in that direction until then. But when the plans for all the alterations of the Church are completed, we can begin the enlargement of the Chancel towards the south on the ground we already possess. No further steps have yet been taken for the constitution of the Diocesan organization which is to control the property, or for the removal of the City Mission offices to the neighborhood of the Church as was proposed.

Christmas. Our services on Christmas day will be Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 6.30, 7.30, 8.30 and after Morning Prayer at 10.30 A. M. Evening Prayer at 5 P. M. The Children's Christmas Festival will take place on the evening of Holy Innocents' day at 7.30 P. M. There will be the usual Creche and Christmas tree, with candies and presents, and we hope a play of some sort will be given by the members of the Candidates' Class of the Girls' Friendly.

The Christmas Offering must be for the deficit in our current expenses. Every summer we run behind hand in meeting our monthly obligations owing to so many persons being out of town. We can only make this up by large special offerings at Christmas and Easter. We need $1,000 on each occasion. We hope that those especially who do not use the envelopes and contribute very little regularly, will make up for it by a large offering at this time.

Donations for the Children's Christmas Festival and for Christmas baskets for our poorer members may be placed in the alms chests in the vestibule of the Church which are marked for those purposes.

The Christmas Communion. As Christmas day comes this year on Monday, some may prefer to make their Christmas Communion on Sunday, the day before. One of the Clergy will be found in the Church on Saturday, except between one and three o'clock in the afternoon, if any desire to see them in regard to it.

Christmas Music. Farmer's Communion service will be sung on Christmas day and on the following Sunday. It is one of much beauty and has never been used in the Ascension.

The Te Deum will be by Dudley Buch in C, and the Offertory Anthem, "We have seen His Star in the East and are come to worship Him," by Edwyn A. Clare. Postlude—Processional March by James H. Rogers.

Boy Scouts. Several overnight hikes during the summer partly equipped the boys for their work this fall, which has included a hike nearly every week. Our last "overnight" was a hike to Camp Morrell led by the Scoutmaster and Patrol Leader John Barr. Mr. Bushnell had his semi-annual nature study hike during November taking us through Cheltenham Ogoutz and Jenkintown.

Our indoor meetings have been made interesting by the talks of the following: Mr. Walker, U. of P., on "Football, Personal Health, etc.;" Dr. Funkey, on "Teeth", Scont Commissioner Merrill on "Veteran Scouts", and Rev. Mr. Morris on "The Scout Law."

Scout Bender has passed his tests and is now a First Class Scout. The knot-tieing class has been started with Scout McCann doing the best work.

The basketball team of the St. John's Guild, composed of Scouts, has been winning regularly under the leadership of "Dick" Mull. On Thanksgiving Day they defeated two teams, "Greystock", an old and bitter rival, and the "Owls."

Keep this in sight. Girls' Friendly Society. December, 1916. Tuesday, 5th, Service and business meeting; Tuesday, 12th, Miss Williamson and Miss Wharton in charge. AN ANCIENT CHRISTMAS CAROL.

"A Babe on the breast of a maiden He lies,
Yet sits with the Father on high in the skies;
Before Him their faces the Seraphim hide,
While Joseph stands waiting unscarred by His side.

"Lo! here is Immanuel, here is the Child,
The Son that was promised to Mary so mild;
Whose power and dominion shall ever increase,
The Prince that shall rule o'er a Kingdom of Peace.

"The Wonderful Counsellor, boundless in might,
The Father's Own Image, the Beam of His Light;
Behold Him now wearing the likeness of man,
Weak, helpless, and speechless, in measure a span.

"O wonder of wonders, which none can unfold,
The Ancient of Days is an hour or two old;
The Maker of all things is made of the earth,
Man is worshipped by Angels and God comes to birth.

"The Word in the bliss of the Godhead remains,
Yet in flesh comes to suffer the keenest of pains;
He is that He was and forever shall be,
But becomes that He was not, for you and for me.

"Then let us adore Him, and praise His Great Love,
For to save us poor creatures, He came from above."

THE HOLY COMMUNION AT BURIALS.

The Holy Communion is not only the great distinctive act of Christian worship, but it is the highest, fullest possible act of worship, and the greatest source of spiritual help. It embodies all the elements of worship, prayer, penitence, absolution, instruction, praise, thanksgiving, and combined with these the bestowal of grace.

It is on account of its superlative and preeminent character that Christians universally from the earliest times to the present,—except some Protestants,—have made it the great act by which every Sunday and Holy day, at the least, should be sanctified. And we venture to say that more souls have been sustained, helped and comforted by its use than by any other mode of worship of any religion.

And if it can thus express the feelings and satisfy our cravings, and help souls under ordinary circumstances, how wise, appropriate and valuable its use at times of special stress or trial. How wise is its use, for instance, in connection with the Burial of the dead. If there is any time that the soul needs support and comfort, it is at the solemn moment when one is parting forever in this life with one who has been the dearest object of interest and affection. When a soul is bowed in an agony of grief, what possible comfort can it have but in the assurance that all things are ordered by infinite love and goodness, and that that love has been manifested, and its ability to understand and sympathize with all human experiences expressed by the life and sacrificial death of the Divine, Incarnate Son of God. And that is what the Holy Communion sets forth and brings most vividly to human comprehension. What so appropriate, therefore, as its Celebration at a Burial?

Then, too, at every Celebration we remember the departed, we give God "thanks for the good examples" of the holy dead and pray that, "with them, we may be partakers of His heavenly kingdom." And we pray as well for those who in this life are "in trouble, sorrow or adversity." It is the great service which unites the Church on earth with that in the spirit world. We join "with angels and archangels and all the company of Heaven," in adoration of the Supreme Being. It witnesses to "the Communion of saints", which joins the Church on earth with that above. When should these thoughts be so impressed upon us as at a Burial, and what can do so as fully and forcibly as the Holy Communion?

The habit of having it Celebrated at Burials has obtained from the earliest Christian times to the present day. St. Augustine, in the fifth century, speaks of offering it at the burial of his mother. All Christian liturgies provide for its use at such times. The first English Prayer Book set forth a special Collect, Epistle and Gospel for such Celebrations, and these can be used in our Churches today.

We have frequently had them in this parish, and the Clergy are always ready to do so, though they hesitate to suggest it without being asked. If persons pass their lives without its use, or real appreciation of its value, they naturally do not think of it, or feel the need of it, even at so supreme a moment as that of the burial of a loved one. But all who know and realize what is its meaning, and depend on it for the constant sustenance and strengthening of their spiritual lives, will certainly request that they may have the help and comfort it brings at the Burial of those who have been dear to them. The Burial Office without it is imperfect to the devout Christian.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas. Our Christmas this year was an unusually bright and successful one. It was a beautiful day, the Church was more than usually trimmed with greens, the musical service in the middle of the day consisted of a Mass by Farmer, an exceedingly beautiful composition, rendered for the first time in the parish, and with great accuracy and effect. There were some twenty more Communions made than last year, and the offerings were some larger. There was a most generous response for Christmas dinners and the Children's Festival. The latter took place on the evening of Holy Innocents' day, and was much enjoyed by the children. There was the usual Creche before which a Christmas Carol was sung. Other Carols were sung, with recitations, a ventriloquist exhibition, which was very entertaining, and the distribution of presents and a box of candy to each scholar by a real live Kriss Krinkle, who,—there being no chimney in the parish building—came in through one of the windows.

Fifteen well filled baskets, each containing a fowl and other good things were given to the members of the Mothers' Meeting on Christmas morning. The Rector, the Verger, the Servers and the Church Caretaker were all recipients of substantial remembrances, and a number of Christmas cards wer exchanged.

The Christmas music was repeated on the Sunday within the octave, and will be sung again the first Sunday of this month.

Choir Christmas Party. The members of the Choir thoroughly enjoyed a Christmas Party given them on Friday evening of Christmas week, by a friend who has always been interested in the Choir and its work, and all enjoyed this further evidence of his interest.

After a short rehearsal in the Church, the Choir returned to its regular room, which in the interim had been beautifully decorated as for Christmas, and there partook of the very plentiful refreshments.

At the conclusion, after remarks by the Choir-Master and others, those boys of the Choir who are members of the Boy Scouts gave one of their yells for the donor of the feast, and then all present gave a yell, which, while rather indescribabel, was proof conclusive of a most enjoyable evening.

Confirmation. The Bishop of the Diocese has appointed the evening of Wednesday, March 14th, for the administration of Confirmation in this parish. Preparatory instructions will be given beginning about six weeks before, of which due notice will be given. We trust that none in the parish who is of sufficient age will let this opportunity pass without availing themselves of it to receive this blessed ordinance which admits them to all the privileges of the Church.

Gifts. The Rector takes much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of some nineteen coal orders for distribution in the parish, and a number of valuable articles of clothing, especially for children. Anything of this kind is most thankfully received by those who in these days of higher cost of living have not the money to buy even the most necessary kinds of clothes. Two bottles of Sacramental wine were also presented to the Church, and 100 sticks of candy for the Christmas tree.

The Men's Club Meeting this month will be on the evening of Thursday, January 18th. The entertainment will be chiefly a musical one, and we hope all the men of the parish will make an effort to be present and thus promote the sociability which should subsist between those belonging to the same Church. As it is so hard for the Clergy to get opportunities for seeing the men who are so occupied during the day that they specially value this chance of seeing those whom they can rarely get a chance to speak to.

A sale of some very good clothes was held early in the month, the proceeds of which were divided between the Mothers' Meeting and the Girls' Friendly Society.

Missionary-box. Our ladies made up as usual before Christmas a very good missionary box of clothing, table and bed lines, etc., valued at some $80, which was sent to a clergyman and his family in the mountains of North Carolina. We print the very appreciative letter of thanks which has been received.

Dec. 13, 1916

My dear Mrs. Smith:

At five o'clock last Saturday afternoon I put the last pinch of salt in the pan of chicken salad for 150 people and the damp cloth around 95 sandwiches to be served at our bazaar that night. When the door bell rang—I did so hope it wasn't company—and it was not, instead a great, big "smiley" express man—with a great, big and lovely box, from your Church Auxiliary—and some things from girls—which in a way—touched our hearts very tenderly—for it shows the right beginning for this world. Rose, (our daughter), was beaming when she discovered the velvet skirt, and after that she almost had hysteria.

It would have made the girls feel well paid to have seen her—she is filled with gratitude. Everthing fitted everybody. We created a sensation when we appeared—Sunday morning—one by one. The ladies came to me, looked at my nice suit and said, "Where did you get it?" You know in this dear Southland people do not hesitate to ask personal questions.

My gratitude cannot be expressed for the contents of the wonderful box. Of course, you must know we are more than grateful. We thank you with our whole hearts and pray the Master to give you many good gifts.

Very sincerely,

(The Clergyman's wife.)

Boy Scouts' Basketball. The team playing as the Ascension easily defeated the "Alumni" on Dec. 13. Dick Mull and Aleck Boggs doing the best work for their respective sides.

In the other game in December we lost to Sherwood 23 to 18 in a well played game. "Happy" Barr and Kohlhund exceling for our bunch.

"Good turn." We have at last an opportunity for a community good turn. A squad of Scouts will be detailed to do special "survey" work for the Rector during January. Do a good turn daily is our slogan but it is seldom that we get a chance to work as a troop in this branch of Scouting.

THE PENSION FUND.

A great effort is being made to complete the $5,000,000 Pension Fund for aged and infirm clergymen and the widows and orphans of deceased clergymen. $4,000,000 has now been raised, and the remaining million must be secured before March 1st in order to complete the fund.

What has so far been given has been chiefly in large subscriptions. The effort is now being made to secure the remainder by smaller gifts. A large amount of literature has been sent to this Parish for distribution, and a special Committee of the Vestry has been appointed to secure subscriptions, who may make personal appeals to the members of the parish.

Some of our members, we believe, have already subscribed to this fund, but the parish, as such, has not as yet given anything.

Offerings specially designated for it may be placed in the plates at any collection in the Church.

APPORTIONMENTS.

A new way of obtaining money for Diocesan and benevolent purposes has lately come into use. Formerly,—with the exception of the Episcopal and Convention Fund which has always been fixed on the Parishes as a distinct tax-contributions for benevolent and Missionary purposes were always left to be obtained by voluntary contributions. An offering was taken, or envelopes issued, for a specific purpose and whatever was received in that way was forwarded to the Treasurer of the particular fund. Now the amount desired by the several Missionary and Charitable agencies is "apportioned" on the several Dioceses and by them on the various parishes. Thus each parish is told how much it is expected to contribute to a particular cause.

But how are the parishes to obtain the amounts they are asked to give? To carry the system out we suppose the consistent way would be to "apportion" on the several members of each parish the amount they should individually give to make up the total required. But that would be exceedingly difficult, for it would involve knowing just what is each individual's ability to give. And that is impossible.

The only suggestion we can make towards solving the difficulty is to ask each person in the parish, contributing through the envelopes, to give just as much for Benevolent purposes as he or she does for parochial support. Some of our members do this already. Many others give a much smaller sum in the benevolent side of the envelope than they do for Church support, and some do not give anything for outside purposes. If all gave an equal amount through both sides of their envelopes a much larger sum would be received.

The amounts "apportioned" on this parish this year come to $1,243.98. To which must be added $150 a year, should the Vestry assume the payment of its assessment to the Pension Fund of the Clergy, and $200 for the Episcopal and Convention Fund, making a total of some $1,700 for purposes outside of the parish.

If these sums are not contributed it puts the parish in the light of not discharging its obligations to the Diocese and the General Church. But how are they to be paid, unless they are specifically contributed? Will not each one in the parish do at least this, give as much through the benevolent side of their envelopes as they do through the side for the support of the parish?

THE REV. HENRY PAGE DYER.

The many friends of the Rev. Mr. Dyer, late Curate of this parish, were terribly shocked on learning of his death, after only a week's illness, in New York on January 13th.

Mr. Dyer was Curate here from 1902 until 1914. He was a man absorbed in his profession and untiring in his devotion to those aspects of it which especially appealed to him. He instituted the daily Eucharist in 1906 and continued it until he left the parish, gathering about him a devoted small following who never failed to attend it with him at 7 A. M. each day, winter and summer. He was very fond of teaching, giving innumerable instructions to the children of the Sunday School and Guilds, and in preparing candidates for Confirmation. As a preacher he was very original and delighted in selecting striking topics which would attract attention.

He conducted for several summers a series of really remarkable services on Sunday nights, followed by after meetings in the Parish Building for discussion, often protracted to eleven o'clock.

He was an author of considerable ability, publishing series of tracts and leaflets on ecclesiastical subjects which have had a wide circulation, running up even to hundreds of thousands. He published a book on the Sacraments and an Altar Manual, both profusely illustrated.

He was particularly fond of little girls, and was the founder of, and devoted a great deal of time to, our S. Agnes' Guild for such, taking its members constantly to entertainments and joining in their play.

He had a special faculty for drawing persons to the use of private Confession, and has heard as many as eighty here in one day.

We are sure that his arduous and devoted labors have had, and we trust will continue to have, great effect on many souls which have come under his influence here and elsewhere.

For the last two years he has been a Curate in one of the Chapels of Trinity Church, New York, where he had many more persons, both children and adults, to deal with than he had here. And we do not doubt but that his zeal and assiduity in carrying out his ideals tended to shorten his life.

It seems strange that such a useful life should be so suddenly cut off, but we are no judges in such matters. We can only thank God for his life and labors and pray that he may find rest and refreshment in the spirit world into which he has passed.

MISS ADELINE L. AUCOTT.

We have also to lament the sudden death from the same cause of Miss Aucott, one of our Sunday School teachers. She formerly attended the Church of the Epiphany, Pelham, where the Rev. Mr. Morris was Rector. When he became Curate of this parish she was transferred here, and although living at a great distance from the Church, she has been very regular in her attendance and in teaching in the Sunday School. She also assisted in the Mothers' Meeting and did some visiting.

Her being taken away is a distinct loss to the Parish.

MR. WILLIAM C. LLOYD.

A member of this Parish for twenty-six years, for eleven of which he was a Vestryman, and for six years the Accounting Warden, passed away on Jan. 19th in his eighty-fourth year. Brought up under Quaker influences, he early in life embraced the Church and was unfeignedly devoted to it. He attended its services with the utmost regularity, took the greatest interest in its welfare and tried to be of use to it in every way he could. For some years he taught a Male Bible Class in the Parish, and continued his duties of Vestryman and Accounting Warden as long as his health permitted him to do so.

For some years he has been rarely able to leave the house and so could not attend the Church, but the Rector visited him regularly and gave him the Holy Communion before his death. He was buried from the Church.

May these devoted servants of the Church now rest in peace.

PARISH NOTES.

Confirmation. As announced, the Bishop of the Diocese has appointed the evening of Wednesday, March 14th, for the administration of Confirmation in this parish.

Instructions preparatory will be given by the Rector each Sunday afternoon in the Church at 3 P. M., beginning with Feb. 4th. This will take the place of the Instructions he has been giving on the Bible and Prayer Book.

He hopes that those who have been attending these Instructions will continue to do so. Though they have been Confirmed they will find it profitable to make this review of what is involved in Confirmation and Communion. The Instructions on the Bible and Prayer Book will be resumed after the Confirmation has taken place.

The Missionary service for the Girls' Friendly Society of the Diocese will be held on Sunday evening, Feb. 4th, at 8.00 P. M. It will consist of Prayers, the singing of Hymns and two or more Missionary addresses.

The Society of S. Charles, King and Martyr, had a special Celebration of the Holy Communion in this Church on January 30th. The Collect, Epistle and Gospel appointed in the English Prayer Book for the service for that day were used.

This Society thus commemorates that day each year by such a service in different churches. Last year it was held in S. Peter's Church.

Missionary Sunday. Feb. 18th, Quinquagesima Sunday, will be observed as Missionary Sunday in the Sunday School. The Instruction will be on Missions. Missionary hymns will be sung and the Lenten Mite boxes for Missionary collections will be given out. Each child who can read will also be given a copy of the Children's Number of the Spirit of Missions.

The Benevolent Offerings for this quarter are for Diocesan Missions, for which this parish is asked to give $271.32 in all. That includes the support of Missions in the Diocese, the Sustentation fund for poor Parishes, the Galilee and Seamen's Missions, the State College Chaplaincy, Mount Alto Home, Religious education and Social service.

The Men's Club Night this month was an unusually successful one. Some fifty men were present. A very forceful address on the evils of the Saloon was given by Dr. Homer W. Tope, Superintendent of the Anti Saloon League, and a great deal of good music was given by our Choirmaster, Mr. Ullrich, and by the Mandolin Glee Club.

A special meeting of the Vestry was held the same evening to consider the duty of the Parish in regard to the Clergy Pension Fund, but it decided not to take any action in the matter at present, as it would add an additional sum to our annual expenses, which we find it difficult to meet as it is.

Collections for the Pension Fnud for the clergy will be taken up in all our Churches on Quinquagesima Sunday, Feb. 18th. Special envelopes for the purpose will be provided perviously. The $4,000,000 already raised has been mostly in large subscriptions. The object of this collection is to enable every one to have a share in providing the remaining $1,000,000 needed.

Minstrel show on Monday evening, Feb. 12th, in the Parish building at 8.15 P. M. Do not forget it. Tickets 30 cents. Dancing.

Batterson legacy. The Church has received the legacy of $1,000 left by the late Mrs. Batterson for the Poor of the Parish. The Vestry have resolved to put this in the hands of the Pennsylvania Company for insurance to serve as a beginning for a permanent benevolent fund for the Parish.

Boy Scouts. Everything else has been cast aside in our endeavor to make our Minstrel Show on Feb. 12 a real success. We feel that the final stroke toward that end was accomplished when Mr. Chester Myers was obtained for Interlocutor.

Scouts J. Barr, M. Bieberback and E. Ramonette have successfully passed their second class exams. and will become second class at our next meeting. Watson Mull distinguished himself and the troop when he was chosen Captain of the Safety First Squad in his school.

Our activities during February will include hikes, good turns, tests, survey work, basketball and gymnasium, preparatory to the "Spring Sports."

Girls' Friendly. During the past month there has been the cooking class, when the girls get their supper, and a party when Mr. Hill and his friends gave some delightful music and made it a success, and we attended the reception to the Gen. President, Miss Sibley, at the Curtis building. There will be the devotional meeting on the 6th, cooking on the 13th, dancing class on the 20th, for boys and girls, and the Lenten sewing for Missions on the 27th.

Ye Olde Folkes Concert will be given in the Parish Building on Monday, Feb. 19th, for the members of S. Agnes' Guild. Tickets 10 cents. This will take the place of the usual children's party we have before Lent. Tickets will be given to all the children of the Sunday School.

The Ladies' Aid have decided to work during Lent for the Boys' School, Sewanee, Tenn.

THE PILGRIMAGE OF PRAYER.

February 4th to 11th.

The Bishop of the Diocese has issued a letter to the Clergy and Laity calling upon them to take part in the Pilgrimage of Prayer which has been planned to last throughout the country for a year from the beginning of the Advent season. It is to be observed here during the first week of this month.

In this Parish the Rector will preach on the subject in the morning, and the members of the Woman's Auxiliary—under whose auspices the Pilgrimage has been planned—are asked to make a Corporate Communion on that day, and special intercessions will be offered at each service during the week. Our people are also asked to remember the objects of the intercessions in their private devotions.

A Program of Diocesan Meetings has been arranged, as noted below, but it is earnestly hoped that the accent may fall on the parish, and from the parish on each individual man, woman and child, that our whole body of Communicants be 60,000 pilgrims to the place of Prayer.

MODES OF WORSHIP.

Public worship is essential to religion. It is necessary to preserve and give expression to religious feeling, to witness to and teach religious principles. So all peoples of all races have had religious institutions, have erected temples, maintained a priesthood and conducted worship. Even the Quakers, who profess to discard all outward rites and ceremonies, to have no regular ministry or sacraments or forms of any kind, do nevertheless have recognized preachers, erect meeting houses and hold regular weekly and semi-weekly meetings for worship. If such things were given up entirely religion could exercise but little influence, if it were not lost sight of altogether.

The forms used in religious worship vary of course with the character and teachings of the religion and with the temperament of individuals. But there are certain general characteristics which appear in almost all modes of worship. Men have almost always felt that God should be honored by the erection of the most beautiful and costly temples that man's skill or wealth could provide. And a lofty, beautiful, seemly building is best calculated to impress the worshipper with a sense of the greatness and mystery which envelopes the Divine Being. Some few have thought that plain, bare meeting houses and absence of form are better suited for true spiritual worship. But such are becoming more and more rare, and we imagine that it is their very strangeness and quaintness that makes them attractive at all.

These men of all religions have naturally used music, and set forms, and lights and colors and rich vestments and other such accessories as fitting accompaniments, and modes of expressing religious feelings and teaching religious truths. These have varied among different peoples and different times according to the genius of various nations, times or classes, but they have been used more or less universally. When it is objected by some that Christianity has been only copying, and importing into her systems, heathen practices and rites in using such things, it has really been because she was following a universal instinct. When God has made the world so beautiful with every form and shape and color and sound, it would be strange indeed to banish all such things from sanctuaries erected to His honor and to inculcate His characteristics.

It is true that there is always a danger of the worship of God becoming mechanical, perfunctory and mere display. But the way to guard against this is not to do away with it altogether, but to emphasize the spiritual meaning and purport of all outward acts. It is true, too, that some persons are not esthetically inclined, and forms and ceremonies repel rather than assist them to worship. For such natures due provision should be made, simpler, quiet, unconventional modes of expressing their feelings should be provided. But for the generality of men, and for giving prominence and importance to, and impressing men with a sense of, the value and truth of religion, appealing to their affections and sympathies, helping and inspiring them to reach after and rely on unseen spiritual things, a certain amount of form and ceremony and the use of outward ordinances is necessary.

It is the peculiar genius of the Churches of the Anglican Communion, to which our American Episcopal Church belongs, that it recognizes this and makes ample provision for it, and yet always in a language, and with forms, that the people generally can understand and take part in. No matter how beautiful or symbolical forms may be, if they are not such that the worshippers can appreciate and follow, they can scarcely be of much spiritual use to them.

Our Book of Common Prayer provides a mode of worship most dignified, beautiful and impressive. Any one can soon learn to use and appreciate everything in it, and he whose habit it has become to do so, will value it above words. He would not change it for any other mode of worship that he knows. He will find in its solemn, reasonable, and beautiful words and ceremonies that which will best form and guide and give expression to, the attitude and feelings he is sure he ought to have when he engages in the lofty, solemn act of the worship of Almighty God.

PARISH NOTES.

Lenten services. As we have so many services regularly in this Church there is no necessity for many additional ones during Lent, but there is great need for larger attendance at those services by our people.

It is a season for special prayer, and we cannot pray so well as in the regular services in the Church. We do trust our people will make use of these opportunities they have during this season, when there is such special need of prayer for ourselves and for the world.

The services during the week are daily prayers at 10 A. M. and 5 P. M. On Wednesdays at 8 P. M., the Penitential service and lecture. At this service the singing is congregational. Thursdays at 9 A. M., Holy Communion. On Fridays at 5 P. M., the boys of the choir are present to sing, and there will be a short lecture by the Rector on the principal Christian duties.

Holy Week comes this year the first week in April, before the April number of this paper can be issued, so we announce now that the services will be as in previous years. Holy Communion each day at 7.30 A. M., and after Morning Prayer at 10 A. M., except on Good Friday. Evening Prayer daily at 5 P. M., and the Stations of the Cross each evening at 8 P. M., except Wednesday when the Cantata of the Crucifixion will be sung by a largely augmented choir, and Saturday, when there is a short service and sermon for Easter Even. On Good Friday the Stations will be observed at 9.30 A. M. Morning Prayer and the Litany at 11 A. M., followed by the singing of the Reproaches and the preaching of the Cross from 12 to 3 P. M. The Rector expects to be the preacher this year.

On Palm Sunday, there will be the usual Procession of Palms before the Midday Celebration at 11 A. M.

Confirmation will be administered in the Church on the evening of March 14, at 8 P. M., by the Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese. The Rector is much disappointed that a number of persons whom he hoped would have presented themselves at this time have failed to do so. There will, however, be a fair class, considering the numbers now attending the Church.

The offerings on this occasion are for the Bishop's private purse for assisting special cases of need in the Diocese.

The Men's Club meeting this month will be on the evening of Thursday, March 15th, when in addition to the usual smoker it is hoped to have present the celebrated Greek athlete of the University, who will lecture on athletics and give exhibitions of his great strength.

Entertainments. We had a number of entertainments in the Parish building during the past month. One was a very high-class concert for the benefit of S. Barnabas' Guild for Nurses, which holds its regular monthly meetings here. The proceeds yielded about $150 for the use of the Guild. Then an Old Folks' Concert was given for the benefit of S. Agnes' Guild for little girls. This was well rendered by some persons not connected with the parish who kindly volunteered their services. All the children of the Sunday School were given tickets as it took the place of the usual children's party we have before Lent.

The Minstrel Show and Dance given by the Junior St. John's Guild and Troop No. 63, Boy Scouts of America, in the Parish House, on February 12th, for the purposes of raising funds for next summer's encampment, was one of the most delightful and successful given in recent years by any of the organizations of the Church of the Ascension. The circle was composed of J. Barr, Bender, G. Mull, Hannums, Graham, Reeves, H. Barr, Bieberback, W. Mull, Ramonette, McCann, Dennis, with Jones as "Tambo", McDermott as "Bones", and Myers as Interlocutor, who not only surpassed the previous high standards he has placed for this difficult position, but added greatly to the evening enjoyment by singing so delightfully three solos.

The burden of the entertainment was, of course, assumed by Jones and McDermott, but they were very ably assisted with the solos rendered by Bender, Hannums, H. Barr, Bieberback and Dennis.

Seyfert and Consolvi accompanied upon the piano and violin.

We cannot speak too highly of this first Minstrel Show ever given by these boys and predict great success for their future efforts.

After the performance the floor was cleared and dancing followed until 11.30, music being furnished by the Peerless Stringed Orchestra.

Junior St. John's Guild and Troop No. 63 B. S. of America desire to take this opportunity to thank very kindly all those good friends who subscribed for the tickets mailed to them and to express their appreciation of that generosity.

The collection for the Pension Fund for the Clergy on Quinquagesima Sunday amounted to $220, with additional pledges of over $100.

The Vestry have complied with the Canon of the Diocese in reference to insuring the Clergy of the Parish. This will add $150 a year to our current expenses, and it has been suggested that it be made up by individual contributions. One of the Vestrymen has already subscribed $25.00 for the purpose. Who else will do the same?

Easter Offering. We shall need a very large Easter offering this year as we are still some $800 in debt for our summer expenses, and we have also to pay our bill for the whole year's coal.

The Ladies' Aid are working this Lent for the Church School for Boys in Sewanee, Tennessee. Mrs. Barrett, who has charge of this work, we are very sorry to say will be laid up for some weeks with a broken bone, so the other members of the Aid will have to work very hard to take her place.

Diocesan Assessments. As the Benevolent Offerings for this quarter are for the objects in the Diocese to which this Church is expected to contribute, we hope members of the congregation will take copies of the last annual report of the Diocesan Board of Missions, which they will find in the rack in the Vestibule of the Church, and look it over to familiarize themselves with the work which is being done and needs support.

Missionary Class. The Girls' Friendly Society will give up their Tuesday evenings during Lent to a Missionary Lecture Class. A very capable teacher will be provided by the Educational Department of the Docese, and we are sure it will be very interesting. Any one attending the Church, male or female, old or young, is invited to attend this class. There is no charge for attendance and no collections are made. It is simply to excite interest in the general work of the Church throughout the world.

Gifts for the Church. A handsome silk American flag to be hung in the Church, brocade and velvet for a violet Cope, with jewels for the same. A piece of fine linen embroidered for the Altar. A ton and a half of coal, and three half price coal orders for the poor.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of American Branch of the Anglican and Eastern Association will be held in the Church on Tuesday, March 6th, at 8 P. M. There will be a solemn Even Song with a sermon by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Parker, Bishop of New Hampshire. Public invited.

MINUTE OF THE VESTRY.

On the death of the Rev. Mr. Dyer. At a meeting of the Vestry of the Church of the Ascension, Philadelphia, held January 18th, 1917, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the Vestry has learned with sorrow of the death of the Rev. Henry Page Dyer, sometime Curate of this Parish, they wish to place upon record the expression of grief voiced by all throughout the Parish, and that while he has been taken away in the midst of hi syears and in the height of his usefulness he has left us a pattern of faithfulness to duty and to the Cause of Christ and His Church.

To his afflicted family we extend our sincere sympathy to which we join our thanksgiving for his Life and Work.

THE SUNDAY MORNING SERVICE.

Not only the Jews and all Christians and Mohamedans, but many other nations as well, have always felt one day in each week should be set aside for the public worship of Almighty God. If this is neglected it is impossible to keep religion alive. Not only the community as a whole, but the individuals who systematically give up such worship, will deteriorate spiritually and morally.

Every man owes to God the debt of honoring Him openly, and his own spiritual nature requires the regular help and stimulus which comes from acts of worship.

Sunday is the day observed by Christians universally for this purpose. And what should be the great act of worship on that day but that special rite which Christ Himself instituted as "His memorial," by which His sacrificial death for all men is "set forth," which the early Christians, we are told in the Acts of the Apostles, celebrated "daily," and which the vast majority of Christians have always regarded as the great act of worship by which every Sunday and Holy day should be sanctified. Down to the time of the Reformation it was everywhere so celebrated, and today all Greek and Latin Christians regard its celebration on every Lord's Day as obligatory, and the Prayer Books of all branches of the Anglican Communion make provision for, and intend that it shall be so celebrated.

It is one of the great mistakes of most of the Protestant Bodies that they have given up that service except only on comparatively a few occasions in the year, and substituted for it a mere preaching service with some prayers and singing. Such a service may, or may not, be for the edification of some individuals, but it can never take the place of Christ's own service, and be the vehicle for the same high worship and devout communion with God.

The Holy Communion appeals to the eye as well as to the ear, to the heart as well as to the mind. It alone combines in itself every element of worship, and in the highest and most perfect form.

So every Christian should naturally want to take part in it on every Lord's Day. For thirty-five years it has been so celebrated in this parish without the intermission of a single Sunday or Holy day. It is celebrated twice on every Sunday, early in the morning, for those who can come better at that time, and because it is most fitting to begin the day with Communion, and in the middle of the day, as the most joyful act of worship in which every one can join.

We are sure that no one who has made the practice of attending this service each Sunday will ever be satisfied with any other. He will gain more spiritual benefit from it than he could from the very best sermon he could hear, and he will not feel the day is fully sanctified by any lesser service.

He who takes part in a Celebration of the Holy Communion can feel that he is doing what Christ taught His disciples to do, and that in company, not only with the vast mass of Christians throughout the world, but as well—as our service reminds us—"with all the Company of Heaven," who are worshipping, as S. John saw in his vision, before an altar on which "there was, as it were, a Lamb slain." That may be imagry, but it sets forth the profoundest truth of the highest religion, and of spiritual experience. All should feel the duty and privilege of trying to join in that worship each Lord's Day.

CAMPAIGN TO INCREASE CHURCH ATTENDANCE.

A committee has been formed from the young men of our church which has undertaken a campaign to increase first of all the attendance at our Morning Service, and as that committee, we are taking this opportunity, through the "Ascension News" to ask the assistance of all its readers to bring success to our efforts.

Our campaign has been outlined as follows:

There are 450 communicants of our Parish, which, if we multiply by 2, will give the approximate number of people who are really more or less interested in the Church of the Ascension. Therefore, we say there are 900 of such people. In our Church, we have four Services,—the Early Celebration, the Morning Servie at 10.30 o'clock, Sunday School and Instruction at three o'clock and Evening Prayer at four o'clock, so if we divide this 900 by 4, there would be at each service 225 people, each one only going to one Service. It is up to, at least, this number that we want to bring the attendance at our 10.30 o'clock Service on the four Sundays of April 15th, 22nd, 29th and May 6th, and when we come to call upon you personally to ask your assistance, please make allowances for us, beause it is all new work to each of us, and please help us to far surpass our expectations.

Upon the last Sunday of the campaign, May 6th, we ask each person to bring another person with them and make the closing Sunday attendance the high-water mark, and fill the Church. It would make us all sort of proud to think that our new Church was also made necessary by the growth of our congregation.

So you will hear from us again, and all that we ask is that you help us by coming to the Morning Service on each of these four Sundays and by bringing some friend with you on that last Sunday.

STATEMENT OF WARDEN.

Special Easter offerings are asked from each member of the congregation in addition to their ordinary weekly contributions.

Offerings for Easter flowers, which we suppose everyone will wish to see in the Church on this great Festival, can be put in the box in the vestibule of the Church, which is marked "for Flowers."

Vestry election. The annual election of four Vestrymen to serve for the ensuing three years, will be held in the Vestry room of the Church on Easter Monday, the polls being open from the close of Divine Service in the morning until 1 P. M. All registered as Communicants of the Parish for one year and who have contributed to the support of the Church through the envelopes, are entitled to vote.

The Annual Meeting of the Eastern and Anglican Association, held in the Church last month, was a most interesting occasion. It opened with a solemn Evensong in the Church. In the procession our new American flag was carried for the first time, also a banner of the Blessed Virgin and child, such as the Easterns use. After the choir came the Rev. Mr. Emhardt, Secretary of the Society, and the Rev. Dr. Lacey of Brooklyn, then the Rev. Mr. Lacey of England, and the Rector, followed by an Armenian priest, and a Russian and a Greek priest, then the Bishop of New Hampshire, and the Rev. Mr. Morris, Curate, who was Celebrant of the service, each with two attendants. All these wore copes and sat in the sanctuary. As the Greeks do not consider any service as worship without incense, that was used during the Magnificat, and as they only use the Nicene Creed, that was sung instead of the Apostles. The Bishop of New Hampshire preached a forcible sermon on the "entertaining of strangers," and the choir rendered a very beautiful anthem in addition to the service.

On the next morning there was a service in the Russian Church on Spring Garden Street, and in the evening one in the Greek Church at 12th and Fitzwater Streets, each of which was attended by some of our clergy in their vestments, and the Bishop of New Hampshire gave the Benediction.

Such interchanges as these lead to a very friendly feeling between the two Churches, and will hasten the time when they will come into full ecclesiastical Communion with each other, which it is the object of the Society to promote.

The Conference held during the day, at which addresses were made by Bishop Courtney, formerly of Nova Scotia, Dr. Lacey of England, and others, as very interesting. A Diocesan branch of the Society was also founded with our Rector and the Rev. Father Angelopolous as Presidents, and Dr. Perry, President of the Standing Committee of the Diocese, and the Russian Priest, Father Adaniak, as Vice Presidents.

Advertisements. Cannot some of our people secure us some new advertisements for this paper? They are a great help in paying for its publication. It will be noticed we have a vacant space on the last page.

Men's Club. At the meeting last month, the Hon. Hampton L. Carson, formerly Attorney General of the State, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on Pennsylvania, its geography, topography, and history. No one could be better qualified for such a talk or could have done it more effectively.

Boy Scouts. Troop 63 is beginning its third year in fine shape. Scouts W. Mull, Bieberbach and Ramonett becoming second class Scouts, with prospects of a few more promotions when we get out doors for the other tests.

"Happy" Barr was appointed to fill the vacancy of Patrol Leader of the Mongoose Patrol. He will appoint his assistant this month. In the knot-tieing group we have learned a total of fourteen knots and will continue to take one new one every week.

The fellows got another chance for a good turn when they helped the "Red Cross" in their campaign for new members.

Plans are being made for a mobilization of the older and more advanced Scouts of the city for emergency should such a thing be necessary and advisable, not for military operations but for police relief, messenger, first aid, signaling or similar duties. We expect to be useful, true scouts.

The Missionary lectures on Tuesday evenings during Lent in the Parish Building have been well attended. The last one will be given on Tuesday evening, April 10th.

The ladies' missionary meeting will be held on Friday, April 13th, as the first Friday this month is Good Friday.

ONE DAY'S INCOME.

The Board of Missions of the General Church urge that the "One Day's Income" plan, in addition to all usual missionary offerings, should be a feature of our missionary giving. The Board recognizes the force of these requests, and now asks all to unite in making offerings to a ONE DAY'S INCOME FUND, in addition to the usual apportionment offerings.

1. Will you join in prayer for the Church's world-wide work and for the men and women who are serving as our representatives? Will you do this especially whenever you come to the Holy Communion?

2. Will you, in addition to your usual missionary offerings, give not later than July 1, 1917, at least One Day's Income—or wage?

3. If this is impracticable, will you make an equivalent self-denial offering?

The members and officers of the Board count it their privilege to do this and have already pledged their personal gifts to the Fund.

All offerings for the ONE DAY'S INCOME FUND will count upon the apportionment of your parish and diocese unless you request otherwise.

Envelopes for this purpose can be found in the rack near the door of the Church.

THE SECOND SUNDAY SERVICE.

As we said last month the Holy Communion is the great service which should be celebrated every Sunday morning. As that has been the general sentiment and practice among Christians, so there has been a general agreement that there should be an evening service on Sundays as well. The Jews had a daily evening sacrifice, as well as a morning one. So Christians have felt in regard to their worship, "With Thee began, with Thee shall end the day."

A Vesper service is really a thanksgiving for the Eucharistic Feast of the morning. Devout souls want to give as much as possible of the Lord's Day to holy thoughts and worship, and the closing hours of the day lend a peculiar solemnity and sweetness to such acts. So all liturgies provide for evening services as well as for the morning. That in the Prayer Books of the Church of England is called "Even Song," because it was generally musical. As in this country when our Prayer Book was drawn up, music had been but little cultivated, it was called "Evening Prayer." It consists of recitation of Psalms, reading from Scripture and Prayers, as the daily morning service does. And there has generally been a sermon after the service chiefly for the sake of those who may be unable to attend church on Sunday mornings.

In this Parish for many years we had two evening services on Sundays, one at 4 P. M., a full Choral Evensong without any sermon, then at 8 P. M., there was a shortened plainer Evening service with a sermon. The four o'clock service was at one time very popular and well attended, until from deaths and removals from the parish, the attendance fell off, and it was discontinued. It was hoped that its discontinuanec would increase the attendance at the 8 P. M. service, and it did so for a time. But of late years, owing to the constant removals from the neighborhood of the Church, the attendance at it also declined, therefore a year or so ago it was given up, and return made to the four o'clock hour with a shortened form of Evening Prayer, and a short ten minutes' instruction of the children of the Sunday School, who were expected to attend this service. But as the children receive an hour's instruction before it in the Sunday School, it does not seem necessary for them to have another instruction in the Church.

Lately, therefore, we have returned to the old custom of having a full Choral Evensong at 4 P. M., without any sermon, in the hope that it may be more attractive both for adults and for children. The anthem we formerly had during the offertory in the morning has been transferred to this service and every effort is made to render it musically effective.

We trust our people will not be content with one attendance at Church on a Sunday, but in addition to the great morning service will also come to this act of evening worship, which will add greatly to the solemnizing, hallowing influences of the Lord's day.

There are some persons we know who have their dinners on Sundays at or near this hour, but they certainly ought to arrange to have them either earlier or later so as not to interfere with their paramount religious duties.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE CAMPAIGN.

With the issue of this number of the "Ascension News", the Church Attendance Campaign will have come to a close, and we wish to thank everybody who has aided in making our efforts successful. At this writing, two of the Sundays have passed, the first one we feel was a great success, and we were so greatly encouraged. The second one did not bring out as large an attendance, but the decrease was due to the absence of many who attend regularly, rather than to the absence of those who promised us to come on these four Sundays.

We are looking forward a little anxiously to the third Sunday, but we refuse to be disappointed, and on this fourth and last Sunday, we hope to break all records.

This has been new work to all the members of the committee and we appreciate the long trips that many of our friends must make, but won't you all, now that you have made the start continue regular Church attendance?

THE COMMITTEE.

PARISH NOTES.

Easter. The way in which Easter is celebrated in a parish is always taken as a fair guage of the prosperity it is enjoying or the progress it is making.

Our Easter certainly was up to the average of recent years. The number of Communions made was not less than last year, and the sight of some forty young men making their Communions together was a proof of the hold the Church has on that very important element in its congregation.

The Saint Cecilia Mass was beautifully rendered, and the offerings amounted to some $900, being in excess of last year by about $150. We require, however, at least $300 more to meet our obligations up to the first of May, the end of our financial year. Will not each member of the congregation contribute something to make up this amount.

A generous offering of $150 also helped the parish towards meeting its assessments for General and Diocesan Missions. The offering of the Sunday School for Missions amounted to $23.76, and each child received a potted flower through the kind interest of the old friend of the school, Mr. D. L. Witmer.

The Holy Week services were not attended as we should like to have seen them, with the exception of Good Friday. About a hundred people attended the three hours' preaching that day. But one would think that more than one day at this solemn season could be given to real purposes of devotion.

Ascension day, May 17th, will be kept this year as it always has been kept as our special parochial Festival. The full choir will be present at the 10.30 A. M. service, which will be as on Sundays, and at 8 P. M., there will be a shortened Choral Evensong and the Anniversary sermon by the Rector. Every one connected with the parish ought to be sufficiently interested in it to attend this service in which the Rector reviews the work of the Church for the past year and tells of the plans for the future.

On the afternoon of the Sunday after the Ascension there will be the Annual Guild service, with procession of all the parish Guilds, and a special sermon addressed particularly to them.

The Annual Parish Tea, which we have had without a single intermission for thirty years, will take place on Monday evening, May 21st. The Candidates' Class of the Girls' Friendly Society are preparing an entertainment for that evening. We hope to see all our parishioners present.

The offerings on Ascension day are for the Endowment fund of the Parish, which needs to be largely increased.

Change of name of the Church. The plans for constituting the parish the Watson Memorial, and making it the Bishop's Church, have been delayed by a variety of causes, chiefly by the sickness and absence of the Bishop from the city, preventing his giving it the attention he intended. Matters are, however now being pressed forward. Formal consent to the change of the name of the Church to that of "St. Mary's" has been given by the Bishop and Standing Committee of the Diocese, and the Committee on Charters of the Diocesan Convention is now considering the matter, and will report at the meeting of the Convention on May 8th. If the report is favorable and the Convention approves it, steps will be immediately taken to secure the confirmation of the Court. When this is done, the Vestry will then probably by resolution place the Church in the hands of the Bishop to use for the Diocesan purposes he has in mind.

In the meantime the architects are perfecting their designs for the enlargement of the Church, under the direction of the Commission of the Diocese on Church Building, which was formally asked by the Trustees of the Diocese to take charge of the matter.

Vestry election. At the annual election for Vestrymen held on Easter Monday the following gentlemen were elected to serve for the ensuing three years: Thomas R. Neilson, M. D., Millard F. Roberts, Charles L. Borie, W. Moore Wharton.

Dr. Neilson was reappointed Rector's Warden, and Mr. Roberts reelected Accounting Warden. Mr. Henderson, declining reelection as Secretary of the Vestry, Mr. R. H. Young was elected in his place.

Mr. Walter M. Newnam, Mr. Charles L. Borie, Mr. Spencer Ervin were elected delegates to the Annual Diocesan Convention.

Minute of the Vestry on the retirement of Mr. John D. Henderson from the position of Secretary.

Whereas, Mr. John D. Henderson has declined reelection as the Secretary of this Vestry after an unbroken service in that capacity for ewenty-five years, be it Resolved, that this Vestry put on record its high appreciation of the faithful and devoted service Mr. Henderson has rendered during the unusually long period in which he has discharged the duties of that office.

He has always been most regular and punctual in his attendance at meetings, sending out of notices, keeping the minutes and discharging the other obligations of his office.

His interest in the parish and its affairs has been unfailing, and his fellow members rejoice that he will still remain on the Vestry though no longer feeling able to continue as Secretary. They feel that he has well earned the right to retire.

Flower Sale. The Little Garden Association will hold a flower show and sale in our Parish building again this year on Saturday, May 25th. Our members are invited to attend it.

A Sociable will be given by the members of St. John's Guild on Thursday evening, May 10th. The members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and the Girls' Friendly Society will be invited, and each will be entitled to bring a guest.

Boy Scouts. The improvement in the troop under the new Patrol Leaders has been noticeable; real interest is being shown by the Scouts in everything they do—whether it be games, hikes, drill, tests or even "work."

The City Championship Meet will be held soon and we hope to have some one in it. Last year we succeeded in getting two fellows on the district team, so with practically the same bunch, together with the four new Scouts, Craig, Bunting, Holt and Samuel added we ought to do more this year.

We had two chances to be of service this month, the first coming on the day of the big Patriotic demonstration when we were on police duty handling crowds, etc. The other was after the big explosion at Eddystone when fifty Scouts from District II of Philadelphia which included four of our fellows, were sent to do their bit toward relieving conditions on the scene of the "accident." Incidentally though we were the last to be notified to "report at once"; we were "first on the job." Scouts John Barr, Harry Barr and Chas. McDermott being there before any others.

The Girls' Friendly Society will continue this month to work for the Red Cross. A paper will be read or a talk given each evening they meet on Red Cross work.

The Annual Service of the Pennsylvania Society will be held in the Church of the Holy Trinity, 19th and Walnut Streets, on May 3rd at 7.45 P. M.

That for the Candidates' Classes will be held in S. Simeon's Church, 9th and Lehigh Ave., on May 12th at 8 P. M.

The members of our Parish branch we hope will turn out in full force with their banner on both these occasions.

APPEALS.

We have many appeals in connection with the war. The Sunday School Guilds and members of the congregation are asked to give each $1.00 a month to support a Belgian child.

Envelopes for Armenian relief have been placed in the Vestibule of the Church, and any that are filled can be put in the Alms boxes or collection plates, and will be forwarded to the proper Treasurers.

The Episcopal Hospital has been organized as a Red Cross Base Hospital, and asks for funds to provide equipment, and volunteers for service as nurses, male or female, assistants, ambulance drivers, chauffeurs, ward attendants, clerical force, etc.

The City Mission has opened a war Emergency Bureau of Information, Organization and Distribution for the use of all Churches, social organizations or individuals. Its telephone call is Lombard 1824.

DEDICATION FESTIVAL.

Our annual parish Festival was celebrated as usual on Ascension day, with an anniversary in the evening, being the thirty-eighth occasion of the kind during the present Rectorship.

On Ascension day a year ago the Rector announced that it would probably be the last time such a celebration in the Parish would be held on that Feast, as the name of the Parish was to be changed, and it was to be made a Diocesan institution. Various things, however, have delayed the carrying out of this project, but things are now shaping themselves so that it is hoped rapid progress will be soon made. Formal concent has been given by the Bishop and Standing Committee and by the Diocesan Convention to the name of the Parish being changed, and it only remains to have it legally carried out by the civil court. When this is done and the architect's plans are approved by the Architectural Commission and by Mr. Watson, the executor of Mrs. Watson's will, the church will be placed in the hands of the Bishop to use according to the plans he has already formulated.

As the Church is to be called S. Mary's there would be no appropriateness in keeping Ascension day any longer as the parochial Festival. Probably the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin, which occurs on February second, will be taken for that purpose. And as by a Canon adopted at the last General Convention the financial and statistical year of all our parishes is to be the civil year, that will be a very convenient time, as it will be so soon after closing our annual reports. This will give us another Dedication Festival within nine months, but after that of course they will occur regularly at a year's interval.

In studying the statistics of the past year it will be noticed that the number of Baptisms, Marriages, Confirmations, and Burials have been less than last year. These items naturally vary from year to year. But the number of registered Communicants still decreases, due to the continued removals from this part of the city. We do not wonder that people do move to more attractive localities, but it makes the work of the churches which remain here much harder. And if people move away and yet retain their connection with us, as many of them do, we insist that they should still attend the Church and contribute to its support.

The ten Communicants of the parish who have died since last Ascension day, were first Mrs. Sadie Kelly, one of our old Sunday School girls, who had married, and died, leaving two or three small children. The second was Edna Grace Reeves, the young wife of our Boy Scout Master. She had been married only a little over two years and left a baby boy. She had been Confirmed in the Church the previous Easter. The third was George Ware, who had been been Confirmed some years ago but owing to his occupation he could seldom attend Church, and made his first Communion only shortly before his death. He was 84 years old and continued working up to his last illness, which lasted only some weeks. The fourth was another aged member of the Parish, Mrs. Celestia Harrich Darlington. She was over eighty and had for many years been an inmate of Christ Church Hospital, but as long as she was able came in regularly at Christmas and Easter to make her Communions here, and by her special request her body was brought to the Church for its burial service. The fifth was Miss Adaline Lucy Aucott, one of our Sunday School teachers, who died suddenly of pneumonia. Though she only became an attendant of the Church when the Rev. Mr. Morris became Curate, who had been her Rector, and though she lived at a great distance from the Church, she came to it very regularly and was most faithful in her duties to her class and in other Church work. We miss her presence very much. The sixth was Mr. William C. Lloyd, fomerly our Accounting Warden. He had been connected with the parish for many years, and had served both as a Vestryman and Warden, and had at one time taught a Bible Class. He died in his 84th year. For some time his infirmities prevented his attendance at Church, but the Rector ministered to him in private, and he was buried from the Church. The seventh was Mrs. Margaret Hill Hunter, transferred to this parish when All Saints' Church, to which she had belonged, removed from 12th and Fitzwater Streets, but the state of her health never permitted her to attend the Church. The eighth was Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, who, with her husband and children, attended the Church when they lived near. Of late years she moved to a distance and could rarely come The Rector ministered to her on her deathbed and at her burial. The ninth was John Barton Cooley. He had formerly beloned to the Methodist body, but was received into the Church during his last illness. The tenth was Miss Clara Elizabeth Hillinger. She had been connected with the Church since the Church of the Messiah at Broad and Federal Streets, had been closed. The Rector gave her the Holy Communion on a number of occasions during her long illness, and she was buried from the Church with a Celebration of the Holy Communion. This should always take place at Christian burials.

In this connection we note the sudden death last December of our former Curate, the Rev. H. Page Dyer. He had served the Church in that capacity for twelve years. He was a devout man, absorbed in his work, and many of our people were devotedly attached to him. May he and all those mentioned rest in peace and enjoy light and refreshment in that new life into which they have entered.

The Sunday School and Saturday Industrial School have been maintained with about the same attendance as previously. There is little opportunity for growth for them at present owing to the population by which the Church is surrounded being now almost altogether colored.

The Young People's Guilds have been well sustained and made interesting. There is particular cause for congratulation in the large accession of members recently to our Chapter of the Brotherhood of S. Andrew, and to the reorganization of St. Agnes' Guild for little girls as a Candidates' class for the Girls' Friendly Society. This is due to its efficient Secretary, Miss Ely.

The Woman's Guild has not grown in numbers, but those belonging to it have done faithful work, and its receipts have been slightly more than last year.

In regard to the Financial statistics, we find that the total receipts were some $1,200 in excess of last year. But his includes $1,000 received as a legacy for the Poor of the Parish, and the cost of a stained glass window placed in the Chancel of the Church. Our receipts, therefore, were about the same as those of the previous year, which, considering our circumstances, is a matter for congratulation. As, however, we have a deficit of some $450 for the year, and nearly the same the year before, it is manifest that our receipts are some $500 less than our expenses, and some steps ought to be taken to permanently remedy this condition.

We have of course before us the prospect of the altered condition of the parish. If it is made, as we trust it will now shortly become, the Bishop's Church, and the Church is enlarged and beautified that will give it a prominence and attract to it more people, so that we trust our report another year will be of improvement greatly in excess of anything we have known in the past.

PARISH NOTES.

Ascension day was kept as usual with a Choral Celebration in the morning, a Choral Evensong at night with the Rector's Anniversary sermon. The attendance was, as it generally has been, a disappointment. So great a day should be better observed, and our people should manifest a greater interest in the affairs of their parish. The number joining in the annual procession of Guilds was not what it should have been. We would suppose that the members of the Guilds would take a pride on turning out on such an occasion and make as good a showing as they could.

The only occasion connected with our Parish Festival at which the attendance was good, was the Parish Tea on Monday evening of May 21st. Our Sunday School room was filled, and a very excellent entertainment was furnished by some friends of Miss Ely, the head of the S. Agnes Guild. Our Choirmaster, Mr. Ullrich, and Master Watson Mull, one of our choir boys, gave us also a number of excellent songs. There was the usual ample repast of ice cream, strawberries, cake and coffee, and dancing by the young people followed later. Altogether it was a most enjoyable occasion, and one which we trust, serves to cement our people together.

Summer services. The daily service is discontinued this month, and the Sunday School and Sunday afternoon service after the second Sunday in the month. The 7:30 and 10:30 A. M. services on Sundays and on all Holy days will be continued without intermission, and prayers will be said at 10:00 A. M., generally on Wednesdays and Fridays during June and September. The Sunday School and Suuday afternoon service will be resumed on the third Sunday in September.

On Sunday afternoon, June 10th, the prizes for good attendance and etc. in the Sunday School for the winter will be awarded.

The annual picnic of the parish will take place on Saturday, June 23rd. It will be held as formerly on Burlington Island. Free transportation will be provided for all the members of the Sunday School and of the Mothers' Meeting from the Church to the Island and return. Entertainments will be given the children on the Island, but each person is expected to bring his or her lunch. Members of the parish can join the picnic by paying their own expenses. All will assemble in the Parish building by 7 A. M.

Should June 23rd prove stormy the picnic will take place the following Saturday.

The envelopes sent out May 1st were for six months, and the benevolent side of these are, three months for the Poor of the parish and three months for parochial activities. The Rector depends on the receipts through these for carrying on the Mothers' Meeting and other benevolent work of the parish, and supporting the Parish Guilds, providing summer outings, and etc.

More envelopes needed. Out of over four hundred Communicant members of the parish only about one hundred and twenty-five are now using envelopes. This is manifestly not a fair proportion of contributing members.

The members of the Brotherhood of S. Andrew, who so earnestly conducted the campaign to increase the Church attendance, are going to conduct another such campaign to increase the number of those using envelopes and thus remedy the trouble we have in regularly meeting our expenses. Ten men have undertaken to get each ten new subscribers at ten cents a week each, which would give us $500 a year more income. Or where ten cents is thought too much to give, two will be found who will give five cents each. This is a small amount, one carfare a week. Every one ought to be able and willing to give that. We trust success will come to this effort.

Letter from the Vestry. At its regular meeting on May 3rd, the Vestry directed its Finance Committee, consisting of Messrs. Newbold, French and Roberts, to send out a circular letter to all the registered members of the parish, informing them that we have a deficit of $450 due at the end of our fiscal year to our Rector on account of his salary, and asking for special contributions towards making it up, and also suggesting that in order to avoid any deficit in the future each Communicant should increase his or her annual contribution by one dollar. This would not be a burden upon any one and would meet the additional amount we need.

$187 have been received in response to this letter so far.

Enlistments in the Army. As far as we know at present the only men from this parish who have as yet enlisted for the war in any branch of the service are Russell Franks, Stanley Atkinson and James Hill. We trust the members of the congregation will remember them in their prayers.

THE WAR AND THE PARISH.

The great struggle in which our country is now engaged affects the parish as it does everything else, and we ought to be asking ourselves how it can help in it.

As soon as war was proclaimed the Bishop appointed a committee of clergymen to see and consider what the duty of the Church was in regard to it. This Committee has been very active. It sent a circular letter to all the clergy of the Diocese asking what each one was willing to do and what their parishes could do to help.

In response to this letter a number of the clergy volunteered to go as Chaplains, and many offered to put their parish buildings and other resources at the disposal of the government for any purpose for which they could be employed.

As from ten to twenty thousand men have been stationed at League Island Navy Yard all summer, a most important work was undertaken there. Some three clergymen and several laymen have been stationed there to minister to the spiritual needs of these men and to provide healthful recreations which might keep them from the evil influences to which they were exposed through their neighborhood to a great city. A large tent has been erected for holding religious services and for recreation purposes.

As this Church is easily accessible from League Island, the Rector extended a cordial invitation to as many of the men as it could accommodate to attend any of its services. He also offered the use of the Parish building for any recreations for which it might be desired, and invited the men to make it a resort where they could read, write, smoke, play shuffle board or other games, at any time during the day.

We are sorry to say that none of these invitations have been accepted so far, except by one or two sailors who have attended some of our services. We suppose it is difficult to get the men to go to church when they have time to themselves. They prefer to visit friends, if they have any, or other occupations. And if they are to be entertained in our parish building doubtless it is up to us to provide the amusements. Perhaps some of our Guilds will undertake to do that during this winter. Some of the city parishes have been doing this on a large scale.

As to what individual members of the parish have been doing we have not full reports. But we know many of the women have been sewing or knitting industriously or doing Red Cross work all summer. And our Guild of little girls has continued their meetings all summer for this purpose.

The only men whom we know of so fas as having enlisted are Dr. George M. Coates, one of our Vestry, who has gone to Camp Sevier near Greenville, S. C., where he will act as chief nose and throat speciaist, with some four assistants. The camp contains some 40,000 men.

Stanley Atkinson enlisted as a member of a Pennsylvania Regiment and is now at Camp Hancock. Russell Franks is in the Navy and is employed at League Island.

James Hill joined the Ambulance Corps and spent the summer in the camp at Allentown. He is probably now in France.

Each of these men will have need of special things which the government does not provide, and it would be very nice and very much appreciated by them if members of the congregation would from time to time send them some thing which would be useful to them and show them that they were remembered by those at home.

It is said that for every soldier going into the war, six persons must stand behind him to supply his needs. So we ought especially to stand behind those going out from our own parish.

It is a righteous war in which our country is engaged, against powers which, setting aside every dictate of civilzation, have brought desolation and ruin and untold suffering and sorrow to millions of people. So the Church should not only as an act of mercy minister to those who are afflicted, but do all it can to help conquer this great evil power.

In the early summer the Rector placed on the door of the Church a large sign which had been prepared for the purpose, calling attention to the fact that the Church was always open and could be used by any one for private devotions for the country, for our soldiers and sailors, and all assisting in the war in any way, and for those who might be sick or wounded and those who had lost relatives or friends. We believe it has been laregly used in this way. He has also presented to each of those who have gone into the army from the parish, a copy of a special Prayer Book which has been prepared for our soldiers and sailors.

PARISH NOTES.

The Summer has passed off very quietly in the parish. Too quitely, that is, we have not been able to have those summer activities which we should have liked to have had and have had, other summers. The Sunday morning services were kept up without intermission, but the attendance was small, so many even of those who remain in the city during the summer generally manage to get away some where over the Sundays.

We have been very free from sickness and we do not know of a single death occuring among our parishioners during the summer.

The Sunday School closed its sessions on Sunday afternoon, June 17th, when the following priezs were awarded at the four o'clock service.

Bertha Franks and Frank Kohlhund were given first prizes for not having been absent a single session of the School. George Dennis and Watson Mull second prizes each having been absent twice, and Catharine Beiberbach only three times. Samuel Williams and Anna Schultz were given prizes for bringing new scholars, and each child in the Infant Class was given a silver cross on a blue or pink ribbon.

The Annual Sunday School and parish excursion took place on Saturday, June 30th, preceded by a service in the Church. The sail to and back from Burlington Island and the stay there was much enjoyed. And fortunately there was no such trouble experienced as one or two other excursions had, caused by over crowding the boats and the admission of disorderly persons. Strong efforts are being made by the Social Service Commission of our Diocese to put a stop to the selling of liquor on these boats. We trust they will be successful.

The Boy Scouts kept up their activities during the summer. They had a number of hikes to different places, on two occasions staying over Sunday, the boys of the Choir coming home to sing on Sunday morning and returning in the afternoon. Their annual encampment took place at a new ground they secured on the Delaware above Florence, N. J. We append an account of it written by one who took part in it.

Camp Gilpin.

All things come to them that wait, but to us July 21st seemed a long time coming, for on that day you must know, we started for camp at Florence, N. J. The camp was located in the pine grove, and to say that this place was the best ever in all respects, is putting it mildly. Never beore have we had any place to compare with it.

After a seemingly never ending boat ride, we arrived there about half past one, and found that Scoutmaster Reeves with Walter Ullrich, Harry Barr and John Jones had practically established camp. Surely they are some workers. Everybody then pitched in, and by supper, we all turned in for a good night's rest. We got it too for two hours.

Sunday morning, we went to the early Mass at the Church in Florence, and with the boys from St. Elizabeth's camp, left little room for the parishioners.

After breakfast, we could hardly wait for the hour of the swimming period, but we certainly did have fun when it came, and anybody seeing the bunch in the water on that day, (many of them only wading), would not have known them on the last day, for excepting one or two, we all were swimming. We had to learn in order to pass our test.

After dinner, one of us heard Doc. Seyfert tell Scoutmaster Reeves he was afraid our appetites were failing, for we had only eaten forty-two loaves of bread since Saturday supper, and everything else in proportion. Poor "Aunt" Katie had no vacation when she cooked for us.

There isn't enough room to tell you what we did each day, but there was something doing all the time,—always having fun. In the evening we would have big camp fires. "Dutchy" would play the mouth organ. "Pop" or Joe would tell us stories, but by nine o'clock, everything was pretty quiet. Wednesday night we had a marshmallow toast. Thursday night there was a fierce thunderstorm and we couldn't do anything. Friday night was the annual watermelon party and "Doc" Wallace, whose father keeps the candy store, came up from town with cakes and pockets full of chewing gum.

The boys took many hikes—Roebling, Florence and Bordentown, suffering chiefly through our pilgrimages. Bordentown being seven miles from Camp was the objective of several parties who were passing "Tests"—a fourteen mile hike alone or with one other scout and a composition describing the same.

They all met snakes. Bob Holt brought one back with him and took Max Bieberback's seat from the dining room and half our salt supply with which to "Cure" the skin—all in vain.

The whole gang took a big hike, and though we did not have any narrow escapes or meet any snakes, we had plenty of fun. We went to Bustleton, N. J., and some of the boys were disappointed to find that the town was not Bustle-ing at all. Two houses, a Church and a school, and not even a soda fountain!

Mr. Roberts and Mr. Ullrich came to see us, and they certainly knew what fellows like—the way that candy and those peaches did disappear. But ask "Pop" Reeves, Joe Graham and Doc Seyfert how they like peaches, especially after a thunderstorm. Doctor Rock also came up to visit us, and he stayed with us all night. Doctor Rock is now bound for somewhere in France, and we all miss him. We had many other visitors, among them being Dr. and Mrs. Ciccone, Dr. Kitchen, Mrs. Kaufman, Chester A. Myers, Mrs. Kohlhund and Miss Kohlhund, Arthur Challman and Father Williamson of St. Elizabeth's, and next year we are looking for more.

But of course the last day had to come, and we broke up camp on Saturday morning after one fine week. We are looking forward now to next year and already making plans, but all of us Scouts and Scoutmaster Reeves and Mr. Seyfert want to sincerely thank through the "Ascension News" those people who by their contributions made it possible for us to have such a good time this year.

We won't tell you what we think of Walter Ullrich and Joe Graham, our Interlocutor, but we made them promise to go with us next year, and Mr. Sullivan has given us first choice for the camp. We don't think any other place will do now since we have been there.

Appeal for deficit. The responses to the letter sent out in May by the Vestry for special subscriptions to meet our annual deficit have amounted to $294. This leaves us still several hundred dollars in debt for last year's expenses, to say nothing of the amount we have been obliged to borrow to carry us througgh the summer. If every member of the congregation would contribute regularly according to his or her ability we would not find ourselves in this condition of always struggling with a deficit.

The Girls' Friendly Society. We regret to announce that Miss Elizabeth Gilpin, who has so long acted as Secretary for our Parish branch, has felt obliged to resign owing to her pressing home duties. She will continue, however, to act as an Associate, but it will hardly seem the same thing without her. Miss Ely, who has had charge of the Candidates' Class for the past year, will become Secretary and with the aid of the Associates direct the meetings of both the older and the younger girls.

The classes will begin their meetings, Tuesday evening, Oct. 2nd. This being the first Tuesday in the month, there will be a service at 8 o'clock, which will be followed by a short business meeting and a social time from 9 to 10. It is hoped that as many as possible will attend this first meeting, when some plans for fun, as well as for work, will be discussed for the coming winter.

Through the summer, an effort was made to meet Tuesday afternoons to sew for the Red Cross, but the attendance was very small and we regret to say that little work was accomplished.

We hope to have a busy winter, full of religious benefit, work, and pleasure, and we need the co-operation of all the members.

As we need funds for carrying on the work, we expect to give an entertainment some time in November; just what nature it will be has not been decided. We will give the date and details in the November "News" and trust every one will encourage our efforts by buying a ticket which will be ten cents.

S. John's Guild Senior will recommence their meetings on Thursday evening, Oct. 4th, and hold them regularly on that evening of the week throughout the winter. Plans are already on hand for basket ball and other exercises.

Roll of honor. One of our parishioners has sent to the Rector a donation to procure a frame to be hung in the vestibule of the Church to contain the names of all those connected with our Church who are serving in the war. He will be glad to do it if other donations are given him for the purpose.

The new Church. We suppose our people have been wondering what has become of the project of improving the Church and turning it over to the Bishop to use for Diocesan purpopses.

There have been many and vexacious delays in regard to it and owing to the present enormous increase in the cost of building no one has been in a hurry to begin building at the present time. But the plans for the new building have been completed and approved by the Bishop and the Architectural Commission of the Diocese, which will act as the Building Committee. An agreement is now being drawn between the Trustees of the Diocese and Mr. Watson, the executor of Mrs. Watson's estate, in regard to terms on which the building will proceed. When that is signed and the corner property transferred to the Trustees of the Diocese, the name of the Church will be legally changed to that of S. Mary's, permission to do so having been granted by the Diocesan Convention which met in May. The architects will then proceed to make detailed drawings for the new building, estimates will be obtained and as soon as it is deemed wise to do so the rebuilding will begin.

As soon as the agreement with Mr. Watson is signed the Bishop purposes to take over the parish as his own Church.

FOOD CONSERVATION.

The Rector has received numerous communications from the government and from various agencies in regard to the necessity of food conservation in this time of war.

He preached on the subject one Sunday morning in the early summer, and he is now asked to urge upon each family in the congregation to make a weekly report for nine weeks as to the economies they are personally making. Cards were distributed in the Church on Sunday, Oct. 28, to be filled in, stating how many meatless days and wheatless days have been kept during the succeeding week, to be returned to the Church by Nov. 4th. And so on for nine weeks until Dec. 30th. These will be sent to Washington for the information of the government.

United States Food Administration says our problem is to feed our Allies this winter by sending them as much food as we can of the most concentrated nutritive value in the least shipping space. These foods are wheat, beef, pork, dairy products, and sugar.

Our solution is to eat less of these and more of other foods of which we have an abundance, and to waste less of all foods.

Bread and cereals. Have at least one wheatless meal a day. Use corn, oats, rye, barley, or mixed cereal rolls, muffins, and bread in place of white bread certainly for one meal and, if possible, for two. Eat less cake and pastry.

As to the white bread, if you buy from a baker, order it a day in advance; then he will not bake beyond his needs. Cut the loaf on the table and only as required. Use stale bread for toast and cooking.

Meat. Use more poultry, rabbits, and especially fish and sea food in place of beef, mutton, and pork. Do not use either beef, mutton, or pork more than once daily, and then serve smaller portions. Use all left-over meat cold or in made dishes. Use soups more freely. Use beans; they have nearly the same food value as meat.

Milk. Use all of the milk, waste no part of it. The children must have whole milk; therefore, use less cream. There is a great waste of food by not using all skim and sour milk. Sour milk can be used in cooking and to make cottage cheese. Use buttermilk and cheese freely.

Fats (butter, lard, etc.) Dairy butter has food values vital to children. Therefore, use it on the table as usual, especially for children. Use as little as possible in cooking. Reduce the use of fried food to reduce the consumption of lard and other fats. Use vegetable oils, as olive and cottonseed oil. Save daily one-third of an ounce of animal fat. Waste no soap; it contains fat and the glycerine necessary for explosives. You can make scrubbing soap at home, and, in some localities, you can sell your saved fats to the soap maker, who will thus secure our needed glycerine.

Sugar. Use less candy and sweet drinks. Use less sugar in tea and coffee. Use honey, maple sirup, and dark sirups for hot cakes and waffles without butter or sugar. Do not frost or ice cakes. Do not stint the use of sugar in putting up fruits and jams. They may be used in place of butter.

Vegetables and fruits. We have a superabundance of vegetables. Double the use of vegetables. They take the place of part of the wheat and meat, and, at the same time, are healthful. Use potatoes abundantly. Store potatoes and roots properly and they will keep. Use fruits generously.

Fuel. Coal comes from a distance. and our railway facilties are needed for war purposes. Burn fewer fires. If you can get wood, use it.

Our Allies depend on America for food as they have never depended before, and they ask us for it with a right which they have never had before. For to-day they are our companions in the great war for democracy and liberty. They are doing the fighting, the suffering, and dying—in our war.

Why we must send more wheat. England, France, Italy, and Belgium, taken together, import in peace time forty per cent of their breadstuffs. But now, with their reduction in harvest, they must import sixty per cent. We must increase our normal export surplus of 88,000,000 bushels to 220,000,000 bushels. It can be done but in one way: by economizing and substituting. There is but one way; we must reduce our use of wheat. We use now an average of five pounds of wheat flour per person per week. The whole problem can be met if we will substitute one pound of corn or other cereal flour for one pound of wheat flour weekly per person; that is, if we reduce our consumption of wheat flour from five pounds a week to four pounds a week.

Why we must send more meat. The food animals of the Allies have decreased by 33,000,000 head since the war began; thus the source of their meat production is decreasing. At the same time, the needs of their soldiers and war workers have increased the necessary meat consumption. Our meat exports to our Allies are now already almost three times what they were before the war. The needs of the Allies will steadily increase, because their own production of food animals will steadily decrease because of lack of feed for them. If we will save one ounce of meat per person per day we can send our Allies what they need.

Why we must send butter and milk. The decreasing herds and the lack of fodder mean a steady falling off in the dairy products of our Allies. They have been asking for larger and larger exports from us. Last year we sent them three times as much butter and almost ten times as much condensed milk as we used to send them before the war. Yet we must not only keep up to this level, but do still better.

Why we must send sugar. Before the war France, Italy, and Belgium produced as much sugar as they used, while England drew most of its supply from what are now enemy countries. France and Italy are producing less than they need, while England is cut off from the source of seventy per cent of her usual imports. These three Allied countries must now draw 1,500,000 tons more of sugar than they did before the war from the same sources from which we draw our supplies. We must divide with them. We can do it by economizing. The usual American consumption per person is just double that of France.

Food Conservation is a duty to God, Who hates waste; a duty to our country, in order to win the war; and a duty to suffering humanity across the sea, concenrning whom it will be said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, ye have done it unto Me."

PARISH NOTES.

The Anniversary of the Woman's Guild of the parish was held on Monday, Oct. 29th, as the anniversary day, the Feast of SS. Simon and Jude occurred on Sunday. Some, but not all of the ladies of the parish were present. The reports of the past year were read which showed that the work had kept up with the average of late years.

The resignation of the veteran President of the Guild, Mrs. Thomas Neilson, was presented, but it was unanimously resolved not to accept it as her letter said she still hoped to attend the meetings. Mrs. T. Leaming Smith, however, was elected as an additional delegate to the Domestic Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary, and Miss Mary Chamberlaine to the Foreign Committee. The other officers and members of the Guild remain the same. Additional teachers are wanted in the Sunday School and in the Saturday Industrial School, and money and donations of clothing are needed for the Mothers' meeting.

The Girls' Friendly and the Candidates' Class will give a "Patriotic Tea" Tuesday evening, Nov. 27th, at 8.15. The program will consist of a flag drill by the girls, a drill by the Boy Scouts, patriotic recitations and songs. At the conclusion of the program, tea and crackers will be served, and dancing will follow. The tickets are 10 cents and can be purchased from any of the members. The proceeds will be devoted to carrying out the plans for the winter, which means not only to continue the gymnastic work and dancing, but also to do some service for others and for the church. We shall feel grateful to those who buy tickets, thus enabling us to realize a large sum.

The G. F. S. will continue the war relief work they have been doing. Will not more of the members please attend the meetings so that we can have suggestions as to what will be the best way to spend our Tuesday evenings? We want to combine pleasure with work. Will you help us?

Our Choir Master drafted. It is a great misfortune to the Church that in the selective draft which is calling men irrespective of their duties, business or personal preference to serve in the army, our Choir Master and Organist, Mr. Henry L. T. Ullrich, has been drawn and leaves early this month for camp. We shall certainly miss him, and our warmest prayers will go with him for his preservation and early return to his position in the parish which will be kept open for him.

We are fortunate in securing as his substitute, during his absence, our former choir master, Mr. Philip F. Alburger, who happens not to have any musical employment at present, and is willing to undertake this duty. As he is perfectly familiar with our services, and many members of the choir were with him when he was here before, the transition will be very easy. And as a change has to be made for a time, we heartily welcome him back.

The members of the choir presented Mr. Ullrich with a military wrist watch as a slight testimonial of their affection for him and as a reminder of their best wishes for a safe and speedy return.

The Men's Club will hold its first meeting on Thursday, Nov. 15th, when it is proposed to invite a number of the soldiers from League Island, about fifty, to join in the entertainment which will consist of music, boxing, etc., things which will appeal to the men.

The Mothers' Meeting on Wednesday, and the Industrial School for boys and girls on Saturdays at 10 A. M., recommence with this month.

Honor Roll. The Rector has purchased and had hung in the Vestibule of the Church an illuminated Honor Roll to contain the names of the men of the parish who are now serving in the Army or Navy.

The following names have been reported since our last issue. If there are any others we should be glad to be informed.

James Bonsack
Frederick Botwright
Willaim Boggs
Arthur Christian
Stuart Tait
Henry L. T. Ullrich
William Whitehurst

Special sermons. On Sunday, Oct. 14th, the peracher was the Rev. S. W. Harris, Ph. D., of Bartram, Conn., who had attended the Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, and spoke in regard to it. On Oct. 21st, the Rector preached on Religious education as requested to do by the General Convention Commission on that subject.

Oct. 28th was observed as requested by the President of the United States as a day of special prayer for our Country in this time of war. A special Litany and other prayers set forth by the Bishop with special Collect, Epistle and Gospel were used, and the Rector read the Pastoral letter issued by the Bishops of the Church at their last session in Chicago.

St. Barnabas' Guild for Nurses which holds its monthly meetings generally in our Church, gave the Rector a very agreeable surprise at its meeting last month by presenting him, and the Secretary, Mrs. Henry Brincherhoff, with solid gold badges of the Guild, in commemoration of their having each served as Chaplain and Secretary of the Guild for twenty-one years. Refreshments, including a cake with twenty-one candles on it, were also served. Our Verger, too, who attends to the Guild meetings, was also handsomely remembered on the occasion.

Error in last issue. Under the head of "Offerings" last month it was reported that $1.55 had been contributed to General Missions, and $500 "placed at the discretion of the Rector." It was the printer's mistake and should have been directly the reverse. The Rector would be very glad indeed to have had $500, or any sum, put at his disposal to use at his "discretion," as he has so many appeals and objects presented to him he has no means to meet. In many parishes some of the people make their contributions to missionary and other objects through the Rector, that he may be able to respond to the objects which are personally presented to him.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE PROVINCIAL SYNOD OF WASHINGTON

to which this Diocese belongs, will be held in this city from Nov. 19th to Nov. 22nd. The opening service will take place in S. James' Church, 22nd and Walnut St., at 9 A. M.

The meetings of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held in conjunction with the Synod in the Trinity Memorial Chapel at 22nd and Spruce Sts., and Holy Trinity Parish House, 20th St. below Walnut St.

The Annual Devotional Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will take place on Nov. 15th at 10 A. M. in S. James' Church to be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Drary of Concord, N. H. And the business meeting and conference on the same day at 2.30 P. M. in the Church House at 12th and Walnut Sts.

We hope all our people are subscribing to the new Liberty Loan. Not only is it a patriotic duty, but it is a most safe and profitable investment, and one which is most easy to make. Any one who can spare one dollar a week, and make that payment for fifty consecutive weeks can secure a bond which will pay four per cent interest, be free from all taxes and be sure to increase in value.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT ON THE CHURCH-GOING HABIT.

Says Mental Vacuity Characterizes Those Who Stay Home.

Colonel Roosevelt has contributed to the October number of The Ladies' Home Journal an article entitled "Shall We Do Away With the Church?" which has made an impression both on Church people and those who are not Church people. Speaking of the value and duty of attending services, Mr. Roosevelt says:

"For all those whose lives are led on a plane above the grimmest and barest struggle for existence church attendance and church work of some kind mean both the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others and the sense of braced moral strength which prevents a relaxation of one's fibre.

He Merely Dawdles

"The household in which Sunday is treated merely as a day of easy self-indulgence does not on that day offer an attractive spectacle. Nor in such a household is what occurs on that day a healthy stimulus toward right living for the children. In such a household the master of the house generally rises late. That is all right if his staying in bed means rest for him without meaning added work for somebody else. But, having risen, he merely dawdles half-dressed, smokes and reads the Sunday papers, lounges around the place if nothing more attractive offers itself, and finally goes off to the club or other lounging place.

"The mistress of the household meanwhile, if like her spouse, stays in bed, too, with the Sunday paper, or with a cheap magazine or a cheap novel; then also lounges around the house before fully dressing, and finally visits or receives visits from some other women who also regard slipshod absence of effort as the proper characteristics of the day.

"The case is not bettered if the heads of the family possess more energy but use it merely for their own selfish enjoyment, as, for instance, if they habitually spend the entire day in the motor, or take part in some form of dress parade, or visit brightly lighted restaurants.

Need Toning Up.

"In ordinary cases, as regards most men and women, the performance of their duties to the Church, to themselves and to others, on Sunday, represents merely such 'toning up' of their systems as will enable them to profit more by rest and amusement during the remainder of the day. Sundays differ from other holidays—among other ways—in the fact that there are fifty-two of them every year! The proper conduct for other holidays may be treated in itself as an exception. For Sunday it must be treated as a rule—a rule properly subject to exceptions, and perhaps to numerous exceptions—but a rule, nevertheless.

"Therefore, on Sundays go to church. Yes—I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator and dedicate oneself to good living in a grove of trees, or by a running brook, or in ones own house, just as well as in church. But I also know that as a matter of cold fact the average man does not thus worship or thus dedicate himself. If he stays away from church he does not spend his time in good works or in lofty meditation. He looks over the colored supplement of the newspaper; he yawns; and he finally seeks relief from the mental vacuity of isolation by going where the combined mental vacuity of many partially relieves the mental vacuity of each particular individual."

This is the testimony of a man of affairs, who has seen and studied human character under all circumstances, a man to whom the people of the United States have twice entrusted the supreme control of all its interests, and who is a man of unusual intellectual attainment and acumen.

Perhaps those who pay no attention to the teaching of the Scripture and of the Church, may be moved by the testimony of such a one.

And we may add that he practices what he preaches. He has always been a regular Church attendant even in the midst of all his cares and duties as President of the United States. If such a person feels that Sunday observance is necessary for him, surely it must be as much, if not more, needed by others.

PARISH NOTES.

Thanksgiving was observed as usual in the Parish with an early Celebration and a Choral service in the middle of the day. The Rector read the President's proclamation in regard to it and commented on it, and then spoke as he was requested to do, in regard to the principle of Democracy for which we are fighting.

The Church was decorated with fruits and specimens of grain. On the evening before the usual Turkey supper was provided for the members of the Mothers' Meeting.

The Men's Club meeting in November was a disappointment as far as having sailors at it was concerned. A large entertainment being provided for those at League Island that evening they were unable to send any to us. We had, however, one sailor present who was formerly one of our choir boys.

A very interesting address was made by Prof. Holmes, of Swathmore, in regard to the principles on which a permanent peace for the world can be secured. After this the famous band to which Mr. Challman and some of our other members belong, gave a number of selections which with the other music and the usual "eats" filled up the evening.

New teachers. We are very glad to welcome three new teachers in the Sunday and Industrial Schools. Miss Margaret Mull has taken a class in the main School and Miss Tames, who last year had a class there, has taken charge of the Infant School. Miss Caroline Ritsert has promised to assist her by playing the piano for the children.

Miss McCallum has taken charge of the small boys' class in the Saturday Industrial School. Miss Clara Williamson remains in charge of the girls.

The War Commission was represented in the Church on Sunday, Nov. 18, by a very eloquent address from Mr. A. Dupont Parker, showing the great need of the Commission of funds to provide additional Chaplains for the soldiers. Any offerings for this purpose can be placed in any offertory in envelopes marked for the same.

Exchange. On Sunday morning, December 9th, the Rector will exchange pulpits with the Rev. Percy Stockman, the new Rector of Gloria Dei Church, the old Swedes Church, on Swanson St.

On the afternoon of December 16th, as Chaplain of the Society of Sons of the Revolution, he will have to attend the annual service of the Society, which is to be held in the new Chapel at Valley Forge. The Bible and Prayer Book Instruction at 3 P. M. will have to be omitted that afternoon.

New piano. The Music Committee of the Vestry thanks those of the congregation who contributed toward the purchase of a piano to be used in the choir room.

Mr. Ullrich, having to go to the war, gave up the one we had there, as he had rented and paid for it out of his own pocket. So it was necessary to supply its place, as a choir can only be trained by a piano.

Christmas. There will be the usual early Celebrations of the Holy Communion at 6.30, 7.30 and 8.30 A. M. The music at the mid-day service will be Martin's Mass in C, and the Te Deum, Gordan in C.

One of the clergy will be in the Church most of the day and evening preceding Christmas.

Christmas offering. The congregation will remember that a special appeal was sent out last spring for offerings to make up the deficit we found we had at the end of our Financial year, May 1st. $450 was asked for; nearly $300 was received in response. The remaining $150, together with what we have had to borrow as usual for the summer expenses, leaves us with some $1,200 now to be made up by special Christmas offerings. Of course unusual demands are being made on all, owing to the many war requirements, but we must not forget our ordinary obligations, and the Church, which after all, is the source which furnishes the inspiration for all good works, and can alone supply the guidance and comfort so many will need, must be maintained. And owing to losses by death and removals the burden of supporting the Church will fall all the heavier on those who remain. We trust we shall have a large offering on Christmas day.

Special contributions will be needed to provide Christmas dinners and the Children's Festival. Funds also are much needed to carry on the Mothers' Meeting.

Our soldiers. Our honor roll has been increased since our last issue by the addition of two names of those who have entered the service, Joseph Cornelius and William Platt Pepper.

A number of letters have been received from those already in the Camps. Most of them seem to be enjoying the life.

Mr. Ullrich writes that although he still thinks his work is in the Church, he is sure the life he is living will do him good.

Several of our ladies are knitting sweaters, etc., for soldiers and sailors, and naturally are sending them to those who have gone from our own parish. On of our boys who received one writes that he felt as if he had found a gold mine when he got it. We should be glad if all of them could be provided for in the same way. There are thirteen now that we know of who have gone from the parish in the service.

"The Patriotic Tea" given by the Girls' Friendly Society and the Candidates' Class on Tuesday evening, Nov. 27th, was enjoyed by a small but appreciative audience. The original program could not be carried out as Mrs. Rossiter, who had expected to contribute two songs, was ill, and the Boy Scouts did not have enough members present to give us the promised drill. All this was a regret to us, but our kind friends, Miss Wharton, Mr. Seyfert and George Dennis offered to help out in this emergency and thus made our evening a success.

The flag drill by ten girls wearing red, white, and blue caps and carrying flags, was very pretty. The little girls in their recitations and Red Cross drill were excellent, and were so applauded that they were called upon to repeat the drill. Miss Ida Klofack trained this drill and to her is due the credit of its great success. Katharyn Rocap recited "The Baby and The Soldiers" in a very pleasing way, and sang very sweetly "Joan of Arc" in French. Elsie Friedman played the accompaniment for the drills and also a solo in a very able manner.

We wish to thank all those who so kindly helped us in any way to make the evening a pleasant and successful one, and especially the young men and Mr. Morgan who decorated the Parish hall so beautifully with bunting and flags. The affair, while not a financial success, brought the young people together to have a good time under the right influences.

The G. F. S. and the Candidates' class will not meet Christmas night or New Year's night. The service for January will be the second Tuesday instead of the first.

Boy Scouts. During the war service and community good turns are the chief activities of Scouts. The boys gets many chances to be of service—working in Red Cross Warehouses after school, selling Liberty Bonds, helping Mr. Hoover and farming, etc. Scout Dennis has bees awarded two medals for his work in the Liberty Loan Campaign, one for each issue, by National Headquarters, and the Treasury Dept. of the United States. Other Scouts in Troop 63 have earned local prizes for work in these campaigns.

The Scouts of Philadelphia are now campaigning for $125,000 to carry on the work for the next three years, and as everybody recognizes the merit of this splendid movement for better citizenship it is expected that the amount will be over-subscribed.

The following appeal has been issued on behalf of the Christmas Fund of the Diocese of Pennsylvania for Disabled Clergymen and the Widows and Children of Deceased Clergymen: The present annual allowances amount to $12,600, the income from investments is $6,850, leaving a deficiency of $5,750.

Christmas offerings, until the last, always made up the difference, whatever it might be. Last Christmas the Pension Fund Committee for this Diocese asked the Churches to give one-quarter of their offerings to General Clergy Relief, one-quarter to the Christmas Fund, and to devote the remainder to their assessments for the Pension Fund to become due later. Some of the larger churches gave the Christmas Fund nothing, many of them reduced amounts, so that under the circumstances the Trustees were surprised at receiving the total amount of $4,254.20, though that was little more than half of the averages of several years. This year the Trustees fear that they will receive considerably less from churches, some of which may have difficulty in paying their Pension Fund assessments, and some never having approved of the Christmas Fund plan, welcoming the opportunity to contribute to another system.

But the Rectors and Congregations should remember that none of the Christmas Fund beneficiaries are eligible for Pension Fund benefits, and that justice requires that they should have all the relief they are now receiving. It is hoped that most of the churches will be able to give as of old their Christmas offerings to this venerable charity. Every dollar so given will pro tanto lessen the reduction in stipends which will cause great suffering if allowed to occur. George Harrison Fisher, For the Trustees, 308 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

Beyond the gates of death there lies the PAROCHIAL CONNECTIONS.

The old idea of a parish is that of a district, a neighborhood. When a Church was built it was for the purpose of providing religious influences for all the people living within easy reach of it. And the Pastor, or Clergyman in charge of the Church was supposed to know and look after all the people living within his parish bounds.

But now-a-days when there are so many different kinds of religion and it seems impossible for all Christian people to worship together in the same Church, so that there are many Churches erected in the same district, and when owing to the easy modern methods of locomotion it is possible for persons to attend churches even at a great distance from their homes, it is impossible to carry out this parochial idea, excepting so far as making a Priest responsible for some knowledge of the people living within his parochial lines and doing what he can to look after their spiritual welfare. But the people who attend his Church constitute his real parishioners, and he must try to see and know and minister to them no matter where they live.

That he may do this it is essential that every Church member should be registered as belonging to some particular parish. It is essential for the clergy man that he may know who are his people, and it is essential for the people that they may feel their duty and responsibility to the Church to which they belong. Unless people are thus definitely attached to some Church, if they go about to different churches as they may feel inclined, they will not gain the same benefit, and they cannot have the same feeling for a church, and they will not be discharging their bounden obligation to support the Church as they should, and they will be in great danger of neglecting Church attendance altogether.

We have too many of these unattached Church members altogether, to their own personal loss, and to the loss of the Church.

It comes about very naturally. A person is Confirmed in a Church and is of course registered as a member of that parish. Then in a little while he moves to a distance. Perhaps he is very much attached to that Church and he thinks he will keep up his connection with it and attend it when he can. Gradually his attendance becomes less and less frequent, perhaps ceases altogether. Naturally he can do no Church work in that parish, and he generally drops off in his contributions. So the result is he does not go to church at all, or most infrequently, and he gives nothing and does nothing for Church support. This is ruinous to him spiritually and to the Church.

If any one removes from the district in which the Church with which he is connected is situated, or if he professes to attend some other Church, he should always ask his Rector to give him a letter of transfer to any parish he prefers, where he will be registered as a member and where he will feel he has a spiritual home from which he will derive benefits and in which he will discharge his duty of Church support.

We have spoken of this matter before but cannot too strongly insist upon this obligation of, every Christian, being regularly registered as a member of a particular Church. Multitudes are lost to the Church, and lose their religon altogether by neglecting this rule.

PARISH NOTES.

Christmas was a very dismal day this year, cloudy and rainy all day. This doubtless was much in keeping with the feelings of a great many at this time, especially of those who have relatives and friends in the service who could not get home to the usual family reunions, and when there is so much suffering in the world. But no matter what happens, Christmas ought always to be a joyful time because it sets before us the one hope we have for the final redemption of the world. So we tried to make it as bright a time as ever in the parish. Of course the weather largely affected our congregation. Still we had a good turn out at the early Communion, more so than in the middle of the day. The clergy are always glad to see at these Festival Communions many whom they rarely see at any other time. On the other hand they always miss many who should be there, and they wonder why they do not come. Was it that they really could not come, or was it due to growing indifference, or is it consciousness of wrong doing that keeps them away?

The Church looked as beautiful as ever, and the Choir deserved credit for accuracy and feeling with which the music was rendered.

The Children's Christmas Festival occurred on the evening of Holy Innocents' day. There was the usual Christmas tree and Creche and the real live Kriss Kringle coming in the window and giving a present to every regular attendant of the Sunday School. All others present were given a box of candy.

The entertainment consisted of recitations by Ethel Carey, William Donelli, Louisa Fritz, William Siefert, Margaret Carey, Barbara Ritsert, rduet by Katharyn Rocap and Reba McDermot and a repetition of a very pretty drill given by six members of S. Agnes' Guild at their entertainment in November. There was also singing of Christmas Hymns and an address by the Rector.

The Christmas Offerings amount to $553.00. About $150 more than last year. This was a very handsome offering at this time of the year, and under present circumstances, when there are so many objects clamoring for contributions. But it was not enough to meet all our indebtedness. What we need is a larger regular income. And this could be gained if every one connected with the Church would take an envelope and contribute as largely as possi- week by week. In this day of large wages many who formerly had not much to spare could now give easily a quarter of a dollar or more each week and they ought to do so. Or if a number gave only ten or even five cents weekly it would mount up to a considerable sum in the course of a year. Our list of contributors through the envelopes ought to be very largely increased.

Our honor roll in the Vestibule of the Church has been increased last month by two new names of those in the service: Lieut. Hubley Owen, M. D., and Clarke Wylie. There are may be others whom we not yet have heard of. We shall be glad to be told of any who have already gone or may be going.

Two or three, of the sixteen who have now gone from the parish have not as yet been provided with sweaters. We should be glad to hear of any ladies who would knit some for them.

The Men's Club Meeting this month will be on the evening of Jan. 17th. A very capable and entertaining speaker has been secured. There will be also music, smoking, etc. Let the men of the parish turn out strong on this occasion ror the pleasure it will give them, to show their interest in the parish and to get acquainted with their fellow parishioners.

Reading matter. We want to call the attention of our people to the reading matter they will find in the rack in the Vestibule of the Church. Copies of the Spirit of Missions, the Survey, the Temperance Magazine, tracts in regard to the Church seasons, and a variety of pamphlets on Church, social and political subjects are to be found there. Any one is welcome to take and read them.

The Year Book for 1916-17 was given out in the first week in December. All who have not had one can find it in the rack just inside the door of the Church. It shows just how the Church is carried on, and gives the reports of work done during the past year.

Confirmation will be administered in the Church on the evening of Wednesday, March 13th. The clergy would like to know at once of any who would like to be confirmed at that time.

Epiphany meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held in S. Simeon's Church, 9th St. and Lehigh Ave., on Jan. 24th. 10 A. M., Holy Communion. 11-1P. M., Addresses by Bishops and other clergyman. 1 P. M., Lunch. Tickets, 30 cts. 2.30 P. M., Addresses.

The Bishop of the Diocese set forth the following service to be used on Christmas day in commemoration of the capture of Jerusalem by the British.

It is fitting that we render thanksgiving to Almighty God in that He has thought good to restore Jerusalem and Bethlehem once more to Christian rule and keeping.

It is fitting, also, that our thanks for this be given on Christmas Day.

I ,therefore, authorize the following short service in al oulr churches on that Day, and suggest that it be used immediately before the Celebration of the Holy Communion.

PHILIP M. RHINELANDER,
Bishop of Pennsylvania.

December 19, 1917.

The Priest, standing before the Altar, shall say:

When the Lord turned again the captivity of Sion: then were we like unto them that dream.

Then was our mouth filled with laughter: and our tongue with joy.

Then said they among the heathen: The Lord hath done great things for them.

Yea, the Lord hath done great things for us already: whereof we rejoice.

Then shall be said, or sung, Psalm 122. Laetatus sum.

Then shall be said or sung Te Deum laudamus.

NOTICES.

Communicants coming into the Parish, or leaving it, should comply with the following canon:

A communicant removing from one parish to another shall procure from the rector (if any) of the parish of his last residence, or if there be no rector, from one of the wardens, a certificate, stating that he or she is a communicant in good standing; and the rector of the parish or congregation to which he or she removes shall not be required to receive him or her as a communicant until such letter be produced.

Concerning baptisms, the rubric before the offices for that sacrament says:

The Minister of every parish shall often admonish the people that they defer not the baptism of their children longer han the first or second Sunday after their birth, or other Holy day falling between, unless upon a great and reasonable cause. And he shall also warn them, that without like great cause and necessity they procure not heir children to be baptized at home in their houses.

Baptism is administered on any Sunday, or at any week day service.

Attention is called to the rubric before the office for the visitation of he sick, which reads:

When any person is sick, notice shall be given thereof to the Minister of the Parish.

On due notice being given, the clergy are always ready and desirous to visit those who are in trouble, sorrow, need, sickness, or any other adversity, and to administer the Holy Communion to such as by reason of sickness or other infirmity are prevented from coming to the church.

The clergy should always be consulted before arrangements are made for baptisms, marriages or funerals at which they are expected to officiate.

The clergy can be seen after any church service, by those whe desire to consult them in regard to spiritual matters or church work, and will be glad to respond at any time to requests for private Celebrations of Holy Communion.

Parishioners are asked to send prompt notice of change of residence.

Those who wish to become members of the Parish are asked to send their names and addresses to the clergy, when they will be promptly called upon. Applications for envelopes can be made to the Accounting Warden, or the clergy, or by letter to the church.

Boy Scouts. The roll of Troop 63 is rapidly filling up and soon it will have to stop taking new scouts.

Another patrol has been started with "Bob" Holt as Leader. It is the Eagle and as all the Scouts are young and full of pep great things are expected of it. Wm. Bender has been appointed Senior Patrol Leader in place of John Barr, who resigned, owing to his school work. He will stay with the troop, however, as patrol-leader of the Woodpigeons.

All of the Scouts are busy now shining up their equipment, etc., and getting ready for the weekly inspections which begin Monday, Jan. 7, 1918.

A Silver Cup will be awarded to the Patrol making the best showing.

Saint John's Guild. The basketball team is doing its usual good work in the cage, not only winning at home but when away as well. Four victories have been chalked up so far and no defeats. Richardson Memorial was beaten 36-30; Eagle, 49-5; Cooper, 48-6; and Marford, 72-7.

The minstrels are working hard and expect to have their show just before Lent, which will be about the last dancing of the season for our young folks. This year's show will be very much better than the average so that everyone will be expected not only to buy tickets but to come; laugh and dance. The date will be announced in our next number.

OUR NEW FINANCIAL YEAR.

The last General Convention adopted a Canon, that is a rule, requiring all the Dioceses in the American Church to make the Calendar year their financial year, and of course every parish has to do the same. Henceforth, therefore, all our accounts and reports must run from January to January each year, instead of from May 1st to May 1st as heretofore.

This will necessitate several changes.

In the first place our Vestry will have to meet each year some time in January, instead of in May as formerly to receive the Warden's report. This will be an advantage for one or two reasons. It will make the meetings of the Vestry at more regular intervals, instead of having two very close together, one in April after Easter and another in May, and none between November and May, as we have had them. Then if a deficit is reported at the end of the financial year it will be much better to know of it in January, when there is still a good part of the winter left in which to try and make it up, instead of not knowing of it until May, after which the congregation so largely disperses for the summer.

Secondly. This change of the Financial year will change the quarters for sending out our envelopes. Formerly they were sent out for three months, each May, Aug., Nov., and Feb. Now they must go out Jan., April, July and Oct. That will give eventually the months of Jan., Feb. and March for Diocesan Assessments, on the Benevolent side of the envelope. April, May and June for contributions for the Poor Fund. July, Aug. and Sept. for Parochial Activities, and Oct., Nov. and Dec. for General Missions. This year, as the envelopes had been already printed and sent out for General Missions in January, the envelopes for Diocesan Assessments can only be for the months of February and March. We hope our people will bear this in mind in making their offerings, and in those two months give as much as they usually do in three months.

The assessments this year are for the Episcopal and Convention Fund $197.30, for Diocesan Missions $163.78, for the Sustenation Fund for Poor Parishes $23.90, for Religious education $20.07, and for Social service $12.03, making a total of $407.46, which we have to look to receive from these envelopes during February and March.

Another thing affected by the change of the Financial year will be the observance of our anniversary day. Heretofore we have done so in connection with our parochial name day, the Ascension, which occurred very conveniently some time in May. But to wait from January to May before reading our annual reports would be rather long.

It so happens for us, however, that it is proposed to change the name of the Church to St. Mary's. When this is done, we shall then observe the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary, which occurs on Feb. 2nd, as our Parish Festival, and this will be just in good time for our reports to be made up after the close of the year.

As this has not yet been done, as we had hoped it would have been by this time, we shall still observe the Feast of the Ascension this year as our Parochial Festival, reading the reports of the entire year of 1917 at that time, though it will necessarily include part of the preceding financial year.

The Annual Year Book of the parish will hereafter be issued in January of each year instead of the first of Advent as formerly.

PARISH NOTES.

Confirmation. As we have announced the Bishop of the Diocese will administer Confirmation in this parish on the evening of March 13th. Instructions preparatory to Confirmation will be given by the Rector in the Church each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, beginning with the first Sunday in this month, and the Rev. Mr. Morris will meet after the service on Wednesday evenings any who cannot come at that time.

The Clergy hope that every one in the parish who is of sufficient age and has not yet been Confirmed, will avail himself of the opportunity of receiving it at this time and will regularly attend one of these courses of Instruction.

Our Honor roll of enlisted men has this month been increased by the addition of two other names, those of Harold Patterson, one of our old choir boys. He writes that he is drilling four to five hours a day, and has plenty of good physical exercise, and that "since he has joined the army it has built him up wonderfully." Mr. Patterson had intended to have been Confirmed in the Church this spring, but as he has enlisted, this is impossible. He writes the Rector, however, that he firmly purposes to be so when he returns. He is now in Camp Greenleaf at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. The other is Barton Huntington, who was formerly President of S. John's Guild. He has been appointed to the U. S. Naval Reserve Force, and is now with the colors.

Parish visiting. The Rector has been very much thrown back in his parochial visiting on account of the very severe weather. But when it grows milder he will certainly get round to see every one in time.

Subscribers. Will not all our subscribers, who see blue marks on their papers pay up the amounts due, as we are very far behind in paying for our printing and other expenses.

The last issue of the NEWS was in some way unaccountably delayed either by congestion in the mail service—it is printed out of town—or in some other way, so that it was not delivered at the Church, until after the Second Sunday in the month. It was not the fault of the Editors as they were up to time.

The Men's Club meeting this month was made very interesting by a talk from Mr. R. H. Bayard Bowie, Jr., giving an account of his experiences as an ambulance driver in the French army for over a year. He only returned recently, owing to a severe wound which disables him from duty for the present.

It gives a very vivid idea of the condition of things at the front to hear one tell of what he has actually seen and gone through. We regret that there were only about twenty-five of our men present. Those who fail to attend these Club Smokers will be sure to miss something good each time.

The Nurses of St. Barnabas' Guild, which meets in our Church each month, had a very interesting description at their last meeting from an English officer, Lieut. Sutton, of his experiences in the terrible assault at Gallipoli, in which he lost his right hand. These personal relations tell more than anything else of what war is, and what our men have to look forward to when they go into it. Let us pray that peace may come before they have to do so.

The War Commission of the general Church asked all our parishes to observe Sunday, January 27th, as the day for informing our people of the work of the Commission, and asking for special contributions for the fund of $500,000 it is trying to raise to carry it on.

A quantity of the papers issued by the Commission was distributed in the Church together with forms for pledges and envelopes. Instead of a sermon that day the Rector described at length just what are the needs created by the war and how they should be met. Though it was a very inclement day and the congregation was small, the offerings on the occasion in money and pledges amounted to $639.35. Doubtless more will come in later.

We are very glad to see what our congregation can do when it is interested in an object, and we are very glad to have them give on these emergencies, but they must not forget as well to contribute to the regular support of the Church.

Because we have additional calls on our benevolence we are not relieved from our obligation to fulfil our usual responsibilities.

The Girls' Friendly Society is planning a "Camouflage Package Party," to be given Tuesday evening, Feb. 12th, at 8 o'clock. We are not divulging any of the details hoping that the name will so arouse the curiosity of our many friends that they will attend to see what it is like. There will be several unique and novel ways of entertaining you during the evening, also music and dancing.

Like many other organizations at this time, we need more funds to meet the demands made on us in doing "our bit" for our Country, and also for Missions. We have contributed $5 to the Church War Commission fund, after the appeals made for it, and every Tuesday evening we are busy doing war relief work. Please come to our party and help make it a success in every way.

There will be no admission fee, but it will cost you a small sum before you leave.

Acknowledgement of our annual Missionary box. Alva, Oklahoma, Dec. 5th, 1917.

Mrs. T. L. Smith,

Dear Madam:

The missionary box which you so kindly sent for us to Oklahoma City I had sent on to me here, hence the delay in writing to thank you. We are delighted with all the things, they are splendid and will be very useful and a great blessing to us.

We all wish to express our sincere thanks to the ladies who took such an interest and care in preparing the box. My suit is really a very fine one and fits perfectly. The coming of the box brings cheer into our home as all the many other things that the good people of the east do for the missionaries out west. Especially does the box come as a boon at this time of hardship and high prices on account of the terrible war.

We send our very best wishes to your ladies for success in all their undertakings, and many, many thanks for their goodness, and for your own personal interest and that of your daughter.

With cordial best wishes, I remain,

Yours most gratefully,

The Boy Scouts. President Wilson, seeing how successful the German Propaganda had been, decided that he would go into the business himself. But realizing the difficulty in getting the people to read "official publications," he called the Boy Scouts to help him as "Official Dispatch Bearers."

The first dispatch was the President's Flag Day Address, with a valuable lot of notes on the same prepared by three college professors. The Scouts obtained a written pledge from each person, that they would read it and pass it along, before they delivered the booklet. When you consider that there are over 300,000 Boy Scouts, and that each Scout was allotted 15 booklets, you will see the big help this will prove in educating our people on the cause and progress of the war. The sale of thrift stamps will also take a portion of the time of these little "men in khaki."

The weekly inspection has made a wonderful improvement in the appearance of the troop—from the mighty patrol leaders down to little Mulholland and his "buddies."

A big hike in February, a basketball game in which Troop 63 trounced Troop 22, and the Minstrel show which is to take place on Feb. 5th, are some of the activities during the current season.

NAVY LEAGUE OF THE UNITED STATES.

Headquarters
1519 Walnut Street

We have received the following appeal to the members of our congregation for the Navy League. Owing to the unusually bitter weather we are now experiencing, the daily requests for our garments are increasing and our incoming stock must be increased also if we are to meet the demands.

We are not only requested to meet the needs of our own men but those of our Allies as well. It is a serious problem to supply wool to those who are willing to knit but are unable to purchase the wool. We, therefore, feel that we must appeal to the generosity of our people to help us carry on our work by contributions—no matter how small.

We, also, would like you to become members of the Navy League, to knit for us, and assist in every way our great cause.

MOBILIZATION OF THE CONGREGATION.

In this time of war it is essential that every power that we can control should be mobilized, that is put in active service to the fullest extent.

We think our Parish has done its share in this respect in contributing some $700 to the War Commission and other war agencies. But it is essential that the Parish itself should be mobilized to carry on its own work. While doing for others we must not neglect our home duties. It is the Church after all which affords the inspiration for all good works, and its efficiency must be maintained to give men the motive to work for others. And we fear that in contributing time and interest and money to meet the special exigencies created by this war, many of our members have cut down the amount they have been in the habit of giving to the Church. Then, too, we have been suffering, in common with other Churches in the center of the city, from the continuing exodus of our people to the country and suburbs, their places being taken by peoples of other races which have no affinity with our Church. Certain it is that our income has diminished and our Vestry found itself at what is now the close of our financial year, Dec. 31st, $1,000 in debt.

After consulting about the matter the Vestry came to the conclusion that the only possible economy they could maks only possible economy they could make to cut off the appropriation for music, which is $1,500. This would seem to be a great pity, as the music is a very important feature in the services of the Church, and we have always prided ourselves on having very good music at a very small cost. Churches in our neighborhood expending for the purpose a great deal more than we do.

Finally it was determined to put it up to the ladies of the congregation as to whether they would prefer to have the music given up or whether they could suggest some means by which this deficit of $1,000 could be made up, or the income of the Church be permanently increased. It is a number of years since the ladies of the congregation have been asked to do anything especially for the support of the Church, and it was thought that they might be willing to share with the Vestry the burden of meeting this exigency in which we find ourselves.

The Rector was asked to call a meeting of the ladies and lay this matter before them. He called such a meeting at his house on Saturday, Feb. 23rd. After stating the purpose of the meeting and asking for expressions of opinion, it was voted in the first place that it would be disastrous to the interests of the Church to give up the music and that special efforts should be made to make up the deficit. In the second place it was agreed that it would be impossible to attempt to raise money by giving any general large entertainment at the present time when so many were being given for war purposes. But it was suggested that a number of small entertainments could be given by individuals or by the various Guilds of the parish. One lady offered to have a concert in her own house, the proceeds being for this purpose. The Secretary of the Girls' Friendly Society, which has just given a very successful entertainment for the work of that Society, might give another, something of the same sort, for the benefit of the Church. Our young men and boys' Guilds may do the same. Some ladies thought that they might make and sell things, war bread, cake, candy, etc., or have small parties in their houses for the purpose.

Then it was suggested that each person in the congregation, who is not now using the envelopes, should be asked to do so as a means of permanently increasing the revenue of the Church; that those who have taken envelopes and not paid them up should be asked to do so, and that those who have paid up, should increase, if possible, the amount they give, or should make a special contribution for the deficit. If each person connected with the parish would contribute even a small sum each week, or if those who have taken envelopes and fallen behind hand in their payments, would give what they thus owe, the parish would have sufficient to meet its obligations. Five ladies offered to call upon or write letters to members of the congregation asking them to do this.

It was also suggested that collection cards or books for the gathering of small offerings be provided and put in the hands of any who would take them to secure contributions from their friends, both in and outside the parish.

By these means it was thought the whole congregation can be mobilized, get actively at work to raise this sum which we owe and which must be paid.

It must also be understood that any offerings for the deficit should be in addition to our usual Easter offering which is needed to pay our annual coal bill, Episcopal and Convention assessment, and other regualr expenses which will amount to nearly another $1,000.

The ladies adjourned to meet on Saturday, March 23rd, at the same place at three o'clock in the afternoon, to report what each had been able to do. And it was asked that all who come to that meeting should bring with them something in a package, which could be auctioned off for the benefit of the Fund.

The Rector and his wife will be glad to see any who will come at that time.

PARISH NOTES.

St. Peter's Church. The Rector, having heard that old St. Peter's Church at 3rd and Pine St. was without coal and could not procure any, invited the authorities of that parish to unite with us and worship in our Church while the coal shortage lasted, as we fortunately had laid in our supply of coal during the summer. As the Church of the Ascension was founded originally in 1835 by members of St. Peter's Church, it was eminently fitting that the Mother Church should turn to its daughter parish in this emergency, especially as the services and the teachings of the two churches are very similar.

The invitation was accepted, and since Feb. 20th the two congregations have been worshipping together. This has made a considerable change in our services. All those of the Church of the Ascension have been continued as usual, and in addition there has been a celebration of the Holy Communion on Sundays at 9 A. M., by one of the Clergy of St. Peter's Church with St. Peter's choir rendering the music, also a service rendered in the same way at 7.45 P. M. The St. Peter's Clergy also assist at the mid-day service on Sundays, our Rector and the Vicar in charge of St. Peter's Church alternating as preachers.

On week days in addition to the Ascension services, there have been daily, except Saturdays, a short service with a special preacher from 12.30 to 12.55 P. M., as arranged for the St. Peter's congregation. There has also been a service at 11 A. M. on Fridays for St. Peter's congregation.

The preachers appointed for the noon-day services have been for the first week in Lent, the Rev. Bakewill Green; the second week, the Rev. Percy Stockman; the third week, the Rev. G. G. Walenta; the fourth week, the Rev. E. S. Lane; the fifth week, the Rev. S. B. Booth; the sixth week, the Rev. Dr. Yerkes.

It has been a great pleasure to us to have St. Pter's congregation with us and to see the Church so fully utilized.

All offerings intended for St. Peter's Church are placed on the collection plates in envelopes so marked.

Holy Week. The last week in this month is the Holy Week, and it has been purposed by the Diocesan authorities to have it observed this year in an intensified way on account of the war.

A letter has been sent to the Clergy of all the parishes in the Diocese making the following suggestions in regard to it, that there should be

I. A Daily Celebration of the Holy Communion.

II. Preaching of the Cross each night from Monday to Friday.

III. Special service for Communicants.

IV. Special meeting of recent Confirmation Classes.

V. Guild service for Parochial organizations.

VI. A service for those engaged in war work.

VII. A service for children.

VIII. Services in public institutions.

We shall comply with these suggestions.

I. By having two Celebrations of the Holy Communion each day, one at 7.30 A. M., the other after Morning Prayer at 10 A. M., except on Good Friday, when there will be only one at 7.30 A. M.

II. Instead of the Way of the Cross we have been observing of recent years, each night in Holy Week we will have the preaching suggested, except on Thursday, when there will be a service for Communicants and those recently Confirmed, combining thus suggestions III and IV. We do not think our parochial organizations sufficiently strong or the nuumber of those engaged at war work at home sufficiently numerous to call for special esrvices for them as suggested in V and VI.

There will be the Way of the Cross for the children on Good Friday at 9.30 A. M., thus complying with suggestion VII.

The only public institutions in our neighborhood where services could be held are the Woman's and Howard Hospitals, and we should be very glad to arrange for services there if desired to do so, as in accordance with VIII.

We trust these services will be largely attended as they should be in this time of stress and anxiety when all should be looking for guidance and help to a higher than earthy power, and we extend a hearty invitation to members of other Denominations whose Churches may not be open during this week, and to those who do not belong to any Congregation, to attend any or all of our services.

There will be the usual three hour service on Good Friday and Procession of Palms on Palm Sunday.

Easter day. There will be two extra Celebrations of the Holy Communion on Easter day, March 31st, at 6.30 and 8.30 A. M., to provide opportunity for everyone to make his or her Easter Communion. One of the Clergy will be in the Church all day on Easter Even, except from 6 to 8 P. M., to assist any who desire help in making their preparation for Communion.

Easter offering. All attending the Church are expected to make a special Easter offering to enable us to meet our expenses for the year. The amount each can give will depend on the degree to which he has himself been blest, and he should consider carefully and conscientiously what that amount should be.

The Men's Club will have their usual Smoker on Thursday evening, March 21st, when we shall have another good speaker to talk about the war. We extend a special invitation to the men of St. Peter's Church to be present on this occasion.

The "Camouflage Package Party", given by the Girls' Friendly Society, was a success both socially and financially. The many entertaining features we had planned were thoroughly enjoyed. The little girls of the Candidates' class sang a Camouflage song. A young lady played the mouth organ and Miss Elsie Friedman gave a piano solo. The tiny little Miss, only seven years old, amazed and delighted the audience with her performance on the piano. Mr. Reeves won a cake by guessing the article that was baked in it. Miss Trice won a large cocoanut cake in the march, and Mr. Tutweiler, a box of candy for making the nearest guess of the number of beans in a pint jar. There was dancing from nine to eleven, with excellent music, which was enjoyed by all. We cleared $23, and through the "News", we thank all who contributed in any way to make the affair a success.

Through Lent we shall turn our attention to more serious things. We are most fortunate in having Mrs. Horner Smith for our "Leader" of the Lenten talks, and we trust our meetings will be well attended, as Mrs. Smith is interesting and inspiring. We have chosen the Episcopal hospital as our obejct to sew for during Lent, and realizing that we should not put aside the war relief work, the girls have expressed a willingness to come Friday evenings also. This means a sacrifice to some, but shows a fine spirit to do one's part and so live up to our motto,—"Bear ye one another's burdens."

The Saint John's Guild have elected new officers for the coming year. Mr. Raymond Reeves, President; John Owens, Secretary, and Stanley Hannums, Treasurer. The new "cabinet" is a live one and there should be lots of interesting activities during the next year.

The basket ball team continues to win regularly, having lost but one game all season. The team is formed of Mull, Barr, Hannums, Jones, McDermott and Bender, all veterans of several years' standng.

A dance is planned for the first Thursday after Easter.

Boy Scouts. Mr. J. L. Graham has been called to the colors and his services will be greatly missed by the troop and the staff.

His last night with us was spent in drilling and giving him a rousing send-off. There are now five members of Troop 63 serving the country in the army and navy; Scouts Brown and McMeekin, two of the "Alumni"; Mr. H. L. T. Ulrich, of our Troop Committee; Dr. J. W. Rock, First Aid Instructor, and Mr. J. L. Graham, Assistant Scoutmaster.

The hike to Camp Van Rensselaer was a dandy; beautiful country, big, open fireplace, songs and stories by Mr. Graham, "Pop", Bill Bender, etc., etc. This is one of the most delightful camps that we have permission to use. The weather was "great." We are "dreaming" of a place like this of our own.

Our inspections are good and helped us a lot when Executive Gordon decided to inspect all the troops in this section of the city. He gave us an average of 93, which was the fourth best out of about 30 troops. There were 27 boys and 2 men present from our troop.

Promotions are coming faster than the Scribe (Dennis) can record them. From Candidate to Tenderfoot to Second Class and as soon as the leaves begin to peep out Mr. Bushnell and Mr. Clark are going to lead another Nature Study hike, for that is all some fellows need for First Class Rank.

We are looking forward to the third Liberty Bond, Thrift Stamps, Dispatch bearing, more hikes, new games, test passing, Spring sports and Camp and a few other things.

THE CONGREGATION MOBILIZED.

In our last issue we called upon the congregation to mobilize to make up a deficit in our current expenses we had January 1st. We can now report that it has mobilized very effectively.

A number of the ladies who met at the Rector's house on Feb. 23rd undertook to write letters or personally to see different members of the congregation, asking them to assist in this work. The result has been so far that some $582.50 has been contributed in special donations. Several have promised to increase, in two or three cases to double, the amount of their regular weekly offerings, and a few new envelopes have been taken. On March 23rd a Package Party was held at the Rector's house, which readized $65.70. On April the fourth a Card party is to be held at the house of Mrs. Harry B. French, 1502 Spruce St. On April 9th a Rummage sale will be given in the Parish Building. On April 16th an entertainment and dance will be given in the Parish Building jointly by the members of S. John's Guild and the Girls' Friendly Society. And on April 24th a Musicale wlil be given in the house of Mrs. John Hirst, 1823 Pine St. The proceeds of all of these being for the deficit.

Thus we can say that the congregation have been very fairly "mobilized", and with good success.

We doubt, however, if the receipts from all of these efforts will be enough to make up the entire sum of $1,000 needed. So we must still ask that further efforts be made.

The most substantial and permanent way of enabling the Church to meet its expenses would be for all those who belong to it taking envelopes, if they do not do so now, or increasing the amounts they are giving, as they have to increase what they give for every thing, in these war times.

Many of the persons to whom the ladies wrote made no replies to the letter they received. One lady wrote twenty-five letters, and did not receive a single response. This shows that many are very indifferent or fail to realize their responsibility to contribute regularly to the support of the Church. Every one who has an income of any kind should conscientiously give a certain proportion to religious purposes, and the support of your parish Church, which gives you your religious privileges, should have the first claim. If every one in the congregation gave something each week, if it were only five or ten cents, it would be some fulfilment of this duty, and provide the Church a regualr income.

And those making pledges of weekly contributions should feel the obligation of punctually paying them. If all the pledges made for the support of the Church had been so paid we would not be forced to undertake this extra effort to make up a deficit.

So while we thank the congregation most heartily, especially the ladies who have responded so readily and done so much work, we still ask particularly those members of the congregation who are not now taking envelopes, or contributing regularly, to do so at once. The Rector will furnish a set to any one asking for them.

PARISH NOTES.

The Package Party at the Rector's house proved very successful. There were not a great many present, but those who were there proved good buyers. Some very pretty and even valuable articles were donated. Miss Alice O. Young, who acted as auctioneer, proved very expert in securing good prices, which added very much to the interest of the occasion. The receipts from the sale, together with some donations of money from those who could not be present, amounted to $67.70.

A Rummage Sale will be held in the Parish Building, Tuesday, April 9th, from 3 P. M. to 10 P. M. Any articles of any description, furniture, carpets, bedding, pots, pans, clothes, books, shoes, etc., can be sent to the Parish Building any day before the sale begins and will be disposed of for the benefit of the deficit fund.

Liberty bonds sale. A number of the ladies of the congregation are assisting in the effort to float the new issue of Liberty bonds, by attending in different theaters in the southern part of the city during their performances. Mrs. Combs has undertaken to secure the workers. Miss Ely will furnish some fifty aides, who will be on hand so many nights for so many weeks. Miss A. O. Young will be responsible for three nights a week for a month. Miss Carmen will take other nights. Any of our young people, willing to aid in this patriotic work can give their names to Miss Ely, whose office is at 1307 Locust St.

Farm work. The Rector has been asked to secure from the parish as many boys over sixteen, and young men, as he can, who will sign up to work on the farms near the city for the summer months, to supply the great need there is for workers to raise the large crops that are absolutely needed to feed ourselves and our allies. He would be glad to hear at once of any willing to engage in this very healthful and pleasant work and serve his country at the same time. The Rector, in spite of his age, works in this way three hours each day during the summer and enjoys it very much.

The Men's Smoker had another inspiring patriotic address from Mr. Anthony Griffith at their meeting on March 23rd, followed by some very good singing by the younger men. But again we had to deplore the absence from this meeting of so many of the older men of the parish. This is not a Boys' Guild intended for the young. They have their own special meetings. It is intended primarily for the older men for the purpose of bringing them out of their homes and keeping up their interest in, and connection with, the Church and each other. We do trust another season that more will turn out on such occasions. Mr. Griffith also addressed the members of S. Barnabas' Guild for Nurses the same afternoon at three o'clock.

The Girls' Friendly Society will have a church service on Tuesday evening, April 2nd, followed by a business meeting, and it is earnestly requested that all members be present. Through Lent the meetings have been quite well attended, and we all enjoyed and appreciated Mrs. Smith's talks, and heartily thank her for her patience and faithfulness. Some Lenten sewing and war relief work were also accomplished. On April 18th, there will be a Council meeting at Holy Trinity Parish House at 3 o'clock, and a conference of Associates at 7.30 P. M. It is hoped that some of the Associates will find it convenient to be present at these meetings.

On April 25th at 7.45 P. M. there will be the Annual Service and Exhibition of Lenten work at Holy Trinity Church. All members and Associates are invited and will find it a most helpful and inspiring service.

The Candidates' Annual Service will be held at Calvary Church, Germantown, on May 4th, at 3 P. M.

An entertainment, a Fete d'Avril, will be given by the G. F. S. and S. John's Guild on Tuesday evening, April 16th, at 8.15 P. M., the proceeds of which will be devoted entirely to the church as a help to meet the present deficit. There will be dancing with excellent music, and for those not caring to dance, we have planned some special features of entertainment, and so there is insured a good time for all, both old and young. The tickets are 25 cents and can be procured from any member of either Society.

St. John's Guild. The Minstrel Show, given jointly by St. John's Guild and the Boy Scouts, proved a great success. The proceeds from the sale of tickets amounted to $102.35. After deducting expenses, the balance was divided equally between the two organizations. From their share, St. John's Guild donated $10.00 towards meeting the deficit of the Church. The Boy Scouts' share has given them a good start toward meeting the expenses of their summer camp, and everybody is very grateful for the manner in which their friends helped them.

The deficit in the current expenses of the Church and its possible results are on our minds, and to do "our bit," we are giving, with the Girls' Friendly Society, an entertainment and dance on Tuesday evening, April 16th, at the Parish House. The tickets are twenty-five cents and the entire proceeds will be given to the Church. We promise you something unusual and please come help us make our efforts a great success financially for such a worthy cause.

The Boy Scout Troop. There was a re-organization of the troop, for the annual registration at national headquarters, during March, which shows our roll to include 33 boys. About 10 were dropped and 2 transferred. Gathering old kid gloves which will be used to make garments for soldiers, and books for the soldiers and sailors were the chief activities of the month. The Scout farmers are all busy and expect to make even a better showing than last year. The weekly inspection shows the Eagle Patrol to be in the lead, Mongoose second, and Tiger and Woodpigeon following closely in the order named.

Choir Honor roll. The choir-master wishes to take this opportunity of commending the members of the choir for their faithfulness and attention to their duties, and in order that the congregation may know more of the work of the boys, will publish each month an honor roll containing the names of boys having a perfect record for attendance or some other meritoriosu acts. The Honor Roll for February is: Watson Mull, Philip Fritz, William Seiffert.

LETTER TO THE RECTOR FROM MR. ULLRICH.

March 19, 1918

My dear Doctor Hodge:—

I have been very glad indeed to receive the copies of the Ascension News you so kindly sent me, and particularly interested in reading your somewhat War-like article: "Mobilization of the Congregation" in the latest issue. Probably one of the greatest benefits to be derived from the War will be a concentration of thought and effort, to say not anything of the elimination of the waste places, and I fervently hope a renewed and invigorated spiritual life. Certainly those men who have come into the actual Service will come back, those who do come back, with a new and different view oft he Church and its value, due largely, undoubtedly, to the splendid work and influence of the Y. M. C. A. I was further glad to learn from one of Mr. Roberts' recent letters that the response to the efforts to reduce the indebtedness of the Ascension has been quite wonderful. It is certainly regrettable that the new plans for the Church have been held in abeyance for so long, particularly since such conditions only create uncertainty, and, in some spheres, demoralization. But, of course, present conditions, the War, etc., for which the Church is not responsible, have contributed to the unfortunate delay. However, I trust matters are so shaping themselves as to bring the initiation of the new Organization close to hand.

You continue to address me in care of the 312th Field Artillery, for the very good reason, I suppose, that I have never told you otherwise. But I had rather assumed that Mr. Roberts or Mr. Alburger had advised you of my new address. Shortly after the first of the year, I was detached from my old Regiment and detailed upon special work, stenographic, etc., at the Headquarters of the Officers' Training School here. Before coming to Camp, I offered my services as a stenographer, etc., to the Government, and only now have they seen fit to utilize my work in that direction. Needless to say, I can be of infinitely more value to the Service in that capacity than almost any other, particularly since there is such a great amount of this sort of work to be done, and I am very happy in my present location, where I shall in all likelihood remain until about May 1st. Although there is a feeling that this School is to be made a permanent feature of the War, and if the War is to continue, as now seems definitely certain, such would be a very good procedure, particularly since it has been the experience of the English that Officers are extremely difficult of making, and probably more difficult of retaining. And we are to profit by their mistakes, we are told. You probably know that in the German Armies, it is the custom for the Officers to drive their men before them, whereas in the English and American Armies the Officers lead their men, and of course casualties are correspondingly greater.

Things continue to move along smoothly here. With the good weather we have had here for some weeks, splendid progress has been made by the men, and there is a persistent feeling that this Division is to move directly to France before Summer, probably during June, but the Army is just one rumor after another, and there is not anything official in this connection as yet.

I heard the Choir of St. Paul's, Baltimore, in the "Crucifixion" last Sunday evening, and while it was very well sung, it lacked the volume and splendor of the renditions of the last few years at the Ascension. The Baritone was very good indeed, but the Tenor did not stir one as did VanLeer. Of course, they have a splendid Choir there, but then they have a Choir School, and their appropriation for Music is about $5000.00, which is considerably more than we spend at the Ascension. Incidentally, I have yet to hear a better Choir than that of the Ascension, and I have heard the best in this section of the Country.

Much to my regret, I shall in all probability have to remain in Camp Easter Day, and be unable to attend the Ascension on that day, but I trust the Services will not only go very well musically, as well as otherwise, but that they may be very well attended, and this latter is important.

Hoping Mrs. Hodge and you are both very well, and hoping you will have a very happy Easter, I am,

Very cordially yours,

Henry L. T. Ullrich,

Training School,

PRIVATE DEVOTIONS.

There is nothing so essential to the maintenance of spiritual life as devotion, that is constant communion with God. He is the source of all spiritual life, and it is only by constant contemplation of, and prayer to, Him that we can hope to imbibe His spirit and to be supported and guided aright.

This is the purpose and necessity of regular public worship. We build and frequent our Churches not only to honor God, to recognize and maniest our sense of dependence upon Him, but that they may minister to us spiritual benefits. If a man gives up church going, ceases to make it a regular part of his life to thus worship God and seek His help, he will inevitably deteriorate in character. If he does not fall into open sins, he will become worldly, selfish, self-centered, and evil habits, tempers and dispositions will grow in him.

But it is not sufficient to go to Church once a week. Our religion should be brought into our daily lives. It is constantly, daily, hourly, that we are subjected to temptation, and that the hardening, unspiritualizing influences to which we are exposed in our intercourse with our fellowmen, affect us. So we should make a habit of having regular daily devotions. This was the purpose of the Church in appointing a daily service to be recited in the Churches. The Episcopal Church is the only Christian body that has such a provision, and many of its members value and use it regularly, or at least on some days in each week.

But in the rush and absorbtion of our modern life there are not many apparently who can find time to go to Church, even once a day, unless it is to an early Communion, in Churches where there is a daily Celebration. For those who cannot do so we urge most strongly their always having daily devotions of some sort at home, preferably family prayers, if possible. The head of each household should regard himself as the natural priest of the family and responsible not only for his own spiritual welfare, but for that of the members of his household as well. This was once the universal rule in all Christian households, but has sadly fallen into disuse of late, and the general neglect of all religion is doubtless due to this cause more than any other. In households in which there are young children it is especially necessary that the constant habit of religious worship should be thus cultivated.

But if that is not possible, and as a great help to its performance where it is practicable we urge upon all our people the regular use of a book of devotions, even in their private prayers. As we feel that a regular liturgy is incomparably superior to extemporaneous prayers for public worship, so are preconceived forms most valuable for private use. They "open our lips," so to speak, that we may worthily and effectively show forth God's praise," and teach us what things we ought to ask, and how to ask them.

There is an art in worshipping, as there is in speaking and writing, and those who have studied it and cultivated it, can teach and help others to worship and pray aright.

There are many such books available at any Church book store. We would especially recommend the "Treasury of Devotion" by Carter for this purpose.

To set aside daily, if it is only for a very short space, a time which will be used regularly for this purpose, together with some Scriptural reading, will be simply invaluable as a means of conserving and perfecting one's spiritual life, and defending it from those influences which are so numerous and powerful, which tend to draw us away from God and holy things, and bring upon us all those results which will inevitably lower and degrade us. We speak of this now especially when the summer season is coming on, when so many are cut off from their regular religious habits at home. If you go away, try always to be on Sundays in a place where there are Church services. But in any event have, take with you and use always, your book of private devotions.

PARISH NOTES.

Holy Week. We tried to keep it as the Bishop had requested all the parishes to do. We had four services each day, but we regret to say they were not all largely attended. The Rector sent out a hundred cards of invitation for the meeting on Thursday evening for those recently Confirmed in the parish. Only about thirty were present. The attendance during the three hours' service on Good Friday we thought rather better than in recent years.

Easter proved a beautiful day, and the Church looked unusually attractive. In spite of the change of hours owing to the putting forward of the clocks the previous night, most people were on time, and the congregations good. The number of Communions made was about one hundred and seventy. The offerings, with some which came in later, amounted to $850, which came pretty near to the $1,000 we asked for.

The deficit we had Jan. 1st and to make up which the Vestry appealed to the ladies of the parish for their help in raising, and for which last month we announced $582.50 had been contributed, has now been made up to $910.87, very nearly the amount needed. We have every reason to be much gratified with this result, and the Vestry at their regular meeting after Easter passed a resolution most heartily thanking the ladies for the readiness and energy with which they responded to the appeal for their help. It is demonstration, not only of what the parish can do, but of the interest, and affection, its members have in it.

Easter gifts. A very handsome new banner and staff was presented by one of our Vestrymen. It is composed of very rich material bearing a cross outlined in gold and the whole bordered with gold cloth.

The Church also received a very handsome piece of handmade lace for a fair linen cloth for the main altar, seven feet long. It has "I. H. S." recurring throughout it, and an elaborate edging. It was made for the Church as an Easter offering by one of the young girls of the Sunday School, only fifteen years of age. It is beautifully done and was a labor of love on her part.

Two of our Servers were presented with gold crosses as rewards for their voluntary attendance. We hope it will make them appreciate the honor of acting in that capacity.

The Rummage Sale took place in the Parish building on April 9th, and though it was a bad day it was very successful, the sales realizing $60 in all.

The Musicale announced for April 24th has had to be postponed until the Autumn, owing to the "talent" which was counted on having gone to the war. It is hoped others may be obtained in their place by that time.

A service flag for the Church. A lady has sent the Rector a dollar to start a fund for "a service flag" to be hung in the Church opposite the National flag. Are there others who will contribute for this purpose?

Ascension day occurs this year very early, on May 9th. We had not expected to have kept it this year as our Parish Festival as we supposed the name of the Church would have been changed before this. And as it is, our financial year having been changed, it would be impossible to give the usual statistics for the previous year. It has been decided, therefore, not to have the annual service we always have had on the night of Ascension day, and in place of it we will have the Parish Tea that night. At the morning service, which will be at the same hour as on Sunday, 10.30 A. M., the Rector will make some statements in regard to the condition and prospects of the parish. We hope for a large attendance, both because it is one of the great Feast days of the Church and because it is still the name day of our Parish.

The offerings on that day will be as usual for the Endowment fund of the Church which needs so much to be enlarged. If there are those who have funds to dispose of by will, we trust they will not forget this object among their charitable bequests.

The Liberty bond drive. In response to a call from the Bishop all the Clergy in the Southern section of the City associated themselves together in a joint letter to their parishioners asking each one to aid the government by buying Liberty bonds of the last issue, and to report that they had done so. A large poster calling attention to the need of the bonds was printed and placed in a conspicuous place in each Church and beneath it an Honor roll of the names of those who had subscribed for them. The roll in the Vestibule of our Church now contains some 65 names so far. We should like to see many more still added to it.

In addition to this the Vestry of the Parish directed that $300 of our Endowment fund we had on hand for investment be put in these bonds, and others have subscribed through the Church.

The ladies who undertook to sell bonds in the theatres have been hard at work and quite successful in obtaining subscribers.

Lenten serving. The managers of St. Christopher's Hospital for Children, to which was sent the box made up by our Ladies' Aid Society during Lent, have sent their grateful acknowledgment for the same. The box contained 7 pairs of socks, 10 towels, 13 garments and a strip of blanket. Only a few persons took part in the Lenten work this year, owing, we suppose, to other engagements, so the result was not large.

The Girls' Friendly and St. John's Guild can mark up another big success in the Fete de' Avril, given on Tuesday, April 16th, to help obtain the necessary funds to pay off the Church deficit. The entertainment was of the vaudeville type, combined with general dancing by the audience. Master Kenneth Hutchinson of St. Mark's choir sang beautifully two solos, as did also John Owens of our own St. John's Guild. Our own Bender, who by the way, is speaking and singing at the various movies and theatres for the Liberty Loan Committee, gave us his services for the evening and put his songs across in the way only Bill can do. Miss Janet Laird danced just like the fairy she appeared to be, and Miss Montgomery of West Philadelphia and Miss Calhoun and Miss Ziegler, of the New Century Club, more than did their "bit" by their clever recitations. We are surely very much indebted to all of these good friends.

We are glad we will have the substantial sum of $50 to turn over to our Rector to help meet theh deficit, and incidentally we are glad of the sociability these entertainments and dances promote, a thing so necessary to the greater success of both our Guilds.

The Vestry election held on Easter Monday resulted in the re-election of those whose terms then expired. And at the subsequent Vestry meeting, the same officers and committees were reappointed, except that Mr. John W. Patten was elected as a delegate to the Diocesan Convention in place of Mr. Newbold, who would be unable to attend.

AN IMPORTANT DUTY IN THE COMMUNION SERVICE.

"After the Prayer for the Church comes the preparation for the Communion itself. At this point people often leave the Church. It is difficult to understand why, for it is then that the important part of the service begins. Communicants should always stay through the service, even if they do not receive. It is the best time in the world for prayer; and they should join in the worship of thanksgiving even when for one reason or another they do not receive the Blessed Sacrament. There is no reason why non-communicants should leave the Church either, and it would be far better if they did not do so."—The Episcopal Church, by Latta Griswold.

ONLY THROUGH ME!

Only through Me!—The clear, high call comes pealing
Above the thunders of the battle-plain;—
Only through Me can Life's red wounds find healing;
Only through Me shall earth have peace again.

Only through Me! Love's might, all might transcending,
Alone can draw the poison fangs of hate.
Yours the beginning! Mine a nobler ending—
Peace upon earth, and man regenerate!

Only through Me can come the great awakening!
Wrong cannot right the wrongs that Wrong hath done;
Only through Me, all other gods forsaking,
Can ye attain the heights that must be won.

Can we not rise to such great height of glory?
Shall this vast sorrow spend itself in vain?
Shall future ages tell the woeful story—
Christ by his own was crucified again?

A BISHOP'S CHURCH.

We are glad to repeat the announcement the Rector made on Ascension day that at last the Watson legacy has been paid to the Trustees of the Diocese. Half of it was paid in Liberty bonds, and the other half in real estate, consisting of the shop north of the Church and the two properties immediately south of the Church, which are necessary to carry out the scheme for improvements.

Unfortunately, however, owing to war conditions it is not deemed wise to do any building at present when materials and labor are so high. And by the agreement made with Mr. Watson, the Executor of Mrs. Watson's estate, the Trustees will not be obliged to begin building until two years after the close of the war. Let us hope, however, that the war may soon come to a close and that then building operations may rapidly return to normal conditions.

As the legacy is now paid it is expected that the Bishop will soon take the Church over as his special Church and use it as such until the proposed Cathedral scheme on the Pathway can be realized, which may not be for many years.

If this parish is thus to become the Bishop's Church, we ought to understand just what such a Church is.

When the Christian religion was first planted it was by one of the original Apostles, or aterwards by their successors, gathering a congregation of believers in some principle city or town, to whom he ministered personally. The Bishop was the Pastor, the other Clergy were simply his assistants. But as the Church grew other congregations were formed and the Bishop delegated certain Priests to have charge of them. The original or chief Church remained his, and came to be known as the Cathedral, from a Greek word meaning a chair, because the Bishop had his chair or official seat there. So in the old country in all parts of the Catholic Church there has always been in each Diocese one Church which was called the Cathedral or Bishop's Church.

In this country, owing to the fact that prior to the American Revolution, there were no Bishops in America, so there were no Cathedrals. It is only of recent years that many of the Dioceses have begun to have them, some are parish's Churches which have been transformed into Cathedrals, in others new ones are being built, some on a very large and magnificent scale, as in New York, Baltimore, Washington, San Francisco, etc.

A Cathedral differs from a parish Church in that it stands for the Diocese and is under the immediate control of the Bishop. It is a Church in which he can hold his ordinations and official meetings with the Clergy and laity. He orders its services and in them sets the standard of worship he would like to see attained throughout the Diocese.

It should be large enough to hold congregations gathered for special occasions. It should be sufficiently endowed to maintain a staff of Clergy who will not only minister in the numerous srevices which will naturally be held there, but who should have charge of different departments of work throughout the Diocese, its Missionary, Educational, Social work, etc.

Its pulpit should be occupied at the different services each Sunday by distinguished preachers. Every one should be sure of hearing a good sermon in the Cathedral. Conferences, lectures, retreats, etc., should be held in it from time to time.

Its seats, of course, will be free at all services, so that every one,whether he belongs to a particular congregation or not, will feel that he has a right and place in the Bishop's Church.

Instead of an ordinary parochial constitution it is generally governed by a body called "the Chapter," which consists of the Bishop, the Clergy of the Cathedral, and in this country, of some lay trustees representing the Diocese, and not merely a particular congregation, and so acting and speaking for the interests of the whole Diocese, making it the center for all Diocesan activities and interests.

It should, if possible, be the largest and most prominent building in the town or city in which it is situated, that it may act as an ever speaking monument, testifying to the dignity, importance and supremacy of religion beyond every thing else. If such a building cannot be erected, or until it is determined to erect such, in the meantime it is customary to take a parish Church and use it as a Pro-Cathedral for the time being.

That will practically be the position of this Church. While it will be greatly enlarged, still it will not be large enough or impressive enough to answer permanently all the ends of a Bishop's Church. But it can serve very well for that purpose for a time until the Cathedral system can be gradually developed, and funds accumulated to erect and endow a suitable building in another locality.

Every Bishop naturally feels that he would like to have a Church which he can regard as his own and in which he is perefectly free to carry out his ideas and plans for the benefit of the whole Diocese.

For the present this Church will be governed by its former charter, the name only being changed, until a regular Cathedral foundation can be elaborated, the Vestry putting it at the disposition of the Bishop to use as if it was his own.

PARISH NOTES.

Ascension day was observed, as we announced, to a certain extent as our parish festival, as it is still the name day of the Church, though the services were not attended as they should have been. Unless a day is a public holiday it seems very hard to get any number of people to come to church on a week day.

In his sermon in the morning the Rector, after speaking of the significance of the day, spoke of the present position and prospects of the parish, and mentioned the names of the parishioners who had passed away during the time between last Ascension day and January 1st, when our new Church year began.

The annual parish tea took place on the evening of Ascension day and was a very enjoyable occasion. A little play was given by some members of the new Century Club, who kindly volunteered their services. This was followed by some recitations and music and an address by the Rector. Miss Carmen, also made an earnest appeal on behalf of a new Convocational Mission, in which she is much interested as one of the representatives of the parish in the Woman's Auxilary to the Convocation. She has undertaken to raise $50 for it. Who will help her?

There were, of course, the usual refreshments, and the evening closed with a dance by the young people.

Summer services. The daily prayers are discontinued until October, except on the mornings of Holy days, when there will be also Celebrations of the Holy Communion. The Sunday School, and the 4 o'clock evening service will be discontinued from after the second Sunday in this month until the third Sunday in September. The Sunday morning services at 7.30 and 10.30 A. M. will be kept up as usual without intermission.

The Church will be always open for private devotion, and the services of one of the clergy, when needed, can be obtained at any time on application at the Church, or by phone.

The notice board in our Vestibule ought to be watched, for almost every week there is some new notice of one kind or another posted there. And there is also quite a supply of interesting and valuable reading matter in the rack at its base, which is put there for general distribution. We are glad to know that some persons not connected with the parish come in and take away these papers.

Memorial day, May 30th, was observed as the President of the United States requested as a day for penitence and prayer on behalf of our country. A special service, authorized by the Bishop, was used, there being two Celebrations of the Holy Communion, the early one being especially for the commemoration of the dead heroes, both of our Civil and the present War. At the second service the Rector spoke of the need of penitence for our national sins, of earnest prayer by all for guidance and help in the great struggle on which we have entered, that it may be speedily brought to a safe and satisfactory end, and that it may be the means of inspiring a new and better state of things for our country and for the world.

Our honor rolls. Another name has been added to the roll of those of our members who have entered the National Army, that of Samuel Neill, who was brought up in the parish, was a Sunday School and Choir boy, a member of the Young Men's Bible Class and of S. John's Guild. He is now at Camp Lee in Virginia and writes that he is well and enjoying the life. Some of our other boys have now gone over the sea. May God preserve them and bring them safely home again.

The list of names that has been handed in as subscribers to the third Liberty loan now numbers eighty-three. We have no doubt there are others who have done the same.

Increase of Insurance. The Provident Trust Company, to which the Trustees of the Diocese have intrusted the care of its buildings, having informed our Vestry that it considered the Church property was not sufficiently insured against fire, the Vestry has increased the amount heretofore on the Church by $30,000. That involves a payment on our part of some $45, an addition to our expenses for this year.

Boy Scouts. The scouts will get a well earned rest after the War Chest Campaign. They have been kept pretty busy with Liberty Bonds, etc., for the past month. Troop 63 worked in the theatres for the Girls' Friendly until they started out for themselves the last week of the campaign. Twelve thousand dollars was the total of our business for the week—160 subscriptions! Scouts Bowen, Holt, Barr, Straub, Ciccone, Ferrante, Bieberback, and Dennis will receive medals for their work.

Scout Ed Marsh has enlisted in the Navy; and Senior Patrol Leader Bender in the Boys' Working Reserve. He is now on a farm at Honeybrook, Pa., where he will stay until the fall.

The Championships of District No. 2 were held and old 63 was right there with the rest of them. Our signaling teams were crippled by the absence of Bender and Holt but we more than evened things up in the other events.

The spring sports are going to be held on June 10; there will be scouting contests, athletics, music, drilling and dancing. Tickets are fifteen cents and may be obtained from any of the Scouts.

The annual Parish Picnic will take place on Saturday, June 15th. It will be held as formerly on Burlington Island. Free transportation will be provided for all the members of the Sunday School and of the Mothers' Meeting from the Church to the Island and return. Entertainments will be given the children on the Island, but each person is expected to bring his or her lunch. Members of the parish can join the picnic by paying their own expenses. All will assemble in the Parish building by 7 A. M.

Should June 15th prove stormy the picnic will take place the following Saturday.

Visit to Mission. Those who were present at thea Parish Tea will no doubt remember the plea which Miss Carmen made to the people of our Parish to obtain $50.00 toward a fund of $1700 to build a small Mission on Stonehouse Lane to replace one built by the men and boys of that neighborhood in their "after-working" hours. At that time, she spoke also of the boys down there and of the advantages which they might obtain through the formation of a Boy Scout Troop.

Reeves, the Scoutmaster of our own Troop 63, who has made such a success of this work, and Seyfert, visited these boys on Wednesday night, May 22nd, and on Friday night, May 31st, met the boys again at the Mission and took out the necessary papers to form the troop at Stonehouse Lane. Ten boys turned out and their enthusiasm promises much for this troop.

Just how successful Miss Carmen has been in obtaining the $50.00 we do not know, but we do believe that if the people of our Parish knew of the efforts of those men, women and children to obtain a House of Worship before the winter sets in, the $50.00 from our Parish would be greatly oversubscribed.

Saint Alban's Church, Olney, held a special service, including a Sermon and Procession, for servers and acolytes, which was attended by six members of our Guild.

This is an annual event, coming each year on Corpus Christie Day. Geo. Mull, Henry Norris, Geo. Norris, Henry Barr, John Barr and Ray Reeves were the members of our Servers' Guild who were in the Procession.

CHURCH MUSIC

Music has universally been used in the public worship of God. The Old Testament tells us to how great an extent it was used among the Jews. There were large bands of "singing men and singing women." All kinds of instruments of music were employed. Most of the Psalms in the Psalter were written for this purpose, and they call upon all persons to take part in singing the praises of God. And it has been used in the same way in the Christian Church. The Psalms have been chanted, Hymns sung, and the greatest musical composers have arranged most elaborate and artistic settings for the services of the Church. Organs, and wind and stringed instruments, severally or together, have been employed.

This was natural, for music is the highest, most artistic and effective form of vocal expression. It affects the feelings, arouses enthusiasm, gives vent to sentiments, both of sorrow and joy, of pathos and grief, of triumph, exultation and thanksgiving.

It appeals to all kinds of people, they expend large sums of money to be entertained by it. Our Opera Houses and Concert Halls are crowded, and it is used in armies and navies as a means of inspiration and interest. So it has naturally been used in the Church for the same purposes. If one is moved to praise God, he instinctively wants to do it in the most effective way, and if the Church would arouse and inbuence her people, she will employ the most potent means she can command. This accounts for the universal use of music in the services of the Church.

But there has been the question as to what should be the character of the Church's music. Should it always be grave and solemn, or should it be light and catching? Should it be congregational, so that all present can take part in it, or such as can only be rendered by artists?

The answer to these questions will be largely determined by circumstances. There are some congregations that can only afford, or appreciate, the simplest kind of music. Others will prefer most elaborate and artistic rendering of the Church's services. Should not each, therefore, have its place and be provided as may be desired?

Might not these general principles be laid down for the guidance of all our congregations?

First, no congregation should expend more than a reasonable—not extravagant—amount of its income for music.

Second, no choir should attempt any music that it cannot render well.

Third, the music should be suited to the character and wishes of the congregation.

Fourth, if there are different classes of people connected with a Church, some services should be musically elaborate and others plainer and more congregational. Would it not be well in most congregations to have one service, on Sundays, the midday service naturally, the most elaborate and artistic that the choir can render well, and the means of the congregation can afford. And later in the day—the afternnon or evening—have a simpler, congregational service, perhaps only the singing of hymns. In this way those preferring an artistic service would attend in the morning, and those who like congregational singing, the second service. Or the different kinds of singing might afford a pleasant variety for all. Of course there would be also a plain celebration of the Holy Communion in the morning without atny music whatever.

In this way the services of the Church would be most effectively presented and its attractions felt by persons of all temperaments and tastes.

It certainly is a mistake to fasten one uniform style of Church music on every congregation, or on each service of the same congregation, or for choirs to force on people a kind of music they do not like, or to attempt what they cannnot well perform.

There are many other questions in regard to Church music we might discuss, such as the relative merits of chanting or singing, of Gregorian or Anglican chants or of musical settings to canticles or services, or of boy choirs and mixed choirs, but if the simple rules we have given are adhered to, these minor questions will settle themselves. The main thing to be considered is how can the worship of God be rendered most adequately and effectively so as to be a real act of adoration and praise, and produce the most solemnizing and elevating influence upon those taking part in it.

CHANGES IN THE PARISH.

As we announced in our last number the Watson legacy has been paid to the Trustees of the Diocese. But owing to war conditions it is impossible for any building to be done at present. We are very glad, however, to be able to announce that the Bishop has determined to take over the parish and use the Church as it tis without waiting for the improvements.

The first steps towards carrying this out were taken at a special meeting of the Vestry held in August. The resignations of four members of the Vestry were presented and accepted, in order that others representing the Diocese at large might be elected in their places. Those who were selected for this purpose were those who are now absent from the city owing to government service, and so unable to discharge their duties as Vestryman in any event. They were Lt. Colonel Coates, who is now in France in charge of a Base Hospital. Mr. William Moore Wharton, who is in Washington engaged in government work, Mr. R. Hinchman Young, who is constantly traveling on the same service, and Mr. Senpcer Erwin, who is in Spain on a government mission.

Those elected in their places were the Hon. Mr. Watson, Mrs. Watson's executor, Mr. Charles Biddle, one of the Trustees of the Diocese, who conducted all the negotiations in connection with the settlement of the legacy, Mr. Eli K. Price and Mr. Wm. Ellis Scull, who have been the prime leaders in the movement looking towards the building of a Cathedral. At the same meeting the steps required for legally changing the name of the Church were directed to be taken. The necessary petitions to the Court will be presented during the month.

Further steps towards carrying out the scheme will probably be taken during the month, and the Bishop expects to make a statement in regard to his plans in the next number of this paper.

In the meantime everything will go on in the parish as usual. But we are very much to be congratulated that the Bishop will take over the parish at once, as this will ensure its entrance upon a new era of prosperity and usefulness, and we are confident that it will prove the wisest and most effective way of gradually working up to the establishment and erection of a real Cathedral.

We tried in our last issue to describe just what a Bishop's Church or Cathedral is, and how this Church can be used as such until an actual Cathedral establishlishment can be perfected and its building be undertaken.

PARISH NOTES.

The summer, as usual, of late, has been a very quiet one in the parish, too quiet. The two Sunday moring services and on each Holy dayhave been maintained without intermission, but beyond that there has been very little doing. And we grieve to say those services were very poorly attended. Of course many of our parishioners are out of town all summer, but there were others who were in the city, and simply did not attend Church. How people can so entirely neglect their religious duties for months at a time, taking a vacation from them as they would from a secular business, we cannot understand. Another summer, under the changed conditions which are coming to our parish, we shall hope to see as much going on in the summer, almost, as in the winter.

The only real parochial activities which were carried on, were by the Boy Scouts, of which we give an account below. We are thankful for the good health the parish enjoyed during the heated term. The Clergy have not been called on to visit a single sick person, or officiate at a single funeral since June.

The Sunday School closed June 9th, when the following prizes were awarded, 1st prize, girls, Louisa Fritsch, regular attendance and good behaviour. Boys, Philip Fritsch, Chas. Fritsch. Honorable Mention, Francis Loring, Wm. Seyfert, Wm. deNolle, Chas. Lee, Harry Hansen, Wm. Godfrey. 2nd prize, Watson Mull, regular attendance.

The regular Sunday School Picnic occurred June 15 and passed off pleasantly.

The School re-opened on the fourth Sunday in September. As the first day of June this year was on Sunday, this brought it to about the same time as usual.

We are glad to be able to count on having the same teachers this year as last winter, except Mr. Reeves, who is now in the service at Camp Lee, Virginia. We should be very glad to have some one volunteer to take his place.

A change in the method of Instruction will be adopted this season, the regular series of Diocesan leaflets will be used, in place of the special ones prepared by the Rector which have been used for some years. It is thought that this change may prove interesting to both the teachers and scholars.

Our boys at the front. We have now on our Honor roll twenty-two names of those in the Parish actually in the service. Of these, Lt. Colonel Coates is in France, in charge of a large Base Hospital. Our Rector's son, Henry B. Hodge, is in Washington, as an Assistant Judge Advocate, with the rank of Major. Stanley Atkinson, James Hill and William Whitehurst we know to be on the other side, and we believe most of the others, as well. William Whitehurst is the only one we have heard of as yet being injured. He has been in a hospital suffering from shell shock and gas. But before being injured he boasts of having killed a German Major. John Delaney claims to have taken part in the destruction of an U boat off the Delaware capes. The Rector has received letters from James Hill giving accounts of his work near the front, and from other members of the parish in the camps. He has written to each member of the parish in the service, sending them copies of the special Prayer Book prepared for our soldiers and sailors.

Change of Choir Master. Mr. Alburger, who has been supplying the place of choirmaster since Mr. Ullrich entered the service, has found it incompatible with his business to continue to do so. His place has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Francke C. Morley, once a member of our choir. He comes back to us, therefore, thoroughly familiar with our service, and after years of experience as Organist and Choir Master in such churches as the Epiphany, Pelham, and the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont. We trust he will keep up our music to the high standard which has always distinguished it.

The annual meeting of the Women's Guild will be held as usual on SS. Simon and Jude's day when the reports of the work done during the past year will be read and arrangementts made for the coming winter, but the Annual Year Book will not be issued until after the first of the year, in order that the financial items for the entire year may be inserted, as our financial year now has been made to correspond to the civil year.

We trust our ladies wil not forget to attend this meeting on the 28th, as though we know many of them are much occupied with patriotic work, the ordinary charitable and missionary work of the Church must not be neglected. This call is as imperative as that to help in winning the war.

Change of address. On his return to the city this month, the Rector will remove to an apartment in the Gladstone at 11th and Pine Sts. His daughters having all married, and the son, who lived with him having gone into the service, he no longer needed the house on 13th St. in which he has lived for thirty years and brought up his family of six children.

The Boy Scouts' "Ascension" Camp. The week from July 27th to August 3rd, was a red letter week for our boys and Troop 63, for you must know that was the week of our camp in a pine grove above Florence. We called it Camp "Reeves" this year in honor of our Scoutmaster "Pop" Reeves, who is now acting corporal at the U. S. Camp Lee, Va., and it was indeed the best camp ever.

On Friday, the 26th, our good friend, Mr. Morgan, with Reeves, Seyfert, G. Mull and Scouts H. Barr, McLauglin, Holt, and Bieberbach left the city early to get ready the camp for the big day and by the time "Doc" arrived, with the fellows on Saturday morning, everything was in fine shape, even to preparing mess.

There were twenty-five of us this year including our cook, "Aunt Katy," and Phoebe, and what a good time we did have. Such eats, too, and such eaters! And best of all not one of us was sick nor were there any accidents.

We all went to church on Sunday morning, but then it is useless to tell what we did, for there was something doing all the time. We had our customary watermelon party on Friday night. Indeed, there was aparty of some sort every night exeept Sunday, although the one on Tuesday was a "stormy" one, but what would camp be without one thunderstorm.

What we wish we could do is to thank our kind friends in the Parish for their contributions. We try to raise as much of the money as possible, but as you see it was only because of your generosity, and that of a friend outside the Parish, that we were able to have this one week which means so much to us. We do appreciate your kindness though we cannot tell you how much.

We do not know what will happen until next July, and if we can help Uncle Sam by giving up that one week, we will do so willingly, but we are hoping for the best.

We are afraid the letter of our Acting Scoutmaster, sent out under date of September 23rd to our parishioners and former parishioners may have been mistaken for a circular letter and may not, therefore, have received much attention. In this letter we asked that you make your subscriptions to the Fourth Liberty Loan thru our Troop 63, Boy Scouts of America, whose headquarters are at the Church of the Ascension, for by doing so you will bring glory to our Troop and indirectly also to the Church of the Ascension. We obtained 160 subscriptions for the Third Liberty Loan, but we want to get at least 320 and preferably 500 for this Loan. Won't you help us to do it, by dropping a line to R. B. Seyfert, 303-6 Morris Bldg., a Scout will call at any time and place for your subscription.

Now that all of the Scouts are home again, regular meetings were again resumed on September 16th, with an attendance of twenty-six. We do miss our Scoutmaster Reeves, but Scoutmaster Seyfert of Troop No. 244 is acting Scoutmaster of the troop with the aid of the veteran scouts and we are going to try to make great progress until "Pop" Reeves comes back.

LETTER FROM THE BISHOP.

Our hopes for the Diocesan Church seem in a fair way to be realized. Building operations are postponed till the War is over. But the new organization is to be set up and the work begun in the near future.

In the first stages, it will be on a modest and simple scale. The change from the Parish of the Ascension to the Diocesan Church of S. Mary will not be very noticeable. But a real beginning will be made along lines which can be easily developed to meet new openings and opportunities.

From the first our work will be marked by three chief features.

1. It will be in spirit and method entirely Diocesan. In theory every communicant of the Diocese is a member of the flock and has a personal part and place in the work. The Church, as far as it can, will serve all Diocesan interests and be at the disposal of the various Diocesan organizations and activities. Diocesan occasions and events will be celebrated and remembered. Diocesan causes will be presented and promoted. Not being anymore a Parish, the organization of S. Mary's Church will serve all the Parishes and compete with none. Everything which has a claim upon the Diocese will find a welcome and a home.

2. It will be missionary. In our ministry and appeal we shall have in mind those chiefly who are outside of or unattached to any regular organization of the Church. Strangers, visitors, wanderers, the unconvinced, the unconverted: all who will come and let us help them, of all ages and conditions, of all sorts and classes; will find us ready to minister freely to them with the best that we can give them in the name of our Diocese. There will doubtless be many who have for years found their spiritual home at the Ascension. These will be always welcome. But we know we speak for them in putting the missionary aspect of the work in the very forepart of our plan. In S. Mary's Church the Diocese will always be at home to the community: with an open and free and loving invitation for every soul in need without distinction.

3. It wil be flexible, trying to meet as best it may the various needs of the various kinds of people whom we hope will come to us. The regular Services on Sundays and on week days will be at such time and of such character as may prove convenient and congenial to different groups of people. Worship, instruction, meetings for prayer and intercession, plain preaching on the simple essentials of religion; we shall try to provide all these week by week. And in addition special services will be arranged from time to time for groups of people, representing special interests or activities, or belonging to organizations or societies which may desire recognition or help on our part.

Much more remains to be said. In subsequent issues of this paper announcements will be made of the progress of our organization and of the immediate plans for the work. Meanwhile, I earnestly ask the prayers of all who have the interests of the plan at heart that God will guide and strengthen us by His Holy Spirit so that all we do may be in accordance with His will and for the glory of His Name.

Philip M. Rhinelander.

PARISH NOTES.

The Epidemic, which has caused so much suffering and death in the city, has struck our parish as every where else. Only in our last issue we congratulated ourselves that we had had no sickness or death during the summer, that we knew of, and now we cannot enumerate all who have been sick during the last month. Fortunately, so far as we know, there have been only two deaths. One was Harry A. Ritsert, first a choir boy, then an alto voice for several years, and a member of our Sunday School and Young Men's Guild. He was just twenty-five and leaves a wife and young child. The other was Robert Zahn, aged eighteen. He had been a member of the Sunday and Industrial Schools, attending them even after his family had removed to Wissahickon. It seems very strange that these two young men should have been carried off and many others older and less strong should have recovered. May they rest in peace.

Our Rector was in bed five days on account of it, but we are thankful to say is again quite well.

The services in Church—except early Celebrations for a few people, were suspended by the civil authorities for three weeks. The Rector, in company with many other clergymen in the city, did not approve of this. He was, we think, the first one to write a letter to the Ledyer protesting against it. To close Churches, which are sanitary and well ventilated, and allow department stores and trolley cars, in which people are crowded in a foul atmosphere, to be undisturbed, seemed to him an unfair and unwise discrimination. It was as much as to say the Church is an unnecessary thing, whereas it and its services are, above all things in a time of trouble of the most vital importance.

This stoppage of Chuch services and activities for three weeks at the beginning of the winter has, of course, set things back, and it will take some time for us to get into our old routine again. The members of the congregation should remember in making their offerings that for three Sundays they gave nothing at all, and so should give what they would have contributed on those Sundays, the first time they come to the Church again.

The Sunday School resumes its sessions the first Sunday in this month.

Further changes in the Vestry. The Bishop has chosen Messrs. French, Newbold, Roberts and Bori, members of the present Vestry, to remain as representatives of the congregation. All the others have resigned, and in addition to the four elected in August, the following have been elected to represent the Diocese at large, Mr. Sidney Wright, Mr. Benjamin Rush, Mr. John J. Collier, and Mr. Andrew Wheeler. The Vestry, as thtus reconstituted, will meet on the first Thursday of this month with the Bishop to determine important matters connected with the future of the Church.

It is a great grief to us to have the old members of our Vestry, some of whom have been on it for many years, thus retire, but they have all done so most willingly because they believed it was for the best interests of the Church, and it does not mean that they sever their connection with, or give up their interest in, the parish.

The change of the name of the Church will probably be legally affected this month as the petition for it is now before the court. If this is done the next issue of this paper will be entitled St. Mary's News.

The death of Miss Matilda S. Wurts occurred in Washington, D. C., on Oct. 6th. She was one of the oldest and most devoted members of the parish. She became connected with it in 1880, and has been interested in it ever since. Even though for a number of years she has passed her winters in the south, she never failed to keep up her regular contributions for the support of the Church and its charities, to subscribe to this paper, and write from time to time enquiring about it. She also sent the Rector weekly the copy of the Churchman she subscribed to. A true and good servant of God we are sure she has entered into rest.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Guild on S. S. Simon and Jude's day was attended by only a few of our ladies as it was just the day after the ban on all Church meetings had been raised, and many doubtless forgot about it.

Mrs. Thomas Neilson, having been unable to leave her room for more than a year, declined re-election as President, and Mrs. Hodge was unanimously elected in her place.

There are one or two vacancies in the Missionary, Benevolent and other Chapters of the Guild. Who will supply them? Someone is especially needed to take the head of the Mothers' Meeting as Miss Alice Young, who has been its most efficient head for the two last winters, has returned again to Canada. And a Secretary for the Church Periodical Club is required, as Mrs. Samuel Wagner resigned last winter and no one has been found to take her place. We know many of our women are doing war work in various ways, but these regular and most essential branches of Church work should not be neglected.

The Men's Smoker on the third Thursday of this month, we expect to have as usual, though arrangements for it have not been made as yet.

The last issue of this paper was three weeks late in delivery, owing to a break down in the machinery of the printer, the Influenza and to miscarrying of the proof in the mail.

The Honor roll of the parish has been increased this month by Leon Shelton and William Boggs entering the service. We hope to have the service flag, with its twenty-four stars upon it, presented by a lady of the parish, in place this month. It will hang at the entrance to the Chancel, opposite the National flag.

The Rector has received a very interesting letter from James Hill, one of our boys at the front, of which thte following is an extract.

Sept 28, 1918

Dear Dr. Hodge:

I received your most welcome letter which I was glad to read, though I received it during the latter part of August, it was while an attack was on and we were busy, so I have not answered it sooner.

I am well and happy and working every day, which a cook always does.

I am with one of the best French divisions and from Aug. 20 until about two weeks ago they were busy making attacks against the Huns, nine attacks altogether that I counted, and they kept us very busy following them up over ground which they had captured.

Our sleeping quarters were usually in old houses or stables, wherever we could find a roof to keep out some of the rain, the Germans had occupied some of these places a few days before we came to them and such places were in a bad condition.

Our section was kept very busy during night and day driving their cars through shell fire, hauling wounded and gassed patients to the hospitals.

Last Wednesday morning all of the men of our section went to a large field near a neighboring village where the men of the French division were gathered and ceremonies were held during which the General of the division and other officers presented medals, ("Croix de Guerre, "Legion of Honor," and others) to officers, men, and small organizations of the division.

Thirteen of the boys of our section each received the Croix de Guerre for good work which they had done.

I often think of the days gone by at our dear old Church of the Ascension and its congregation, at which place I often long to be.

Bible Class. Miss Maria Gilpin, finding it impossible to continue in charge of the Young Men's Bible Class, the Rector hopes the young men of that class will come to the instructions he has been giving in the Church on Sundays at 3 P. M.

Gifts to the Church. A carved Prie Dieu, with a violet cushion, for the Bishop's seat in the Chancel, an office table a Morris chair, and two wooden chairs for the Parish building.

The Boy Scouts. Our Troop 63 is very proud of itself these days and you will agree that we are rightly so when we tell you that in the Fourth Liberty Loan we got 505 subscriptions for a total of $180,300. This is a pretty good increase, you will admit, when compared with 160 subscriptions for $12,000 in the Third Liberty Loan. We are especially proud because all of this work was done in practically ten days and all those people who tried to obtain subscriptions will agree with us that it is "some" work. The epidemic closed many sources from which subscriptions were gotten hitherto, but that only made us work harder. Some of us made a house-to-house canvass, some helped the Women's Committee of South Philadelphia; some helped at Liberty Loan headquarters and some at our own Troop headquarters. In addition, we toured South Philadelphia on two nights at the request of the Women's Committee of South Philadelphia, singing, and helping them to get their allotment. So you see, we worked individually and collectively, but we feel our efforts were well paid.

Our Troop is now on the map and we have taken steps to keep it there and to make it one of the best in Philadelphia. We thank our many friends in this Parish for the aid and encouragement they gave to us by making their subscriptions to the Loan through our troop. But won't you now take even a greater interest in us and let us know that we have your good wishes by making inquiries about us; by asking us to help you when possible; by visiting us on any Monday evening. We will be mighty glad to see you Our Scoutmaster Reeves is now in France and we know he ,too, will be glad to hear of our Success in the Liberty Loan.

We had a number of hikes during the summer, but those who went on the "over night" to Camp Morrell won't soon forget that one. It was "some" hike.

Our reputation as entertainers, because of our Minstrel Shows, is evidently spreading, for we were asked to assist Troop 125 in an entertainment and musical on September 26, in St. Timothy's Parish House at 8th ad Reed Sts. Scouts Bender, Holt, Simmers, and Biles volunteered, and of course put it over as usual.

Troop No. 244, which meets at the Mission of the Transfiguration down on Stonehouse Lane, is progressing splendidly. The enthusiasm of the fellows is fine and promises much for the future, and their enthusiasm is certainly a big help to the Scoutmaster.

The Girls' Friendly Sociey began its meetings on Friday evening, Oct. 4th at 8 o'clock. There was a service in the church, followed by a business meeting and a social time. We held a preliminary meeting Sept. 9th, at which it was decided to meet Friday evenings instead of Tuesday, and to devote our efforts to sewing for a hospital which is caring for wounded men who have returned from the war.

The G. F. S. of the Diocese is going to contribute an ambulance to be used "over seas", and each Branch is asked to take a share of the expense. In order to do our "best" and to reach a quota of $500, we have decided to obtain this amount by using the "nickel a mile strips". Each member will have these. Will you help to fill them? Each nickel means a mile, how many miles will you drive the ambulance? The cause is so humane and worthy we beg your co-operation. For the benefit of the Society, we will hold a Rummage sale some Tuesday afternoon and evening in December in the Parish and evening, Oct. 15th, in the Parish House. Any articles of wearing apparel or anything at all will be gladly received. Please leave them with Mr. Morgan.
